INDOOR MEET TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Annual Interclass Event to Take Place in Gym-Record Field of Entries Listed

CLASS OF '23 RULES FAVORITE FOR TITLE

One-Mile Medley Relay Features-300-Yard and 600-Yard Runs for Novices on Program

The grand finale of the indoor track season will be staged tonight at 7:30 o'clock, when the annual inter-class track meet will be held in the gymnahave been handed in for the various events on the program, and it is expected that a large number of spectators will be present. The meets have always served to unearth new and promising men for the track team, and it is that this year's Varsity sextette is hoped that the present meet will bring out much-needed material for both the Varsity and Freshman squads.

mile and two miles runs; the 300 and 600 yard runs for novices and a special events include the high jump, running broad jump, the shot-put and pole vault. Each contestant will be allowed to enter one track and one field event.

'23, which has won every indoor in ter-class meet since it entered the College, rules the favorite for tonight's event, but .'25 is expected to put up a strong fight. The class of '24 has a well-balanced team and should finish high. The Seniors cannot be classed as dangerous contenders, because of the mall size of the class, but a number of Varsity men wear '22 colors and should win their events. Little is known of the prowess of the '26 trackmen, but the exceptionally large num-her of freshmen who have entered augurs well for their chances. The 440-yard run should be the most closely contested event on the program. In it are entered Murphy of '24, Milutinevitch, '22; Rosenwasser, '23, and Murray, '23, all Varsity men. "Archie" Hahn, baseball and basketball star, will also run. "Bugs" Bayer, '23, who has been running in various A. A. U. meets during the winter, is in fine shape for the half mile, and ought to give Reisman, '24, a close tussle there There is a fine field entered for the mile, including Greenblatt, '25, who cap-tured that event in the Frosh-Soph meet last term; Patent, captain-elect of the cross-country team; Sass, Kirshner and Diamond of '23; Dickson, the former Townsend Harris Hall star, and Citron of Morris High School, both Freshmen. Hamburger, '23, and "Bobbie" Bernhard, '24, both Varsity men, will hook up in the two-mile run.

"Dave" Factor, '23, the Varsity's star sprinter, will face Shoen, '22; Milgram, '22, and Botwen, '24, in the

There will also be a 300-yard dash medley relay is the last event on the program and should be hotly contested. Harry Rosenwasser, track captain; Factor and Leader, '24, should fight it out in the running broad jump. George out in the running broad jump. George Shapiro, '23, is entered in the shot-put with Jones, '22, and Bayer, '23. The high jump should be any man's event, since there is a scarcity of high fliers in the College. On the program is also a nole vanit and here too it is expected. a pole vault and here too it is expected that new men will show up as the Varplanation is in order. The Lavender Book is the official handbook of the College of the City of New York. It contains every bit of information about the College that the editors could gather. As none of the Freshmen were in the College last term hey can obtain copies of the Lavender Book only by purchasing them for twenty-five cents,

The booklet contains 192 pages which include a calendar schedule memoranda sheets, pages set aside to keep records of cuts, and so forth. Besides these there are ten vews of he College which are excellently reroduced.

The book is divided into five porions: History and Tradition, Student Organization, Athletics, Songs and cheers, and General Information. Each section is headed by a full-page garoyle caricature drawn by lugar, '25.
A full copy of the new Student ouncil is included.

The book is bound in black leathrette and its pages are gilt-edged It is pocket size-four and one-half y two and three-fourths inches.

It was intended originally that the Lavender Book be issued at the be-ginning of last term. However, the failure of the Student Council to rativ its new constitution prevented from being realized, as the new constitution is one of the main features of the booklet. The constitution was ratified at the end of the term. Active work on the Lavender lit was on the gridiron that he achieved was then begun.

PROBLEMS CLUB MAY HEAR CLAIRE SHERIDAN

Arrangements are now being made for the next lecture to be held under the auspices of the Social Problems Club next Friday afternoon at 1 p. M. Miss Claire Sheridan, the noted sculptress and author, will probably speak at this time. Arrangements are also being made to have Robert Minor and Lincoln Colcord lecture to the organization.

