COLLEGE BALL TEAM WILL PLAY RUTGERS TODAY IN STADIUM

Home Team Favored in Fifth Contest of Season

SCORE IN GAMES IS 2-2

Artie Moder Will Probably Take Mound for Varsity

The Lavender baseball team will participate in its fifth encounter of the current season when it crosses bats with Rutgers College this afternoon in the Stadium. Up to date the varsity has experienced an even break, having won two contests and dropped a like number.

The St. Nicholas aggregation will be a decided favorite when it takes to the diamond today. Although the New Brunswick visitors have a pitcher of no mean calibre in Wolf, their stick-work is of such a decided inferiority as to make their twirler's efforts unavailing. At the outset of the ball season, Rutgers was credited with quite a formidable representation, but the record of its recent performances seems to uncover an over-estimation of its actual rating. Its defeat at the hands of Manhattan was even duplicated by Seton Hall a short while after.

Moder Will Probably Pitch

It is quite likely that Coach Doc Parker will assign Artie Moder to the mound this afternoon when the visitors come to bat. Artie's recent exhibition of balltossing against Vermont University in which he turned in a well handled victory lends a new aspect to the ability of the College's twirling staff. At the outset of the season, it seemed that the burden of performing in almost every game would be the task of Josephson, but Artie's recent improvement has altered matters somewhat.

Josephson's heady playing and batting ability, however, makes him quite indispensable in the team's lineup, and it is altogether likely that the Doc will station him in the sun field. Gus Packer, who played so well last Saturday, is a prominent candidate for permanent possession of one of the garden positions, for which Coach Parker has thus far made no definite choice. The other fielder will probably be chosen from among Rensselaer, Donstein, and Starr.

Infield Doing Well

Although Reich's poor performance at the keystone bag last Saturday may be attributed to stage fright, it is not likely that the Doc will attempt so costly an experiment again today. Rossi will probably be back at his old position once more this afternoon. The remainder of the infield has been doing fairly well.

Monday and yesterday found the varsity taking sides against the scrub nine. The stress put upon team work by the Doc in his preliminary talk resulted in a decided improvement in the team's playing. The brand of balltossing offered a pleasant relief after last week's game. A continuation of this rebirth of aggressiveness will spell certain defeat for the New Brunswick lads this afternoon.

Granting fair weather it is expected that there will be a large turnout of the student body, since this is the first visit ever paid the Lavender institution by a Rutgers baseball nine.

Six Men Will Represent Lavender In Penn Relays to Start Friday

Prize Speaking Contest
Will Be Held Tomorrow

The Extemporaneous speaking trials on the general subject of "College Education in the United States," will be held in Room 222, tomorrow at 3 p. m. The specific sub-topic will be posted on the Public Speaking department Bulletin board near room 214 at 2 p. m.

Members of all classes are eligible to compete in the contest. Those who are picked to appear in the finals to come off in May will receive a second sub-topic on the question one hour before the contest will be held. The annual prize speaking contest is held under the auspices of the Public Speaking Department. Awards are given to the winners.

WRESTLING TOURNEY BEGINS TOMORROW

Final Winners in Various Weights to Be Awarded
Numerals

The inter-class wrestling tournament, which has several times been postponed, will finally open tomorrow afternoon at 12:15, in the gymnasium. This is the first time that a grappling tourney has been undertaken at the College, and the amount of interest shown in it practically insures the success of the venture.

A large number of entries has already been received, and judging by the many candidates that are present during the practice sessions the bouts should be keenly contested. However, few men from the '26 and '27 classes have signified their intentions of engaging in the tournament.

All entrants will be obliged to weigh in either today from 1:30 to 5:30 or just before the tournaments tomorrow at 12. The weighing in will take place in the Hygiene building, under the supervision of Bischof, Levin, Schlein and Shapiro, class managers. Today is the last day for handing in entries.

At the termination of the elimination exhibition bout will be staged between Morris Spitz, captain of the '23 wrestling team and captain-elect Irv Levin. Spitz was a runner-up in the Olympic tryouts, several years ago and won second place in the nationals. He is also noted in wrestling circles for his ability to apply the famous Bradshaw wrist locks and holds.

Levin should make things interesting with his riding scissors and double arm lock. Both men are 118 pounders and in all probability will meet this Friday in the semi-finals of the A.A.J. wrestling tournament. George Bischof, captain of the '25 wrestling aggregation and Dick Wolfe, husky captain of the '24 grapplers may also stage an exhibition bout.

The finals, which are to be contested on April 29, will give Coach Sam Canor, a general idea of the type of men who will compose next year's squad. From the winners and runners-up of the various classes three teams will be chosen, a varsity, a junior varsity and a freshman team.

