Swimming and Water Polo Teams of Both Institutions About Evenly Matched

SEADOGS SHOULD COME THROUGH WITH HONORS

Joseph and Ashworth Are in Fine Form—Entire Polo Team Ready for Hard Fight

After splitting honors with Yale last week in the swimming and water polo contests, the Lavender teams will meet their local rivals, the Blue and White aggregations, to-night in the first of their annual dual meets. This struggle will open up Columbia's water polo season. The only meet the visiting swimmers engaged in, that with McGill University, resulted in an easy victory for them.

In the natatorial engagement, both teams will be about evenly matched. While it is admitted that Mahar will absolutely capture the plunge, all the other events will be hotly contested. The fancy dive will especially give rise to keen interest; Balbach, intercollegiate champion, will be pitted against Joseph, crack Lavender diver, who has shown marked improvement with each successive meet. The diminutive diver has already trimmed Armstrong, who was a close second to Balbach and he is in excellent condition for the Blue and White affair. No matter who wins the event, it is certain that there will be a hard fight for supremacy. Ex-captain Ashworth will most likely take first in the fifty-yard swim and will battle Eberhardt, Columbia's mainstay in the 220-yard event. In the century swim the contestants will be about evenly matched, while in the relay there will again be a stiff fight for first honors. The latter event will in all probability be the deciding number of the evening. The varsity has been improving steadily and it is expected to continue this process until the end of the season.

The second part of the evening will be marked by the water-polo contest. So far, this season, the Lavender seadogs have met but one defeat and that at the hands of Princeton's crack last year's intercollegiate championship team. In trimming University of Pennsylvania and Yale by large scores, the college sextette has clearly proven its strength. Columbia has lost most of its veterans and will invade the pool to-night with a practically new line-up, while the Lavender team still retains all of its last year's men. Aided by this advantage and the fact that they participated in three intercollegiate meets this year, while the Blue and White combination has yet to begin its season, the college players should have little trouble in coming through victoriously.

With the slight change of play exhibited in last week's fracas and the excellent showing of all the regulars and several substitutes who managed to jump into the fray, the Lavender seadogs are fully prepared to take on their old rivals to-night. Both the swimming and water-polo meets should result in two well-fought events.

MICROCOSM MUST PAY DEBTS OF 1921 EDITION

Dean Brownson has stated that he will withhold the publication of the 1922 Microcosm until the debts incurred by the editors of the last year book are fully paid. It is a rule of the authorities that no college organization may be in debt to an outside party for more than one year. The Student Council will take up the matter at today's meeting and will probably loan the present editors an amount sufficient to tide over the difficulty.

NOTICE TO STUDENTS
All Text Books must be returned before the last day of examinations. A fine of five cents daily on each Text Book will be charged on books returned late.

CHAPEL GIVEN OVER TO STUDENT COUNCIL

Debate on Popular Election of Student Council Officers Features Assembly

On Tuesday, January 10, the Student Council addressed itself to the student body as a court of final appeal on issues that have long been sources of discussion in the councils. Both sides of the question of popular election of officers of the Student Council were heard. Later in the day a referendum on the subject was held.

F. Eugene Corbie of the Alcoe and Concourse Committee followed with an appeal to the student body for neatness and cleanliness in the concourse and in the lunchroom. He also gave notice that the rules made by the Student Council will be strictly enforced in the future.

After the opening ceremonies, Dean Brownson introduced Paul Fagin, President of the Student Council, who presided during the remainder of the assembly. Mr. Fagin made an introductory speech informing the College of the purpose of the meeting. He then introduced Harold Slochower, '23, as the speaker on the affirmative of the proposition that the officers of the Student Council be elected by popular vote.

Mr. Slochower, who is a member of the Student Council, maintained it was a measure which the student body demanded and mocked the opposition in their claims that the students are too ignorant to choose the best officers and that the resulting publicity would be wholly undesirable. "What are the present officers working for but publicity?" said the speaker. "Are they angels, laboring totally without personal aims?" He then proceeded to indicate the abilities of these student experts and the self-styled philosophers of student affairs. In conclusion the speaker laid down the issues that he believed the negative would be obliged to prove and put forth some questions which he defied his opponents to answer.

