"Ride Out, Young Cavaliers!"

In the place of our absent President, the Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, of Princeton, upon whom the Cross of the Legion of Honor has been but recently conferred, delivered the baccalaureate address to the graduating Class of February 1911 last Sunday afternoon. He chose as his text, "In that day shall there be upon the bells of the horses, Holiness Unto The Lord. (Chap. XIV., Zechariah).

The main theme of Dr. Van Dyke's sermon was what he termed the "separation and division of life." "All of our social infirmities," he said, "have grown out of the idea that one man may have an interest independent of his fellowmen, that one class has the right to live and prosper at the expense of another." He continued: "The idea of a state in which the best men shall rule is at the heart of all social progress. We can dream of the far-off future when all men shall have equal rights, and those who are the best, the wisest, the noblest, the truest, shall rule. We shall steadily move towards the beginning of its realization."

But it was at the close of the address that the powers of Dr. Van Dyke's wonderful oratory became evident. Pleading to the graduates to lead "whole and holy" lives, he said, in a burst of enthusiasm that would have done a much younger person proud: "Ride out, young cavaliers! Ride straight and strong; ride fearless and happy; and write upon the bells of your horses 'Holiness unto the Lord!'"

Professor Baldwin's recital was excellent. His rendition of Bach's Air from Suite in D was especially appealing.

Commencement Week

"Campus Day."

"Campus Day" exercises will be held this afternoon—and very appropriately. The program provides for an academic procession of graduates to the terrace, the planting of the Tree of the Class of February, 1911, and the presentation of the flagpole and the "Finley" City Banner to the next Upper Senior Class. Mr. Coleman will address the students.

The Light of February 1911.

In the Great Hall, to-morrow evening, the graduating class will light its numerals. Addresses will be made by Acting President Werner, Professor Duggan, an honorary member of the Class of February, 1911, and Class-President Philip D. Bookstaber. The class poem will be read by Alfred Duschatko, its author, while Jonas J. Unger, Chairman of the Numeral Lights Committee, will operate the key causing "February 1911" to blaze forth in all its glory. Among the compositions to be played by Professor Baldwin at the organs are Prospice, by Bellairs; Wagner's Overture to Lohengrin; The Swan, by Saint-Saens, and Rubenstein's beautiful tone poem, Kamennoi-Ostrov. The Faculty, the students and their friends are warmly invited to be present.

Cremation.

Just to prove that their Freshman impulses are still not extinct, the graduates will turn Indian snake-dancers and fire-worshippers on Saturday evening, while they hold their text-book cremation exercises. With singing, cheering and eulogizing, sacrifices will be offered up in the form of text books on Physics, Aesthetics, Mathematics, Latin and Philosophy.

The Committee having charge of the ceremonies consists of Incinerator-in-Chief, Max Osterman; Fuel Feeders, Harry Greenberg and Benjamin Kramer; Firemen, Victor Mayper and Alfred P. Merryman.

The commencement play "The Stolen Skeleton" which met with such decided success on Monday evening, will be reviewed fully and interestingly in our next issue.

Commencement.

On Monday evening the graduates will receive their diplomas and their degrees. Good luck to them! Addresses will be made by Acting President Werner, Professor Compton and Hon. Edward Lazansky, Secretary of State. The student speakers selected for their superior scholarship and the subjects of their orations are Isidor Lazarus, "The Torch Relit;" Marks Neidle, "The Rewards of Scientific Research," and Lorenz Reich, "The Intellectual Evil."

Graduates Only.

On Saturday evening the gymnasium will be the scene of a most exclusive function, despite the fact that it is modestly called a "hop," and in the face of its informality. The word has gone out that all but men of February 1911 and their partners will be barred. Graduates may secure tickets of admission from the dance committee.

Monday Night.

Next Monday night the graduates will wind up a week of rejoicing with a banquet at Murray's, in West 42nd Street. There will be addresses by Acting President Werner, and by Professor Duggan, Mr. Coleman and Dr. Robinson, the honorary Faculty members of the Class of February, 1911. A. Feldman, chairman of the Banquet Committee, will welcome the diners. P. D. Bookstaber, class president, will preside, while I. Lazarus will officiate as toast-master. The class banquet has promised an entertaining program. The special feature of the occasion will be a "yell" by Max Osterman,—our solitary cheering squad.

An Antidote.

