DISTINGUISHED HISTORIAN TO LECTURE TO-MORROW

Illustrated Lecture in Great Hall By
Dr. Cunningham

William Cunningham, D. D., F. B. A., Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, and Archdeacon of Ely, will give an illustrated lecture on Town Planning in the Great Hall on Thursday, November 12th, at twelve o'clock.

He is the distinguished English economic historian who is giving the Lowell lectures in Boston during October. He is to lecture at Columbia University under the joint auspices of the New York Academy of Political Science and the Columbia Institute of Arts and Sciences. The proceeds of his lectures, in America after his expenses are paid, are to be devoted to the relief of Belgian refugees.

His lecture will be an attempt to trace the history of early towns in England which had no definite plan and grew as the downtown part of New York grew, and also to show how the Renaissance systematic town planning began to be studied in England, and to trace the links of connection between that movement in England and town planning in Philadelphia and America generally.

ALUMNI HOLD MEMORIAL MEETING

Services in Memory of Graduates Who Have Died in Past Two Years

A Memorial Meeting for the distinguished Alumni of the College who have died during the past two years, was conducted on Sunday, Nov. 8, in the Great Hall, just before the organ recital.

He died during the past two years, was conducted on Sunday, Nov. 8, in the Great Hall, just before the organ recital.

Addresses were made by Gilbert H. Crawford '68 and Charles P. Fagnani of the class of '73. Mr. Crawford spoke especially of the late Alfred Compton, Rudolf Tumbo, and Dr. Spitzka.

Lewis Sayre Burchard '77, President of the Associated Alumni—under whose auspices the services were held—presented the roll of the deceased alumni to Acting-President Werner.

The Glee Club sang Horace's "Integer Vital" and Professor Baldwin at the organ rendered the famous "Marche Funebre" of Chopin's and, in concluding the services, Grieg's "Funeral March."

ELECTIVE MEETING.
All Sophomores, Juniors and Lower Seniors (except students in Hygiene 3B) will meet the Dean in the Great Hall to-day (Wednesday) at 1 p.m.

SOPHOMORE OF COLLEGE MISSING

Abraham Schwartz's Mind is Thought To Have Been Affected by Overstudy

Abraham Schwartz of 451 East 135 Street, the Bronx, a sophomore in the College was reported missing last week by his brother Frederick. The brother said that Abraham left home Saturday evening to go to the public library at Alexander Avenue and 143rd. Street, and had not been heard from since.

The police were unable to learn whether he went to the library. The only explanation offered by the family for his disappearance was that he had suffered a mental break-down from overstudy and had lost his memory temporarily. His brother scouted the idea that he left home deliberately.

The youth was graduated from the De Witt Clinton High School with honors two years ago. He is 5 feet 6 inches in height, weighs 140 pounds, and has brown hair and eyes. He wore a grey suit, a blue chinchilla overcoat, a blue felt hat, and black shoes.

SCOPTICAL STUDENTS

Break Records to Prove Their Indestructability

Five hundred students listened to C. M. Paynter, representative of the Edison Phonograph Company, while he endeavored to demonstrate the merits of the Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph last Thursday in the Great Hall.

"These Edison Disc records are almost unbreakable," said Mr. Paynter, throwing two of them at the first row. "And you can prove it by yourself." A 145 pound Senior proved it for himself. The selections were played from "La Perle du Bresil," "Il Trovatore," and "Moonlight in Jungleland."

Y. M. C. A. Conducts

Successful Dinner

On Election Eve, November 2, the Y. M. C. A. conducted a successful dinner in the Faculty lunch room.

The diners proved to be one of the merriest crowds that ever attended there. The features of the banquet were the straw votes taken before and after the dinning-room campaign. The net resulted in a tie between Whitman and Glynn, while in the second, the eloquence of the speakers telling, the present Governor soared far ahead.

The new piano, which the Association intends to buy with the proceeds of the piano campaign, did much to increase the cheeriness of the banquet.

Visitors at the College

On November 27th and 28th, the two days following Thanksgiving, the College will receive as guests the members of the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Middle Atlantic States and Maryland.

The annual convention of the association will take place at the same time.

A faculty committee has been appointed to arrange a mode of entertainment.

Excellent Concert at C. G. N. Y.