President Fagin then introduced the negative speaker, Lewis E. Zorn, '22, also a member of the Student Council. In opening his address, Mr. Zorn said, "At present the Student Council President is not an important officer. He does not correspond to our national chief executive in national affairs. His duty is merely to function as chairman and to appoint certain unimportant committees. To elect the president by popular vote would give that office an importance which it does not warrant and which is wholly undesirable." As for the other counselors, they are elected by classes after the practice of state election of senators. Two delegates are elected by each class and there is, said the speaker, no reason whatsoever, why the system should be changed or abolished.

Mr. Corbie, of the Student Council Alcoe and Concourse Committee, was next introduced by the President. The present conditions in the lunch room and in the Concourse were characterized by the speaker as a disgrace and a blot upon the good name of this institution. "The fault," said the speaker, "lies in the student body."

The congested conditions in the lunch room make co-operation on the part of the students essential. The lunch room is not a place for study or for student gossip, the speaker declared, and students should move out to make room for others as soon as they have completed their meals. The inadequate accommodations make any lack of neatness doubly reprehensible and the Student Council rules will be enforced strictly in the future.

STUDENT OFFICERS TO BE CHOSEN BY POPULAR ELECTION

Vote Held in Concourse on Tuesday After Chapel and Throughout Wednesday

REFERENDUM CARRIED BY LARGE MAJORITY

Interest Slight—Affirmative Polls 286 Votes—117 Against Popular Ballot

The referendum held last Tuesday and Wednesday on the proposition that the officers of the Student Council be elected by popular vote of the student body was carried by a vote of 286 to 117. The slight interest manifested—but one-third of the "N" members voted—came as a surprise after the extensive publicity that had been carried on. Tuesday's chapel had been given over to the Student Council, which had staged a debate on the subject.

The alcove near the Lost and Found Room was used as an election booth. The election was in charge of a committee of the council consisting of Messrs. Fagin, Hartman, Michaels and Warsoff. The voting began at 11 o'clock Tuesday and continued throughout that day and the next.

The campaign for the popular election of the officers of the Student Council was started last term. An extensive propaganda was carried on and after the Student Council had voted down the proposal for the changes, a motion to submit the proposition to a referendum was passed by a narrow margin.

The change applies to the president, vice-president and secretary of the council, and will be put into force next term.

COMMITTEE SUSPENDS FROSH FOOTBALL MAN

Kulick Refuses to Wear Cap—Dean Co-operates with Discipline Committee to Keep Concourse Clean

"Artie" Kulick, a member of the Freshman football and basketball teams, has been suspended by the Student Council Discipline Committee from all extra-curricular activities until June, 1922, for disobedience of the Freshman Rules. Kulick refused repeatedly to wear his Frosh cap. He has been given the right to appeal to the committee.

This is the second case in the last two weeks, and the committee is determined to use whatever measures, however drastic, that may be necessary to enforce these rules.

Several students were brought up before the committee on the charge of violating the Concourse and Alcoe regulations. Sentence was suspended with the warning that in the future no infringements of these rulings will be tolerated, and that offenders would be punished by suspension from all extra-curricular activities or by whatever punishment deemed advisable.

The Discipline Committee has not the power of suspending students from classes for breaking Freshman regulations, but may prevent them from participating in extra-curricular activities for any period of time. This power will be used extensively to enforce the rules.

In the case of students who break the Concourse and Alcoe regulations, the Committee has the power to recommend to Dean Brownson the suspension from classes of such men. The Dean has stated that he will carefully consider such recommendations.

PILGRIMS WANDER IN PRINCETON JUNGLES

Busses Lose Way—Rooters Arrive in Time to Cheer Victors—Adventures Include Collision

There are at least two hundred City College men who will never ride on a bus for a long, long time to come. And all because the widely advertised "To Princeton by Bus" ride was not all it was cracked up to be!

The weary crowd of City College men who reached Penn Station about five o'clock Wednesday morning are still spouting profanity on the subject of busses and bus drivers.

When it was first announced that three busses would make the trip to Princeton Tuesday afternoon, several men were very doubtful as to the outcome. Their dire predictions were fully verified. Everything that could possibly happen to an automobile did happen. There were breakdowns, smashups, wrong roads, and several other pleasant incidents. The trip was at first a success. Starting promptly at four, the three busses made their way, amid much noise, to the West 42nd Street Ferry.

