JUNIOR FESTIVAL WEEK COMMENCES

Basketball Game Tonight First Event on Elaborate Program of Activities for Class of 1923

JUNIOR PROM TO BE HELD ON NEXT FRIDAY

Banquet and Theatre Party Also Scheduled for Next Week—Booklet Committee Issues Souvenir Festival Booklet

Junior Festival Week will be ushered in to-night when the first of the four big events, the basketball game between the Varsity and Brown University, will be held.

Next Tuesday evening, December 27, is the date of the Theatre Party at the Ritz. On Wednesday evening, December 28, the Banquet will be held at the Hotel Netherlands and on the Friday following, December 30, the week will close with the greatest event of the year, the Junior Prom at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

An unusual program is offered for this evening. Our Freshmen will meet the High School of Commerce in the preliminary game. This is the most difficult game on the schedule thus far and is certain to be a very exciting contest. Commerce has held the high school basketball championship for the past two years.

After the game with Brown, there will be dancing on the gym floor. Between the halves, the band will play the college songs.

Owing to the fact that a large crowd is expected to attend, the section for the Juniors will be reserved only until 8:15 P. M. Tickets are still on sale in the Co-op Store and in the '23 alcoves. Those who purchase tickets for their friends at general admission rates can at the same time secure their own at Union rates.

The Theatre Party will be held next Tuesday at the Ritz, Forty-eighth Street, West of Broadway, where the Juniors will see "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" in which Ina Claire is starring. All the tickets for this affair have been already disposed.

On Wednesday evening, Major C. C. Herrick and Lieutenant D. F. Finnerty will grace with their presence the Banquet to be held at the Hotel Netherlands, Fifty-ninth St. and Fifth Ave. A reception room, dining hall, and smoking room have been engaged for this affair. An excellent menu and an exceptional orchestra will make this one of the outstanding events of the week.

The Junior Prom on Friday will be the consummation of the festivities of the week. The South-east ball room of the Hotel Pennsylvania has been secured for the occasion. The Prom Committee has secured an orchestra which is famous for its rendering of dance music of a more refined character. The punch and refreshments will be specially prepared by the assistant chef of the Hotel Pennsylvania.

All the expectations of the Juniors concerning the Festival Souvenir Booklet were realized when it was placed on sale last Wednesday. Practically all the available copies have been sold, but an additional number have been ordered.

The Booklet Committee, "Hy" Sakolsky, chairman; "Moe" Fass, and "Sol" Dickstein, deserves much praise for its accomplishment. The sou-

COMPLETE PLANS FOR POLY-C. C. N. Y. DEBATE

Engineers Chose Negative on Milk Question—First Preliminary Debate of Varsity Squad Held

Preparations for the debate between C. C. N. Y. and Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute on Friday, January 6, have now been practically completed. The debate will be held in the Great Hall and will probably be followed by a dance, either in the Webb Room or the auditorium of Townsend Harris Hall.

The Brooklyn team announced on Tuesday its choice of the negative of the subject proposed, "Resolved, That the New York City government take over the exclusive collection, sale and distribution of the milk used within its jurisdiction."

The varsity debating squad has already begun its preparation for the debate. The first of three trial debates on the subject was held yesterday. Aronson, Driscoll and Greenberg upheld the affirmative, while Ratner, Osias and Weisman defended the negative. For the second debate, which will be held during the Christmas holidays, the two teams will change sides. After the final of the three preliminary contests, the team of three and an alternate will be chosen.

Tickets for the debate are being printed and will be distributed the week after the holidays. It is planned to make the dance, if it is to be held, a select affair. The limited number of tickets available for students of the college will be placed on sale the week of the debate and will be obtainable from the members of the Student Council Debating Committee. Warsoff and Aronson.

The chairman for the evening of the debate has not yet been announced, but probably, as last year, a prominent member of the faculty of the Brooklyn institution will preside.

SENIORS MAKE PLANS FOR FAREWELL PARTY

The class of 1922 will establish a college precedent this year by conducting a Farewell Soiree in the Webb Room on Thursday evening, February 2, 1922. The affair is being held in honor of the upper seniors who will graduate in February.

This will be the first time in the history of the college social activities that a lower senior class has arranged a soiree in honor of the graduating members of its class. College precedent was also broken by '22 last year when the entire Christmas week was devoted to Junior Festivities. Inasmuch as '23 is likewise conducting a Festival Week this year, it appears that the class of 1922 created a college institution in the nature of a Junior Week.

A committee consisting of Hartman, Shoen, Drescher, Jackson, Pleva and Rosenberg are making fine arrangements for the soiree. The program for the evening consists of a dance, followed by an entertainment by professional talent. Refreshments will be served and various souvenirs will be offered.

DISCIPLINE COMMITTEE TO PUNISH OFFENDERS

Freshmen Rules to Be Enforced Rigorously Beginning January 3—Committee to Meet in Room 13

To cope with a recent inexplicable increase in the number of cases requiring its attention, the Student Affairs Committee, composed of Oseas '22, Warsoff '22 and Chasnoff '22, will hereafter meet once each week. The meetings will be held in Room 13 during lunch hour on Tuesdays.

A meeting of the committee was held recently, at which the cases of two students charged with using improper language in the presence of ladies were tried. The cases were carefully considered, and witnesses were questioned, in addition to the accused, but after considerable deliberations the charges were dismissed, "due to lack of sufficient evidence." Four other cases, those of students charged by the Alcove Committee with violating the sanitary rules established for the concourse and alcove, were also brought before the committee. These four students have been summoned to appear at the committee's next meeting, which is to be held Tuesday, January 3.

The Discipline Committee intends to prosecute severely all violators of the alcove rules. These rules prohibit the scattering of paper or the eating of luncheon in the class gathering places, and were established only after conditions on the concourse became so disagreeable as to render action of some sort imperative. The Alcove Committee, of which Sol Dickstein '23 is chairman, is cooperating with the Discipline Committee in enforcing these regulations. Class marshals have also been asked to assist in making the concourse a neater, more pleasant place in which to pass idle hours.

The committee, further, has announced that it will hereafter vigorously enforce the Freshman Rule requiring all members of the infant class to wear the little black skull caps designed for use by them. The Freshmen, according to the Committee, must display their allegiance everywhere in the restricted area which extends from Eighth Avenue upon one side of the college to the Hudson on the other, and from 135th Street to 140 Street. The Committee insists that the Freshmen observe the rule and will go to the extent of prohibiting those Freshmen who disobey from engaging in any extracurricular activity. Soph Carnivals will be held each term, as heretofore, for the entertainment of recalcitrant Freshies, but in addition to these, the lower classmen will be compelled to answer to the Discipline Committee for all violations of Rules.

STUDENTS GIVE MONEY FOR EUROPEAN RELIEF

Professor Duggan Makes Strong Appeal for Aid to Relieve Suffering of Destitute Students

The drive which is being conducted jointly by the Menorah and the Y. M. C. A. to secure money with which to relieve the intense suffering of the students in the universities of Central Europe has been very successful thus far. More than three hundred and thirty dollars has been collected in the short time that has elapsed since the opening of the campaign.

The publicity work of the drive came to a climax last Tuesday with the stirring plea made by Professor Duggan in chapel. The speaker moved the audience with his graphic description of the miserable conditions facing students in the universities of Europe.

The students are living below the minimum of subsistence, Professor Duggan said. For lack of anything better, they are wearing parts of old tattered uniforms long discarded by the government. They never have more than one meal a day—and that is hardly ever hot or nutritious. Unable to secure lodging the students sleep in railroad stations or use post office benches for beds. The only hope of salvation for these unfortunate men and women lies in the help the students of America can give them. Twenty-five cents, Professor Duggan concluded, will supply five hot meals to a student in Vienna. "As you have freely received, freely give!"

Immediately after chapel, committeemen visited all the classes, distributing small yellow envelopes in which the contributions were placed. On these envelopes were written the name of the donor and the organization with which he wanted to credit the money.

Despite the fact that many of the students were unprepared to give large sums, $336.39 was collected during the first two hours after chapel.

Of this amount $237.11 was credited to Menorah and $99.28 to the Y. M. C. A.

OFFICERS OF R. O. T. C. HEAR CAPT. WINFIELD

On Thursday, Captain Winfield addressed the Officers' Club on the general purpose of the organization. At the last meeting of the club, it was decided not to engage in any social functions before the close of the term. Next year, the club will start its activities in this direction.

College Journalists Frolic at First Dance

Journalists are human—even college journalists. This will no doubt come as a great surprise to many people, but it is an indisputable fact. In proof of which: last Monday evening, in the Webb Room, the members of The Campus staff held a dance, the first in the memory of those on the staff, and enjoyed themselves even after the punch had disappeared. Now, there are only three types of being who possess the nervous function of enjoyment—devils, fairies and humans. The Campus men are not devils, although they like to be considered as such, and they insist that they are not fairies, although some of them do wear spats; they must, therefore, be human. Simple deduction.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS

According to an official announcement emanating from the Dean's office, the Christmas holidays will be from Saturday, December 24 to Monday, January 2, 1922, inclusive.

CIVIC CLUB TO HEAR WILLIAM G. MCADOO

Frank A. Vanderlip and Ex-Gov. Sulzer May Also Lecture at Meetings of Society

The Civic Club plans to hold two more lectures during the remainder of the current semester. It is likely that William Gibbs McAdoo will be one of the speakers to address the club at these times. Mr. McAdoo, who was Secretary of the Treasury during the Wilson Administration and who was a leading candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency has definitely promised to address the Civic Club some time during January or February. At the other lecture the speaker will probably be either ex-Governor Sulzer or Frank A. Vanderlip, the noted financier.

In preparation for the strenuous membership campaign which the Civic Club intends to launch during the first part of the spring term, membership tickets are now being printed.

Before the close of the current term there will be a business meeting at which the plans of the society for the new term will be discussed.

Last Saturday evening the Roosevelt Political League, an organization sponsored by the Civic Club, was addressed by Mr. Tannenbaum, vice-president of the college society, on the subject of the "Philosophy of Nietzsche". This Saturday, Mr. Toonkel, a senior at the college, will speak on "Zionism". The following week Mr. Goldman, president of the Civic Club and of the League, will deliver an address on "Karl Marx's Capital".

On January 28 Professor Redmond, of the Public Speaking Department will address the League on "The Technical Phase of Public Speaking".

A large number of Civic Club members are now enrolled in the Roosevelt League, but a larger membership is desired and C. C. N. Y. men interested in politics are urged to join.

