The Budget and 'Mickey'.

IN A short, vigorous and terse speech, Commissioner of Accounts Fosdick, clearly placed the significance of the Budget Exhibit before one of the largest and most interested audiences that the Doremus Lecture Theatre has held. Judge Lindsay of Denver, speaking immediately after the Commissioner, kept the audience convulsed with laughter at his story of 'Mickey' and at his inimitable reproductions of arab phraseology. Both gentlemen placed strong emphasis upon the belief that the public would act wisely if the true facts were presented in all cases. Commissioner Fosdick stated that the chief significance of the Budget Exhibit is that it puts the citizen in touch with the facts of government in this city and it tells him what the departments asked for and did not get. It shows that so many good causes which ought to be supported and are not, suffer for lack of money because the city must pay back illegitimate debts contracted in previous years.

President Finley, at the close of the speech expressed the hope that more students of the College would enter the service of the city and would become loyal public servants.

Judge Lindsay then recounted the adventures of 'Mickey', "the worst kid in Denver." Beneath the comical portrayal of 'Mickey', the Judge drew a vivid picture of the evils of juvenile imprisonment, towards the abolishing of which he has worked and is working.

The Curriculum Committee desires the class representatives who have not returned the answer sheets to do so to-day. The committee will be in the Senior alcove from 1 to 1.10 P. M.

February Commencement Sanctioned.

With all uncertainty as to the holding of a commencement in February 1912 removed by the official sanction of one by the Board of Trustees at its last meeting, a new spirit of life has entered the activities of the graduating class of the College. Comes the news that the class play is being pushed rapidly to its completion and that the Numeral Lights of the class will soon take shape in wood and canvas. Already more men have subscribed for the Senior Dance to take place to-night than attended the dances of previous years. The Faculty will be well represented and the committee expects no less than two hundred persons to attend. As commencement day draws near, the Seniors grow more and more impatient—and this is being urged as an excuse for the little delinquencies of curricular life!

General Science Meeting.

The science clubs of the College, the Chemical Society, the Biological Society, and the Engineering Society are planning a joint open-meeting to be held some time in December. Papers representative of the work of the respective organizations will be read and discussed.

At the last meeting of the Engineering Society, held last Thursday night, H. Blum '12, spoke on the construction of the ups-tate Barge Canal.

A large shipment of new text books and treatises on vital problems in Chemistry has been received and will be placed in the Wollcott Gibbs Library.

A Gift.

Last week, Mr. Henry J. Sachs presented the College through Trustee James W. Hyde, '81, and Mr. Moses Weinman '81 of Guggenheimer, Untermeyer and Marshal, a few pages of Dr. Noah Webster's manuscript. The pages were presented to Mr. Sachs by Mr. Robert Webster Day, a great grand son of Dr. Webster. Mr. Day in his letter of presentation to Mr. Sachs states that the pages are written in the Doctor's own handwriting, and are, of course, the first rough draft. Dr. Webster was at work upon his dictionary for about twenty years; and the pages presented to the College were probably written one hundred years ago. The dictionary was completed in 1825. The pages, which were ingeniously framed by Mr. Sachs, have been placed in the Historical Museum and make no mean addition to the host of rarities collected there.

Eyre and His Wife Margery.

The cast for the Elizabethan play has been definitely decided upon and the first performance will be given for Townsend Harris Hall students on December 12th. Samuel C. Kohs, '12, will play the difficult rôle of Simon Eyre, the shoemaker. Jerome Ziegler, '14, and Isaac Chapman, '14, will play the parts of journeymen to Eyre, and Harry C. Falk, '13, will once more disport himself as a woman when he appears as Margery, the wife of Simon Eyre.

Tickets may be secured from Drs. Coleman and Whiteside, Mr. Compton, Mr. Kohs and from members of the Student Council. An admission fee of twenty-five cents will be charged, and those desiring reserved seats may procure them for fifty cents.

Dr. Taaffe has given all his energy to the coaching of the students who make up the cast, and judging from reports the play should be even a greater success than that achieved by "The Rivals" last year.

The following prizes and medals are to be awarded at the February Commencement, 1912: Pell Medals; Cromwell Medals; Ward Medals; Board of Trustees prize for Public Speaking; Drummond prize for Public Speaking; Roemer prize for Public Speaking; Claflin Medals; F. W. Devoe and Co. prize; Ketchum prize; Ralph Weinberg Memorial prize; Drummond History prize; Prager Memorial prize; Kenyon prizes, Belden Prizes.

