THE PRINCETON GAME

As we review Saturday night's tussle with Princeton several thoughts suggest themselves. It seems that we have been pursued by a jinx with a bulldog grip throughout all these years in which we have failed to beat our time-honored rival. We hope he would fail to make his appearance this time, but luck was against us, likewise the score.

But somehow, this year is different from all past years. After Princeton games in years past we always left the gym with teeth clenched and a determined "wait till next year" on our lips. This year the outlook is much brighter. We need not wait a whole year for a chance to avenge ourselves. Our opportunity is right at hand.

Our team has met its rivals, has played them a hard game and, we hope, has learned a good deal from the experience. On Friday night they will be doubly well prepared to meet their adversaries. The tactics which scored for Princeton this game will undoubtedly be much less effective next game. Our men will be trained to meet and overcome any obstacle to victory which Princeton can put in their path.

Men who have signed up for the Special: Don't let our defeat on Saturday night discourage you. Stick by your team. Travel out to Princeton with them, by regular train, and travel home victorious!

BOHEMIA

Years ago in the good old times, we are told, the semi-annual debates between Clonia and Phrenocosonia were the talk of the town. There were torch light processions and noise and cheering as the elite of the city turned out to fill the boxes and rows of the Academy of Music for the gala event. Needless to say, there was great rivalry among the members of the two societies.

In our times, however, Phreno and Clio have changed considerably. The College, much less the entire town, is hardly aware of their existence as literary groups. They meet, it is true, but their meetings are acknowledgedly for social purposes. Only a mere pretense is made toward literary endeavor.

Without bemoaning this situation, which perhaps is all for the best, The Campus cannot help feeling gratified at the news of the organization of a lower classmen literary society, which aims to be literary first. Bohemia has had a very energetic beginning and bids fair to have a successful career at College.

If Bohemia will adhere to its ideals it cannot help but exert a good influence in future years upon its senior societies. For Bohemia members of the present will be Clonians and Phrenocosonians of the future.

Godspeed, Bohemia!

AN ERROR

The editorial which appeared in a number of issues of Tuesday's Campus was printed through a misunderstanding and was recalled as soon as the error was perceived. Unfortunately, a number of uncorrected copies were left in circulation.

The attitude expressed by N. Y. U. in its editorial columns is beneath discussion in The Campus.

GARGOYLE GARGLIS

Dear Jerry:

Whereas, a malicious lampoon on my character and behavior was inserted in your column by one S. Walter Pokart, Auditor and Accountant (vulgarily yclept Ponzi Pokart), I take my pen in hand to answer him through the same medium.

Whereas, you Sir Walter was formerly president of the Civics Club; Whereas, he did conduct the affairs of the aforesaid club in an autocratic manner;

Whereas, I made sacrifice of an honor to oust said Ponzi from his office;

Whereas, I did lower myself to accept the presidency of the aforesaid Civics Club;

Whereas, I did contribute one cent towards my membership in your organization — the other twenty-four cents being contributed by other altruistic seniors;

Whereas, I did successfully urge the right-minded members of the Society to elect Sir Ponzi as vice-president;

Whereas, I did make an oration, a masterpiece, lauding the aforementioned Civics Club to the skies.

Whereas, I labored hard to have signs printed about the outcome of the elections;

Whereas, I expected much of the Civics Club and almost as much of S. Walter,

And Whereas, the Civics Club has betrayed my trust;

And, whereas, it has deposed me as president;

And whereas, it has re-elected the aforesaid Ponzi person president;

And whereas, the aforesaid Sir Walter has leveled the aforementioned lampoon at me, most maliciously;

Therefore, Do I herewith and forever wash my hands of the aforesaid Civics Club and the aforementioned S. Walter Pokart, auditor and accountant.

Yours— "STEVE" BRODE.

WAKE UP!

The spirit here is on the blink, No pep like other places. Activities get no response, These are indeed disgraces.

Come, Brothers, show you're College men!

Throw off your babies' bibs! Get into action! Show some snap. And send us some contribs.

We heave a sigh of relief and thanks for the approach of the year 1921. For during the past leap year of 1920 no fair female has proposed to us and we were on pins and needles that they would. (Girls, it's your last chance between now and the first.) —Advt.

