CHEMISTS HONOR LATE PROFESSOR

Baskerville Chemistry Society
Institutes Drive for Scholarship Fund

PRIZE TO BE AWARDED NEXT COMMENCEMENT

Memorial Dinner to be Held at City College Club March 31

Definite action was taken at the meeting of the Chemical Society held last Thursday after Chapel in the Doremus Lecture Theatre to present some permanent memorial in honor of the late Doctor Charles Baskerville. The name of the society was changed by an unanimous vote to the "Baskerville Chemistry Society." Plans were formulated to institute a "Baskerville Memorial Scholarship Fund," and a resolution was passed petitioning the President of the College to name the chemistry building "Baskerville Hall."

The regular order of business was suspended in order that Professor William Prager might address the members of the society concerning the proposed "Baskerville Prize Fund." The purpose of this fund, for the time being at least, will be to present a suitable prize, probably a medal, to the most deserving graduate at the Commencement exercises in June. It is yet to be decided, however, whether the prize will be awarded to students of Technology or to graduates of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

A quota of $500 has been set for the fund to be raised before Commencement. This will be apportioned among the alumni, the undergraduates of both the day and evening sessions, and the Faculty. Although the members of the Evening Session Chemical Society have just started their campaign they have already collected eighty-five dollars in cash and pledges, and this sum only from evening session students in the chemical building who are taking the advanced chemistry courses. At least fifty dollars more is expected from the Chem 1 and 2 students, who have not yet been approached.

The Day Session Campaign will be started by the Baskerville Society the latter part of this week.

Meanwhile, however, the eyes of the members are turned towards the ultimate aim—a "Baskerville Memorial Scholarship Fund." For the express purpose of discussing the possibilities of having a Memorial Scholarship of this kind the society has planned a Baskerville Memorial Dinner, to be given at the City College Club, 46 East 50th Street, on Friday evening, March 31. One hundred and twenty-five prominent Alumni will be invited. The committee which has been appointed to attend to all the details of the affair, consists of George Schults, chairman; Samuel I. Gertler, J. Theodore Acker and Aaron Sussman. Invitations will be printed and mailed some time this week. The expenses for the affair will be covered by the Faculty of the Chemistry Department. Professor Prager and Mr. Walter H. Pearce have both volunteered to aid the society in this enterprise.

Before the meeting adjourned a resolution was passed petitioning President Mezes to name the chemical building, "Baskerville Hall." The resolution will be found printed in another section of this issue. Copies of the petition will also be circulated by members of the Baskerville Chemistry Society during the entire week.

'23 ELECTIONS DELAYED

The elections for officers of the Class of 1923 will not take place, it is announced, until after the Student Council elections.

PROF. COHEN DISCUSSES "CHARITY AND JUSTICE"

Unique Method of Address Introduced—Speaker States His Opinion, Then Answers Questions

"Palliatives are better than remedies," said Professor Cohen in opening his talk to the Social Problems Club at 1 o'clock last Friday. This was the thesis which he maintained against the objections of practically everyone in his large audience. The hearers' queries and differences of opinion were fully brought to light by the new type of address which the Professor introduced. After stating his striking, thought-compelling proposition he waited for objections, and answered them as they came up.

Replying at length to the first questions, Professor Cohen explained that there were certain evils which he considered irremediable. Such were death, war and especially ignorance—"for," he said, "we could solve all our problems if we only knew how." War was another plague which the lecturer deemed inevitable as long as two men were willing to fight over something which they both want. "Now you may be able to prohibit poison gas, and secure the abandonment of artillery—especially if these weapons prove ineffectual—but the psychological cause for warfare is ineradicable."

The same reasoning, said Professor Cohen, applies to economics. Poverty is as much a state of the mind as of nature, originates in the inescapable inequality between different men. Only a revolution can change conditions, and if this be violent there is no betterment in the quality of the men on top. It is better, therefore, to help individual cases of poverty than to waste time in seeking a panacea.

In reply to another question, Professor Cohen elaborated his ideas on nationality. He explained that the existence of nations is justifiable as it is a means to an end, but cannot claim to be the final goal in itself. While it helps, therefore, to have these racial, lingual units, it is more important to have an international spirit and brotherhood. The conception of one world nation, however, said the lecturer, is a contradiction in terms, for there can be nothing exclusive about a world fraternity.

Concluding, Dr. Cohen showed concretely how palliative charity is superior to strict justice, although the latter plays an important part in even an ideal system. "In Corsica or Kentucky," said he, "where the rule of conduct is 'an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth,' it would be strict justice for the relative of a murdered man to avenge the crime by vendetta. But how foolish and ineffectual that is! By far the highest standard of conduct is the one who would realize the futility of revenge, and try to offset the bad effects of the crime. That's Charity!"

STUDENTS TO LECTURE ON "BIRD MIGRATIONS"

The Bio Club will listen to an interesting lecture on "Bird Migrations" by Bernard Fread, a student, this Thursday at 1 P. M. The talk will be illustrated with lantern slides, obtained from the Museum of Natural History. The meeting will be held in room 319. Fread has never taken biology courses in the College, but has made a remarkable study of birds.

COLLEGE IS QUIET BEFORE ELECTIONS

Expect Liveliness in Concourse This Week at Forums

BALLOTS WILL BE CAST THURSDAY FROM 10 TO 3

All "U" Members Except Freshmen May Vote—First Popular Election of Council

The stringent rules of the Election Committee have made the campaign of candidates for Student Council offices very quiet affairs. During the past week there have been no demonstrations of the kind that are usually associated with college politics. The supporters of candidates have upheld their opinions in discussions in the alcoves, but have had very small audiences. This week, however, it is expected that the concourse will be in daily upheaval at the organized forums at which the candidates will speak.