Realized.

In line with two suggestions proposed by THE CAMPUS, the Student Council has taken up the consideration of a general off hour and an Interclass debating series. The executive committee of the Council wrote President Finley recommending that such an hour be placed in the schedule for next term. The President advised the committee that he would suggest to the Faculty the lengthening of the lunch period on Wednesdays from one hour to perhaps one hour and a half.

The other suggestion which THE CAMPUS offered, Interclass debating, has been taken up by the Council and a committee is now arranging a series of debates. The Public Speaking instructors are enthusiastic over the plan and are offering every possible aid towards making the project a success.

In the next College Register the scope of the work and the activities of the Athletic Association and the Student Council will be noted.

Here and There.

Mr. Clarence Johnston, architect for the new chemical laboratories of the University of Minnesota visited our building, last Friday.

The November issue of School Science and Mathematics contains an article by Dr. R. W. Curtis entitled "Laboratory Devices for Elementary Chemistry."

The Columbia University School of Law has admitted into its first year class four City College men of the class of June 1911: H. Budner, Morse S. Hirsch, Stephen K. Rapp and S. L. Samuels.

Mr. W. A. Whitaker, formerly tutor of Chemistry at the College, is now Associate Professor of Metallurgy at Kansas University.

Professor Guthrie has prepared and printed a pamphlet in which the work which is being done by the College Civic Club is set forth. This pamphlet has been sent to the various clubs affiliated with the Inter-collegiate Civic League which will find in it useful and practical suggestions.

In a previous issue we announced that no City College men were candidates for offices in the City of Spire. We have since been informed that Chas. H. Kelby who attended here for two years was elected Supreme Court Judge. He is the son of Robert H. Kelby, Librarian of the New York Historical Society.

On Saturday evening the City College Club held its Thanksgiving Day meeting and Dr. B. M. Briggs delivered his annual Thanksgiving message.

All students desirous of becoming affiliated with the Cercle Jusserand are requested to communicate with Dr. Weill of the French Department, stating what days and hours they are at liberty to attend.

The first edition of Baskerville and Curtman's "Qualitative Analysis" has been completely sold out and another edition has been issued by the Macmillan Publishing Company.

Dr. E. J. Lederle, Commissioner of Health, will talk on "Some Activities of the Department of Health" in the Doremus Lecture Theatre, Friday, December 8th, at 3 P. M.

ATHLETICS.

Our Team.

At last, our trusty little force for this season's frays has been picked. How is this for a combination! Our own "Rouge" and Propper will defend our basket, and Zinovoy, Kaplan and Southwick will score for us. Then there is tow-headed Kaufman, ready to step into the breach at a moment's notice. That's not all! Our subs—"Shorty" Bradner, Levitt, Pruzan and Ricca—are all primed to lend a hand and sometimes an elbow. With such a team, how can one but feel optimistic for the season's results. Coach Palmer has worked hard during the past few weeks to get the men to play together, and if you are present at the first game, it will do your heart good to see the team-work.

Maryland, a southern team is our first opponent. Captain Friedman intimates that they are "pie" for his team. Well, he must show us! Nothing short of doubling their score will satisfy the fastidious tastes of C. C. N. Y. fans.

1912 Victors.

Several weeks ago the Seniors assembled in one of the lecture rooms, and in all solemnity decided that it was about time that 1912 captured another Championship. This decision was unanimous. One of the Seniors then arose and made a motion that the basketball team take it upon itself to accomplish this. A committee was immediately appointed, consisting of Gottlieb, Notarius, Noschkes, Frank, Novotny, Waldman and others, to make up this team. They then went after Mr. Championship. He however was enclosed in a strong fort, guarded by 1913, 1914 and 1915 and could not be reached by 1912. It was up to the latter then to get past these guardsmen. First to meet them was 1913, who was pushed over—quite nonchalantly, don't you know. 1914 and 1915 still remained to be overcome. And last Friday, the committee met '14 and simply brushed by them in their mad scramble to strangle Herr Champ. The score was 10—7. Real close, but a man is as good as a mile. The whole committee worked hard and made the affair a huge success. 1912 shot goals at just the right time, and in the right place. The assault was interesting and furious—the result being in doubt up to the last few hours. The main defenders of the fort were Levine, and the warrior who played centre, and whose name we do not remember; while the chief bombardiers for 1912 were Frank, Gottlieb, Notarius, et alii (that's Latin). 1915 is still to be fought.