FROSH PLAY TRYOUTS WILL BE HELD TODAY

The first try-outs for "The Pot-Boilers", for the Freshman Class play, will be held today at noon in Room 213. This play, which is a one-act comedy, will be one of the numbers in the show to be presented next spring by the Class of '25. At the meeting today, which all freshmen are invited to attend, the various parts will be read by candidates for the cast. Seymour Capstein, '25, chairman of the Freshmen Dramatic Committee, is now searching for a drama to complete the program for the entertainment.

CHEMISTS HEAR TALK BY DR. BASKERVILLE

Professor Baskerville addressed the Pittsburg Section of the American Chemical Society on Thursday, December 15th, on the topic, "Science and Civilization, the Role of Chemistry".

BROWN QUINTET TO INVADE GYM

New Englanders to Tackle Lavender Five Tomorrow Night—Visitors Have Clean Record So Far

LAVENDER TEAM READY FOR COMING CONTESTS

Varsity to Meet Holy Cross Quintet on Following Week—Massachusetts Players Come Here for First Time in Years

With three victories chalked up to its credit, the Lavender quintet has begun its season very auspiciously. From the opening game on, the varsity each week was pitted against a much stronger collection of basketball players, and each time the visitors met defeat. In last Saturday's tussle, especially, the college five showed at its best and produced the long-hoped-for victory over Princeton. The predominant factor of the annual struggle was the excellent team work displayed by the home team. The Princetonians' defeat was not the outcome of the playing of any individual, but the result brought about by a combination that worked together and fought strenuously against an aggregation that was well within its own class.

The varsity did not register many baskets during the affray, but this is no criterion in judging the all-around ability of the players. Both teams presented such powerful defenses that it was hardly possible for either five to cage a large number of goals. However, the Lavender pill tossers managed to accumulate enough points in the second period to clinch the fracas, and open a new page in the annals of the history of the College basketball teams.

In the Orange and Black affair, the Lavender five employed the same tactics that it has displayed in former contests, but the importance and peculiar existing circumstances added much enthusiasm and pep to the clash. To-morrow night the representatives of Brown University will invade the gymnasium and attempt to break Lavender's winning streak. Although they were easy victims last year, rumors indicate that the Rhode Islanders are very dangerous. The visitors have engaged in little competition so far, but they have been rather successful, defeating some strong Eastern teams. The game will mark the beginning of the Brown players' Christmas trip.

Last year, the Brown game was one of the numbers on the annual varsity up-state trip which proved very successful, as the New Yorkers also trimmed Yale. Both the New Englanders and the Lavender combinations have met with success to-date and a very hotly contested game should take place to-morrow night. The Providence lads will try to spring a surprise, as they desire to maintain a clean slate.

Realizing the strength of the oncoming basketball players, the varsity is training hard for the contest. Coach Holman is busy correcting a few of the mistakes that came to the fore in the Tiger tussle, and is putting his quintet in excellent shape.

During practice on Monday, the college players displayed marked ability in shooting and continued to maintain a strong defense, preventing their opponents from getting near the basket. Lanky Anderson still picks the ball off the back board with great ease, while Edelstein comes across with some pretty long shots.

COLLEGE MEN

We print the following characterization of the college man because, being right in the midst of college activities, one usually fails to appreciate sufficiently the general truths contained in the extract. It seems to us that the conscious recognition of these characteristics of the college man by all students would be beneficial.

When the student of a modern university begins to criticize customary beliefs, or to analyze the constitution of human nature, he is apt to lose hold of solid principle. He is like a tree which has been frequently transplanted. The earth about him is loose and he has not roots reaching far into the soil. He lights upon every flower, following his own wayward will or because the wind blows him. He catches opinions as diseases are caught—when they are in the air. Borne hither and thither he speedily falls into beliefs the opposite of those in which he was brought up. He hardly retains the distinction of right and wrong; he seems to think one thing as good as another; he supposes himself to be searching after truth when he is playing the game of "follow the leader"; he falls in love "at first sight" with paradoxes respecting morality some fancy about art, some novelty or eccentricity in religion, and like a lover he is so absorbed for a time in his new notion that he can think of nothing else. The resolution of some philosophical or theological question seems to him more interesting and important than any substantial knowledge of literature or science or even than a good life. Like the youth in the Philebus, he is ready to discourse to anyone about a new philosophy. He is generally the disciple of some eminent professor whom he would rather imitate than understand. He may be counted happy if in later years he retains some of the simple truths which he acquired in early education, and which he may, perhaps, find to be worth all the rest.

This is a picture of the dangers which beset youth in times of transition, when old opinions are fading away and the new are not yet firmly established. The youth is like the son who has made the discovery that his reputed parents are not his real ones, and, in consequence, they have lost their authority over him.

—Jowett.

Anent the Recent Litigation

By FREDERICK B. ROBINSON, 04 Dean of the School of Business and Civic Administration

On May 13, 1921, the Governor approved an amendment to the State Educational Law which had been passed by the legislature, and which provided for a scale of salaries for the officers of administration and instruction and other employees in public institutions of higher learning conferring degrees and subject to the provisions of the State Educational Law relative to colleges and in which the compensation and salaries of such persons are paid directly or indirectly out of moneys appropriated by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, or like financial authority of a city or one million inhabitants or more. This law is general and it will hold for any city which hereafter, in the State of New York, have a population of one million or over, but at present it applies specifically to the College of the City of New York and to Hunter College.

The circumstances which lead up to the passage of this act were briefly as follows: Taking 1897 as the base, and assuming that the purchasing power of $1.00 was normal at that time, satisfactory statistics indicate to us that the purchasing power of that dollar had, by 1913, shrunk 4/9, so that it was worth only 5/9 of its value in 1897. Furthermore, by 1920, it had shrunk still further, until its purchasing power was about 2/9 of what it was in 1897. In 1920 they received $6,000 salary; and the associate professors, assistant professors and others of lower rank received pay in proportion. In 1897 a college professor with his salary somewhat short of $5,000 compared favorably with successful business men and could maintain his position accordingly. But gradually, as the purchasing power of the dollar decreased and his salary remained almost static, he and all his subordinates rapidly fell into positions of shabby obscurity. Of course it must be realized that the top salary went to only a very few heads of departments, and the average salary of the college staff as a whole was somewhere in the neighborhood of $2,500 to $3,000.

The teaching profession throughout the country was in about the same situation. Since salaries are established for teachers not by commercial competition, but by legislative enactment, there was a tendency for the salaries to remain the same, in spite of the soaring cost of commodities on the one hand and of wages and profits to people in industry on the other. Consequently there was widespread agitation in favor of raising the compensation of persons who devoted their lives to teaching. In 1919 the school teachers of the City of New York had the situation recognized in the passage of a State Education Law which provided them and also teachers in all other cities throughout the state with what was considered adequate compensation. In 1920 the compensation of teachers in the public schools of New York City and other cities throughout the state were again raised to meet the rising cost of commodities by the passage of the Lockwood-Donohue bill. This act provides, in Section 883 of the Education Law, for the payment of salaries of teachers in a city of a million inhabitants or over. The salary schedules were put in two groups: (a) For elementary schools, and (b) for high schools and training schools. Our own Townsend Harris Hall, or high school department of the College, was cared for in a special provision, 883a, so that its salary coincided with the schedule of salaries of other high schools and training schools throughout the city. However, the teaching staff of the College proper was entirely left out and we had the ridiculous situation of members of our own preparatory school receiving compensation in higher schedules than those of their colleagues in the College. Consequently, in 1921 the Lockwood-Donohue bill was further amended by a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Lockwood which added a third subdivision, c, which provided for salaries for colleges. The law having been made complete, the College Trustees submitted to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment schedules and schedule conditions which called for the payment of college professors' salaries according to the requirements of the law. Since this law was operative the first of June, 1921, it was clear that the Trustees had to ask the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for a sum of money to take care of the increases in salaries for the period from June 1, 1921, to December 31, 1921. The Trustees also submitted the budget for 1922 on the new basis. There was, therefore, before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment two questions: the first to provide the necessary additional money to pay the increased salaries for the period from June 1, 1921, to December 31, 1921; and also to approve the whole budget for 1922 on the new basis. The amount of money required to allow the increases for 1921 was $98,264.61. This included, of course, the salaries to be paid to the teachers who devoted their summer to service in the Summer Session, and also to cover increased rates for June, September, October, November and December for all the staff.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment refused to appropriate the necessary money, and consequently the College petitioned for a preceptory writ of mandamus against the Board of Estimate and Apportionment compelling it to appropriate the $98,264.61. This petition was argued before Mr. Justice Martin at Special Term. Part one of the Supreme Court last summer, and the mandamus was granted. The firm of Davies, Cornell & Auerbach acted as the attorneys for the Trustees of the College. Our Trustee, Hon. Charles H. Tuttle, is a member of that firm. He appeared before Justice Martin. Mr. Thomas W. Churchill was also of counsel and argued at the hearing. At this hearing the whole question of the law was taken up, including the question of whether or not the College is a separate corporation deriving its powers from the state legislature and subject to the visitation of the Regents, or whether it is a department of the city, subject to control by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment in manner similar to the control exercised over city departments. The most important practical consideration, however, was whether or not the Board of Estimate and Apportionment could properly pay the increased salaries beginning June 1st, in view of a law passed by the last legislature subsequent to the passing of the salary bill which provided that "the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of any city, or body exercising similar functions, is hereby prohibited from increasing the compensation of any office or position except compensation on per diem basis paid out of the treasury of said city during any fiscal year; after the same shall have been fixed and provided for by the budget of said city for such fiscal year."

The contention of the College was that while the Board of Estimate and Apportionment was prohibited from increasing compensation of any office or position connected with the city government, it was not prohibited from appropriating money to meet salary schedules which were fixed by the Board of Trustees of the College in accordance with a mandate from the state legislature in the Education Law and at such times as were necessary to carry out the provisions of the law. The Development of the College Library

By John F. X. Finn

If the reader will go down to the College Library and take out one of the old books which was purchased when the College Library was known as the "Library of the Free Academy", he will find pasted on the back of the front cover a "List of Rules for the Care and Government of the Library", from which the following is an extract: "(2) The Library is open on alternate Fridays during the term, from 8:30 to 9 A. M. for the return of books, and from 3 to 3:30 P. M. for the delivery of books. "(3) Students must receive 75 per cent in at least three courses, have no demerit marks during the fortnight preceding the application, and be punctual,—or they will not be entitled to the use of the Library. "(4) No book delivered except upon a certificate signed by 3 instructors nor then unless duly recorded."