ECO CLUB INVITES STUDENTS TO JOIN

An invitation is extended to all Commerce Building students to join the Economics Club, which meets regularly on Thursdays at 9:30 p. m. in Room 108. The purpose of this club is to encourage the discussion of up-to-date economic problems which cannot be thoroughly considered in the class room on account of the lack of time during the two brief weekly periods. All students interested are urged to attend the meeting this week. See Messrs. Raphael or Skal on Monday, Wednesday or Friday during the last period in Room 209.

HACKETT IN MACBETH

Our well-known actor alumnus, James K. Hackett, '91, has been rousing a most unusual enthusiasm in unexcitable London. After playing Macbeth with his own company both here and in Canada with considerable success, he took his company to England. The British critics are now scraping their British dictionaries for words sufficient to express their approval.

According to them Hackett is the only perfect Macbeth, the only perfect elocutionist, and they rise to the greatest heights of admiration in announcing that he even spoke with no perceptible American attitude. Praise with them could reach no higher altitude: Hackett might actually have been an Englishman. Perhaps our Department of Public Speaking would like to plume itself a little over this matter of the accent—or perhaps it would like to apologize.

Alumni are not only invited, but urged and entreated to mail immediately to the Alumnus Editor, at the College, all news items that concern them. News is not likely to reach the editor while it is still news unless you send it yourself.

Dear Brother Alumni:

Our chief news this month is of the annual meeting of the Alumni at the old College building. More of you ought to attend this yearly meeting in December, if only for the pleasure of it. The formal report of the business transacted at the meeting you will find in another column; let me tell you here something of its more heart-felt side. We met as usual, over a hundred of us, in the ancient Doremus Lecture Room of classic fame and hard wood benches. There are many of the "old faithfuls" present ready of speech and reader of wit, whom it was a joy to listen to. Younger men were there also, a sprinkling from all the classes, as eager as their seniors to argue for the good of the College, less polished and assured of words perhaps, but all the more intense. Laughter bubbled over with almost every speech; good feeling fairly flowed as a current through all the hall. Clashes of opinion were often sharp enough to be electric, but the sense of common service to a cause kept all in friendly sympathy. Old orators, heroes of a hundred more serious battles, aired their skill against opponents old and new. The lively discussion reached as far back as that loyal veteran, Everett Wheeler '56, or to that joyous spirit of eternal youth, William Campbell '78; and there was Julius Lichtenstein '81, Judge Malqueen '80, and so on down to Professor Robinson '04 and Raymond Thompson '09, president of the Twentieth Century Club, and a dozen younger men. Of course you whispered sometimes to old chums about old times; but really the meeting was too interesting in itself to admit of much distraction.

President Kohns' Address

Of more formal speeches at this meeting, two were notable. The withdrawing president, Lee Kohns '84, made a simple, impressive survey of what he had done and sought to do for the Association during his term of office. He spoke specially of the Library project which had been so dear to his heart; and, best news of all, he promised that he would still continue his effort for the Library, that effort which we all know has been so earnest and so powerful.

President Churchill's Address

The incoming president, Hon. Thomas Churchill '82, addressed his gathered admirers in lighter but equally pleasing words. They were specially pleasing to members of the College teaching staff in that he dwelt chiefly on the College's need of higher salaries and on his determination to rally the alumni to a vigorous effort toward this end. Our new Alumni President is too well known to all of us to need any introduction, but to any who have just been born we may explain that he was President of the N. Y. Board of Education for four years, that he has been a power in our city for a generation, once a Deputy Fire Commissioner, once a Trustee of the College, and always its warm friend and able advocate. He began his career as "one of us," a teacher in the Public Schools, and had risen to be "First Assistant" before he abandoned the teaching profession for the law.

Our personal news this month includes reports of three Alumni brothers who are making themselves prominent in London. Barrett '77, Scripture '84, and Hackett '91, might well join with our loyal old "first class" alumnus, Isaac Seligman '53, of the famous old London banking firm of Seligman Brothers. Thus the four would make an excellent nucleus for another branch chapter of our Associate Alumni. Indeed there has been some hint of the possibility of this.

Word also reaches us of the probability of the forming of such a branch in Cincinnati, where several of our alumni are now situated.