The elections will be held this Thursday in the concourse near the Lost and Found Room. The polls will open at 10 a. m. and will close at 3 p. m. A majority vote is necessary for the election of a candidate. Second ballots, if necessary, will be held at time to be set by the Election Committee.

All "U" members, except '26 men, are entitled to vote. This is in accord with the Constitution of the Union, which says, "All 'U' members except those of the incoming class shall be eligible to vote."

This is the first time in the history of the Student Council that its officers are elected by popular vote. Up to this term they were elected by the Student Councilors out of their own numbers. The new method was installed in the Constitution of the "U" last term after the students in a referendum indicated their approval of it. A small proportion of the "U" members voted at this referendum.

Today at the lunch hours Dickstein, Fass and Michaels will speak in the 23 alcove on their claims to the vice-presidency.

Tomorrow the candidates for the secretaryship (Flamm, Greenberg, and Whyman) will speak in the '24 alcove.

The statements of all the candidates appear elsewhere in this paper.

BAND TO ACCOMPANY MEN ON DRILL FIELD

Captain Winfield, who has charge of the organization of the band, announces that thirty to forty men are coming out to the practice, which is held twice a week in the Fire House Armory.

Notwithstanding the vast expenditure of energy and wind which is going into the organization, Captain Winfield holds out no hope that the band will be available for use in less than three or four months. He expects, however, to have a corps of buglers to sound the regular drill calls and possibly a drum corps of ten or fifteen men to play marches.

COLLEGE ASKS FOR BASKERVILLE HALL

Former Chemistry Building May Be Named for Late Professor

DEAN ENTHUSIASTIC OVER PROPOSAL

Students to Draw Up and Submit Petition to President Mezes

The movement to name the Chemistry Building "Baskerville Hall" in honor of the late Professor of Chemistry is gaining ground rapidly.

The subject was broached again at the Memorial Chapel last Thursday when Lionel Cinnamon, President of the Baskerville Chemistry Society, spoke of the humane qualities in the character of Dr. Baskerville. The address received a hearty response from both the Faculty and the Student Body.

Immediately after chapel a representative of The Campus tried to interview the President concerning his stand on the matter and was told that the President would issue a statement, presumably favorable, if a petition from the Student Body were submitted. This information was immediately transmitted to the Chemical Society which was having a meeting at the time. As a result the Society at once drew up and adopted the following resolution:

"In consideration of the important part played by Dr. Charles Baskerville in the upbuilding of the present Chemistry Department; in the proud realization of his efforts to make our Chemistry Building one of the finest existing; and in the humble appreciation of all he did for his fellow creatures as a humane scientist, we, the undersigned, feel it a matter of duty to the College that a fitting memorial be here set up in his honor.

"Therefore, we respectfully petition the President of the College to name the Chemistry Building 'Baskerville Hall.'"

As far as it has been able to determine, the Faculty seems to be in accord with the movement. Dean Brownson, in a recent interview, expressed himself as very much in favor of the proposed change. Several other members of the Faculty also favored a memorial in this form.

At chapel last Thursday, President Mezes gratified the enthusiasm of all the friends and pupils of the beloved Chemistry Professor when he announced definitely that some sort of memento would be placed in the building of the College, of which Professor Baskerville was one of the creators, so that the name and achievement of the man may be remembered by posterity.

The President of the Baskerville Chemistry Society as the next speaker set the keynote of the day when he suggested, "What more appropriate, then, than to name the building which he created 'Baskerville Hall?'"

CAMERA ENTHUSIASTS

A reorganization meeting of the Camera Club will be held Wednesday at 1 in Room 112. Officers for the new term will be elected and new members will be admitted. Plans will be formulated for the semi-annual exhibition.

LIBRARY FUND NEARS ATTAINMENT OF GOAL

Augmented by Generous Contributions—Report Emphasizes Necessity for New Buildings

Of the $250,000 which must be gathered before work on the new Library Building can be set in motion, only $112,000 has been accumulated to date, according to a recent report from Professor Compton. At a dinner at the Hotel Astor last month, at which President Mezes and Professors Compton and Holton represented the College, $25,000 was contributed by alumni and other friends of the college. (This dinner was tendered by Mr. Arthur M. Lamport, who himself gave $4,000.) Since this dinner considerable gifts have come from Dr. Robert Abbe, who has given $2,000, and from Col. M. Friedsam, president of Altman & Co., who donated $5,000. Nevertheless, despite such substantial aid from distinguished well-wishers, it is still impossible to begin work on the projected edifice.

Most of the sum contributed has come from our alumni. A number of men who are interested in College have also given.

A report recently issued by the Library brings out markedly the need for a new building. The report states: In 1917 only 9,170 books were issued in the circulation department; in 1921 the number grew to 41,303. The facilities are, however, the same. The Library has twice as many books as it can stock. In the use of the reference room grave difficulties are encountered, for 400 students desire to use a space designed for 150.

Contributions are constantly coming in and it is expected that the quota will very soon be reached.

Y. M. C. A. EXCURSIONS DATE ALREADY SET

Applications for State Rooms Must Be Made Next Tuesday—Will Be Held on May 20

The Excursion Committee of the Y. M. C. A. has been appointed and is making plans for the annual Spring cruise up the Hudson, which has always been so popular with the student body in the past. The "Robert Fulton," of the Hudson River Day Line fleet, has already been chartered and the date has been set for May 20.