Interclass Cross-country.

Last Monday, at 4.30, nineteen ath-a-letes, trained on Eissner's sandwiches exclusively, started off in the Inter-class Race. For them, the cloudiness of the day had gold and silver linings—the prizes. After a lapse of about half an hour, the first of the returning runners hove into sight. It proved to be Brandstetter, the diminutive '14 runner, who finished his course in 31 min. 52 sec. Kennedy the monopolist of the Soph-Fresh tract contests trotted in 24 sec. after the leader. 1913 garnered the next four places. Besides Brandstetter, Brown '13, the novice who finished first, will also receive a gold pin. Kennedy '14, Siebern '13, Broeder '13, Bogen '13 and Frankel '12 will have to be satisfied with silver pins. The Juniors captured THE CAMPUS banner offered to the ten-man class team which finished first. 1915 did not enter any men; this utter lack of spirit displayed by the Freshman is to be deplored. It is to be hoped that in future interclass activities they will come out strong. But pardon the digression. "Smiling Henry" Propper is to be especially commended for his titanic task of holding the tape, or rather the thread at the finish. The others who finished are: Convoy '13, Hirscher '14, Davis '13, Gottlieb '12, Lindholm '12, Frank '12, Potash '12, Levy '14, Fallon '13, Herman '13, Kear '13 and Dann '13.

With The Song-Smiths.

The song-contest has ended! After weighty deliberation, the judges came to the decision that Levitt '12 Whitford '12 and Stern '15 may bring their lady friends to all the games gratis. A season pass will be given to each of the above men. "Winter," "How Dry I am" and "Colleen Bawn" are the tunes parodied. The entire set of basket-ball songs for the coming season are given away as supplements of this week's issue. Get one, and show up in the gym. during lunch period for singing and cheering practice. Cheer-leader Mahon will be there with his megaphone to conduct the noise. All voices are invited to come up and assist.

McGrath, The Conqueror.

A two length swim was the noon program last Wednesday. With two seconds grace, McGrath snatched first place from Rogers who started from scratch. Though "Bones", really finished second, Steigman who received an eight seconds prize package scored a second place. Captain Coughlin churned his way into third place. McGrath is showing a steady improvement, and although this is his first fling at the Intercollegiate swimming game, he looks like a coming star. Enthusiasm in these weekly meets is holding well. It seems as if Coach Mac will have a job on his hands selecting the team to represent the College in the aquatic world. Today a 100 yd. race will be held in the pool. Time—1 P. M., "as usual".

The Swimming Manager intends to publish his schedule in the next issue of "The Campus."

Society Night.

IN ANOTHER page we note that a general meeting is being arranged by the three science societies. Why not set aside one night during the term for a meeting of all the College societies to be known as Society Night? The Dramatic society would learn of the doings of the chemists; the debaters would exchange views with the physicists, and in short, all could come together in a general meeting to compare notes. Twice a year the members of the societies and the instructors belonging to them could gather in one of the Lecture Halls, and work representative of the individual clubs could be presented to the assembled members. Perhaps the general student body and the instructing staff might be invited to attend. The Student Council should incorporate "Society Night" in the Customs Book and appoint the Presidents of the societies a standing committee to arrange the program and attending details each term. The benefits arising from the installation of this custom would be manifold. The membership of the societies would increase; better work would be accomplished, and the narrow field to which a society limits itself would be widened. The social spirit would become more wholesome. Students would know and understand each other better, and a feeling of mutual respect would supersede the present indifferent attitude. The instructor would be able to witness a view of the undergraduate's character which the class room rarely reveals. Knowing the student's bent he could stimulate latent powers by kind counsel and encouraging words. Everything speaks in favor of "Society Night." Arrangements for holding it should be begun at once.

Engineering.

The second of the series of lectures instituted by the Student Council this term was attended by more than two hundred undergraduates. Mr. Morgan, of the New York Sun, discussed the requirements which Journalism imposes upon its followers. The first prerequisite is the ability to write intelligible, clear and straightforward English. A Journalist must possess polite curiosity, he must know what is interesting and what is important, and above all he must be prepared to make sacrifices. The various newspapers in the City appeal to people of different emotions; one introduces shrieks, another brings in sobs and a third presents the bare facts. A student who contemplates Journalism as a profession must choose that newspaper which appeals to people to whom he likes to address himself.