Compare this procedure with that of the student today, who drops in to the College Library any day at any time, takes a book from the shelves, has it charged to him in one minute, and five minutes later is reading the book in an Interborough Subway train bound for Brooklyn.

The Library of the Free Academy started in 1849 with 1,000 volumes, and when the Free Academy became the College of the City of New York in 1908, the Library had 45,000 volumes, with a circulation which was almost negligible because of the stringent rules which were still in force. Today the College Library has 75,000 volumes and 40,000 pamphlets, with a yearly circulation of 32,000 books in the Circulation Department and 52,000 in the Reference Department. Adding to these figures a circulation of 6,000 books in the Summer Session, we reach a total yearly circulation of 90,000 books, exclusive of the use of Dictionaries, Yearbooks, Encyclopedias, Atlases, Periodical Indexes, etc., which is not counted.

The present College Library is made up of the Main Library and nine branches (if they may be called such) which include the libraries of the Departments of Physics, Chemistry, Biology, Mathematics, French, English and Classical Languages, as well as the libraries of the Brooklyn Branch and Townsend Harris Hall. With the exception of the latter two, these branches are scattered about in various rooms in the College because the present Library quarters are obviously too limited to permit the inclusion of such of these libraries as ought properly have a place in the main Library building.

Books are purchased with the income derived from various trust funds, of which the Grosvenor Fund is the largest—all of which were gifts to the College and are described in detail in the College Register.

The present organization of the Library is fourfold, consisting of two departments which the student rarely ever sees, and two which he meets every day, namely: (a) The Accession Department—which receives recommendations for the purchase of new books, orders the books and pays for them. This department also repairs books, labels them, takes charge of the book-binding and statistics, and publishes lists of new books which have been added to the Library. (There were about 300 during the month of November.)

(b) The Cataloging Department—which analyzes, classifies, and catalogs every book in the Library, by author, title and subject. This department also has charge of all government documents which are entrusted to the Library's care.

(c) The Reference Department—whose purpose is to show the reader where to find what he wants in the shortest possible time. This department contains Dictionaries, Encyclopedias, Yearbooks, Periodical Indexes, Concordance, Atlases, Handbooks, Current Periodicals, Gazetteers, Bibliographies, Rare Books and many other special handbooks for the various fields of knowledge.

This department also has charge of the circulation (within the Reading Room) of books which are assigned as required readings in the various departments, such as History, Economics, Government, Public Speaking, Education, Law, Philosophy, English, etc.

(d) The Circulation Department which handles the circulation of books for home use. This department contains the Main Catalog of the Library, and employs the largest number of assistants. Past numbers of all magazines are also to be found here, in addition to the latest works of fiction and non-fiction of every description.

The present Library staff consists of the Librarian, the Deputy Librarian, the Assistant Librarian, 3 Library assistants, 1 cataloger, 1 clerk and on the average 10 student helpers.

This staff is at present circulating, as has been said, 32,000 books a year in the Circulation Department and 52,000 a year in the Reference Department. Using these figures, Mr. O'Connell has prepared a graph which indicates that at the 1921 rate of increase, the Circulation Department in 1926 will be circulating, at a conservative estimate, over 100,000 books, and the Reference Department 200,000 books, a total estimated circulation for the year 1926 of over 300,000 books.

These figures show us the happy phase of the Library's development. Tucked away in two rooms at the end of a hallway, it is serving as a reservoir of knowledge and inspiration over 100,000 times each year. In five years this service would be extended, at the present rate to 300,000 times a year. BUT—

The tragic phase of the development appears when we realize that this service will be prevented from reaching that figure for the simple reason that 300,000 persons can't fit in two rooms at the end of a hallway—not even over a five-year period.

Think of the picture—hundreds of students flocking to this little centre-point each day. There is no room for all. During the busy hours, some sit on Dictionary stands and others sprawl over Atlas racks. Standing-room is at a premium. The makeshift partition at the end of the Lincoln corridor (architecturally monstrous yet absolutely necessary) is jammed with students—some even using the waste-basket as a seat.

In addition to this lack of room for users, we see the very Library walls bulging in an effort to accommodate all the books which the Library now owns. And yet more books are being purchased—hundreds each month—so that it has actually been found necessary, in some cases, to throw away books in order to find room for the new ones.

The present Library is overflowing, not only with books, but with students who seek to use books. The marvel is that it is giving the faultless service that it does. But this sort of thing can't go on forever. A new Library building is not only imperative, but it is imperative right now, or else something is going to crack under the strain, and we will no longer be able to force from our Columbia friends the admission that the C. C. N. Y. Library has their "beat a mile" for service.

Potentially, the Library is a mine of energy, and intellectual power. But these possibilities cannot be realized without a new Library building. And a new Library building cannot be realized without funds. Much has been collected, but more is needed. And we dare say that that which is needed is now ready to be given—waiting to be asked for. Who will ask for it?

law involved which were ably summarized in the opinion which Judge Martin gave out when he issued the mandamus.

The Trustees of the College expected the Board of Estimate and Apportionment then to make the necessary appropriation to care for the year 1921, and also to review the 1922 estimate for the College with the new schedules fully in mind. However, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment did not obey the mandamus forthwith, but appealed to the Appellate Division, First Department. The Appellate Division unanimously confirmed the finding of Mr. Justice Martin without opinion. The Board of Estimate then asked of the Appellate Division leave to appeal to the Court of Appeals, but this request was denied without comment. A like motion in the Court of Appeals was subsequently denied by that court without comment.

The city's case was conducted by the office of the Corporation Counsel. Mr. Tuttle, of our Board of Trustees, made the argument in the Appellate Division and wrote the briefs there and in the Court of Appeals. This last brief is an interesting one and it met the objections of the Corporation Counsel's office on the following points: In the first point the Corporation Counsel's office claimed that the Board of Trustees did not fix in dollars and cents the exact salaries for the period covered by the writ of mandamus. The brief maintained that this point was without merit and was could not be made for the first time upon motion for leave to appeal to the Court of Appeals, Mr. Tuttle went into the merits of the contention to prove that the Trustees had fully fixed the salaries as required by law.

The second point related to a contention by the Corporation Counsel that the law which prohibited the Board of Estimate and Apportionment from raising salaries between budget periods contained an express repeal of the previous statute which authorized the Board of Trustees to fix salaries, and directed the Board of Estimate to make appropriations. The brief held that the two statutes relate to different subject matter, to different classes of employees, and to different functions by the Board of Estimate. There was, therefore, no repeal by implication of any portion of the earlier statute.

The third point made by the brief was that the later statute which limited the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, had no application to the College whatsoever because it applied only to increases fixed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment in the salaries of city employees. It had no application whatever to increases fixed by the legislature itself and by the Board of Trustees in the salaries of employees of the college which is part of the state's educational system.

The fourth point was a refutation of the contention that the Board of Trustees of the College is, within the meaning of the later statute a "body exercising similar functions" to those exercised by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. The brief held that such a contention is irrelevant and seems scarcely serious. The fifth point held that it cannot be presumed that by the later statute the legislature intended to nullify its repeated declarations in the earlier statute concerning college salaries that the new scale of salaries should become operative as of June 1, 1921, or render impossible the holding of summer sessions of the City College provided for in the statute governing college salaries.

The sixth point disposed of the contention of the office of the Corporation Counsel that certain other cases of increased salaries by the Council of the City of Buffalo were analogous to the situation before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of New York in this case. The conclusion of the brief was that the motion for leave to appeal should be denied with costs. As has been said, the Court of Appeals did deny the motion, and therefore it was evident that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment was required to make the necessary appropriation.

At the last meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment it did vote the necessary appropriation of $98,264.61 to cover increases in compensation for the period from June 1st to December 31st of this year. But the proceedings just described did not cover the question of increases for the coming year. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment has not appropriated to the College sufficient money to continue the payment of salaries throughout the year 1922 at the rate required by law, and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment did not recognize the legal increases at all when it made up the budget. If the Board of Estimate and Apportionment does not make an additional appropriation in order to remedy the shortage in the appropriation, a fresh mandamus proceeding will be required.

ATHLETICS AT THE COLLEGE

We shall not in this editorial discuss the relation between essence and existence. This is quite beside our present purpose. But if we adopt tendency to promote social good as our test, is not the difficulty, it may be asked, quite as great?

Nor can the difficulty be escaped by taking refuge in the stream of events. What ethical consequences will such a flight involve?

In conclusion we must say that the essence of a thing cannot always fully express itself in actuality; and actual existence cannot be given to what the essence forbids.

The Mystery of the Uncompleted Length

By N. O. Remedy

The roll of a carriage was heard outside.

"The person who has just alighted from the carriage, and who will open the door of this room in precisely seventeen seconds," said the great detective, "is a tall, beautiful young lady of about twenty-one. She is slightly deaf in one ear, and her left eye, if examined closely, will be found to be glass. She has a decided penchant for canary birds which threatens to become a consuming passion. Her poise and mien would indicate to even the most casual observer that her family belongs to the high aristocracy of the realm. She is dressed in the height of fashion, so high that the human eye dares not to look. In all respects she is a completely finished young lady. No money or efforts have been spared in finishing her."

Here the great detective leaned forward and breathed into my ear.

I shuddered. Should I permit him to breathe again?

The door swung open with a crash, revealing on the threshold a thick-set, middle-aged man, with distinctly pronounced features. His grim look of determination stamped him as a man who would let nothing stay him from his purpose.

The famous detective was nonplussed. "He?" he whispered, half aloud, and the other half not aloud, "it cannot be he!"

Then, recovering his composure and sangfroid, he said:

"Madame, what means this levity? Pray discard your unladylike disguise and state the known facts of the great Warsoff mystery concerning which you have come to consult me."

The stranger spoke in slow and measured tones, approaching as he spoke with slow and measured steps.

"Aha, haha!" ejaculated he, giving vent to his pent up feelings, "at last!" And laying a heavy hand on the shoulder of the great detective, he ejaculated once more.

"In the name of the law, I arrest you on the charge of detecting without having met your swimming requirements!"

A death-like pallor descended upon the sleuth-like features of the great detective, as, shackled, manacled, and bound hand and foot, broken in body and soul, he was led into the waiting patrol wagon.