At this point, the third bus was lost. After losing the road three times and going miles out of the way, it finally managed to reach Princeton just before the end of the first half of the game.

The first two busses proceeded along the Lincoln Highway. Both chauffeurs were quite in the dark as to where Princeton was. They took the first road they saw, usually the wrong one, and at eight o'clock the two busses were about two miles from Rahway. Here the driver of the first car stopped short to avoid running into a tree. The second bus kept going and collided with the rear of the first. The passengers of both cars sustained a severe jolt, and the second bus sustained either a broken collar-bone or a sprained radiator. Anyway, it was put out of commission.

The first car, carrying the load of the damaged bus, crawled along toward Rahway. As it reached the town, a Princeton train was pulling in. Half of the men on the bus made a rush for it and reached Princeton in time to see the second half of the game.

The remaining bus then moved on toward Princeton. Although it was going at a fairly steady rate it always was "Twenty miles to Princeton!" Finally at half-past ten, the C. C. N. Y. men reached their destination in time to have spectators coming from the gym inform them that the game was over, and City College had won. The tired pilgrims gave a rousing "Big Varsity!" and prepared to return.

But few of the Lavender rooters saw the whole game. Only those who went by train, or in private cars, arrived before the contest started. The rest were S. O. L.

Half an hour after the game, the two busses, packed to the roof, set out for New York, which was reached about four o'clock.

PROF. FUENTES PASSES CRISIS OF HIS ILLNESS

Professor Fuentes, it is reported, has passed the crisis of his illness and is on the road to recovery. He has been very ill with pneumonia complicated by pleurisy. Now that the danger has been passed, Professor Fuentes will have recovered in time to return to college by the beginning of the next semester.

Anderson and Edelstein Register Two Baskets Apiece—Salz and Fahrner One Each—"Lou" and "Red" Score Remaining Points on Fouls—Speedy and Accurate Passing Aids Varsity

In a fast, well played contest on the Tiger courts, the Lavender quintet flashed a brilliant display and brought the fracas to a close by scoring the winning goal in the last minute of play, putting the final score at 26 to 24. This is the second defeat handed to the Jungletown boys this season, and is the first time in years that the Princetonians were defeated by C. C. N. Y. on their own court. It also marks the first double Lavender victory since the college has opened up relations with the Jersey institution in basketball. The victory was well earned and was featured by the excellent work of every player, including the substitutes, who managed to jump into action.

HIGH SCHOOL HEADS AT COLLEGE DINNER

Work of Schools of Technology, Education and Business Administration Described by Deans

On Wednesday evening of this week the principals of fifteen high schools in Greater New York attended a dinner in the Webb Room given under the auspices of the School of Technology. A number of other prominent persons were present, including Dr. Ettinger, City Superintendent of Schools; Dr. E. Melony, assistant superintendent of high schools; Dr. J. L. Tildesley, district superintendent of high schools; President Mezes, and Dr. Churchill, president of the College Board of Trustees.

The dinner was given to afford an opportunity of explaining to the principals of the city's high schools what the College of the City of New York has to offer to students. It is part of a campaign to acquaint students and teachers of high schools with the scope of the work of the college, with the different schools and attendant matters.

Professors Skene, Robinson and Klapper spoke briefly concerning college, describing the schools of which they are the heads. Professor Skene, who, as dean of the School of Technology, sponsored the dinner and made arrangements for it, in the opening address, set forth the purpose of the gathering, declaring that he desired primarily to inform the several principals of the work of the School of Technology so that they in turn would be in a position to describe it to those of their students who were interested in engineering and who proposed to specialize in it.

Professor Skene then explained in detail the plans which the school is working on, and enumerated the various courses which are being given at the present time. He stated that it was his purpose to afford the heads of the various high schools with such a clear conception of the actual status of the Technology School that they would be able to answer any questions in regard to it which may arise in the minds of their pupils.

Professor Robinson spoke on the School of Business Administration which is now widening its activities to include courses in new fields of economics. The School of Education, which was founded at the beginning of the term, was described by Professor Klapper, its dean. He emphasized its importance in preparing for their work the teachers of New York City.