The second concert of the City Orchestra in the Great Hall on the evening of November 2nd was so well attended that some of the audience had to be seated on the platform and balcony steps. The concert was given as a part of the great Tercentenary Celebration of the City.

Just before the concert proper, Dr. Edward E. Hall spoke on the historical connections of the celebration and referred to the entire propoganda as a "celebration of peace."

Miss Inez Barbour and Mr. James Stanley rendered arias and Mr. Maurice Kaufman gave a violin concerto, Bruch's in "G minor." The orchestra played Mendelsohn's "Ruy Blas," the "Siegfried Idyl" from Wagner and the waltz from the "Tales of Vienna," Strauss. Encores upon encores were demanded of the three soloists.

College Marshals in Power Again

A board of Class Marshals has been organized and is prepared to restore to the office of Marshal those powers and duties which belong to them. Among their activities will be the supervision of the alcoves, the Campus, and college functions in the Great Hall.

VOCATIONAL COURSES OF STUDY

By Gilbert H. Crawford '68 in the Quarterly

The College is facing a great question. For years it has been generally agreed that the true policy is to restrain its activities within college limits and to avoid any development in the direction of university work. The suggestion, made more than once in recent years, that to develop the College into a university was a proper object of ambition, has thus far been put aside as impracticable and as endangering the peculiar usefulness of the College.

We have in the City of New York three universities, one of the first class and two not so large, but whose development in the last twenty-five years gives bright promises for the future. It may be that there is room in this city for a fourth university, but the controlling principle in the minds of those who oppose the addition of professional schools to the College, has been, that its paramount duty is the education of students most of whom do not expect to enter a learned profession. The College was founded chiefly for the benefit of young men who must begin to support themselves immediately after graduation, or whose circumstances compel them to leave college before graduation.

The matter of college evolution has now assumed a different phase. The proposition is not to develop the College into a university maintaining professional schools but to provide special training for those who wish to prepare themselves, not for the learned professions, but for mechanical, municipal and commercial pursuits, and for occupations requiring at least a rudimentary knowledge of one or more physical sciences.

The word which has become associated with this plan is "vocational," and the suggestion is to establish in the College what may be called "vocational courses" of study. Advances have been already made in this direction by the establishment of night classes, and in the so-called "extension" courses for teachers. The College has for five years offered to teachers special courses of study in Education, English, Comparative Literature, Political Science, History, Art, Music, Mathematics and Mechanical Arts, and during the current year more than three thousand four hundred students have registered in these courses.

The question soon to be decided by the College is whether other vocational courses of study shall be devised and made a permanent part of the general curriculum of the College. Much can be said on both sides of this question. Those who oppose the plan see in it a danger to the academic curriculum. They say the result will be the sidetracking of that curriculum, that students will break off prematurely from the course of Arts to pursue vocational courses, and that in the end the College will lose its individuality as such, and will become merely a heterogeneous aggregation of special courses of instruction. Some who favor the new departure contend that even if such an extreme result should follow, no harm would be done to the cause of popular education. They say the College must change according to the wishes of the public, and that the irresistible tendency of the times is toward an early specialization of studies, designed to fit students to earn a living quickly. Others insist that there will always be a sufficient body of students, ready to pursue prescribed studies in the liberal arts, substantially as at present; that the preservation of the individuality of the College as such, is quite compatible with the enlargement of its usefulness by establishing Vocational courses; that it is practicable to pursue the two distinct lines of education under one general control; and that it is a measure of economy to graft the new courses upon an institution possessing a well organized educational plant, with scholarly traditions and incidental facilities for acquiring knowledge which have been accumulating for sixty-five years.

NOTES

We will be pleased to consider for publication any news items of collegiate interest which members of the Alumni, Faculty and Student bodies desire to contribute.

Professor Stephen Pierce Duggan will lecture on November 16th before the Home and School Association of East Orange.

The Philosophical Society of the University of Virginia has elected Professor Baskerville an honorary member. As no honorary degrees are conferred there, this is the highest compliment that the University can pay to the Professor.

The Banquet Committee of the Newman Club, of which James Mulholland is Chairman, has chosen November 28 as the date for the Annual Banquet of the Club. This has been found to be the most convenient to both the Alumni and student bodies.