With exams.—and re-exams. already "fond" memories of the past, the Class of June 1911 made merry in the Faculty Dining Room last Wednesday evening. "Abe" Cohen delighted his hearers with his travelogues. Special entertainment was provided in the form of a Dutch dialogue by "Meyer," our thespian clerk, and a cousin of his (its all in the family). It is too bad that the vaudeville stage is not quite up to the mark, for otherwise we might lose "Meyer!"

A Tribute to Prof. Herbermann.

In commemoration of his fifty years of teaching, a banquet was tendered Professor Herbermann at Hotel Astor on February 11th. Major Charles E. Lydecker, presiding, presented a portrait of our professor to the College which was accepted by Acting-President Werner. Among the speakers were Hon. Joseph S. Mulqueen, who spoke in the absence of Mr. Shepard, and Rev. Samuel J. Schulman, the Rt. Rev. Henry A. Brann and Mr. J. Hampden Dougherty, former pupils of Professor Herbermann. Among others who were present were Mr. A. J. Herbermann, a brother of our professor, and Mr. John D. Crimmins, the noted philanthropist. A souvenir of the occasion was a beautifully engraved menu latinized by Professor Burke.

Phreno Triumphs.

The eightieth semi-annual debate between the Clionian and Phrenocosmian Societies was held last Friday evening in the auditorium of Townsend Harris Hall. The subject, "Resolved that a progressive inheritance tax be levied by the Federal Gov't," was upheld by H. Budner, '11, and S. Rapp, '11, for Clio, while F. Mantinband, '11, and S. Schwartz, '11, maintained the negative for Phreno. The board of judges, consisting of Mr. Naumberg, Dr. Pugh, of the High School of Commerce, and Professor Ilgen, awarded the debate to Phreno.

Alumni Dinner.

The Associate Alumni held its annual dinner at the Hotel Savoy on Saturday evening, January 28th. Among those present were Acting-President Werner, '57; Professor Herbermann, the Rev. Dr. Charles P. Fagnani, '73; President Brown, of the Union Theological Seminary; Hon. Edward Lazansky, Secretary of State and member of the Board of Trustees; Dr. Henry M. Leipziger, '73, President of the Alumni and Supervisor of Public Lectures; Borough President George McAneny, Professor Jenks, of Cornell; Dr. Augustus S. Downing, Second Commissioner of Education of New York State; Dr. Robert L. Harrison, member of the Board of Education; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Professor Baskerville and Professor Clarke.

Class Election Committees should carefully watch the Student Council Bulletin Board. The elections of class officers must be held not later than February 17th.

C. C. N. Y. 28—Tufts 16.

Without casting any slurs on the playing of our basketball team, or that of our opponents, it must be admitted that last Saturday evening was more successful socially than athletically. Long before the Tufts game began the the crowd had been highly amused and entertained by the dramatic antics of one Ma-a-a-ax. Stern performed gracefully as cheerleader but we fear that his efforts as Concert Meister of the "1911" music (some called it singing) went unappreciated. The present seniors have always been known as innovators and they maintained their reputation by introducing a solo yell. The class of 1910 was well represented. As for the game, the final result was assured after one minute of play. Our team was for the most part made up of substitutes. The first half was an exhibition of shooting fouls by brother "Rouge." When referee Melitzer called five or six fouls in rapid succession, the crowd raised its eyebrows in surprise; at about the tenth foul, the crowd was amused; at the fourteenth it yawned. Propper canned two beautiful high and mighty goals. Frank Friedman at centre and Zinovoy at forward played well, albeit a trifle nervously. Kaplan played a strong game throughout.

The second half was graced by the presence of Heskowitz and Gorschen. The game was horribly slow, except in streaks here and there, whenever the referee forgot to call fouls. The final score was 28-16 and nobody went home hoarse.

One Won and One Not.

The trip from Gotham to Oswego on January 13th resembled every other City College trip in that the "rain was raining all around." That from Oswego to Rochester was one of the usual kind because we had lost the first game—score, 23 to 16. But the voyage from Rochester back home was a ripper, because we had won the second game—score, 18 to 14.

In the Armory at Oswego, before a crowd of two thousand, (the whole town) we played Normal to a standstill in the first half. Eleven to nine with us in the lead was not what Oswego had expected. But in the last three minutes of play of the second period, we went to pieces, and the Oswegans pushed rapidly ahead and won the game. Then the town went mad. The referee said after the game that he had "never seen a cleaner playing college team," and everybody agreed that we were the toughest proposition they had tackled this year.