With the score at 9 to 3 in favor of Nassau, the Lavender boys launched a short rally that brought their score nearer to their opponents. Breaking up Princeton's attack, the Varsity got the sphere and traveled down the field, employing the five-man offense. Speedy and accurate passing enabled Fahrner to receive the ball near the basket and register the first of the visiting team's field goals. The remainder of the period, except for the last minute during which time Edelstein sent the ball clear through the ring from the extreme corner of the field, was sparkled with many fouls. The Princeton team scored their six other points when Loeb caged six successive shots as a result of Lavender's infringement of the rules, while the New Yorkers produced five more points in a similar fashion. Edelstein's tally, just before the whistle blew, was a beautiful shot from a very difficult angle coming at a very opportune time. This basket brought the

WE'VE HAD A RATHER PLEASANT WEEK. The water-polo team handed Yale a 55 to 4 defeat. The Lavender quintet sent the Princetonians down to defeat by the close score of 26 to 24. Will say these are two glorious achievements. The first time in many years that Lavender teams have accomplished such feats. A victory over Yale in water polo has always been a longed-for event at the college. It was next year — and next year. This year, however, the desire was realized. And in basketball we have a similar situation, except that the Tiger representatives were also defeated on December 17 on our own court. Things are looking rather bright.

SALZ'S PRETTY SHOT FROM THE FIELD in the last minute of play gave us the victory over Princeton. The diminutive guard was put in Klauber's place in the latter part of the fracas. Guarded by a much heavier and taller man than himself, the blond-haired forward managed to slip away from his opponent and cage the winning goal. It was a spectacular shot, delivered while he was about eight yards from the goal and while in motion.

CAPTAIN RASKIN PLAYED WELL. He cut in with the ball with great speed, either drawing a foul or getting a shot at the basket. Unfortunately none of his attempts for goals were successful. He, however, caused his opponents to foul him quite often. "Tubby's" one-handed twisters circled the basket, but refused to fall in. Some of his shots were tough. Better luck next time.

PITTED AGAINST A MAN HIS HEIGHT AND A GOOD PLAYER, ANDERSON PLAYED THE GAME OF HIS LIFE. The lanky center produced two tallies and was the center of the Lavender attack. Andy remained in the fracas the entire time and kept his opponent worried.

ALTHOUGH UNABLE TO REGISTER A SINGLE GOAL, KLAUBER, AND ROSONOWITZ HANDLED THEMSELVES ADMIRABLY. "Red" exhibited his usual brand of ball, but his small physique on Princeton's large court prevented him from doing any real damage. But by no means was he ineffective. "Rosie" received a chance to make good and the stocky guard did so. He had no trouble working in with the Lavender team's style of play.

EDELSTEIN AGAIN INDULGED IN HIS HOBBY. The "skinny" forward flashed a neat basket from a very difficult angle in the initial period. Another tally later on increased Edie's share of field goals to two. The fleet-footed offensive player also played well on the defensive, guarding his opponent closely and preventing him from scoring a single score.

THE LAVENDER ROOTERS WERE NUMEROUS. THEY HAD A WONDERFUL JOY RIDE AND A GAY TIME.

CREDIT MUST BE GIVEN TO COACH HOLMAN FOR HIS REMARKABLE JUDGMENT in making several necessary shifts in the Lavender formation during the struggle. The keen foresight of the Varsity's mentor had much to do with the final outcome of the tussle.

A DOUBLE VICTORY OVER PRINCETON—AT HOME AND AT PRINCETON. LOOKS PRETTY GOOD IN PRINT.

JUST A FEW WORDS IN REGARD TO THE POLICY OF THE A. A. BOARD. The present board consists of five men, all of whom are intensely interested in the welfare of the college. It is in accord with this attitude, and we repeat, only with this in mind, has the board requested an increase in its allotment from the Union Committee. We are sure that, if the Board felt that it was undermining the Union or injuring any one organization in it, it certainly would revoke its request. However, it feels that it deserves an increase and that at present it can be obtained. We fail to see where the A. A. Board is selfish. It has done and will continue to do all it can to put athletics on a firm basis at this institution. We think, the matter ought to be settled by the committee, therefore we will keep all discussion out of print. The one thing we wish to point out to the students and thus try to correct false impressions, is, that the board is not a selfish organization, but one that has the entire college at heart. Never before has the A. A. board been so fortunate as to be represented by such an energetic and conscientious group of men.