Upper A students are now eligible for sub-membership in the Society. The officers will accept applications before nine o'clock any morning in the Alcove.

Last Thursday at noon Mr. Samuel Strass, Editor of the New York Times delivered a lecture before the Menorah on "War and its Relationships to the Jews."

The Swimming Meet between T. H. H. and Commerce resulted in a victory for Harris. The score was 42-11, but because of a protested race it may be changed to 39-14.

The coach and Faculty advisor of the Townsend Harris basket ball team are extremely pleased with the squad. It is the largest in several seasons and though light ought to do well. At the first call twenty-five candidates appeared, not fifteen as was previously stated. The spirit of the boys runs high with great hopes for a successful season.

The Glee Club of the College is rehearsing regularly with steadily increasing numbers. Sections meet on Monday and Friday at 1:45 and Thursday at 2:45. Professor Baldwin is devoting much time to vocal training, and the first concert of the Glee Club will probably take place in May.

Chick wrote his new song all by himself, so there!

Tom Coulton is trying to get Amherst and Williams to swim here. If that cannot be arranged, our amphibians will take a trip to Massachusetts. We are also negotiating a meet with Cornell.

The Inter-class Swimming meet will be held on Friday with more success, we hope, than the last one.

There is still room for new songs in the A. A. Song Book. The season tickets have not yet been awarded.

Ads. for the book are still selling at $8 per page with 10 per cent. to agents. More junior assistants are wanted from the Sophomore class.

The tennis managerships are still open.

The sale of A. A. tickets has picked up very slightly.

Junior Prom on Thanksgiving Eve.

The Class of 1915 will hold its Senior Dance in the Gymnasium on Thanksgiving Eve. The Committee, under the able chairmanship of Freiberg, is busy at work with arrangements for what promises to be the best dance ever held at the college. The Music, Souvenirs and Refreshments will be better than ever. The remarkable success achieved by the 1915 Class in its Junior Prom will undoubtedly bring many to the Dance which will be still better than the Prom.

The members of the Junior Prom. Committee have been chosen as follows:—Tabor, Chairman, Drake, Treasurer, Moerchen, Secretary.

Represent College in Washington

Professors Clark and Baskerville will represent C. C. N. Y. at a meeting of the Association of State Universities in Washington on Nov. 9th and 10th. While there, they will also represent our College at the meeting of the Association of Municipal Colleges which is now being formed.

Beginning Soon,—“Our Own College Register.”

A. A. Mass Meeting on Friday

A meeting of the whole student body will be held on Friday, Nov. 13, under the auspices of the Athletic Association. The cheering squad will then start to go into training for the basket ball and swimming seasons.

Scarlata Wins By 4 Seconds

One week ago Saturday our cross-country squad defeated the Lafayette hill-and-dale men by a score of 31½ to 23½, evening up with the Easton men for what they did here last year.

Joe Scarlata led the field over the Van Cortlandt Park Course for the whole six miles and finished in the fast time of 39 minutes and 57 seconds. Four seconds later came Jaffe, C. C. N. Y., twenty yards behind.

The first Lafayette man, Van Blarcom was third. His time was 40 mins. and 59 seconds. Harry Schaffer finished fourth. Behind him came Ellis and McCurdy of Lafayette, Weberpals, C. C. N. Y., and Bannerman, Lafayette, Skelding, C. C. N. Y., and Melley, Lafayette, in an effort to be original, wandered from the course taken by the others and divided last place honors.

The positions at the finish were:

	Time
1. Scarlata, C. C. N. Y.	39.57
2. Jaffe, C. C. N. Y.	40.01
3. Van Blarcom, Lafayette	40.59

Basket Ball Schedule Extended

The basket ball season has been extended to March 6 instead of ending with the Franklin-Marshall game on February 27. The open date on February 20 will in all probability be occupied by a game with Delaware.

Trips to Rochester and Lehigh have been arranged for our worthy knights of the basket. The A. A. Board is trying to have one of the games staged in an armory so that we can invite our fair friends to dance after the victory. The prospects for this event are all to the cheery.

Soccer Schedule Arranged

The Freshman and Inter-class Soccer schedules have been completed. Cairns has been elected Captain of the Freshman team.