These teams will go into spring training immediately after the tournament. (Continued on page 4)

Sober, Kushnick, Smith, Hoffman, Lowe and Levy Will Compete

Six men have been chosen to represent the College in the Penn Relays to be held this Friday and Saturday at Franklin Field, Philadelphia. They are Pincus Sober '26, captain of the varsity track team, John Levy '28, Elmer Lowe '28, Fred Kushnick '28, Harry Smith '28 and Cyrus Hoffman '28.

For the first time in the history of the College, men have been entered in an event other than the mile relay. The other events in which the men have been entered are the medley relay which gives to the winner the college championship of America and the 100-yard dash. The medley which will be run on Friday at 5:30 will consist of a 440-yard run, two 220's and a half-mile run.

The man who is to run first in this event has not been as yet chosen, but Coach McKenzie will choose among Levy, Lowe or Kushnick. Hoffman and Smith will run second and third respectively. Sober will act as anchor man in this event, running the distance in which he has won so much fame, the eight-eighty. The entries for the Lavender in the 100-yard dash are Smith and Hoffman.

Lowe, Levy, Kushnick and Sober are the entries in the mile relay. A victory in this event is considered very probable as the team is a very much stronger aggregation than the one which last came in second to the City College of Detroit. Temple, Rochester, City College of Detroit, Ursinus and Lombard are the opponents of the Lavender team.

The team this year is one of the strongest that has carried the Lavender, it has taken places in various meets, among them a first in the Manhattan College Games. Pinkie Sober, captain and anchor man of the aggregation has beaten some of the best half-milers in the country.

Will Walker Revoke our College Charter When Wild Women Invade Old Alma Mater

Lucky is the man who has saved his cuts, for Spring has come bringing in its wake its companion in romance—woman. As the Lord gave Adam his Eve so have the city authorities given City College its Teachers' Training School.

The last requisite for making C. C. N. Y. an ideal college has been fulfilled and in all probability the college authorities will have to raise the entrance requirements to 85, or else we will be swamped with candidates for admission.

Within a few weeks the Curriculum committee will begin preparing new courses for graduate work as a great increase in the number of post-graduates is expected.

Felix Cohen will desert his "Miss City College contest" and try his hand at the much broader field which has newly been installed. Jerry Hyman will add to his already overflowing list of female "acquaintances" and will probably have to invest in a new address book. In fact rumor has it that he was already looking over the stamping-ground for experimentation, in this entirely new species which has invaded the college sanctuary.

Will Scarlet will be swamped with contributions from romantically inclined students who can only vent their overflowing emotions in tender poetry.

LAVENDER TO MEET BOSTON DEBATERS

Finkel '26, Captain, Joseph '26, and Harry Mitchell '28 Will Go to Boston Sunday

The Varsity debating team will travel to Boston to meet the Boston College team in the second debate of the season, to be held on Sunday afternoon April 25. The team consisting of Maurice M. Finkel '26, captain, Richard S. Joseph '26, and Harry Mitchell '28 will leave Saturday night for the Hub.

They will uphold the affirmative side of the League of Nations question in the debate. In a statement to the Manager of the Boston College team the Arizona University debaters said, "The most powerful aggregation we have thus far met in our trip through the states is the City College team."

The members of the Boston Council have made reservations for our men at the Hotel Westminster. A City College delegation of graduates from Harvard University will be down to welcome the men. Among these men will be Hy Weissman, Barney B. Fensterstock, and Al Whyman all former varsity debaters.

Herbert A. Bloch '26, chairman, Richard Vogel '27, Irving Lubroth '28, and Abe Birnbaum '29 have been officially appointed as members of the Debating Council. Each man will function as the debating manager for his year.

A practice debate will be held Tuesday evening April 27, with the Evening Session debaters. The team will defend the same side as in the Arizona debate, the negative of the Child Labor Amendment.

This will prepare the team for its next engagement which is to take place on May 5 against Fordham College at Fordham. Charles M. Schapiro '27, former captain of the varsity team, will be able to once more engage in debating and the team will be able to offer a strengthened defense.

B'KLYN BILL SIGNED BY GOVERNOR SMITH; PRES. MEZES LAUDS ACT

Novice Swimming Meet Is Postponed Until April 29

The novice swimming meet which was to have been held tomorrow has been postponed till next Thursday on account of the fact that only five entries have so far been received by Manager Daneman. This meet will take the place of the annual ocaethelon. The meet is open to all students who have not won any awards in swimming or water polo for the 1926 season.

Entries must be handed to either Ben. F. Daneman '27, Daniel McGlinchy '27, Isidor Seidler '27, or Seymour L. Cohen '29, before next Tuesday. The entrance fee is $25. Medals will be awarded to the winning contestants. The list of events follows: 50-yard free style, 440-yard free style, 50-yard breaststroke, fancy dive, 50-yard backstroke, 220-yard free style and 100-yard free style.