RHAPSODY

Slowly the purple peacock struts
Over the sea blown sands
Mournful, sibilant;
Evening descends, the shadows
Crepusculent, inchoate, Remain.

Ah, my heart breaks, the silences
Pierce my soul; oh, Andalusia.

A PLEASANT NEW YEAR'S NOTICE

Dear Brother Alumni:

A New Year's Greeting to you all, with the hope that 1922 is bringing to each of you some promise as pleasant as that which has just come to the College. The city has granted us the long-delayed appropriation of money to pay the College staff their legally established salaries. The appropriation passed the City Board of Estimate on December 18th. The legality of the measure had been repeatedly and unanimously affirmed by the courts and finally by the highest court of the State.

A BELATED THANKSGIVING

The Associate Alumni at their annual meeting this month passed several resolutions which are printed in another column. Among these there are two resolutions which are especially commended to your notice. One is addressed to Trustee Charles Tuttle, thanking him for his services in this salary matter. Without any fee whatever, Mr. Tuttle carried the contest for the College through court after court, made journeys, prepared briefs, expounded situations so clearly as to win unanimous court decisions. We can only hope that the high legal reputation he has won, united to the hearty gratitude of the Alumni, may partly compensate him for the time and labor he has given us.

Another is addressed to our retiring President of the Alumni, Thomas Churchill, '82, thanking him as President and also as Trustee for his full and gallant and vigorous service to the College in his double office. A third congratulates Mr. Churchill, and also the Board of Trustees on their recent election of him to be President of the Board of Trustees. This resolution also thanks all the Trustees most warmly for their large and devoted service to the College during the past year. If ever the value of our trustee system needed demonstration, it has certainly been demonstrated most convincingly during 1921. This paper adds its thanks to those of the united alumni.

OBITUARY

'77, non-grad.—James Demarest, of the New York Bar, died March 27, 1921. He was a pupil of G. S. 35, under the principalship of Thomas Hunter, a member of the Thomas Hunter Association, and a faithful Associate Member of our Associate Alumni. His widow, Mrs. Minnie A. Demarest, two sons, Stirling J. and Donald J., the latter a lawyer, and a daughter, Miss Dorothy, survive him.

'20—Victor Eugene Welz, of the class of June, 1920, and member of the varsity swimming team of 1917-18, died on October 9, 1921. "Vic", as he was popularly known, never completed his college course, but left early in 1918 to join the 30th Service Company of the U. S. Signal Corps. Contracting consumption, he was sent to Saranac Lake, N. Y., where he stayed until his death, fighting gamely for more than two years against the white plague. He is mourned by all who were so fortunate as to know him and in particular by his brothers in Delta Sigma Phi. The latter desire to render him the following tribute:

TO VIC WELZ

The lingering April day is shortly done
And night with gloomy spectral grief holds sway,
As though the Ghost had blotted out the sun
With that same breath that makes the cypress sawy
In mournful melancholy.
So in the springtide of his fertile years
Has faded from life's calendar a friend.

OUR NEW ALUMNI PRESIDENT

The new President who succeeds Mr. Churchill as leader of the Associate Alumni is Hon. Robert F. Wagner, '98. His career is too well known to most of us to need recapitulation. Only seven years after graduation from the College, he was elected a member of the New York Assembly, became an active leader of the Democratic party there, and in 1908 was elected to the State Senate. In this position he continued for ten years and was the recognized leader of the Senate, until in 1918 he assumed his present office as Judge of the Supreme Court of the State. His class year indicates his comparative youth for the high position he has attained. We have never before had an Alumni President from a class below the '80's. Youth, however, "will be served"; and we come now within close approximation of that organization of our younger graduates, the Twentieth Century Club.

OUR ALTERED ASSOCIATION

The long discussed amendments to our Alumni Constitution were passed this month as expected, and are outlined in the notice in another column. Their main purpose is the throwing wide our ranks so as to welcome our former non-graduating comrades. An effort will now be made to reach every one of these men and let them know of this invitation and privilege which we extend to them. Will you please, each reader of this paragraph, accept this as the first step in thus spreading the good news, and will you please, yourself, act as the second step by spreading the information to every ex-C. C. N. Y. man you know? Tell him to communicate directly with the Alumni Bureau, or with its manager, Professor L. S. Burchard, '77, at the College. Tell your friend how much we want him, if he wants us—and hustle him along.

Nay more! a brother—and with weighty tears
Our spirits like the brooding cypress bend
In mournful melancholy.

But! the April day has played its part—
Small though it be,—and played it well we know.
A thought indeed to appease the hungry heart
And warm the damp and chilling streams that flow

In mournful melancholy.
To Vic we bid a fond and sad farewell,
Although our jealous eyes would ever keep
Him here with us. It is so hard to quell
Those selfish memories that softly weep

In mournful melancholy.
—W. R. MACLEOD.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Our C. C. N. Y. Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa held a meeting at the Hotel Astor on November 30. Two new brothers were elected to membership. Joseph H. Wade, '83, was elected as a "prominent educator and lecturer", and author of numerous articles contributed to standard journals of education. Joseph J. Klein, '06, was elected as an "eminent taxation expert", as a "pioneer in the field of commercial education", and as the author of numerous works on commercial subjects.

There was the usual feasting and rejoicing, and Professor Harry C. Krowl, '95, delivered an address on the conditions encountered by him on a recent trip to South America.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF ANNUAL MEETING

The Ninth Annual Meeting of the Associate Alumni of the College of the City of New York was held on the evening of Saturday, December 10, 1921, in the Great Hall of the College. President Churchill presided. The officers elected were as follows: President, Robert F. Wagner, '98; First Vice-President, Nelson S. Spencer, '75; Second Vice-President, William H. Kenyon, '76; Third Vice-President, Julius M. Mayer, '84; Treasurer, Charles Murray, '84; Secretary, Donald A. Roberts, '19; Historian, John S. Battell, '73; Associate Historian, Howard C. Green, '02; Directors to serve until 1924: Everett P. Wheeler, '56; Lewis S. Burchard, '77; Thomas W. Churchill, '82; Philip J. Mosenthal, '83; Julius M. Mayer, '84; Bernard M. Baruch, '89; Robert F. Wagner, '98; Frederick B. Robinson, '04; Louis Ogust, '10; Frederick Zorn, '10; Jacob Schapiro, '11; Donald A. Roberts, '19. Nominating Committee: John R. Sim, '68; Henry G. Kost, '80; Samson Lachman, '74; Joseph L. Buttenwieser, '83; Frederick E. Stanton, '92; John S. Roberts, '95; Alfred D. Compton, '97; Alfred Michaelis, '98; Mario E. Cozenza, '01; Warren C. Fielding, '02; Alfred N. Goldsmith, '07; Harry Cooper, '11; Stephen K. Rapp, '11; Charles Drescher, '18; Donald A. Roberts, '19. Inspectors of Election: Julius Hyman, '94; Joseph E. Solomon, '10; Gabriel DiMartino, '09. Publication Committee: Lewis S. Burchard, '77; Sigmund Pollitzer, '79; Charles A. Downer, '86; Frederick B. Robinson, '04; Lorenz Reich, '08. Auditors: Sidney H. Herman, '98; Jacob Holman, '04; Jacob Schapiro, '11. Every one of the Nominating Committee's nominees was elected without opposition except that Dr. Joseph J. Klein, '06, nominated by the Nominating Committee for Treasurer, withdrew in favor of the independent candidate, Charles Murray, '84. Jacob Schapiro, '11, was nominated from the floor and received thirty votes against Mr. Murray's 83. Mr. Murray's election was at once made unanimous. The Nominating Committee having reported only thirteen members for the Nominating Committee, Dr. Alfred Michaelis, '98, and Charles Drescher, '18, were nominated from the floor and unanimously elected.

The amendments recommended by the Board of Directors were unanimously adopted. These amendments provide that the following persons shall hereafter be eligible to Active Membership, including the right to vote and (except as to hereinafter provided), to hold office:—
(1) All graduates of any School of the College who have received one of the College's degrees. (This applies to the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the School of Business and Civic Administration, the School of Technology, and the School of Education.)
(2) All holders of Diplomas representing the completion of a prescribed course of the College. (This applies to the holders of the College's Diploma in Accountancy, granted by the School of Business and Civic Administration.)
(3) All former students of the College whose classes have been graduated, who left College in good standing after having received credits equivalent to one collegiate year of credits. Automatically, therefore, all those who have been carried on the rolls hitherto as Associate Members become Active Members without further action on their part. All former students of the College who have earned one year's credits may become Active Members on signing the usual application and the payment of one year's dues.

The Directors had recommended this series of amendments after correspondence with the Alumni Associations of a large number of Colleges and Universities, and finding that the great majority welcome to Alumni membership former students of the College without regard to their having been graduated.

Another amendment provides that, hereafter, voting at Alumni Meetings be limited to members certified by the Treasurer to be in good financial standing, for which purpose the Treasurer or Assistant Treasurer is required to prepare a list of qualified voters for each Annual Meeting.

Another amendment provides that all former Presidents of the Associate Alumni shall be, by virtue thereof, voting at election, Directors of the Corporation for life, regardless of the provision in the By-Laws limiting representation of any one class on the Board of Directors to two Directors.

Another amendment provides that officers of the Associate Alumni shall be chosen from holders of College degrees.

Another amendment provides that the Directors may elect an honorary President, to serve for one year, from among the Honorary members of the Associate Alumni.

The following resolutions were passed:—

Resolved, That the Associate Alumni of the College of the City of New York, in Annual Meeting assembled, tender to the Trustees of the College this expression of their gratification at the selection by the Trustees of the President of the Associate Alumni as Chairman of the Board of Trustees and their thanks at the confidence shown in the spirit and devotion of the Alumni as represented by their President. The Alumni would further express their deep and grateful appreciation of the devoted and unselfish service rendered the College by all the members of the Board of Trustees, and they are proud that such labors have been so worthily shared by representatives of the Alumni.

Resolved, That the Associate Alumni receive the report of the Treasurer in regard to the Annual Dinner of 1921 and order that the same be placed on file with the records of the Corporation, and that, after such account shall have been duly audited by the Auditors of the Corporation, the Treasurer be and he hereby is authorized and directed to pay out of the general funds of the Corporation whatever deficit may be reported and approved by the Auditors, or, if such deficit shall already have been paid, that such payment be, and the same hereby is approved. And it is further resolved that the thanks of the Associate Alumni be extended to the President, Treasurer and Secretary of the Alumni, the Chairman of the Dinner Committee, Professor Duggan, and the members of the Dinner Committee for their service in the promotion of the dinner.