Break A Record and Get A Cup

The A. A. has adopted the custom of awarding silver cups to men who break College records. The Board doesn't care how many of these cups it has to give away. However, the chief boss of THE CAMPUS will not be given a cup for breaking an Edison Diamond Disc in the Great Hall last Thursday.

"The accumulation of a fund from the profits . . . which fund shall be used to aid, foster, maintain, promote realize or encourage any aim which shall go towards the betterment of College and student activities This corporation is not organized for profit."

—Article of Incorporation of The Campus Association.

One detail is not in accord with the high standards of efficiency, system and general excellence which otherwise prevails in the Department of Hygiene. The defect to which we refer, one which has been present for many years, concerns the lectures and notes.

Every student taking Hygiene is expected to thoroughly master the weekly lectures. In order to accomplish this he must carefully copy the notes placed on the bulletin boards in the Exercising Hall of the Gymnasium. The task of copying these notes is attended with many difficulties. The mere mechanical action of copying the notes is in itself a most arduous task and one requiring considerable time and patience.

Normally difficult, it is rendered doubly so by other obstacles. The space afforded for the copying of the "Gym Notes" is naturally not proportional to the number of students seeking to fulfill the requirements of the course. This results in a scene of jostling, pushing and patient resignation which materially interferes with the transcription of the notes. Conditions are not conducive to a rapid conclusion of the work and thus the students labor is needlessly prolonged.

There is no need to dwell upon other inconveniences of the single bulletin board system.

The need for reform is pressing. Occasionally the Class organizations have taken it upon themselves to have abstracts of the lectures printed and distributed to members in good standing. But the versions were imperfect and the cost extortionate.

Two remedies suggest themselves; the first, that the Department of Hygiene issue an official booklet containing these lectures and perhaps the graded class drills, and distribute them to the students; the second, that the notes be posted on additional bulletin boards in the gymnasium, on bulletin boards in the Main Building, and that they be bound and placed in the College Library for reference. The far more preferable course of action would be the first.

Hundreds of students gather to worship at the shrine of music and song after hours at the Y. To Soothe the Savage Soul M. C. A. piano. Worse could be imagined in the way of providing channels for the outlet of social spirit than the purchase of a piano to be placed permanently in one of the alcoves.

What The Campus Has Advocated

1. Summer Sessions.
2. Improvement of the Drinking Service.
3. Open Doors.
4. Greater Activity Towards the Social House.
5. Inauguration of a Student Lunch Room.
6. Inauguration of a Student Book Store.
7. Modern Books in Library.
8. C. C. N. Y. Subway station.

What has been done to realize these reforms? Action has been taken only towards the Social House and Open Doors.

CORRESPONDENCE

It is not reasonable to suppose that all readers will agree with our editorial comments in their entirety. We would be pleased to receive letters on subjects discussed in our columns, and, in fact, on all matters of collegiate interest. Anonymous contributors will not obtain consideration, nor do the editors guarantee to publish all letters addressed to them. A most liberal policy, however, will be adopted, and readers having comments worthy of expression should take this opportunity to state their views.

The Campus does not necessarily support correspondents' views.

Ah, But You Mustn't!

To the Editor of THE CAMPUS.
Sir: Kindly discontinue sending me THE CAMPUS. This is not because of lack of appreciation of the splendidly progressive and enterprising spirit of your paper this year, but because my brother buys it regularly at the College and (must I admit it?) I read "over his shoulder."

The Study Rooms

To the Editor of THE CAMPUS.
Sir: It is unfortunate that there is no place in the college where a student can prepare his work during hours. That the library and alcoves provide for this purpose is true, but the crowded condition of one, and the noise prevailing in the latter render it impossible to study in them. The "Great Hall" does not remedy this deficiency as there is no place where one can write in it and then, it is not a "Study Hall."

I would suggest to the faculty that some of the rooms which are empty each hour be set aside as study halls for that period. There would be nothing lost by making this experiment.

A—Hal! We Told You So!

Nonsense is that which is neither true nor false. These two great properties of nonsense, which are essential to it, give it such a peculiar advantage over all other writings that it is incapable of being either answered or contradicted. If it affirms anything, you cannot lay hold of it; or if it denies, you cannot refute it. In a word there are greater depths and obscurities, greater intricacies and perplexities in an elaborate and well-written piece of nonsense, than in the most abstruse and profound tract of school divinity.