AS FOR FOOTBALL, we felt competent to say that both the freshman and varsity schedules will be on hand by the end of this semester. Through Professor Williamson's efficient work, the frosh schedule has already been completed, while the varsity's list of opponents is not as yet certain. Seven colleges are on the Lavender schedule, but two of them are still holding back their final decision.

THE LAVENDER WATER POLOISTS ARE SECOND IN THE INTERCOLLEGIATE LEAGUE. Should the seadogs gain a victory over Columbia to-night, we can say that they will surely hold on to this position until the close of the season. And should their style improve to such an extent that they will be better fitted to meet Princeton, they may have a chance to gain the intercollegiate championship.

ALL ATHLETES SHOULD CONSULT HEAD COACH MACKENZIE BEFORE ARRANGING THEIR SCHEDULES FOR THE NEW TERM. SEE HIM RIGHT NOW.

THE FANCY DIVING PROMISES TO BE A VERY INTERESTING EVENT TO-NIGHT. Josepher will be opposed by Balbach, intercollegiate star, who will be forced to go the limit to outpoint the crack Lavender diver.

WE HAVEN'T RECOVERED FROM THE SHOCK AT PRINCETON, but anyhow, we hope to regain consciousness soon in order to be able to witness the Muhlenberg fracas to-morrow night. The Tiger tussle is the beginning of Lavender's new winning streak. What about Muhlenberg?

VARSITY WINS
visitors within reach of the Tigers' score at the end of the first half. Score, 15 to 12 in Princeton's favor.

A brief talk by Coach Holman benefited the team greatly, as its play improved considerably during the final period. The combination that took the floor in the second period was slightly different than the original line-up. Rosonowitz was playing for Raskin and he worked in well with the rest of the team. Three points in the rear, the Lavender quintet was determined to forge ahead. Guarding well and passing accurately, the Varsity held the ball in their possession most of the time during the early part of this half. Raskin, who took Fahrer's place when the latter was shifted to Edelstein's station, executed a neat pass to Anderson, who dropped the sphere through the basket. When Gaines walked with the ball Fahrer was given a chance to tie the score and he did. At this stage, both teams were battling fiercely. Suddenly Anderson captured the sphere while scrimmaging amidst the players in his own territory and cleverly dodged Loeb. Cutting in rapidly he was able to score his second successive goal from the field, putting the college in the lead for the first time during the evening. The Nassau foul tesser interrupted the Varsity attack by sending the sphere through the ring on a free toss. Immediately following this, Edelstein scored his second tally of the day. Forcing the home team to play close, because of their sudden spurt, the Lavender boys found it difficult to break away. However, Edelstein, feinting, evaded his man just in time to receive a fast pass from Fahrer which put the "skinny" forward in position to drop the ball in the basket. Three fouls by Fahrer and one by Loeb, brought the score to 22 to 16 in Lavender's favor.

The Princeton five threw a scare into the ranks of the Varsity by staging a sudden rally. A long shot by Jeffries, Gaines' follow-up of Loeb's miss and Loeb's two counts from the foul line, enabled the home team to bring matters to a stand-still at 24 all and five minutes yet to play. Four of these proved useless to either team as no scoring resulted, the ball sallying up and down the field to no avail. Finally, with but a minute to go, "Franky" Salz, who took Klauber's place, let loose a pretty shot that sailed clean through the ring and sent his team in the lead by two points. It was the best shot of the evening and came at the crucial moment. The Varsity held the ball safely for the remaining twenty-five seconds and Lavender triumphed over Princeton on the latter's courts for the first time since both teams have opposed each other.

The cooperative plan upon which the Lavender team based its action, proved advantageous to the victors. No one individual starred, but every player that entered the struggle displayed the best of his ability and the Lavender exhibition was one that proved disastrous to the representatives of Princeton. The Varsity's lightning passing was the main cause for the defeat of Princeton.

The next game will be played at home with Muhlenberg tomorrow night. The Pennsylvanians have a very strong team and have met with fair success so far this season. The contest should prove to be an exciting one.