NEVILLE IS MADE FOOTBALL COACH

Well-Known Yale Star To Be Mentor for Varsity Eleven Was All-American Halfback

PARKER IS APPOINTED COACH FOR FRESHMEN

Both Men Experienced Coaches - Neville Coached Williams; Parker, Concordia Prep.

Joseph Neville, former Yale foot-ball star and All-American half-back, will coach the Varsity football team next fall. Dr. Harold J. Parker, Penn football man, will act as mentor for the Freshman cleven.

This announcement, which was made through Professor Williamson of the Faculty Athletic Committee, constitutes one of the most imporant bits of news for Lavender men. The rumors that were whispered around the College a few weeks back that a prominent football figure would direct the College's gridiron activities seemed too good to be true, and Lavenderites were undecided whether to hope or to doubt. But it is now a fact, and City College men can rejoice and make merry.

In the appointment of Neville and Parker a kind fate seems to be smiling on City College football aspirations. Favor upon favor has been bestowed on the Lavender. The dream of long ago grew from a fantasy to realization last year, and now gives promise of developing beyond the greatest proportions ever cherished for it. First came Freshman football, then the decision for a Varsity team and now the announcement that a famous gridiron hero has been chosen to guide the new Layender football craft over the strange waters into which it is about to enter. But to tell something about the careers of both men who will soon be prominently bound up with City College

The story of "Joe" Neville's career eads like the pages of a novel. Great Yale athlete. Neville is also a war tero. His climb to collegiate fame was arrested at the point of consummation by the advent of war, which, destroying everything that lay in the path of its frenzied onrush, paralyzed sport. Joe took up this challenge to his ambitions, and abandoned the athletic field for the field of Mars. where he distinguished himself as well as he had on the gridiron and the diamond.

He began his high school career at Simsbury High School, from which ic was graduated in 1912. Here he played on every team worth mentioning, including football, baseball and basketball. He completed his scholastic training at Westminster Preparatory School, from which he was graduated in 1913. In 1914 he entered Yale. He played Varsity football, baseball and basketball, but Freshman eleven, and the following vear was fullback on the Varsity The next year found him playing left halfback on the Yale championship team of 1916, otherwise known as "Cupid" Black's team. In this year he was chosen All-American halfback.

In the spring of 1917, while he was with the baseball team on its southern trip, the war broke out. Athletics were suspended. Neville went to Plattsburg, and, after undergoing the required training, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the field artillery, and sent to France, where he served for the duration of the war. While in service, he attended the "School of Fire" at Bordeaux. Upon his return from the lines he entered the University of Paris, where he completed a four-months course. He returned to Yale in October, 1919.

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM NOW HAS CLEAR TITLE TO CHAMPIONSHIP

By its victory over the University of Pennsylvania last Tuesday, the Princeton basketball team captured the championship of the Intercollegiate Baskethall League. The game was a playoff of the tie between the two teams and was the second victory of the Tigers in three games with their rivals this season. The score was 28 to 23.

The result of the game definitely establishes the justice of the C. C. N. Y. claim to the Eastern basketball championship, as the Nat Halman's proteges twice humbled Old Nassau, once at at home and once at Princeton. The only other defeats Princeton suffered were in one of the two games with Cornell and one of the three with Penn.

If the U. of P. had won the League title there would have been no basis for a direct comparison of the Philadelphia team with the Lavender quintet, universally conceded the championship outside the League. At the end of the regular season the Varsity therefore challenged the U. of P. to a post-season game for the championship, in the event that the Pennsylvanians beat out Princeton. The refusal of the Red and Blue quintet to entertain the challenge now is of no importance as the Princeton victory conclusively points out the superiority of the

Another indication of the championship calibre of the Lavender combination is the fact that it has scored more points per game than either Princeton or Pennsylvania.

SPRING TONIC

Twenty-one games, eleven of which will be played in the Stadium, make up the Varsity baseball schedule this season. This is the most ambitious schedule ever entered upon by a Lavender baseball team. It is an ambitious schedule not only because of the number of contests provided for, but also because of the calibre of the the trip with which the season opens, some of the best teams in Pennsylvania will be met.