The eight staterooms for rent on the steamer will be allotted to college organizations according to the following plan: Next Tuesday, (March 21), at 1 p. m., all clubs desiring staterooms must submit their applications to William Kunz, chairman of the Excursion Committee, in the "Y" alcove. The $10 fee covering the cost of the room must be handed in at the same time with a guarantee that the organization will dispose of at least fifty tickets for the excursion before May 5.

FROSH CLASS COUNCIL SELECTS COMMITTEES

The Freshman Class Council at a meeting last week selected the following committees: Dance Committee—William Jaffee, chairman; Silberman, Citron, Cardell, Lowenfish and Schiff; Dinner Committee—Louis Cottin, chairman; Safferson, Schiller, Meyer, Grauer, Edson; Alcove Committee—Barasch, chairman; Lifschitz, Hess, Schenfeld; Publicity Committee—Julius Cohen, chairman; Kahn, Angas and Rosenthal.

WRESTLING TEAM TROUNCES PRATT

Varsity Grapplers Close Season With 18 to 8 Victory Over Brooklynites

CAPTAIN SILVER WINS TWO EASY VICTORIES

Lavender Matmen Gain Three Falls and Decision While Engineers Score One Fall and Decision

The Varsity wrestlers ended their season successfully last Friday night when they trounced the representatives of Pratt Institute by a score of 18 to 8 in the college gymnasium, thereby revenging themselves for a previous defeat at the hands of the Brooklyn engineers in an unfinished match. The feature of the meet was the double victory of Captain "Moe" Silver, who won an easy victory in the initial and final bouts of the evening, gaining the referee's decision in the 145-pound bout and downing his man in the 175-pound event. "Julie" Bialostosky won an easy victory in the quick time of 3:50 in the 125-pound class, while "Milty" Greenberg took just five minutes to get a half nelson and body hold on his opponent.

The first bout of the evening was in the 145-pound class where Captain Silver, for the Lavender, was pitted against Morris of Pratt. Silver brought his man to the mat almost immediately and stayed on top throughout, though his opponent's strength kept him from gaining a fall. He received the referee's decision on a time advantage of 8:25.

The next event, 115 pounds, brought Greenberg up against Krell of Pratt. After five minutes of severe wrestling Krell was downed by "Milt" with a half nelson and body hold.

In the next bout, that of the 135-pound class, "Red" Ferber exchanged holds with Mikity of Pratt. Neither man could be brought to the mat in the allotted nine minutes, so two extra periods of three minutes each were added. Mikity had the advantage here and remaining on top for five minutes and thirty-five seconds was awarded the referee's decision.

The 125-pound class found "Julie" Bialostosky more than a match for Macbeth of Pratt.

Hoebish of Pratt in the 158-pound class proved too much for Helfond, whom he pinned with a half nelson and body hold just twenty seconds before the bout would have been up.

The final match of the evening brought Silver, the Lavender ace, in contact with Kratz, the 175-pounder from Pratt. With a bar and half nelson "Moe" forced his opponents shoulders to the mat after seven minutes and thirty seconds. At one time during the bout Kratz surprised Silver by tossing him over his shoulder, but with lightning speed the Varsity leader regained his former position and from then on was in no danger.

The summaries:
115-pound class—Greenberg, C. C. N. Y., threw Krell, Pratt, with a half nelson and body hold. Time—5 min.
125-pound class—Bialostosky, C. C. N. Y., threw Macbeth, Pratt, with half nelson and crotch. Time—3:50.
135-pound class—Mikity, Pratt, gained a referee's decision over Ferber in the two extra periods allotted. Time advantage—5:35.
145-pound class—Silver, C. C. N. Y., gained the referee's decision over Morris. Time advantage—8:25.
158-pound class—Hoebish, Pratt, threw Helfond, C. C. N. Y., with a half and body hold. Time—3:40.
175-pound class—Silver, C. C. N. Y., threw Kratz, with a bar and half nelson. Time—7:30.
Referee—Mr. Lahey, East Side Y. M. C. A. Final score—C. C. N. Y., 18; Pratt, 8.

IN MEMORIAM

The music that came forth from the organ of Professor Baldwin last Thursday after the speeches were done, said to us again that Charles Baskerville is not gone. The light and airy refrain that came in between the solemn tones told us with optimistic notes that he still hovers about in his works and in the lives of the men he taught.

It seems to us that there was something undefined and inconceivable about Dr. Baskerville that especially makes all who knew him remember him with such reverence. We ponder—but cannot discover whether it came from personality or was perhaps distinct from it. It is enough that he is so venerated.

It is a beautiful tribute to the memory of Dr. Baskerville that the name of the Chemistry Building is to be changed to Baskerville Hall by the suggestion of the students themselves. This suggestion is being made formal by a petition to the President, a copy of which appears in this paper. President Mezes is evidently in favor of making the change for he, himself, asked that the request for it be made in this way. We ask you to carefully read the petition, and, when you sign it to put in the hands of The Campus representative in the Concourse or to bring it to room 411.

THE COUNCIL ELECTIONS

The culmination of the present political activity in the College will come this Thursday, when the election for Student Council officers will be held. Regardless of one's belief on the desirability and efficacy of popular election, it must be conceded that there is a necessity for the best possible choice of men. The importance of the Student Council is easily exaggerated, but it is not going too far to state that this opportunity to elect Student Council officers is the best chance the students of the College have to exercise control over student affairs, both academic and extra-curricular.

The Campus has no axe to grind. It feels it is the duty, as well as the privilege, of every man to vote, and to vote wisely according to his standards, whatever they may be. A larger vote will probably mean not only a wiser choice, but a keener sense of responsibility on the part of the men elected. Students of the College—wield your ballots!