CIVIC CLUB MEMBERS END WORK OF TERM

Have Held Six Successful Lectures —Will Meet Thursday to Make Future Plans

The officers of the Civic Club have expressed their feeling that from the standpoints of interest, of the quality of the speakers, the club has engaged and of attendance at the lectures, the closing term has been one of the most successful of its career.

At the beginning of the semester the club decided that its policy in regard to lecturers would be one which strove for quality rather than quantity. It was convinced that it would be better from every viewpoint to engage speakers only of the highest calibre and of the greatest influence in their respective fields even though the pursuance of such a plan would necessitate the holding of fewer lectures. The club has strictly adhered to this policy. Every one of the six speakers who addressed it during the past four months has been a man or woman of wide prominence and has spoken on subjects of exceptional interest to those in any way concerned with contemporary politics and economics.

The first speaker of the term was Mr. George Gordon Battle, an eminent attorney in this city, who in a very fine address upheld the American constitution. The second lecture was on "The Case Against Socialism," and Mr. Con B. Pallen, editor of the Catholic Encyclopedia, skillfully presented the "case." Of particular interest was the following lecture by Dr. Talcott Williams, Director of the Columbia School of Journalism, on the Washington Conference. Another popular address was that by M. Joseph P. Levenson, Chairman of the N. Y. State Motion Picture Censorship Board, on "Movie Censorship." On the Thursday preceding Christmas Mrs. Winter Russell demonstrated by example and argument that Revolution was an impossible means of attempting to expedite development and progress. Yesterday, at the final lecture of the term, Mr. Stanwood Menken, president and founder of the National Security League, discussed the question of a "World Economic Conference."

Aside from its work in the college the Civic Club has been active in other fields, being instrumental in the organization of the Roosevelt Political League, a society of similar purpose to that of the Civic Club with headquarters on lower Broadway.

Next week, Thursday at 12:15, in Room 204 the Club will hold a regular business meeting for the purpose of discussing the anticipated membership campaign and of formulating policies and plans for the coming term.

STUDENT COUNCIL HAS FINAL MEETING TO-DAY

To Take Up Ratification of New Constitution—Enforcement of Rules To Be Discussed

A final attempt to ratify the new Student Council Constitution will be made at the meeting of the Council to be held this afternoon in Room 209. This will be the last council meeting of the term.

The action of the Discipline Committee in suspending Artie Kulick, Feb. '25, for violations of Freshman rules will be taken up. What attitude the council will take on the question, despite its recent ruling to require the wearing of Frosh caps under penalty of suspension from activities, is a question open to discussion.

It was unofficially decided by the Student Council and Club Council that a measure be passed next term to the effect that any club in the college must be in the Club Council to be legally recognized and to obtain the use of the college rooms. Exception was to be made with the Menorah, the C. D. A., the Newman Club, and the Y. M. C. A. It has now been learned that such a measure cannot be made effective without the consent of the Faculty.

The "U" committee will report on disbursements of money and income for the term. A report on the recent debate against Brooklyn Poly will also be heard.

The Lavender Book Committee, and the Debating Committee will also report. Steps will be taken to regain the loan of one hundred dollars made to the Junior Class in order to enable it to run its banquet.

BOHEMIA WILL MEET AT SAME HOUR NEXT TERM

Bohemia desires to announce that next term it will hold its weekly meetings on Friday at 2:30 in Room 308, as it has been doing heretofore.

Bohemia is at present the only literary society which has its meetings during the day and to which both upper and lower classmen are admitted. The society will broaden its activities to include a number of public lectures by professors and others famous for their literary work.

RADIO OPERATORS MAKE PLANS FOR NEXT TERM

At its meeting last Saturday night in the Tower the Radio Club decided that next term all members must learn to receive ten words per minute within three months, if they wish to remain members. Every opportunity for code practice will be furnished the members.

A motion was passed that any licensed operators and any member, if given permission by the president, may have the free use of the radio room at all times. Dr. Goldsmith says that he will give various pieces of experimental apparatus to the club for their use, if they keep the present equipment and apparatus in perfect condition.

The president of the Radio Club denounced the attempts of some men to obtain for themselves the exclusive use of the radio room. He said, "The Radio Club is for the use of the students of City College who have an interest in radio. No group of students should monopolize the set to the exclusion of the other members. The club will continue its same open door policy as in the past during the coming term."