The opening of the diamond season comes just in time to rescue the student body from a deadly attack of spring fever. Since the close of the basketball season the College has been in a state of lethargy. It is always so. Something is needed to stir up the students. That something is Judging by the way the College supported the basketball team, the Stadium should be packed during the baseball season. The team this year promises to be one of the best that ever fought for the Lavender. If the crowds are half-way as good as the team, the baseball season will be an unqualified success.

THE PRESS BUREAU

The formation-or rather, the re-establishment, for it existed a number of years ago of the C. C. N. Y. Press Bureau is an encouraging start toward supplying a long-felt want, the need for adequate publicity for the College and the numerous activities connected with the College.

The desirability of the right kind of publicity is beyond question-it is a recognition of the work of the College. Yet there is no gainsaying the fact that the sporadic mention the College gets from time in the various metropolitan newspapers is far from satisfactory. The Woodrow Wilson Foundation Fund was instituted in honor of Woodrow Wilson in recognition of and in sympathy with his principles and ideals with the purpose of using the interest derived annually from the fund as a prize, resembling the Nobel prize to be presented to that individ-ual in the United States who has done most, through brilliant public service and achievement, in improving condition, political, social or ecoiomic, in the country at large.
Virtually every College in the ountry has rallied to the support of his worthy cause, and as a consequence, the Civic Club, believing that he College should allign itself with he others in supporting this altruistic and progressive enterprise has as sumed the task of carrying on the ampaign here.

The Civic Club wishes to emphasize the fact that the Wilson Foundation is in no way a partisan organ-ization, and that consequently the lub is not indicating any leanings toward Democratic policies by support-ing its cause. All classes, Republicans and Democrats alike, have contributed to it in the interest of good government generally.

PRESIDENT MEZES RECEIVES PETITION

Will Discuss Resolution With Board of Trustees at Meeting This Week

1,000 STUDENTS SIGN

Suggestion Made to Name Baskerville Hall on Charter Day

The Baskerville Hall petition, which was circulated by representatives of the Baskerville Chemistry Society during all of last week, has been signed by over one thousand students and faculty members and is now ready for the consideration of President Mezes, to whom it will be submitted to-day.

The petition, which is in booklet orm, has been neatly bound and tied with silk lavender ribbon. The in scription on the inside cover of the booklet reads: "Respectfully submitted to the President of the College of the City of New York by the Students of the College and the representatives of the Baskerville Memorial Committee of the Baskerville Chemistry Society." The date has also been inscribed. After discussing the matter with the Board of Trustees, President Mezes will issue a statement in answer to the petition which will be published in The Campus as soon as it is received from his secretary.

Interviews with many of the professors during the last week have shown that not only the Student Body, but also the faculty are in favor of honoring the memory of Professor Baskerville by naming the Chemistry Building after him. It is expected that the President's statement will also be favorable.

At a recent meeting the Student Council passed a resolution putting itself on record as favoring "Basker-ville Hall."

Besides the signatures obtained by the representatives of the Basker-Chemistry Society, over three hunfred names have been obtained by means of the coupon resolution which was printed in a recent issue of The Campus. These coupons, which have been flowing into the Campus office via the concourse mail box in a steady stream, will be tied into one pack and submitted to the President at the same time as the original pe-

Suggestions have recently been received by the chairman of the Memorial Committee of the Baskerville Chemistry Society that the renaming of the Chemistry Building be done on Charter Day. Charter Day this year will be the seventy-fifth anniversary of the establishment of City College and thus a very fitting time to dedicate any of the College buildings. Suggestions to this effect have been made both by a faculty member and by a member of The Campus editorial staff. The Memorial Committee will officially recommend Charter Day as the best time for the dedica-OPEN AFTERNOONS tion of the building which Professor Baskerville created.

FRESHMAN SCHEDULE HAS THIRTEEN GAMES

Prospects As Yet Undetermined-Few High School Stars Among Aspirants.

With the first game only a few days off, the Freshman baseball team still remains an unknown quantity. both in its makeup and in its prowess. Only a comparatively small number of the men have had experience on High School nines, and it appears that Coach MacKenzie will have to exert all his efforts to round out a winning combination, especially as the schedule prepared is a stiff one.