Gargoyle Gargles

SH-H-H! ARE YOU A SHIFTER?

The Mystic and Ancient Order of Shifters is spreading rapidly, it seems, becoming mystic and ancient as it goes. One encounters shifters in all kinds of unexpected places and at all hours of the day and night.

Our recent graduates, now teaching in public schools, report 100 per cent. shifter membership in all primary grades. Department stores advertise Shifters hats "for Mademoiselle" and for her little sister. Baby show directors refuse to enter any but shifters for competition. The Gold Dust Twins, Campbell's Soup Kids and Mellin's Food Baby are high supreme kings in the organization.

Shifter insignia is everywhere—on go-carts, kiddie cars, diapers, etc. The shifter password is on the tongue of everybody who is anybody.

Are you a shifter?

A new motto for our swimming team: "World's records are broken whenever we swim."

A CORRECTION, AN EXPLANATION AND A CURSE

Through a crazy typographical error caused, no doubt, by a violent attack of lunacy upon the guilty person, "Evelyn" was substituted for "eleven" in Friday's column, the phrase "eleven more for us" being made to read "Evelyn more for us."

To Evelyn T, we send the above explanation and hope for the best.

To the printer, linotypst, proofreader, or whoever was responsible, we send our heartiest curses, and hope for the worst.

A copy of the "Mercury" has just reached our hands, but lack of space forces us to postpone our customary sympathetic and helpful review until Friday.

The Syracuse "Orange Peel," recently suppressed by the Faculty for the usual reasons, claims, in a protest, "to be no worse than the national humorous magazines in the caliber of the jokes printed."

"The Peel" is too modest. The suppressed copy is much better than "the national humorous magazines in the caliber of the jokes printed"—so much better, in fact that the stern guardians of undergraduate morals could not act too quickly.

THE WONDERS OF RADIO

The following questions and answers appeared in a recent number of the Radio Globe:

Q. Will I get good results with a bed spring aerial and a B. V. D. detector?

A. Either of the two instruments can be used alone, but not together to any advantage. All back copies of the Globe are 3 cents each.

Q. I cannot hear K D K A, or W J Z. What is the matter?

A. The primary of your honeycomb coil set should be in the middle, and the secondary and or on either side. The federal ratio is 1 to 3. No hook-ups can be published in this column owing to lack of space.

Q. Kindly tell me which is best—a loose coupler, a 32-tapped tuning coil, or a set of honeycomb coils? My set consists of a vario-coupler, a variable condenser and the tube equipment.

A. No.

Letters from aspirants to the dizzy heights of student council offices will be found elsewhere on this page. Cut each letter out carefully and paste on mirror at home.

Read each letter tomorrow morning while shaving. Then stop swearing, patch up face, break glass and go to school.

Repeat process daily until election and then vote accordingly.

—AIMELLE.

STATEMENTS FROM THE CANDIDATES

[Editor's Note: The Campus is not responsible for the following statements made by the Student Council nominees.]

FOR PRESIDENT

WILLIAM J. AVRUTIS

As a candidate for the office of President of the Student Council, I wish to promise that only, which I know positively I can fulfill. Under this condition I cannot make many promises.

In the event of my election to office, I will strongly oppose all politics; I will treat all student activities with absolute fairness; I will use my influence as President of the Student Council to help all activities toward the success of their legitimate aims; I will seriously consider all suggestions that my fellow students may have to offer, and will do my best to carry out suggestions that I think practicable. In all matters I will insist upon honesty and a square deal.

PAUL FAGIN

"Hardest worker and most likely to succeed" declared the '22 class. And who can judge me better than my own class?

Have I had enough experience?—During my two years in the Council I served on all important committees; I was elected secretary and then president of the Council. Have I ability? The faculty secretary of the Co-op. Store Committee wrote to me "we need more men like yourself." Have I personality? I have won the respect of the faculty in my dealings with its committees. I persuaded the Dean to tell the incoming Freshmen to obey "Freshman Rules," which, incidentally, considerably helped the '25 class. Have my achievements been small when among a hundred and one other things. I made it possible for you to reap the benefits of a real Co-op Store which made less than 3 per cent profit, and when I have gained more power and prestige for the Council than it ever had before? Will you make it possible for me to release all this accumulated potential energy?

LOUIS A. WARSOFF

It is because I feel that office is not merely an honor sought by politicians, but an opportunity for service to Alma Mater, that I welcome this chance to make known to the student body my ability and my willingness to serve. I cite my record here, not that I ought to be elected because of it, but merely as an indication of what I could do with the wider opportunities that the presidency of the Student Council offers.

In my two years in the Student Council, I have performed my duties to the fullest extent of my ability, serving on practically every committee and establishing the unique record of not having been absent from a single meeting. As chairman of the Constitutional Committee I labored for six months, drawing up the present Constitution. I also served as chairman of the Debating Committee, which prepared the most extensive program of debates in the history of the college; as President of my class for its two most active terms, as advisor and honorary president of '25, as Secretary of the Discipline Committee and as Vice-President of the Soph Skull.

But these things are relatively unimportant—the presidency is a thing of the future, not of the past. In the limited space here, I can mention but few of the things I will do if elected. In the first place I will do my utmost to eliminate objectionable political methods such as those illustrated to some extent in this campaign, particularly at the convention; will institute a vigorous "U" campaign in place of the present apathetic one; will endeavor to improve lunch room conditions and will make the Student Council the Students' Council.

TO ELECT OFFICERS OF SPECIAL CLASS

On Thursday, March 16, at 12 o'clock there will be a meeting of the Special Class in the Y. M. C. A. alcove for the purpose of electing the officers for the present term.