A motion was passed directing the president to enforce the requirement that all club members shall be members of the Union. This will be rigidly enforced next term. The Club Council is being notified of this action of the club.

NEW STAFF WORKING LAVENDER BOOK

Expected to Be Out in March—Distributed Free This Term to "U" Members

Work on the forthcoming edition of the Lavender Book is being rushed with all speed, according to David Beres, the newly appointed editor of the handbook, and will probably be ready for distribution by the first of March. The passing of the new Student Council Constitution which must be published will determine the date. The present edition of the Book will be largely revised, and will be brought up to date in all particulars.

Members of the "Union" for this term will receive copies upon identification. The system of distribution will be similar to that of holding elections. A large number of books will also be put on sale. The new "U" ticket will not include the Lavender Book among its privileges.

The other members of the Staff of the Lavender Book, as recently announced by Paul Fagin, president of the Student Council, are George Mandelbaum and Milton Handler, associate editors, and Alexander Whyman, business manager. Samuel Lipschitz is the assistant business manager. Nathan Berall and Aaron Sussman are helping in the reportorial work.

COLLEGE SOCIALISTS HOLD "CAMERADERIE"

The League for Industrial Democracy, formerly the Intercollegiate Socialist Society, announces that in the Saturday Cameraderie held January 14 at 4 p. m., there will be a lecture on "The First New Impressions of Alexander Howatt of the Kansas Industrial Court," by Robert Hogue.

MENORAH TO DEBATE HARVARD AND U. OF P.

Representatives of the Menorah Society of C. C. N. Y., the University of Pennsylvania and of Harvard will participate in a three-cornered symposium at the annual Menorah Conference to be held in Philadelphia on February 12 or February 19.

CAST IS CHOSEN FOR ANNUAL VARSITY SHOW

Try-outs for parts in the forthcoming Varsity Show were held Wednesday night of this week in Room 113 and Room 118. Dr. Tynan of T.H.H. and Dr. Schulz of the college Public Speaking Department, who will act as coaches of the coming production, chose some members of the cast. The remainder of the cast will be picked next Monday at 1 p. m. in Room 16-A.

On Friday evening, March 17, the Dramatic Society will present four one-act plays in the Washington Irving High School auditorium. The Commerce Building Society will act one of the plays.

The plays already decided upon are "The Guest of Dinner," by Louis Beach, and "Bound East for Cardiff," by Eugene O'Neil. "He," by that author, was successfully presented at last year's show.

Last spring the Dramatic Society gave two very commendable performances of the plays constituting the Varsity Show at the Greenwich Village Theatre. The coaches of the production were Miss Muriel Hope, the well-known Shakespearian actress, and Drs. Tynan and Schulz.

Persons interested in stage setting, lighting effects, advertising and publishing are invited to offer their services for this year's show. The meetings of the society will be resumed next term every Thursday at 12:45 p. m. in Room 112.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY SOCIAL PROBLEMS CLUB

The Social Problems Club held a meeting to elect officers on Thursday, January 5. Pomerance was unanimously elected president. B. Meyers was elected vice-president, and H. Zamerute was elected Secretary-Treasurer. The following men were chosen to serve on the General Executive Committee: W. Sisskind, M. Polisuk, S. Hook. The following Arrangement Committee was elected: B. Meyers, M. Polisuk, H. Zamerute.

The club is laying extensive plans for the coming term. Many prominent speakers from both the academic and non-academic worlds will be secured; study classes will be established; and a social function like that of 1920 will be held.

SPECIAL STUDENTS SEEK RECOGNITION

The Special Students, at their meeting which was held during the chapel period last Tuesday, appointed a committee which will seek recognition as regular students from the college authorities. Due to the fact that the Specials are compelled to register one week later than the regular students, has made it very often impossible for them to obtain entrance into classes that they desire. They will also try to have the Student Council recognize their representatives. They will participate in all athletic, social, and other functions of the college.

The Special Students meet every Tuesday during the chapel period in Specials Class Alcove which is near the Lost and Found Room. All other Special Students, who have not as yet attended the class meetings are requested to be present at the next meeting.