The schedule consists of thirteen games, and includes contests with the York University Freshmen, George Washington High Schol, last year's interscholastic champions, Erasmus Hall High Schol and Fordham

The Freshman baseball practice up to Wednesday, consisted mainly of fielding and batting practice, but on Wednesday a short game with the Varsity was held in which the yearlings showed up quite well.

The most promising candidates thus far have been Moses, Yaunet, Waldman, Match and Friedman for the infield, and Spiegel, Paletz, Miller, Cetron, and Levine for the outfield. Langam is the only aspirant for the backstop position while there are no outstanding men on the pitching staff. All men in the Freshmen classes who can play are urged to report any day to Coach MacKenzie.

The schedule follows: April 4-Union, at home.

8—Jamaica, at home. 11—Boys', at home.

The Chess Team won its first match this year in the Metropolitan Chess League when it defeated the strong agregation! representing the Central Y. C. A. by a score of 5½ to 1½. The college men won five of the seven games, Slocower losing his, and Livingston having a draw. The game between Schlacter and Bubbett was adjourned and will be played out today.
At a meeting of the Chess Team last week, Erling Tholfsen, '24, was elected captain of the team. He has played on he team ever since his first term in college, and has the unique distinction of having played a draw with Capablanca, world's chess champion. Slochower and Steinberg were chosen president and secretary, respectively, of the Chess Club at its last meeting.

The team will meet Columbia Saturday in another of the League matches. The Lavender boardmen are primed for a battle royal, as Columbia recently won the championship of the C H. Y. P. League.

LUNCH HOUR PROBLEM TACKLED BY COUNCIL

Club Councillors Consider Question of Thursday Chapel at Meeting.

Realizing the extreme difficulty of attempting to draw up a schedule of club meetings and lectures that shall be non-conflicting while the present system of double lunch hours and Thursday assemblies exists, the members of the Club Council drew up a resolution of protest at their meeting last Thursday, which was adopted unanimously.

The resolution expresses the attitude of the council on the matter of Thursday Chapel and the double lunch hour. As matters stand the double lunch hour serves to concenon the off-hour on Thursday. How-ever, even this off-hour is shortened by the Chapel exercises. As a result, five societies with equally interesting lecture programs found them-selves seriously handicapped last Thursday by being forced to hold their meetings at the very same hour. The disadvantages of the system are obvious, it is pointed out in the resolution. The council hopes that upon receipt of the resolution the faculty will reconsider the advisability of having the Chapel exercises on Thursday.

TALKS OF SLOP JAR CHEMISTRY

term was delivered before the Baskerville Chemistry Society fast Thursday afternoon by Arthur H. Thomas of Columbia University. The subject of the address was "Colloid Chemistry."

The lecturer likened Colloid Chemistry to the "Chemistry of the Slop Jar." Organic chemists, he said, prefer crystalline substances to the slop , colloidal mess which refuses to behave according to generally accepted laws. The mystery in this mess, however, is the opportunity for the young chemist who is just starting out to find a field of the science in which he should specialize.

In explaining the precipitation of iron hydroxide in hydrochloric acid, trate the club activities of the week Dr. Thomas compared the subway straphanger to a colloidal system just as the release of the hand will upset the straphanger so a break in the chemical bonds will upset the coloidal system.

Dr. Thomas exhibited various testubes of colloidal substances in solution. The colors of the solution ranged from blue in the case of gold to yellow and gray as in the case of arsenic and silver.

After he had distributed the tubes, Dr. Thomas resumed his position near the lecture table and asked whether those in the rear could hear him. He was in sympathy, he said, Washeim requested the councillors to with the unfortunate students who submit lists of possible meeting times could not sleep because the speaker made just enough noise to keep them awake. The audience roared as the entire chemistry faculty grew red in the face and laughed self-consciously.
Dr. Thomas then showed how a theoretical knowledge of collidal chemistry saved thousands of dollars for the Milwaukee Sewerage Disposal Plant which was built and run by the City. The filter presses in the plant were being put out of use by a "sludge," when a colloidal chemist was called in as a last resort. By determining the iso-electric point of ted a satisfactory constitution and a the sludge, that point at which the bona-fide list of "U" members and substance will combine with the least amount of water, the chemist was able to remove the mess very quick-

The human body, the speaker continued, is mainly colloidal. Bricks are also colloidal. The impact of a brick with the head is a colloidal swelling. And the speaker gave a long list of substances that had to do with colloidal chemistry. The lecturer concluded his talk with a plea for interest in colloid chemistry.

the appointment of a Camp Committee composed of Major Herrick, team of horses are needed, and any chairman: Captain Winfield and Lieutenant Jacobs. This committee will have charge of picking the students who will go to camp. Because of the great interest manifested last year and the increase in the strength of the R. O. T. Professor Goldfarb and his sick quad left. The parting scene was very touching. Tears flowed freely—due to the wild garlic.