Since the organization of the class last year a lot has been done by the class in the line of benefiting all special students. In order to increase the good work started; all

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

SOLOMON DICKSTEIN

If the officers of a supreme organization should serve to bring about harmony among the organizations that are under its guidance, then I believe that I am happily qualified for the vice-presidency of the Student Council.

I have had the good fortune to serve in executive capacities in every branch of student activity, and have helped to solve their problems for three years. I have come in intimate contact with the publications as Art Editor of "Mercury" and "Microcosm", with the club organizations as President of the Club Council, with athletics as Manager of the Freshman Tennis Team.

MOE FASS

Having been nominated for vice-president of the Student Council, it seems proper for me to inform those who do not know me well what I have done. As chairman of the 23 Junior Hop Committee, that dance was the most elaborate and successful ever run at the College. I have been treasurer and student councillor of February '23 one year each. I have served on every important committee of the '23 class and served well. Ask any '23 man. I have served faithfully on the Student's Mail, Lost and Found, "U" and A. A. publicity committees. Elect a worker, not a politician.

ISIDORE MICHAELS

Student Councilor for one year; Secretary of Student Council; Secretary of "U" Committee; Vice-president of Class of 1923; Chairman of Junior Festival Week. Knowledge of Student Council work, experience in the workings of committees—the main requirements of a candidate for Vice-president.

Upon these qualifications I ask the support of the student body.

FOR SECRETARY

JULIUS J. FLAMM

I promise to fulfill my duties as Secretary of the Student Council as faithfully, as honestly, and as earnestly as I have performed in all various activities of my college career. Some of my activities are: Student Affairs Committee, Fresh Soph Committee, Union Committee, Class Treasurer, Class Vice-President Peace Banquet Committee 1923-24, Junior Hop Committee, Chairman of Junior Prom, Chairman of Student Council Football Smoker, Publicity Manager of 1922 Microcosm, Junior Assistant in Swimming, one year, Secretary A. A. Insignia Committee, Soph Skull.

MILTON GREENBERG

It is needless for me to enumerate at length my qualifications for the position of Secretary of the Student Council. The student body knows what I have done and hence knows what I can do. Why should I elaborate any further? I am no politician, but direct and to the point. Fellow-students, vote for the man you think best.

ALEX J. WHYMAN

My activities for the past two years I believe well qualify me for the important position of Secretary of the Student Council. I have served on the Student Council for one year, and while a member of that body elected to the Co-Op Committee. My positions on the College publications have been that of Advertising Manager of The Campus, and Business Manager of the Lavender Book. I have also been assistant Manager of the Varsity Track Team, besides serving on various class committees.

If elected I will strive to work as earnestly as I have in the past and try to serve the student body to the best of my ability.

special students should make it a point to be present at the next meeting which will be held during the assembly hour.

WILL CHOOSE VARSITY DEBATING TEAM TODAY

The Varsity Debating Team that is to meet West Virginia University next Wednesday evening will be chosen this afternoon at the final trial debates in room 222.

COLLEGIATE CHATTER

Rutgers

Absence from public speaking classes at Rutgers College will be financially unwise hereafter. A new faculty ruling states that fines will be exacted from those who absent themselves from such classes in the future. The fines will range from one dollar for the first offense to indefinite suspension for continued cutting.

A debate of a very unique type has been arranged between the debating teams of New York University and Rutgers. Thirty-six hours before the time set for the debate, each team is to be notified of the subjects to be discussed and which side it shall represent. A month later the same topic will be debated but each team will then take the opposite side of the question.

Student Relief

The New Yorker of New York University came to us today with this interesting message:

New York is soon to have the opportunity of seeing just how much talent is hidden away in the Colleges of this great city. All of the institutions of learning, including Barnard, Adelphi, Hunter, Women's and Teachers' Colleges, N. Y. U., Columbia and C. C. N. Y. are getting together for the purpose of putting on an unusual performance for the benefit of the European Student Relief.

While the program is not complete, it is probable that the musical part will be supplied by the Instrumental Club of N. Y. U., the Glee Club of Columbia, and a stringed orchestra from Hunter. The other part of the program will consist of playlets, specialty acts, and other acts which, like the sex which takes part in them, will remain a mystery until the last moment.

The date of the affair will be announced later.

Boston University

A novel plan for teaching science to young children will be tried at Boston University next semester. A Tiny Toy Town with toy canals, bridges, street railways, water system, electric lights and fire system will be used to demonstrate to little "tots" the principles of science as illustrated in this model town.

N. Y. U.

New York University is the proud possessor of a gift of $500,000 which was recently donated to it by the General Education Board. The gift was made without any hindering conditions and may be used in any way the University authorities think best.

Swarthmore

Declaring that hazing was an "un-sportsmanlike" practice and that it interfered with the principles of fair play, the President of Swarthmore College recently appealed to the sense of justice of the Student Government System in vogue there and the result was that Students' Association resolved to abolish the ungentlemanly practice.

College Bedtime

Two thousand of the 7,000 students at the University of Wisconsin go to bed at 10:30 p. m.; 200 at 11 o'clock; 400 at 12 o'clock, and most of the remaining 4,400 at 1 a. m., was the information divulged by a special quiz held at that university recently.

The Prof. Vs. The Bluffer

A new type of exam recently instituted at Columbia University has been mercilessly, mentally slaughtering the old bugaboo of the College Prof—the bluffer. Having been deprived of his bane, the essay type of examination, the shiftless gentleman can no longer splutter page after page, all the time evading the question. Now it is definitely YES or NO! Furthermore, the bluffer must confine his overblubbing tendency to "discuss the question" by using old checks or crosses.