Resolved, That the Associate Alumni of the College of the City of New York express to their retiring President, Thomas W. Churchill, Esq., their sincere and hearty thanks for the zealous and devoted service unselfishly and generously rendered by him during the past year in his advocacy of measures, transactions, and legislation pending and intended for the benefit of the College.

Resolved, That the Associate Alumni express their satisfaction at the services rendered by the Alumni Bureau in the extension of membership and the promotion of interest in the Associate Alumni on the part of graduates of the College who have hitherto not been members of the Associate Alumni, and they respectfully recommend to the Directors the consideration of ways and means for the continuance and support of the Alumni Bureau as the secretarial center of Alumni communications, stimulation and activities.

Resolved, That the Associate Alumni of the College of the City of New York tender to the authorities of the College their thanks for the use of the Great Hall of the College for the Annual Meeting and for the hospitality of the College for affording the Alumni dignified and commodious office accommodations.

Resolved, That the Associate Alumni respectfully urge upon the Directors the adoption as speedily as possible of measures looking toward the completion of lists of former students eligible to Active Membership in the Associate Alumni and the communication to them of the fact of their eligibility to membership and of an invitation to join the Alumni.

Resolved, That the Associate Alumni of the College of the City of New York express their sincere and hearty thanks to Trustee Charles H. Tuttle for the devoted, able and successful services rendered by him as Counsel for the Trustees, and they congratulate him upon the success attending his unselfish labors.

A resolution was also passed approving the payment by the Treasurer of $100 towards the expenses of the Intercollegiate Alumni Conference on Disarmament, our College being the first to pay in its required quota.

Mr. Bernard Naumburg, '94, spoke of the undertaking now under way towards reviving the City

WHAT OUR MEN ARE DOING

67—Hon Francis M. Scott, late Justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court for the First Department, is Chairman of the Commission for the Revision of the Charter of the City of New York.

'77 non-grad.—Hon. Marcus M. Marks, former President of the Borough of Manhattan, addressed our College Assembly this month, describing his work as a mediator in labor-capital disputes. His service in this line has made his fame nation-wide. He has acted as "conciliator" in over a hundred strikes.

'82—The following notice is copied from the "New York Evening Post", December 16, 1921: "Thomas W. Churchill, of 63 Wall Street, former President of the Board of Education, yesterday announced his acceptance of the chairmanship in New York City for the campaign to create the Woodrow Wilson Foundation. After a conference with James W. Gerard, chairman of New York State, he said that he will begin immediately to organize for the public subscription which is to begin on January 16. He has established headquarters at 150 Nassau Street.

"The campaign will be carried through on non-partisan lines," said Mr. Churchill. The desire to perpetuate the ideals of Woodrow Wilson through this foundation is universal; it is not confined within any party or group. Recent events have so emphasized the soundness and the practicality of the Wilson doctrine that I foresee a general participation in the project to give lasting recognition to the purpose of the foundation."

'84—Hon. Julius M. Mayer, Judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, addressed the Alumni Association of Columbia Law School on December 15, 1921, at the Columbia University Club. According to the newspaper reports Judge Mayer declared that the Courts held in special abomination three things: The "shouting lawyer" who insisted on ranting instead of explaining, the "lazy brief" insufficiently prepared through too much confidence in the case, and the "wordy brief" which hid its facts in a mass of words.

'89—Mrs. Livingston Schuyler, wife of our professional alumnus of that name, was recently elected President General of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. The election took place at the convention of the "Daughters" in St. Louis. Never before have they chosen a president whose place of residence lay north of the sacred Mason and Dixon Line.

'91—Arthur Guiterman, the ever delightful author of "The Laughing Muse", "The Mirthful Lyre", and "Ballads of Old New York", has just brought out a new volume of verse, "A Ballad-Maker's Pack", containing ballads of many lands, of his own country, of his own times," published by Harper & Brothers. This is a timely tip to C. C. N. Y. men at holiday time. The book speaks of "A noonday halt at a crystal well, A word and a smile with a passing friend

A song to sing and a tale to tell,
And something coming around the bend."

'99—Professor Nelson Mead engaged this month in a public debate against the president of the "New York Single Tax League". The subject was of course the concentration of all taxes into a single tax upon land; and Professor Mead, equally of course, upheld the negative.

'00—Professor Abraham Goldfarb, of the College, was recently chosen to represent the New York Academy of Sciences at the "Helmholz Celebration" held under the auspices of the University of Rochester.

'07—Professor Alfred N. Goldsmith, of the College, is acting as Chairman of the Commercial Radio Conference now being held in this city. The conference has been gathered at the request of the U. S. Secretary of Commerce, so as to propose legislation to protect this country in the general international radio agreements now being formulated.

'11—Harry Cooper is President of the Brooklyn Philological Association, which holds a meeting every Sunday at 3 in the Assembly Hall of the Williamsburg Public Library, Marcy and Division Avenues, Brooklyn, giving a lecture and an open forum of one hour each on philosophical, scientific, religious, ethical, social and political questions. The Association was organized in 1878, and incorporated in 1898.

Professor Thomas Storey, head of the Department of Hygiene in the College, has just issued, in an important volume, the Report of the U. S. Interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board. The Report comes down to June 30, 1921, and expounds the efforts and ideas of the Board on the stamping out of venereal diseases. The Board consisted of the U. S. Secretaries of the Treasury, War, and Navy, and their representatives, with Dr. Storey as their Executive Secretary.

IN BUSINESS LIFE
'77—Rev. David M. Hunter has retired from the ministry, after forty years of active service, and is now living in Newburgh, New York.

'77—James Luby, formerly connected with the "Sun", is Editor of the "Journal of Commerce".

'83—Richard Fondiller was re-elected for the fourth year Secretary-Treasurer of the Casualty Actuarial Society at the annual meeting held at the Hotel Pennsylvania on November 18, 1921.

'15—Hyman C. Goodman is now on the financial section of the Daily News Record. He was formerly first assistant on the investigation staff of the New York State Commission on Ventilation.

'16—Christopher G. Kassenbrock is now an investigator for the United States Veterans' Bureau in this city.

'16—Gustav T. Nebel, who was formerly with the Foreign Exchange Department of the Bankers Trust Company, is now in the Foreign Statistical Department of the Texas Oil Company.

'16—Meyer L. and Alexander H. Kosloff are in business together, supplying the city markets with nuts and dried prunes.

'17—Edward Goodman is now teaching Spanish in the High School of Commerce.

'17—A. Y. Cowen, who has been with one of the "Street's" prominent banking and brokerage houses for several years, has now started in business for himself. Mr. Cowen taught in the Commerce Building evening session courses last year. He was formerly Statistical Expert for the War Trade Board and Special Agent for the Department of Commerce.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NO. 40

All former students of G. S. No. 40, whether graduates or not, are requested to send their names and addresses to Julius J. Frank, Esq., 61 Broadway, or to Professor Burchard, at the College.

College Club and procuring a suitable club-house for it.

Mr. Julius Hyman, '94, offered a resolution that the Alumni respectfully suggest to the Board of Trustees the institution of a course under which under-graduates of the College should be required to speak in the streets in behalf of American institutions. This resolution was referred to the Board of Directors.

Mr. Murray presented his Annual Report, which was received and ordered audited and placed on file. On motion, duly made, seconded and carried, the meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
L. S. BURCHARD,
Secretary.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI ORGANIZATIONS MEET

A number of the high schools of the city will hold their annual alumni association meeting today. Students of the college who are graduates of any of the schools are invited and urged to attend.

Boys' High School will hold its alumni association meeting this afternoon in the auditorium of the school. Good speakers and good music will afford a pleasant afternoon. A feature of the entertainment will be a basketball game in the gymnasium and the presentation of football awards.

The alumni meeting of Stuyvesant High School will be held this evening at 7:30 p. m. in the school auditorium.

The reunion of De Witt Clinton Alumni will take place as usual at the performance of the annual Christmas show, which will be given in the school auditorium at 12 o'clock. Following the performance a meeting of the alumni association of which Walter Johnson, composer of "Lavender", is president, will be held.

WELL, OUR PREDECESSOR put before you very emphatically the past experiences of the Lavender Quintet against its most bitter enemy, the Princeton Five. Therefore, we will confine ourselves to last Saturday night's victory.

"RED" KLAUBERS' FLYING DUTCHMEN WERE PERFECT The diminutive forward feared nothing and went through the tussle cooing the Princeton giants in their attempts to break through Lavender's defense. "Bricktop" certainly was determined to put a stop to the Tiger's onrush and he positively did his best. His ability to go around the court with plenty of speed and his accurateness in passing were evident throughout the game.

CAPTAIN RASKIN HIT A FAST STRIDE in the all-important affair. The chubby guard was worked up to high pitch and was moved to Princeton's misfortune to resist the onslaught of the visitors with a good deal of vigor. Directing the team, the team, the husky lad has shown excellent judgment and has exercised his powers to the best advantage.

ANDERSON, EDELSTEIN AND FAHRER HELD THEIR OWN in the Tiger tussle. The lanky pivot man had a tough proposition in Gaines, the Princeton tap-off man, but he did his duty in excellent fashion. Lou and Edel also had sterling opponents in Loeb and Klaes, respectively. All in all the team worked in harmony and the play easily showed it.

THE TEAM TO-DAY IS FAR BETTER THAN ANY OF ITS PREDECESSORS. Man for man, it is taller and heavier than was the 1921 team. It is much faster. It has more endurance. It can pass and shoot better. And it is VERY PROFICIENT IN THE ART OF STALLING.

DO SCORES COUNT? Brown beat Connecticut Aggies. The latter triumphed over the Army. The West Pointers defeated Columbia. What's the conclusion?

WILL OVERCONFIDENCE PROVE DISASTROUS TO THE LAVENDER QUINTET? The 0 to 0 score in the N. Y. U. football contest affected the freshmen to such an extent that they forgot how to play. Rather they figured they had a cinch from then on. The basketball team has a very difficult schedule in front of it and cannot afford to get pig-headed.

THE LAVENDER VICTORY ON THE COURTS MADE UP FOR THE DOUBLE DEFEAT the swimming team received at the hands of the Princeton fish. The Jungletown boys presented a powerful water-polo team. It ran roughshod over the New Yorkers. And crushed the college sea dog's hopes for a clean slate. The visitors beyond a shadow of a doubt, have another championship sextette.