ALUMNI BUSINESS MEETING

The annual business meeting of the Associate Alumni was held on the evening of December 4th, at the old College building, in Twenty-third Street. The officers elected for the coming year were as follows:

The chief business resolutions passed were as follows: The annual dues of the alumni were raised from two to three dollars; and life membership in the association was raised from $25 to $50. The Associate Alumni continues, under its own direction, the publication of the Quarterly. Our more fugitive sheet, the present Alumni Campus continues, as heretofore, under arrangement with the Campus Association; the Publication Committee of the Alumni is, however, given power to readjust the financial agreement, so that the yearly maximum paid for the Campus may be as high as fifty cents per alumni member instead of thirty-five cents as now. The continuance of the Alumni Bureau at the College was approved and the matter of its financial support referred to the Board of Directors "with power." The Directors were also authorized to consider and act upon the appointment of an Assistant Treasurer.

Votes of thanks were extended to the retiring president, Lee Kohns, '84, and the retiring secretary, Jacob Holman, '04; also to the historian, John Battell, '73, and the associate historian, Howard Green, '02; also to Professor Duggan, '90; Professor Burchard, '77; Charles Murray, '84; the "members of the Twentieth Century Club, and all others who actively participated in promoting the success of the annual dinner."

PERSONAL NEWS

'77—At a House Dinner of the Pilgrims of London, presided over by Lord Desborough, K.C.V.O., Chairman of the Pilgrims, held November 18th, 1920, a painting, by A. Forester, of the sailing of the Mayflower from Southampton Harbor, in 1620, was presented to the Club by J. Arthur Barratt, Esq., M.A., I.L.B., Barrister at Law of the Middle Temple, C. C. N. Y., '77.

'84—A letter recently received from Dr. (formerly Professor) Edward W. Scripture, '84, gives his office address in Harley Street (traditionally famous as the chosen locality of London's physician's to the nobility and gentry), and an editorial in the Telegram of November 27th, refers to an instrument called the "Epidiastroscope" as invented by "an English physician with the striking name of Scripture," by which he is enabled to tell whether or not the person under examination is speaking the truth, and the percentage, if any, of his falsehood. The Detroit News calls it a "deleterious and inflammatory instrument." This is in line with Dr. Scripture's former work as Professor of Experimental Psychology at Yale.

'88—Abram I. Elkus was last month a candidate for re-election as Judge of the New York Court of Appeals. He has previously been Ambassador to Turkey, Chairman of the New York State Reconstruction Committee, Regent of our State University, and has held other positions of honorary service to numerous for record.

'89—Bernard M. Baruch has this month received the nation's Distinguished Service Medal for his war work. With any other man we would make a column notice of this; but in Baruch's career this is only one of the many things we have constantly to be putting on record.

'90—Stephen Duggan, as Director of the Institute of International Education, has issued another bulletin of all the European professors who have expressed to him their willingness to "exchange" with American professors and to teach over here for a while. We think that we ourselves, if we were among European professors under present conditions, would also be willing to be upon this exchange list, despite salary difficulties here.

'01—Bernard Ruge is vice-president of the Ward Carpenter Co., of White Plains, builders, architects and developers of real estate. He calls our attention to the fact that the entire executive staff of the Company is composed of City College alumni. Orlando Kegelman, '03, is president; and Robert O'Meara, '03, is head of the engineering work.

'02—Millard Waltz, Jr., is now a Major, serving with the 57th Infantry, U. S. A. He has just reached Honolulu on his way to two years of duty in the Philippines.

'06—Bernard Hershkoff, on November 1st became a member of the Wall Street firm of Guthrie, Bangs and Van Sinderen.

'09—Dr. Harvey Kurz, once a teacher at the College has just been appointed Professor of Spanish at the University of South Dakota. A new "chair" in this subject was created for him.

THE TURKISH CIGARETTE

Mrs. Fox was bragging one day about the large number of her cubs.

"How many cubs do you bring into the world at one time?" she asked the LIONESSE.

"Only ONE," replied the Lioness—"but it's a LION."

MURADS COST 20 CENTS for a BOX of 10—BUT THEY'RE MURADS!