A Flapper Tale

"Wanted—Co-ed senior ball by handsome, bashful boy. Call Asher, James 2435." This was an ad that appeared the other day in the Syracuse Daily Orange. Asher got results all right. He is a Junior in the Syracuse Engineering College. Being red-haired with blue eyes and a tendency to blush, Asher doped it out that he would have some job getting up courage enough to ask a co-ed to go to the ball with him. His fraternity brothers knew this. Hence the ad.

It worked and Asher was kept busy all day blushing into the 'phone to unseen fair damsels.

TO FRESHMEN—AND OTHERS

It is customary for a Sport Sparker, at this time of the year, to scintillate a little to Freshmen on the subject of taking part in athletics. But it's rather a dumb idea to tell men who are supposed to be part of the intellectual crème de la crème that it's necessary for them to develop their bodies, and that no better way of combining recreation and exercise, and at the same showing loyalty to Alma Mater, can be found than participation in some athletic activity.

But the fact remains that only a small number of men are coming out for the various teams, and that those men are of that particular group that goes out for every sport. Take the case of track for example. Now, everyone can run, and with practice anyone can develop into a fairly decent runner. There is no better way of keeping in trim. In a college of this size, there ought to be several hundred men out for the team. The coach is there, the facilities are there, but the men . . . The same with baseball and tennis. A man doesn't have to be good enough to make the team at once to come out. Everyone who can swing a bat or wild a racquet ought—but this isn't going to be a lecture. We leave it up to you.

ANOTHER TITLE FOR THE LAVENDER

Final figures are not yet available, but as far as we have observed "Lou" Fahrer's total of 187 points in fourteen games, an average of 13.4 points, makes him high scorer in the Eastern intercollegiate basketball world, and the formal claim of that honor for him is hereby made.

ANENT WRESTLING

Winning two matches out of six isn't ordinarily considered a brilliant record, but the wrestling team can be proud of it. Coach Cantor's men have, by their work this season, put on sport on a firm footing at the College. They will start next season with confidence and experience. The whole team, aside from Captain Silver and Helfand will be left intact, and there is a host of good material coming up from the '25 class. Dope handed out a year in advance is seldom worth much, but we're willing to wager that if you just keep your eye on next year's Lavender grappling squad, you'll see something worth seeing.

Talking about wrestling, we ought to mention here that the College's sole entry in the Metropolitan A. A. U. champs is "Milty" Greenberg. While it's not likely that he will capture the title, the way he flattened the dangerous-looking 115 lb. entry from Brooklyn, shows that he'll do the College credit.

We quote above the general expression of opinion in the College on Princeton's defeat by Cornell last Saturday, and Penn's one-point victory over Dartmouth. Stronger Tiger rooters than at C. C. N. Y. since last January 10, have never been seen, and this blow, which practically puts old Nassau out of the running in the Intercollegiate League is felt here nearly as much as at Princeton. Still, Penn's refusal to play our team for the Eastern championship, in the event that they capture the League title, gives us the normal victory. It only G. B. S. awarded the championship!

OUR PLATFORM ATHLETES

"You consider chess as coming under the Sporting Department," writes L. W., "why not debating? It's just as much of a sport."

Well, we do. Here goes:
The Varsity Debating Team which will jaw up the West Virginia University chin-musicians on March 22, stands out as one of the most remarkable aggregation of hot-air contestants that ever decorated the Great Hall. The first squad of six, out which the combination to meet the Mountaineers will be selected, is light, averaging around 155 lbs., but it is about the speediest collection of word-manglers in the country. Several of the men have done one hundred words in ten seconds flat, and all of them have endurance as well as speed. The Mountaineers are reputed to be husky, but our lads ought to pin 'em to the Bible stand with a head lock and half Demosthenes in no time at all, or less.

TENNIS TEAM STARTS PRACTICE THIS WEEK

A squad of over thirty players, including two veterans of last year's team, Captain "Bob" Fuertes and Epstein, has reported for tennis. Practice will be held regularly beginning this week. More candidates are wanted, however, especially for the freshman team, which is to be organized this year for the first time. Men coming out for the varsity should report to Manager Nadelman, and those out for the yearling team to Assistant Manager Dickstein.

1925 PLANS TO HOLD SOPHOMORE CARNIVAL

A Sophomore Carnival that will entertain not only the Soph Class, but also the entire College, was the subject of the meeting of the 1925 Class Council held Thursday afternoon. Herman McCarty, who is chairman of the Carnival Committee, outlined his plans. The carnival will take the form of a circus. Instead of parading the penitent freshmen all about the city in nondescript dress and undress, those who disobey rules will be gathered into the stadium and will be forced to offer some real entertainment.

VARSITY HANDBALL TEAM WINS AGAIN

Take Sixth Match of Season by Score of 8-0 Against Federal Reserve Bank

COLLEGE WALL ARTISTS LOSE ONLY TWO SETS

Milgram, Mins and Sweetlow Win in Singles—All Doubles Go to Lavender, too

The handball team added another match to its string of victories last Saturday when it travelled down to the Federal Reserve Bank to win an 8-0 victory over the bankers. There were three single matches and five doubles played, and in every case the Lavender representatives triumphed. In six of the matches the College wall-artists won in straight sets. This is the sixth victory in eight starts for the team.