THE REDEEMING FEATURE OF THE SWIMMING MEET WAS EX-CAPTAIN ASHWORTH'S fine display in the 50-yard swim. Ashworth's constant practice enabled him to clip 1-5 second off the college record, previously held by Leo Lehrman. The varsity performer also entered the 220-yard race and the relay. In the former event he made a final dash that made it possible for him to tie the Princeton man for second honors. Ashworth deserves credit for his persistence and sincerity.

ALTHOUGH JOSEPHER DID NOT CAPTURE FIRST PLACE, he was there with the goods. Moser of Princeton nosed him out by a fraction of a point. The midget diver still maintains his fine form and promises to be a strong contender in the intercollegiate.

Now that arrangements for chess meets have been closed, Lavender sees all of its sports in active session. Matches with N. Y. U., M. I. T., Cornell and U. of P. will be some of the colleges on the schedule. Slockower, Grossman, Tholfsen and Schlachter are the veterans who have returned to the squad. Chess is becoming a very popular sport at the college.

TRACK PRACTICE HAS BEGUN. Coach MacKenzie has been instructing the candidates in the indoor track and expects to continue work during the Christmas vacation every day from 10 to 12 o'clock. Any man with any stamina has an opportunity to develop. Previous experience is unnecessary. Just come out and leave the rest to "Mac." Swimming and Water-Polo Practice will also be held every day from 10 to 12 o'clock during Christmas week.

ALL MEN WHO EXPECT TO COME OUT FOR VARSITY SPORTS NEXT TERM SHOULD TAKE MILITARY SCIENCE ON TUESDAY. THOSE NOT TAKING MILITARY SCIENCE SHOULD MAKE TUESDAY THEIR LONG DAY. ALL FRESHMEN SHOULD DO THE SAME ON MONDAY. PREPAREDNESS IS THE KEY TO SUCCESS.

THERE HAS NOT BEEN ANY NEWS ON FOOTBALL LATELY. Nothing has been announced officially so far and nothing will be until later. All we can say is that Professor Williamson has a big surprise for us. He has been working diligently both on a Varsity and Freshman schedule. What's worth while is worth while waiting for. Be patient.

ARE YOU GOING TO ATTEND THE BROWN AND HOLY CROSS BASKETBALL GAMES? AND WHAT ABOUT THE STEVENS' WRESTLING MATCH?

WRESTLERS TO TACKLE STEVENS' GRAPPLERS

Lavender Men Preparing Strenuously for Meet on Saturday Afternoon

Disappointed, but undaunted by its setback at the hands of the Columbia grapplers, the Lavender wrestling team is busily preparing for its next contest. Stevens Tech will furnish the opposition this Saturday afternoon in the college gym. The Hoboken engineers have a reputation for strong, aggressive teams and promise to extend our toe-hold artists to the utmost. In the contest with the Morningside matmen the Lavender was clearly outclassed. However, Stevens should furnish a better line on the real ability and prospects of the team.

Captain Moe Silver is going at full speed and shows promise of becoming an expert at the catch-as-catch-can sport. "Moe" not only put up an inspiring fight against so formidable an opponent as Hart, intercollegiate champion, but displayed remarkable grit in lasting out the entire period of a second bout against a much heavier rival. Spitz and Bialo are in good condition and will look after the light-weight assignments. Resnikoff, who put up so skillful an exhibition as to keep going for two extra periods, will tackle the 135-pound man.

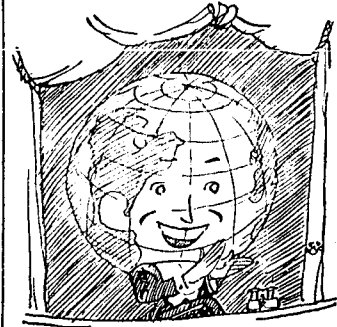

Grey, in the heavy-weight class, completes the team. He is a fast, brainy man and promises well for the future.

The contest with Stevens will start at 3 p. m. and a close and interesting exhibition is assured.

Lou's foul tossing has improved a good deal lately and was fairly consistent in last week's affair. The stocky guard is playing a fine game, aggressive both on the defense and on the offense. His partner Tubby, although not very prominent in piling up points for his team, is a valuable and dependable man on the defense. His ability in leading and directing the quintet has also contributed much to the success of the college five. Edelstein, flashy forward, is working well and has a few surprises for the Brown contest. There will practically be no change in Lavender's line-up. Nevertheless, the famous quartette, Nadell, Salz, Hahn and Rosonowitz, will also receive an opportunity to get into the fray.

On the following Friday night the Lavender quintet will meet the Holy Cross team for the first time in years. The Massachusetts boys are noted for their prowess on the court and a lively tussle is assured.

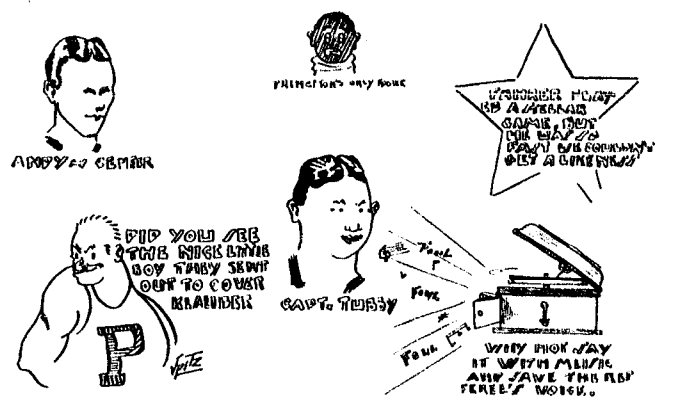

There's a world of wear in our clothes for college men.

Made from all-wool, fast color fabrics.

Look well! Wear well! Money back if they don't.

A PLEASANT NEW YEAR'S NOTICE

Dear Brother Alumni:
 A New Year's Greeting to you all, with the hope that 1922 is bringing to each of you some promise as pleasant as that which has just come to the College. The city has granted us the long-delayed appropriation of money to pay the College staff their legally established salaries. The appropriation passed the City Board of Estimate on December 18th. The legality of the measure had been repeatedly and unanimously affirmed by the courts and finally by the highest court of the State.

A BELATED THANKSGIVING

The Associate Alumni at their annual meeting this month passed several resolutions which are printed in another column. Among these there are two resolutions which are especially commended to your notice. One is addressed to Trustee Charles Tuttle, thanking him for his services in this salary matter. Without any fee whatever, Mr. Tuttle carried the contest for the College through court after court, made journeys, prepared briefs, expounded situations so clearly as to win unanimous court decisions. We can only hope that the high legal reputation he has won, united to the hearty gratitude of the Alumni, may partly compensate him for the time and labor he has given us.

Another is addressed to our retiring President of the Alumni, Thomas Churchill, '82, thanking him as President and also as Trustee for his full and gallant and vigorous service to the College in his double office. A third congratulates Mr. Churchill, and also the Board of Trustees, on their recent election of him to be President of the Board of Trustees. This resolution also thanks all the Trustees most warmly for their large and devoted service to the College during the past year. If ever the value of our trustee system needed demonstration, it has certainly been demonstrated most convincingly during 1921. This paper adds its thanks to those of the united alumni.

OBITUARY

'77, non-grad.—James Demarest, of the New York Bar, died March 27, 1921. He was a pupil of G. S. 35, under the principalship of Thomas Hunter, a member of the Thomas Hunter Association, and a faithful Associate Member of our Associate Alumni. His widow, Mrs. Minnie A. Demarest, two sons, Stirling J. and Donald J., the latter a lawyer, and a daughter, Miss Dorothy, survive him.

'20—Victor Eugene Welz, of the class of June, 1920, and member of the varsity swimming team of 1917-18, died on October 9, 1921. "Vic", as he was popularly known, never completed his college course, but left early in 1918 to join the 30th Service Company of the U. S. Signal Corps. Contracting consumption, he was sent to Saranac Lake, N. Y., where he stayed until his death, fighting gamely for more than two years against the white plague. He is mourned by all who were so fortunate as to know him and in particular by his brothers in Delta Sigma Phi. The latter desire to render him the following tribute:

TO VIC WELZ

The lingering April day is shortly done
 And night with gloomy spectral grief holds sway,
 As though the Ghost had blotted out the sun
 With that same breath that makes the cypress sawy
 In mournful melancholy.
 So in the springtide of his fertile years
 Has faded from life's calendar a friend.

OUR NEW ALUMNI PRESIDENT

The new President who succeeds Mr. Churchill as leader of the Associate Alumni is Hon. Robert F. Wagner, '98. His career is too well known to most of us to need recapitulation. Only seven years after graduation from the College, he was elected a member of the New York Assembly, became an active leader of the Democratic party there, and in 1908 was elected to the State Senate. In this position he continued for ten years and was the recognized leader of the Senate, until in 1918 he assumed his present office as Judge of the Supreme Court of the State. His class year indicates his comparative youth for the high position he has attained. We have never before had an Alumni President from a class below the '80's. Youth, however, "will be served", and we come now within close approximation of that organization of our younger graduates, the Twentieth Century Club.

OUR ALTERED ASSOCIATION

The long discuss amendments to our Alumni Constitution were passed this month as expected, and are outlined in the notice in another column. Their main purpose is the throwing wide our ranks so as to welcome our former non-graduating comrades. An effort will now be made to reach every one of these men and let them know of this invitation and privilege which we extend to them. Will you please, each reader of this paragraph, accept this as the first step in thus spreading the good news, and will you please, yourself, act as the second step by spreading the information to every ex-C. C. N. Y. man you know? Tell him to communicate directly with the Alumni Bureau, or with its manager, Professor L. S. Burchard, '77, at the College. Tell your friend how much we want him, if he wants us—and hustle him along.