The little group had several exciting experiences on their continued hike. In the first place they actually saw a cow. Immediately all six men stopped to take pictures of it. Ther once more they marched on.

The next sight to strike their eyes was a sad one-two autos stuck in mud-holes, and neither of them climb this hill." Everybody climbed. Fords. True to the City College spiraid. After pushing and pulling for a lots of success, and walked on After passing through several small owns which showed their up-to-date spirit by just starting to celebrate the victory of the Marne, by still wearing Liberty Loan buttons and by still displaying posters in their windows bearing the smiling countenance of John F. Hylan, the band of six arrived at what appeared to be a deserted village, the town of Piermont. All was still. Not a young lady to smile at the passing scientists, nor dog to bark at them.

Suddenly a loud siren rent the stillness. At this signal people poured out of the houses, ran to the sidewalks, stood on the roofs. Was this some secret reception to the College representatives? A man dashed toward the hikers.

"Help! Save the city!" he cried, showing them a supposed fire patrol pulling out of the volunteer fire de-

Should the students save the city or not? That was the question,

But once more the manly spirit vas displayed.

"No," the students responded. Much as we would like to become heroes, we will not, for our conscience forbids. What this town needs s a few more fires to liven up the place." And they walked on leaving the fate of the town in the hands of the gods.

At last Nyack was reached. On a corner stood the mayor, the chief of police, the chief justice and the dog catcher. He welcomed the boys and handed them the freedom of the city with all the privileges entitled there to. Strange to say, however, all six had to shell out good American coin for the hospitality purveyed at the ice cream counter of the corner drug

NEW PRESS BUREAU FORMED AT COLLEGE

Newspaper Representatives Band To gether to Get Adequate Publicity for C. C. N. Y.

A reorganization of the old C. C. N. Y. Press Bureau was effected a meeting Thursday in The Campus office of the representatives at the College of the various metropolitan newspapers. The purpose of the organization is to secure adequate pub-licity for the College and its activties, and to aid the various representatives in their work.

The Press Bureau will be a clearng house for news of all sorts-a central news syndicate. It will receive all information from the sources, and will see that it reaches all the newspapers instead of as at present only those that maintain corespondents at the ollege. It will render possible a high degree of co-operation among the men engaged in the work and wil be able to systeit of manliness, all six offered their matize and control the machinery for publicity for the best nterests of the few minutes they became disgusted College. It will also be able to stimwith the obstinacy of the autos, bid ulate additional publicity by writers the owners good luck, wished them in special departments of newspapers, who may be advised as to possibilities for feature articles.

The present quarters of the organization are in The Campus office, but it is hoped that permanent and more adequate room may be secured elsewhere soon. It s planned to establish an office with necessary reference books, newspaper files and clippings

The exact form of organization of the bureau has not yet been decided on, but a number of plans have been advanced. Among these is the taking on of a number of under-classmen to work for a time before being admitted to membership in the bureau

The old Press Bureau was founded in 1915 as a reorganization of the still older Press Club, and while t flourished for a number of years its activity practicaly ended during the war, and it became dormant soon afwith the graduation from College of the most active members.

EX-EDITOR OF CAMPUS AUTHOR OF NEW BOOK

Among the new books which the library has received is one by Louis Mayers, '10, on Federal Service—a study of Personal Administration. Mr. Mayers was one of the editors of the first Campus. After his graduation he was a tutor mics from 1910 to 1914.

CADET OFFICERS BUY PIANO FOR CLUB USE

Last week the Officers Club purchased a piano. This was in line with the policy of the club to promote sociability among its members.