MURADS would be lower priced if we left out all or part of the 100% Turkish tobaccos of the purest and best varieties grown—or if we substituted inferior grades of Turkish tobacco.

But they wouldn't be MURADS—they'd only be Foxes!

ACCOUNTING CLUB AT COMMERCE BUILDING ORGANIZES FOR WORK

The Accounting Club at the Commerce Building, held its second regular meeting Friday, December 10, 1920, at 9:20, in Room 103, and was successfully organized.

The following officers were elected: President, A. Schoch; Vice-President, B. Adler; Secretary, Miss Z. Halperin; Treasurer, I. Kaplan; Executive Committee, H. Tappoloff, H. Tutterman, S. Elefant.

The Executive Committee was empowered to draw up a constitution to be ready at the next meeting, which is to be held Friday, December 17, at 9:20 in Room 103.

The discussions to be held at future meetings will be limited to the practical applications of accounting principles in the business world, the theoretic aspect being sufficiently treated in the classrooms. To inaugurate the programs, the Accounting Club is privileged to announce that Dr. Joseph J. Klein, C.P.A., of Klein, Hinds and Finke, Certified Public Accountants, will lecture at the next meeting, the subject of address to be announced. The meeting is open to all students of the College.

Mr. Michael P. Suttenger addressed the members of the Chemistry Club at its meeting on Wednesday,

MAY CANCEL GAMES BECAUSE OF INSULT

The above ruling will have to be sanctioned by the members of the Faculty Athletic Committee before it can go into effect. It is understood however, that men in the Faculty who are prominently connected with athletics are in favor of this stringent measure and are backing the Board in its action with all their influence. It is also reported unofficially that members of the Faculty Athletic Committee are in accord with the Student Board on the matter. One professor, when approached yesterday on the subject, expressed his opinion that this action, while being the only one available to the A. A. Board, is entirely too mild. He suggested that the College ask the Student Council of the uptown University to demand the immediate resignation of the man who wrote the editorial and, if he is not the editor himself, to ask also that the editor be asked to resign his post for allowing the editorial to be printed.

The ruling, as adopted by the A. A. Board, affects all those sports in which the two colleges have engaged. In addition to the basketball game, this ruling will apply to the annual encounters in baseball and tennis and the contemplated meeting of the two colleges on the track next spring. Pending the receipt of the apology, the Board has instructed the managers of the last three teams named to suspend negotiations now going on with N. Y. U. for their respective games.

Eve. Session Council Defers Election of Permanent Officers

Committees Report Favorable Progress of Evening Session's Activities

At the meeting of the Student Council of the Evening Session last Friday, a large number of students were present.

President Orloff opened the meeting with a short speech reminding those present that the Evening Session has supported every worthy movement placed before it. Volunteers offered support in the drive which was being inaugurated at the time to raise money for needy students of Central Europe.

Mr. Feldman tendered his resignation from the athletic committee to devote all his time to the Evening Session Dance. Mr. Milton Cohen was then appointed chairman of the Athletic Committee. Mr. Steinmetz followed giving a favorable report of the financial account. Mr. Feldman's report for the entertainment committee stated that the dance will be limited to 200 couples. The Walking Club announced that the trip last Sunday was a great success; the next walk planned will take place on Sunday, December 19th, meeting at Fort Lee Ferry at 9:30 sharp. It is advisable to bring lunch.

Mr. Daly, the gym coach, is making arrangements for the basketball and track teams. Emphasis is laid on the fact that the Evening Session students will lose the advantages of the gym if they do not now avail themselves of the opportunity that is presented to them. Many outside organizations are trying hard to get permission to use the gym in the evenings; and they will be successful if it is shown that the students of the Evening Session do not care to use it.

The report from the Skating committee brought news of a huge success, the number that turned out for the first skate last Saturday evening. Every Thursday, Saturday and Sunday nights are "skating" nights. After considerable discussion, a motion was passed to defer election of permanent officers until the beginning of next term, and the present body to exist until then. The reason for this was: First, the very short time until the end of the term, and, second, if elections were to be held the new body could not get together and accomplish anything, whereas the present body is in working condition. The postponement of the election saves a great deal of time which would otherwise be wasted.

The Student Council meets on Friday evenings at 10:15 p. m. in Room 220, Main Building.