Nay more! a brother—and with weighty tears
 Our spirits like the brooding cypress bend
 In mournful melancholy.
 But! the April day has played its part—
 Small though it be,—and played it well we know.
 A thought indeed to appease the hungry heart
 And warm the damp and chilling streams that flow
 In mournful melancholy.
 To Vic we bid a fond and sad farewell,
 Although our jealous eyes would ever keep
 Him here with us. It is so hard to quell
 Those selfish memories that softly weep
 In mournful melancholy.
 —W. R. MACLEOD.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Our C. C. N. Y. Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa held a meeting at the Hotel Astor on November 30. Two new brothers were elected to membership. Joseph H. Wade, '83, was elected as a "prominent educator and lecturer", and author of numerous articles contributed to standard journals of education. Joseph J. Klein, '06, was elected as an "eminent taxation expert", as a "pioneer in the field of commercial education", and as the author of numerous works on commercial subjects.
 There was the usual feasting and rejoicing, and Professor Harry C. Krowl, '95, delivered an address on the conditions encountered by him on a recent trip to South America.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF ANNUAL MEETING

The Ninth Annual Meeting of the Associate Alumni of the College of the City of New York was held on the evening of Saturday, December 10, 1921, in the Great Hall of the College. Kost, '80; Samson Lachman, '74; Joseph L. Buttenwieser, '83; Frederick E. Stanton, '92; John S. Roberts, '95; Alfred D. Compton, '97; Alfred Michaelis, '98; Mario E. Cosenza, '01; Warren C. Fielding, '05; Alfred N. Goldsmith, '07; Harry Cooper, '11; Stephen K. Rapp, '11; Charles Drescher, '18; Donald A. Roberts, '19. Inspectors of Election: Julius Hyman, '94; Joseph E. Solomon, '16; Gabriel DiMartino, '09. Publication Committee: Lewis S. Burchard, '77; Sigmund Pollitzer, '79; Charles A. Downer, '86; Frederick B. Robinson, '04; Lorenz Reich, '09. Auditors: Sidney H. Herman, '98; Jacob Holman, '04; Jacob Schapiro, '11. Every one of the Nominating Committee's nominees was elected without opposition except that Dr. Joseph J. Klein, '06, nominated by the Nominating Committee for Treasurer, withdrew in favor of the independent candidate, Charles Murray, '84. Jacob Schapiro, '11, was nominated from the floor and received thirty votes against Mr. Murray's 83. Mr. Murray's election was at once made unanimous. The Nominating Committee having reported only thirteen members for the Nominating Committee, Dr. Alfred Michaelis, '98, and Charles Drescher, '18, were nominated from the floor and unanimously elected.

The amendments recommended by the Board of Directors were unanimously adopted. These amendments provide that the following persons shall hereafter be eligible to Active Membership, including the right to vote and (except as hereinafter provided), to hold office:—

- (1) All graduates of any School of the College who have received one of the College's degrees. (This applies to the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the School of Business and Civic Administration, the School of Technology, and the School of Education.)
- (2) All holders of Diplomas representing the completion of a prescribed course of the College. (This applies to the holders of the College's Diploma in Accountancy, granted by the School of Business and Civic Administration.)
- (3) All former students of the College whose classes have been graduated, who left College in good standing after having received credits equivalent to one collegiate year of credits. Automatically, therefore, all those who have been carried on the rolls hitherto as Associate Members become Active Members without further action on their part. All former students of the College who have earned one year's credits may become Active Members on signing the usual application and the payment of one year's dues.

The Directors had recommended this series of amendments after correspondence with the Alumni Associations of a large number of Colleges and Universities, and finding that the great majority welcome to Alumni membership former students of the College without regard to their having been graduated.
 Another amendment provides that, hereafter, voting at Alumni Meetings be limited to members certified by the Treasurer to be in good financial standing, for which purpose the Treasurer or Assistant Treasurer is required to prepare a list of qualified voters for each Annual Meeting.
 Another amendment provides that all former Presidents of the Associate Alumni shall be, by virtue thereof, without election, Directors of the Corporation for life, regardless of the provision in the By-Laws limiting representation of any one class on the Board of Directors to two Directors.

Another amendment provides that officers of the Associate Alumni shall be chosen from holders of College degrees.

Another amendment provides that the Directors may elect an honorary President, to serve for one year, from among the Honorary Members of the Associate Alumni.

The following resolutions were passed:—
 Resolved, That the Associate Alumni of the College of the City of New York, in Annual Meeting assembled, tender to the Trustees of the College this expression of their gratification at the selection by the Trustees of the President of the Associate Alumni as Chairman of the Board of Trustees and their thanks at the confidence shown in the spirit and devotion of the Alumni as represented by their President. The Alumni would further express their deep and grateful appreciation of the devoted and unselfish service rendered the College by all the members of the Board of Trustees, and they are proud that such labors have been so worthily shared by representatives of the Alumni.

Resolved, That the Associate Alumni receive the report of the Treasurer in regard to the Annual Dinner of 1921 and order that the same be placed on file with the records of the Corporation, and that, after such account shall have been duly audited by the Auditors of the Corporation, the Treasurer be and he hereby is authorized and directed to pay out of the general funds of the Corporation whatever deficit may be reported and approved by the Auditors, or, if such deficit shall already have been paid, that such payment be, and the same hereby is approved. And it is further resolved that the thanks of the Associate Alumni are extended to the President, Treasurer and Secretary of the Alumni, the Chairman of the Dinner Committee, Professor Duggan, and the members of the Dinner Committee for their service in the promotion of the dinner.

Resolved, That the Associate Alumni of the College of the City of New York express to their retiring President, Thomas W. Churchill, Esq., their sincere and hearty thanks for the zealous and devoted service unselfishly and generously rendered by him during the past year in his advocacy of measures, transactions, and legislation pending and intended for the benefit of the College.

Resolved, That the Associate Alumni express their satisfaction at the services rendered by the Alumni Bureau in the extension of membership and the promotion of interest in the Associate Alumni on the part of graduates of the College who have hitherto not been members of the Associate Alumni, and they respectfully recommend to the Directors the consideration of ways and means for the continuance and support of the Alumni Bureau as the secretarial center of Alumni communications, stimulation and activities.

Resolved, That the Associate Alumni of the College of the City of New York tender to the authorities of the College their thanks for the use of the Great Hall of the College for the Annual Meeting and for the hospitality of the College for affording the Alumni dignified and commodious office accommodations.

Resolved, That the Associate Alumni respectfully urge upon the Directors the adoption as speedily as possible of measures looking toward the completion of lists of former students eligible to Active Membership in the Associate Alumni and the communication to them of the fact of their eligibility to membership and of an invitation to join the Alumni.

Resolved, That the Associate Alumni of the College of the City of New York express their sincere and hearty thanks to Trustee Charles H. Tuttle for the devoted, able and successful services rendered by him as Counsel for the Trustees, and they congratulate him upon the success attending his unselfish labors.

A resolution was also passed approving the payment by the Treasurer of $100 towards the expenses of the Intercollegiate Alumni Conference on Disarmament, our College being the first to pay in its required quota.

Mr. Bernard Naumburg, '94, spoke of the undertaking now under way towards reviving the City

WHAT OUR MEN ARE DOING

67—Hon Francis M. Scott, late Justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court for the First Department, is Chairman of the Commission for the Revision of the Charter of the City of New York.

77 non-grad.—Hon. Marcus M. Marks, former President of the Borough of Manhattan, addressed our College Assembly this month, describing his work as a mediator in labor-capital disputes. His service in this line has made his fame nation-wide. He has acted as "conciliator" in over a hundred strikes.

82—The following notice is copied from the "New York Evening Post", December 16, 1921: "Thomas W. Churchill, of 63 Wall Street, former President of the Board of Education, yesterday announced his acceptance of the chairmanship in New York City for the campaign to create the Woodrow Wilson Foundation. After a conference with James W. Gerard, chairman of New York State, he said that he will begin immediately to organize for the public subscription which is to begin on January 16. He has established headquarters at 150 Nassau Street.

"The campaign will be carried through on non-patrian lines," said Mr. Churchill. The desire to perpetuate the ideals of Woodrow Wilson through this foundation is universal; it is not confined within any party or group. Recent events have so emphasized the soundness and the practicality of the Wilson doctrine that I foresee a general participation in the project to give lasting recognition to the purpose of the foundation."

84—Hon. Julius M. Mayer, Judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, addressed the Alumni Association of Columbia Law School on December 15, 1921, at the Columbia University Club. According to the newspaper reports Judge Mayer declared that the Courts held in special abomination three things: The "shouting lawyer" who insisted on ranting instead of explaining, the "lazy brief" insufficiently prepared through too much confidence in the case, and the "wordy brief" which hid its facts in a mass of words.

89—Mrs. Livingston Schuyler, wife of our professorial alumnus of that name, was recently elected President General of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. The election took place at the convention of the "Daughters" in St. Louis. Never before have they chosen a president whose place of residence lay north of the sacred Mason and Dixon Line.

91—Arthur Guiterman, the ever delightful author of "The Laughing Muse", "The Mirthful Lyre", and "Ballads of Old New York", has just brought out a new volume of verse, "A Ballad-Maker's Pack", "containing ballads of many lands, of his own country, of his own times," published by Harper & Brothers. This is a timely tip to C. C. N. Y. men at holiday time. The book speaks of
 "A noontide halt at a crystal well,
 A word and a smile with a passing friend
 A song to sing and a tale to tell,
 And something coming around the bend."

99—Professor Nelson Mead engaged this month in a public debate against the president of the "New York Single Tax League". The subject was of course the concentration of all taxes into a single tax upon land; and Professor Mead, equally of course, upheld the negative.

00—Professor Abraham Goldfarb, of the College, was recently chosen to represent the New York Academy of Sciences at the "Helmholz Celebration" held under the auspices of the University of Rochester.

07—Professor Alfred N. Goldsmith, of the College, is acting as Chairman of the Commercial Radio Conference now being held in this city. The conference has been gathered at the request of the U. S. Secretary of Commerce, so as to propose legislation to protect this country in the general international radio agreements now being formulated.

11—Harry Cooper is President of the Brooklyn Philosophical Association, which holds a meeting every Sunday at 3 in the Assembly Hall of the Williamsburg Public Library, Marcy and Division Avenues, Brooklyn, giving a lecture and an open forum of one hour each on philosophical, scientific, religious, ethical, social and political questions. The Association was organized in 1878, and incorporated in 1898.

Professor Thomas Storey, head of the Department of Hygiene in the College, has just issued, in an important volume, the Report of the U. S. Interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board. The Report comes down to June 30, 1921, and expounds the efforts and ideas of the Board on the stamping out of venereal diseases. The Board has consisted of the U. S. Secretaries of the Treasury, War, and Navy, and their representatives, with Dr. Storey as their Executive Secretary.

IN BUSINESS LIFE

77—Rev. David M. Hunter has retired from the ministry, after forty years of active service, and is now living in Newburgh, New York.

77—James Luby, formerly connected with the "Sun", is Editor of the "Journal of Commerce".