Captain Milgram started proceedings when he faced Weber, the star of the home team. The Lavender player took the first set fairly easily, 21-23, but was nosed out in the second one. He soon braced, however, and captured the third set and match. Each of the other singles resulted in an easy win for the varsity, Mins beating Meier, 21-10, 21-8, while Sweetlow, diminutive Lavender star, nearly shut out his opponent in the first set which he won, 21-2, but eased up afterward, taking the second set, 21-15.

Mins and Osterman, pitted against Meier and Strom, took the first doubles match without having to work up any steam, 21-10 being the tally in each set. The same team, pitted against Cashman and Titlo later in the meet, came through with a 21-15, 21-10 victory.

Lato and Barkan, representing the College against Joyce and Rink, did not have so easy a time, however. They dropped the first set by a margin of three points, but took the next two with points to spare.

The most interesting match of the day came when the star Lavender combination, Milgram and Sweetlow, took on Weber and Meyer of the Bank team. By a fine display of footwork and headwork, the collegians triumphed in two hotly contested sets, 21-18 and 21-15. The same aggregation also took the match with Cashman and Titlo by a fair margin.

The summaries:
Singles—Captain Milgram, C. C. N. Y., defeated Weber, F. R. B., 21-13, 18-21, 21-12; Mins, C. C. N. Y., defeated Meier, F. R. B., 21-10, 21-8; Sweetlow, C. C. N. Y., defeated Joyce, F. R. B., 21-2, 21-15
Doubles—Mins and Osterman, C. C. N. Y., defeated Meier and Strom, F. R. B., 21-10, 21-10; Milgram and

TRACK SQUAD STARTS DAILY GRIND IN GYM

Fair Number Turn Out But More Men Are Needed, Especially in Sprints and Middle Distances

A fairly large sized and promising squad of cinder-pathers is daily pounding the planks in the gym, under the supervision of Coach MacKenzie. Indoor practise is held at 5 o'clock every day, until the ground thaws out, when the entire squad will transfer to the Stadium. The squad is plentifully supplied with veteran long-distance runners, but there is a woeful lack of sprinters, hurdlers, middle-distance and field men. Both experienced men and novices will be welcomed by "Mac".

In the 100 and 220-yard dashes, the graduation of Captain George Bisgier has left a big hole, "Dave" Factor being the only man left. Captain Harry Rosenwasser and "Bugs" Bayer will again run the middle-distances. More men are needed, however, both for the 440 and 880 as well as the mile relay.

In the mile and two-mile events there is much promising material. All the long-distance men are of proven calibre. Jack Patent, new X-country captain; "Sam" Rosen, "Bobby" Bernhardt and "Cy" Reisman being available.

The leading candidates for the high jump are Willie Murphy, "Red" Spigel, Leo Wolff, Payne, Lieberman and "Irv" Ashworth, of swimming fame. None of these can clear the bar at much over five feet, so there is a good chance for a real jumper.

Rosenwasser and Factor, athletes of versatility, will do the broad-jumping again.

George Shapiro and "Irv" Segal are probable entries in the shot-put. The remaining events are practically open, for only one other veteran remains. Miltinovich will again take the hurdles, but at least two more timber-toppers can be used.

Sweetlow, C. C. N. Y., defeated Cashman and Titlo, F. R. B., 21-18, 21-5; Lato and Barkan, C. C. N. Y., defeated Joyce and Rink, F. R. B., 18-21, 21-16, 21-8; Milgram and Sweetlow, C. C. N. Y., defeated Weber and Meyer, F. R. B., 21-18, 21-15; Mins and Osterman, C. C. N. Y., defeated Cashman and Titlo, F. R. B., 21-15, 21-10.
Final score—C. C. N. Y., 8; F. R. B., 0.

"LAVENDER, MY LAVENDER!"

Tubby Raskin smiled with a vengeance when he looked at the men. He was evidently hungry. On all sides of him were seated men famous for their basketball activities at the College. A tone of savage hunger pervaded the atmosphere.

"The guests are met, Mays' hear the merry din. Coleridge never dreamt, when he wrote these words, that he was writing a description of the banquet. But this is exactly what he did. The guests were met, the feast was set, and the din was the result of the Chicken Soup a la Raskin. It certainly was a pleasure to see and hear men eat soup in such harmony.

Course after course noisily disappeared and one by one the guests loosened their tightened belts. "Cafe Fahrre" came and disappeared. The feast was over.

Then came the after-dinner speeches and songs. George Cohen '09, who with "Artie" Taft '20 acted as the reception committee, served as chairman.

Standing out prominently among the alumni and students was Major Herrick, one of the weightiest supporters of the team.

"I am proud to say," said the Major as he stood towering far above the heads of those seated, "that I have faithfully attended every game this season—to which I received a pass." And as everybody laughed he added, "Mind you, I don't mean the kind of pass you're thinking about. You see, I'm a married man." The major spoke at length about the coming football season and his days at West Point. "I used to be about the size and build of Anderson," he said with a smile. Then turning to the lanky forward, "You see, Andy, you've got something to look forward to."

Then followed speeches by Nat Holman and members of the victorious team. Nat had just come direct from Fort Wayne, Ind., where he had played the night before with the Celtics. Unfortunately he had arrived late. Too late to partake of his own course. Great was his praise of the team. "I have never yet handled a group of men who worked together as well as this team," said Nat, adding that it was the spirit of the boys that carried them through such a successful season. He characterized the team as being composed of 75 per cent spirit and 25 per cent ability. Then turning to the players he addressed them individually.

Now it befell the youthful orators to show what benefits they had derived from the Public Speaking Department.