The next morning we came down after a more or less refreshing sleep, thanks to some of the fellows who were feeling frisky, and found our captain staunching the flow of blood from a dozen cuts. (Heskowitz can handle a basketball but he can't toy with a razor). Dipping our hands in his blood we swore, by the beard that he had shaved off, that something terrible would happen to Rochester that night.

The Alumni gymnasium was filled with Rochester rooters. The game was a streak of lightning from beginning to end. Heskowitz, who never played a better game in all his long career, was all over the court. We were ahead in the first half and we were still ahead in the finish. Then we came home and passed (?) our exams.

The summaries for both games follow:

A. A. Elections.

At the last meeting of the Executive Board of the A. A., Harry Gell was elected president to replace Edward F. Unger who graduated Monday. Stephen K. Rapp was elected vice-president to fill the vacancy created by Gell's advance. Hugh Mahon was elected Acting Baseball Manager.

The following positions are open and applications are wanted for them:—

Secretary of the A. A., from the Class of June, '12, or Feb., '13.

Property Man., from the Class of June, '13, or Feb., '14.

Assistant Baseball M'g'r, June, '13, or Feb., '14.

Assistant Tennis M'g'r, June, '13, or Feb., '14.

Swamped in the Tank.

Yale—44.

C. C. N. Y.—9.

And thus our bulldog neighbors were revenged. Beaten at basketball, they came back with blood in their eyes, and our swimming team almost met a watery death. Fielding performed excellently in the fancy dive, but he was hardly a match for Stoddard, the Inter-collegiate champion. The plunge proved to be a big surprise, for Mayer not only surpassed his former distance but outclassed the New Haven men by a plunge of 57 feet 9 inches.

Our friend, "Kip" Schmitt, was there, glad to see his old friends and team-mates, but very selfishly crawled off with the "hundred." Our polo team was outweighed at all positions, and although the game was a losing one from start to finish, the boys put up a plucky and commendable fight. At any rate they managed to hold down the score to 40—0.

Professor Overstreet.

Professor Overstreet, who has begun his service as Professor of Philosophy, is one of the foremost of the younger philosophers in this country. Upon graduating from the University of California he was appointed to a traveling fellowship and spent two years at Baliol College, Oxford. There he was a student under the famous Professor Caird and under Professor J. A. Smith, the present Waynfledt Professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy. Upon completion of his course at the venerable English university, Professor Overstreet received a degree in graduate research. He has since 1901 been instructor, assistant and associate professor in the University of California. For a number of years he has been secretary of the Philosophical Union, and while at the University he was chairman of the Publications Committee. Our new professor is the author of many critical papers, among them the following: "The Basal Principle of Truth Evaluation," "The Dialectic of Plotinus," "The Philosophical Significance of Charles Darwin." He has also a high repute as a teacher and is a man of great personal charm, as one of our editors learned during an interview with him.

Prof. Duggan's "Employment Bureau".

With the energy and untiring zeal for which he is noted, Professor Duggan has started a campaign to secure appointments for all students who intend to make teaching their profession. Every state, county and city is being informed of the excellent training given to our men, and already a few of our graduates have secured excellent high-school instructorships in the west. Professor Duggan believes that by the time the next class graduates, in June, he will be able to place every student who has had the requisite preparation and who is highly recommended by the department whose subject he expects to teach. This news is especially gratifying, since it is rumored that no "Maxwell" examinations will be given in June 1911 and February 1912. Professor Guthrie is coöperating with Professor Duggan in this splendid work.

Foreign News.

President Finley has already begun his lecture tour of the Provincial Universities of France. During the past three weeks he lectured at Lille, Nancy and Caen. In the meanwhile, also, his course at the Sorbonne is fast drawing to a close, there remaining but six of the twenty-four lectures.

To-day our President completes his treatment of "The Valley of the New Democracy," having discoursed, in order, upon "Its Part in Politics," "Its Part in the World's Work," "Its Thought of the Future" and "The Last of the Land." Next Tuesday and Wednesday, Dr. Finley will take his audience from "La Salle to Lincoln" and he will discuss "Men and Women of the West To-day."

Opportunity.

There is room for a few wide-awake college-spirited Juniors and Sophomores on the editorial staff of THE CAMPUS. Though desirable, experience is not essential. Applications must be sent in immediately.

In a few days the 1912 Microcosm photographer will make his appearance among us. All paid-up subscribers will receive preference in the order in which the pictures will be taken,

Heavenly Problems.