03—Richard Fondiller was re-elected for the fourth year Secretary-Treasurer of the Casualty Actuarial Society at the annual meeting held at the Hotel Pennsylvania on November 18, 1921.

15—Hyman C. Goodman is now on the financial section of the Daily News Record. He was formerly first assistant on the investigation staff of the New York State Commission on Ventilation.

16—Christopher G. Kassenbrock is now an investigator for the United States Veterans' Bureau in this city.

16—Gustav T. Nebel, who was formerly with the Foreign Exchange Department of the Bankers Trust Company, is now in the Foreign Statistical Department of the Texas Oil Company.

16—Meyer L. and Alexander H. Kosloff are in business together, supplying the city markets with nuts and dried prunes.

17—Edward Goodman is now teaching Spanish in the High School of Commerce.

17—A. Y. Cowen, who has been with one of the "Street's" prominent banking and brokerage houses for several years, has now started in business for himself. Mr. Cowen taught in the Commerce Building evening session courses last year. He was formerly Statistical Expert for the War Trade Board and Special Agent for the Department of Commerce.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NO. 40

All former students of G. S. No. 40, whether graduates or not, are requested to send their names and addresses to Julius J. Frank, Esq., 61 Broadway, or to Professor Burchard, at the College.

College Club and procuring a suitable club-house for it.

Mr. Julius Hyman, '94, offered a resolution that the Alumni respectfully suggest to the Board of Trustees the institution of a course under which under-graduates of the College should be required to speak in the streets in behalf of American institutions. This resolution was referred to the Board of Directors.

Mr. Murray presented his Annual Report, which was received and ordered audited and placed on file.

On motion, duly made, seconded and carried, the meeting adjourned.
 Respectfully submitted,
 L. S. BURCHARD,
 Secretary.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI ORGANIZATIONS MEET

A number of the high schools of the city will hold their annual alumni association meeting today. Students of the college who are graduates of any of the schools are invited and urged to attend.

Boys' High School will hold its alumni association meeting this afternoon in the auditorium of the school. Good speakers and good music will afford a pleasant afternoon. A feature of the entertainment will be a basketball game in the gymnasium and the presentation of football awards.

The alumni meeting of Stuyvesant High School will be held this evening at 7:30 p. m. in the school auditorium.

The reunion of De Witt Clinton Alumni will take place as usual at the performance of the annual Christmas show, which will be given in the school auditorium at 12 o'clock. WRESTLERS TO TACKLE STEVENS' GRAPPLERS

Lavender Men Preparing Strenuously for Meet on Saturday Afternoon

Disappointed, but undaunted by its setback at the hands of the Columbia grapplers, the Lavender wrestling team is busily preparing for its next contest.

Captain Moe Silver is going at full speed and shows promise of becoming an expert at the catch-as-catch-can sport.

Grey, in the heavy-weight class, completes the team. He is a fast, brainy man and promises well for the future.

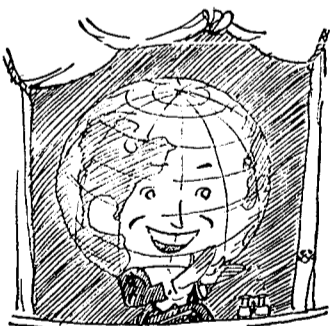

The contest with Stevens will start at 3 p. m. and a close and interesting exhibition is assured.

LAVENDER VS. BROWN

Lou's foul tossing has improved a good deal lately and was fairly consistent in last week's affair. The stocky guard is playing a fine game, aggressive both on the defense and on the offense.

On the following Friday night the Lavender quintet will meet the Holy Cross team for the first time in years.

There's a world of wear in our clothes for college men.

CHESS TEAM CHOSEN FOR LEAGUE MATCHES

Four Men Picked to Play Cornell, U. of P., N. Y. U., and M. I. T. in Annual Holiday Contests

The tournament to decide the personnel of the chess team that is to represent the college in the Intercollegiate Chess League has now been completed.

The contests in the Intercollegiate League are held annually during the Christmas holidays. The colleges represented, besides C. C. N. Y., are the University of Pennsylvania, Cornell, N. Y. U., and M. I. T.

In addition to the championship of the League, a trophy is at stake, any team winning for three consecutive years keeping the trophy.

The Lavender board-men also usually enter an eight-man team in the annual contest of the Metropolitan Chess League, which includes Columbia, N. Y. U., and a number of the strongest chess clubs in the vicinity.

WELL, OUR PREDECESSOR put before you very emphatically the past experiences of the Lavender Quintet against its most bitter enemy, the Princeton Five.

"RED" KLAUBERS' FLYING DUTCHMEN WERE PERFECT The diminutive forward feared nothing and went through the tussle coercing the Princeton giants in their attempts to break through Lavender's defense.

CAPTAIN RASKIN HIT A FAST STRIDE in the all-important affair. The chubby guard was worked up to high pitch and was moved to Princeton's misfortune to resist the onslaught of the visitors with a good deal of vigor.

ANDERSON, EDELSTEIN AND FAHRER HELD THEIR OWN in the Tiger tussle. The lanky pivot man had a tough proposition in Gaines, the Princeton tap-off man, but he did his duty in excellent fashion.

THE TEAM TO-DAY IS FAR BETTER THAN ANY OF ITS PREDECESSORS. Man for man, it is taller and heavier than was the 1921 team. It is much faster. It has more endurance. It can pass and shoot better.

DO SCORES COUNT? Brown beat Connecticut Aggies. The latter triumphed over the Army. The West Pointers defeated Columbia. What's the conclusion?

WILL OVERCONFIDENCE PROVE DISASTROUS TO THE LAVENDER QUINTET? The 0 to 0 score in the N. Y. U. football contest affected the freshmen to such an extent that they forgot how to play.

THE LAVENDER VICTORY ON THE COURTS MADE UP FOR THE DOUBLE DEFEAT the swimming team received at the hands of the Princeton fish. The Jungletown boys presented a powerful water-polo team.

THE REDEEMING FEATURE OF THE SWIMMING MEET WAS EX-CAPTAIN ASHWORTH'S fine display in the 50-yard swim. Ashworth's constant practice enabled him to clip 1-5 second off the college record, previously held by Leo Lehrman.

ALTHOUGH JOSEPHER DID NOT CAPTURE FIRST PLACE, he was there with the goods. Moser of Princeton nosed him out by a fraction of a point.

Now that arrangements for chess meets have been closed, Lavender sees all of its sports in active session. Matches with N. Y. U., M. I. T., Cornell and U. of P. will be some of the colleges on the schedule.

TRACK PRACTICE HAS BEGUN. Coach MacKenzie has been instructing the candidates in the indoor track and expects to continue work during the Christmas vacation every day from 10 to 12 o'clock.

ALL MEN WHO EXPECT TO COME OUT FOR VARSITY SPORTS NEXT TERM SHOULD TAKE MILITARY SCIENCE ON TUESDAY. THOSE NOT TAKING MILITARY SCIENCE SHOULD MAKE TUESDAY THEIR LONG DAY.

THERE HAS NOT BEEN ANY NEWS ON FOOTBALL LATELY. Nothing has been announced officially so far and nothing will be until later.

ARE YOU GOING TO ATTEND THE BROWN AND HOLY CROSS BASKETBALL GAMES? AND WHAT ABOUT THE STEVENS' WRESTLING MATCH?

SHARKS DESCRIBED IN LECTURE TO BIO CLUB

Dr. E. W. Gudger Discusses Habits of Nurse Sharks—Talks on Personal Experiences

Dr. E. W. Gudger, of the American Museum of Natural History, who has for the past few years been conducting research work in southern Florida on sharks and their life habits, spoke last Thursday to the Bio Club upon his observations in connection with the species known as the nurse shark. Dr. Gudger is one of the foremost authorities on this subject, and he is now preparing a paper which, when completed, will be the only one in existence that describes the life history of the shark from beginning to end.

The speaker made the rather interesting assertion that, although popularly all sharks are "man-eaters", most of them are practically harmless in this respect. In fact, on one of the shark-hunting expeditions, a member of the crew of the sailing-skiff jumped from the boat upon the back of a nurse shark and took a short ride in this novel manner.

While he was speaking, Dr. Gudger exhibited several specimens of the jawbones of different varieties of sharks, and photographs of the ones he had caught. He pointed out that the shark has five gill-slits which are not covered by a single flap, as in other fishes.

He then took the specific case of the nurse shark and proceeded to describe its life habits. This species is found all over the world in warm waters. It is different from other sharks in that it is lazy, sluggish in its movements, and is a poor swimmer. All its characteristics may be accurately compared to those of the pig. The nurse shark is gregarious, schools of as many as thirty-nine having been seen by Dr. Gudger on one of his trips. It is fearless although helpless, and its only protection from enemies is its very tough hide which is impervious even to a harpoon.

JUNIORS TO REVEL

venir contains several clever little ditties and a new class song composed by Sakolsky. There are also a number of attractive cuts and designs made by "Moe" Fass. In addition the booklet devotes several pages to each of the affairs of Junior Week and to the history of the class. It enumerates the ten banners won by '23 in its first two years at the College, and give the names of the class officers and members of the different Festival Committees, of which "Is" Michaels is chairman. The booklet is printed on an excellent quality of paper and is a fitting remembrance for the greatest social affair in the history of the class of 1923.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS TO HEAR TALK ON RUSSIA

Louis Gannet, Associate Editor of "Nation," Speaks To-morrow on Personal Observations in Famine-Stricken Land

What the Social Problems Club expects to be is one of its most interesting lectures this term will be delivered at 1 o'clock tomorrow in Room 126, when Louis Gannet, associate editor of the "Nation", addresses the club on "Starving Russia."

Mr. Gannet recently returned from a five months' stay in Russia. He went there last July at the invitation of the Soviet authorities, to attend the convention of the Third Internationale in Moscow. He was the only "American bourgeois" so invited, and as a result had matchless opportunities to observe the functioning of the Russian political machine. Lenin, Trotsky and others of the more important Russian officials were interviewed by him. Finally, before he returned home, Mr. Gannet made a lengthy tour of the Russian country districts, and so was able to acquire first hand knowledge concerning conditions in Russia as they actually exist. He will use only his own observations as the basis of his lecture, and will endeavor to point out the need for giving aid to Russia.

Mr. Gannet believes that the land ruled by Lenin will within the course of the next decade evolve a new political structure, a democracy in which rule by demagogues will be quite impossible. The Soviets will be an important feature—will be the foundation, in fact—of this system.