Bob Kelly, manager of the team, rose to his feet and blushed. Then he calmed himself and spoke. After him came Tubby Raskin, who had received a splendid introduction from the chairman, in which he was acclaimed as the best first baseman on any collegiate team. Tubby bashfully denied any claim to such honor and with a grin that nearly split his ears, he told of his pleasure while acting as captain.

"Red" Klauber through his natural gifts had become the shining light of this season's team, was the next to present his case. As captain-elect for the coming season he told of his hopes which, by the way, were very encouraging.

After a speech by "Cliff" Anderson, the chairman rose to introduce Lou Fahrre, who "as a running guard has been an excellent forward." In the course of his introduction he told how he had heard that Lou was going to leave the college. "Fahrre," he said, concluding the introduction, "We're not particularly interested in your career. Couldn't you stay at the college for the next season?"

"Lou" seemed to disagree with the chairman as to his career, but he added that, although he could not play on the five this fall, the team would more than make up in speed what they lost in weight.

And then the fun began. Edelstein, star of the N. Y. U. game, rose unsteadily to his feet, shifted his weight from one foot to the other, gazed around at the expectant crowd, and began in this singular fashion, "This is the first after-supper speech I ever made." It evidently was. Gradually, however, he regained his composure. In the course of his speech he pointed out that next to Nat he pointed up the morale of the team was little "Archie" Hahn of the second team, who would act as "funny man" while in the shower and dressing rooms.

Loud were the cries for a speech by the humorist. He arose. "Archie," his glistening hair parted neatly in the center, held the audience in suspense. Would he tell joke? Silence. "I am reminded of a little story—" That was enough. All started to laugh. In a minute pandemonium broke loose. Everyone was laughing. Nat Krinsky, leaning back in his chair, laughed so heartily that he toppled over and found himself in an embarrassing position, with his back on the floor and his feet in the air.

Other speeches of the evening were made by Nat Krinsky, who played on the team which "softened" N. Y. U. for this year; Projan, who was captain of the last team that beat N. Y. U.; "Artie" Taft, who managed the college five several years ago; Streusand '11, who played on the team that first put City College on the Collegiate Basketball Map. Jack Holman and "Mussy" Holman, brothers of Nat, added their voices to those who had already spoken. Other speakers were Bernard Naumberg '04 and Di Martino '09. The latter, a star of City College football, spoke of that sport and ended the evening by singing a song in Italian.

The banquet was the first affair of its kind to be given by the City College Club.

The songs sung by all between the speeches were written specially for the occasion by Arthur Harris '11. All were cleverly worded. The following is a noteworthy example:

VARSITY SHOW TO BE STAGED IN A HOTEL

Dancing to Follow is Plan—A Few Parts Still Open for Candidates

The Varsity Show this year may be held at one of the large hotels of the city, if the negotiations now being made are successful. It is planned to secure a hotel where, after the presentation of the four plays—"A Night at an Inn," by Lord Dunsany; "Wurzel Flummery," by A. A. Milne; "Spreading the News," by Lady Gregory, and "Bound East for Cardiff," by Eugene O'Neill—the audience will be able to indulge in a little dancing.

Last year, the Varsity Show was held at the Greenwich Village Theatre. The production was so successful that it was necessary to have two performances, one in the afternoon and one in the evening, in order to accommodate the large number of students desirous of seeing the plays. The growing popularity of the annual Varsity Show makes it necessary to secure a hotel or theater having a large capacity.

Although the response to the first call for candidates was not very encouraging, the large number of star actors who recently volunteered their services has given added impetus to the work. Rehearsals are being held regularly, and Dr. Tynan and Miss Jayson are devoting all their time to maintaining the high standard of previous performances of the Dramatic Society. They are fortunate in having several excellent actors of experience. Among these are Martin Kennedy, who had several important parts in other Varsity shows; Richard V. Driscoll, a very versatile actor and debater; Moe Minowitz, a remarkable comedian who has declined a motion picture contract in order to attend college; Edwin Bendheim, a former star of Townsend Harris, and Harold Fink, who has acted in the past the part of the good-natured, fat, dumb Englishman.

Many parts are still open, however, especially for "A Night at an Inn" and "Bound East for Cardiff." Candidates are urged to try for the vacant positions. "A Night at an Inn," coached by Miss Jayson, will be rehearsed on Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. in Room 214. A rehearsal of "Bound East for Cardiff," coached by Dr. Tynan, will be held tomorrow at 2:30 in the English Library.

Oh, Mr. Gallagher, Oh, Mr. Gallagher,
Did you hear about the team from Princeton Town?
Twenty-six to twenty-four,
On the long end of the score
Was the City College team of great renown.
Why Mr. Shean, Mr. Shean,
Oh, we sunk 'em lower than a submarine.
In the league on top they stand,
Twice they ate from our hand,
Positively, Mr. Gallagher, absolutely,
Mr. Shean.

Oh, Mr. Gallagher, Oh, Mr. Gallagher,
What's on your mind this evening,
Mr. Shean,
Everybody's feeling blue, up at N. Y. U.
All the papers say we stood them on their bean.
Why, Mr. Shean, Mr. Shean,
Against our boys, the Violet turned green;
They were in an awful boat,
We got their title and their goat,
Positively, Mr. Gallagher, absolutely,
Mr. Shean.

Oh, Mr. Gallagher, Oh, Mr. Gallagher,
Why is every one afraid of old New York,
Why did Yale refuse to play,
Why did Cornell stay away,
From the five that slows 'em all up to a walk?
Why, Mr. Shean, Mr. Shean,
Don't you know they dodge the City College team?
Army wouldn't take a chance,
Penn is shaking in her pants,
Positively, Mr. Gallagher, absolutely,
Mr. Shean.