Upon the invitation of the Department of Physics, Professor Robert J. Aitken, Astronomer in the Lick Observatory, California, will lecture this Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the Physics Lecture Hall 105, upon the subject: "Astronomy in the Twentieth Century." The lecture, which will be illustrated throughout, and will give an intimate idea of the duties of an astronomer and of some of the problems he is trying to solve at the present time. Professor Aitken, it may be recalled, is an authority on the double stars having spent the past decade systematically locating and measuring them. The general public as well as the members of the College are invited to be present.

We must sacrifice a little space to rejoin to an article headed "Newspaper War" appearing in yesterday's Mercury. In the first place, no editor of THE CAMPUS ever sent one sentence which "he knew was not true" to the press, as our neighbor insinuates. In the second place, out of respect for the third part of a century that smiles down upon him, we forgive our contemporary his dislike of our strong language. Whoever did acquire a whole-hearted affection for strong language when it was he into whom it was "rubbed?" It would be to better effect, however, if gods in journalism, as well as in the heavens, would feed their columns more ambrosia and less mud.

T. H. H. Commencement.

The Class of February 1911, T. H. H., is to be congratulated upon its excellent closing exercises held last Wednesday evening. The proficiency attained by students in the various languages was displayed to advantage by Latin, Greek, German and Spanish declamations. Two playlets, a selection from "Le Mariage Forcé" and another from "She Stoops to Conquer," reflected great credit upon the students and the coaches, Dr. J. H. Moore and Dr. Taafe, respectively. The College Orchestra, under the direction of Professor Baldwin, performed excellently.

Joseph F. Ritt, ex-June 1912, has been appointed to the important position of Computer in the service of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, having won the place against a score or more competitors.

Two Alumni to Be Honored.

The Alumni Association of Public School 30, of which James A. Farrel, '08, is president, will give a dance at Tuxedo Hall, Madison Avenue and 59th St., on Friday Evening, March 3, 1911. Among the purposes for which the association is working is the erection of memorials in the school building to William G. Hess, '67, the first principal, and Joseph A. Fripp, '79, its first graduating class teacher. Requests for tickets may be sent to Mr. J. V. Schubert, secretary, 230 East 88th Street.

Strauss, Reich and Boyer.

Mr. Charles Strauss, a member of the Board of Trustees of the College, has formed a law partnership with Nathaniel D. Reich, '01, and Eugene D. Boyer, ex-'00. Mr. Boyer is a brother of Walter L. C. Boyer, ex-'99, who taught mathematics at the College a few years ago, and who is now a Civil Engineer employed on the Catskill Water Supply System.

Notes.

On Saturday Evening, January 14, Dr. L. H. Friedburg lectured before the Philadelphia Section of the German-American Technological Society on "Natural and Artificial Perfumes."

We note with pleasure the election of Mr. James P. Haney '88, to the presidency of the National Society for Promotion of Industrial Education.

The annual play of the Dramatic Society will be given on March 25th at Carnegie Lyceum. Sheridan's "The Rivals", which made famous the late Joseph Jefferson, is the play selected. Judging from the talent available, an excellent performance is predicted.

The Evening Session students are to have a paper to be known as "The College Knight." We wish this latest venturer in our world of journalism every success and we trust that the "Knight" will become a potent factor in the life of this institution after nightfall.

1914—19; Mount Vernon H. S.—16.

On the evening of January 27th our Freshman Basketball Team wended the long and weary way to Mount Vernon and bearded the lion in its den. The first half of the game was rather close, ending with the score of 8-6 in our favor. Our boys were fast and gave the crowd an exhibition of excellent passing. The second half was fast and rough with a considerable amount of fouling. Within three minutes of the end of the game we were far ahead, but our plucky opponents took a brace and came up hand over fist. The whistle harshly interrupted their march to victory and left them the disappointed losers by 3 points. Good work was done by Louthivick and Saltman in shooting goals, and Rosenfeld was the hero of the evening, playing bravely on, despite the fact that blood was pouring from his delicate olfactory organ.

1914—14, H. S. of Commerce—9.

Like the varsity, the Freshman Basketball team used numerous substitutes. The game was fast but rather wild. But we were no worse off than Commerce, for neither their best player nor their captain were in the game. We won by the score of 14 to 9, making four victories out of five games.

The series of lectures on "Judaism in the Nineteenth Century," by Dr. Magnes, will be given on alternate Fridays at 3.15 P. M., commencing Feb. 10th. On alternate Wednesdays at the same time Dr. Kaplan will give his course on the "Bible from the Historical Point of View."
