INDOOR TRACK TEAM WILL BE ORGANIZED

Team To Compete in A. A. U. Meets and in Indoor Intercollegiate

After a lapse of several years the Lavender will once more compete on the board track. For several years interest in intercollegiate indoor track athletics has been steadily growing.

At most of the A. A. U. indoor meets, special intercollegiate events have been scheduled, and to satisfy further demand for such competition an annual indoor intercollegiate championship meet has been provided.

It is the general sentiment of the coaches and managers that during the coming season C. C. N. Y. should be represented by an indoor track team.

"Mac" will meet all candidates for the track team and give his preliminary instructions, the latter part of this week. Notice of the meeting will be posted on the A. A. U. bulletin board in the Concourse.

Prospects for a mile relay team to compete in open A. A. U. and special intercollegiate competition are especially bright.

Among the men to try for this team are Frank Parisi, varsity track captain, "Red" Dickson, and last year's freshman captain "Pinkie" Sober. Collier, a star of the frosh team last year, has announced his intention of returning to college next term.

RICHTER CRITICIZES SUDERMAN'S WORKS

Deutsche Verein Hears Lecture on Great Novelist and Playwright

"Suderman, his life and works", was the subject of the talk given to the Deutsche Verein last Thursday by Dr. Richter of Townsend Harris Hall.

In his criticism of the works of Suderman, who is conceded to be one of the greatest German novelists and playwrights of modern times, Dr. Richter pointed out many defects.

The Verein has secured Herr H. Luft, German critic and philosopher, as a lecturer this coming Thursday, at 1 o'clock in Room 308.

At the present moment the club is rehearsing a one act play by Hans Sachs, called "The Traveling Scholar and the Devil." This is a crude 15th century folktale of superstition.

The place of the presentation has not yet been definitely decided upon but it probably will be the auditorium of the Liederkranz Society on Fifty-seventh street.

STUDENT SPEAKS TO ENGINEERING SOCIETY

At the meeting of the City College chapter of the A. S. C. E. held last Wednesday in Compton Hall, Mr. H. Milgram delivered an address on "The Hudson River Railroads."

The society is planning a smoker for Wednesday evening, November 28th in the Webb Room. Further details will be announced later.

PROF. J. DRACHSLER ADDRESSES MENORAH

Discusses the "Jewish Center Movement" in This Country—Outlines Underlying Theory

Speaking before the Menorah Society last Thursday in Room 126, Prof. Julius Drachsler of the Government Department, characterized the "Jewish Center Movement" as "a supplementary influence to humanize and civilize the Jew for the world."

There are, according to Prof. Drachsler, at least eight distinct types of these centers throughout the country. Each of these institutions has developed around a particular phase or a special interest in Jewish life.

"The Jew," said the lecturer, "must solve the problem of adapting himself to a new economic and cultural environment that differs radically from that of the Old World." Time has left the Jew rich in heritage of folklore and traditions deeply implanted in the history and development of century-old Europe.

"The Jewish center movements are not attempts at self-defense, as some say," concluded the professor, "they are not neurotic efforts to barricade the Jew against a supposedly Anti-Jewish world, as others would have us believe; but they are civilizing agencies working for the survival and continuity of the Jewish people in a new environment—America."

SEVEN ARTS CLUB TO HEAR GRANT OVERTON

Mr. Grant Overton will address the Seven Arts Club on Thursday, November 22, at one o'clock in Room 306.

His topic will be "The Community Book Shop Idea." Mr. Overton is connected with the Durant Publishing Co., and is the author of "The Arabian Nights' Entertainments."

PROF. PRAGER TALKS ON HISTORY OF DRUGS

Chem. Society Hears Comparison of Ancient and Modern Medical Methods

Professor William L. Prager of the Chemistry Department addressed a large gathering of the Bakerville Chemical Society on "Selective Drugs" last Thursday.

"In ancient times," stated the professor, "people regarded various ills as spirits or demons. It was the custom for the doctor of antiquity to give the patient certain drugs to soothe or frighten away these spirits."

An interesting sidelight on the origin of quinine was presented by the speaker. The Indians of South America were using certain bark to cure malaria. This was brought to Europe by the wife of Cinchon, the Spanish viceroy to Peru.

The professor continued with the tale of the diligent search for the formula of this compound in order to prepare it chemically. After two hundred and four futile attempts to analyze the substance correctly, an enterprising German chemist discovered the formula and prepared the medicine, calling it "Bayers 205."

PROFESSOR HUNT IS RECOVERING RAPIDLY

Professor Schulman of the Art Department, expresses the hope that Professor Hunt, head of that department, will be back in college within the next few weeks.

Professor Hunt has been confined in bed since last summer with an infected knee. Complete recovery and rest is recommended for him before he returns to his duties.

WILL BAR MONOPOLY OF STUDENT OFFICES

Representatives of Leading Extra-Curricular Activities Are Working Out System

Designed to limit the number of extra-curricular activities in which any under-graduate may simultaneously engage, an amendment to the Student Council by-laws was suggested at the Friday council meeting by Charles Epstein, '25.

As explained by its proposers, the new plan will bear marked resemblance to the Point System now in operation at many leading colleges of the East.

The amendment aims to draw into extra-curricular activities a larger proportion of the student body, and to silence charges that student affairs are controlled by a small group of men who monopolize the higher positions.

PATENT ATTORNEY TO ADDRESS ENGINEERS

Clayton L. Jenks, patent attorney, and brother of Professor Jenks of the Chemistry Department, will address a combined gathering of the A. S. C. E. and A. S. M. E. this Thursday on patent law.

Students that intend studying civil or mechanical engineering are invited to participate in the activities of the respective engineering societies.