To-day at 1.10 Mr. J. V. Davies, who was Chief Engineer of the Construction Work of the Hudson Tunnels, will speak on "Engineering." His vast and varied experiences in Engineering work make him best qualified to present the facts about this profession.

Last Wednesday, in the building at 23rd St., Mr. Queneau of the French Department was suddenly taken ill. He was removed to the French Hospital where he died on the same day. The entire student body and the instructing staff sympathize with those to whom he was most dear.

Biological Society.

At the meeting of the Biological Society last Thursday, Adlerblum '12 reported the result of a series of experiments, on "Behavior of the Inhabitants of Salt Water Aquaria", and Schlesinger '12 spoke on "Anthrax, the Wool Sorter's Disease".

Membership was extended to all students of the College who have studied Biology here or in the High Schools. Students who have been ineligible heretofore can now apply.

The Natural History Department Staff and the advanced students of Biology have organized a Biological Seminar to review and discuss recent scientific papers. Meeting will be held in room 313 every Tuesday at 4.45 P. M.

Professor Guthrie lectured on "The Revival of Democracy" at the Y.M.H.A. of the Bronx, Boston Road and 165th St., last Saturday night. Dr. Joseph Kohn, Dr. Joseph J. Klein, Mr. Harry Cohen and Mr. Moses M. Fertig, all graduates of the College, have secured the kind cooperation of Dr. Guthrie in their efforts to instruct the public on economic and social questions through a series of eighteen lectures arranged for Saturday evenings.

A bust of Wolcott Gibbs, the first Professor of Chemistry at the College was unveiled last Saturday night at the Chemists Club. Professor Gibbs was a noted authority on complex inorganic salts.

On the morning of December 1st, President Finley will speak at the dinner of St. Andrews and on the same day he will address the Massachusetts State Teachers Association at Huntington Hall, Boston. Last Friday night the President addressed the men of the church of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. Mr. Andrew Carnegie also delivered an address.

At the last meeting of the City College Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa held in the tower rooms last Monday evening, Professor Overstreet spoke on "Philosophy and the Common Things".

Dr. Morris R. Cohen of the department of Mathematics has published an important paper on "The Present Situation in the Philosophy of Mathematics", in a recent number of the Journal of Philosophy, Psychology and Scientific Methods.

Swimmers!!!

Get busy! The date for the interclass Swimming meet is Monday, Dec. 4. The Mercury, to stimulate the interest of the contestants has donated a banner to be given to the winning class. The variety of events beats the "fifty-seven" for which Mr. Heinz is famous. 50 yd. dashes, 100 and 200 yd. swims, plunges and fancy diving are on the bill of fare. There will also be an interclass relay. Suit your taste! Select your distance and then pass it in with your name to the class athletic manager. Then all you have to do is to be present at the meet and swim. The points will take care of themselves. Juniors and Seniors, set the fashion! The lower classmen will follow.

TOWNSEND HARRIS NEWS

BERNARD P. FINEMAN, Correspondent

A Surprise.

In the presence of more than three hundred Harris rooters and three Commerce men, the soccer team of the High School of Commerce held our team to a 2-2 score. The Commerce team showed a surprising reversal of form. Their defence was like a steel wall against which the Harris line hurled itself in vain. Loose playing by our back field enabled our opponents to score two goals in the first half. In the second period our men came back with a new lease of life. Doggedly, and with telling persistence, they carried the ball up the field, and by clever shooting they scored the two goals necessary to tie the score. It was one of the finest struggles against overwhelming odds that a Harris team has ever engaged in, and they deserve the praise of the entire school.

The basketball team is putting on the finishing touches before its first high school game. On December 2nd, the team will meet the strong Passaic High School team. We open the P. S. A. L. schedule on December 10th, at the College gym. with Bushwick High School.

Clinton? Commerce? Stuyvesant?

At the Interscholastic cross-country run, in which more than fifteen preparatory schools from all parts of the East were represented, our team finished fifth. The other Greater New York Schools to finish among the first five were Morris, who was first, and Manual Training. The Townsend team defeated Clinton, Commerce and Stuyvesant, who are considered the most formidable aspirants for championship honors.

After several tryouts, the heavyweight relay squad has been chosen. It consists of Cohen, Tabor, Green and Turchin, with Weisman and Greenbaum, substitutes. The other relays are also showing up well. In fact, the entire squad is more than fulfilling its early promise of championship form.