HAKOAH WILL PLAY SOCCER CLUB TODAY

College Men Invited to Banquet of Jewish Student Body of Columbia

The Governing Board of the Jewish student body of Columbia and neighboring colleges are tendering a dinner to the Hakoah, Thursday 6:30 p. m., at the student house, 523 W. 113th Street. City College has been invited, and will be represented by Tubby Raskin, '27 capt. of the baseball team, and capt-elect of the Basketball team, Mac Hodesblatt '26 varsity catcher, and former capt. of basketball, George Pepper '27 capt. of the Lavender Soccer team. Pinkie Sober, '26, captain of the track team, Iz Sidler '27 captain of the Football team, and Lou Rochmes '27, acting sports editor of The Campus.

The Hakoah, a Jewish Champion Athletic Association of Austria, arrived here Saturday April 17, for an extended tour through the United States. The members were officially welcomed by Mayor Walker at the City Hall.

The Hakoah will meet the Lavender Soccer Club in a practice game today at 3 p. m. in Jasper Oval. A committee has been appointed to welcome the men to the College.

Following this game, the team will meet the members of an all-star aggregation of the New York football Association. The Menorah Society of the College is selling tickets for the meet. Ten percent of all the money collected for tickets will go to some City College activity. Tickets are selling for $1, $2 and $3 and may be obtained in the Menorah Alcove.

Games with the New York Giants, Indian Floorings, and the Sports Club of Chicago are being arranged. This will comprise the beginning of an extensive tour of the United States and Canada.

The Hakoah team has gained a remarkable reputation in Europe, having defeated some of England's foremost teams, the Czechoslovakian players, and trampled Poland to the score of 89 to 8.

MAYOR MUST ACT IN 30 DAYS

To Appoint Three Men to Represent Brooklyn on Board

COLLEGE-HUNTER UNITED

Board Will Meet Soon to Establish Constitution

Last Friday afternoon Governor Alfred Smith affixed his signature to the Nicholl-Hearn bill which calls into being the much-discussed Board of Higher Education. The act, which went into effect immediately, provides for the appointment by Mayor Walker of three Brooklynites to the Board within 30 days of its enactment. Within ten days of the organization the Board by the fusion of the present Hunter College and City College Board of Trustees, stay of the three relieved from the fifth fill its duties.

The future composition of the Board will be such, a provision of the act says, as to assure each borough of at least one member and further for a proportional representation on the basis of high school representation of the borough.

The main duty placed upon the Board concerns a unit in Brooklyn. After outlining the general powers of extension, development and direction of the system of higher education, the Board is charged with the solution of the Brooklyn problem. Specific provision is made for the selection by the Board of a site for a collegiate building in that borough, its recommendation for the necessary appropriations by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment and its immediate action for the organization of the branch. The powers of facilities and apparatus other than buildings are given to the Board in the general provisions concerning the functions of the Board.

The work of the Board of Higher Education is modeled in many ways upon that of the Board of Education in the fields of elementary and secondary education. Significant as pointing out this similarity between the functions of the two Boards is the provision of the act with respect to the establishment of units in the future and the extension of the system in general. In the case of future wants, the act directs, the new Board will follow the procedure of the Board of Education in establishing new elementary schools and high schools.

The organization whose life and progress the newly created Board will control will bear the title: The College of the City of New York. Each unit, however, will have a distinctive name. Thus Hunter College will continue to be called Hunter College. The signing of the bill has evoked expressions of approval from some of the college officials and others who have been prominent in the agitation for some solution of the Brooklyn problem during recent years.

President Mezes welcomed it as a solution both of the Brooklyn situation and of the crowded conditions in (Continued on page 4)

COLLEGE SPIRIT

College spirit at this institution needs revitalizing. Of that there can be no question. The necessity for instilling a spirit of loyalty toward the College, a spirit of love for the College is a real and serious problem which must be faced squarely and solved immediately. The ultimate solution lies with the Student Council. Beside having within its jurisdiction the supervision of student organizations at the College, the Council is, should be, the leader in the introduction of higher standards and stronger College spirit. Joe Bressler who has been Council attempts at maintaining the spirit of "for the College" have been downright failures. Voluntary freshman chapels have not been attended with any degree of success, frosh rules have functioned poorly at best, and attendance at all College activities, including those where admission is free, has been discouraging to those who have the good of the College at heart.

It is the proposal of The Campus to have the Council organize and conduct non-athletic intra-mural contests similar to those which are traditional at other colleges. These activities shall not be limited to any one field, but all forms of extra-curricular activity, except athletics, shall be included. Thus a class or interclub dramatic contest might be held, an interclass song contest, similar to those at other New York institutions, an interclass debating tournament, an interclass prize-speaking or poetry contest, an interclass chess tourney. All these activities, which come within the scope of the Council's power, might be conducted, and conducted successfully.

This, in essence, is the plan proposed by The Campus. Whether the introduction of the intra-mural tournament will bring about the desired result is a question which time alone can answer. Yet an effort will have been made, as an effort must be made. It is for the Student Council to act.

I. Z.

The Inter-Fraternity Council made its first step in the direction of progressive action since last September when it decided to hold a banquet to formulate plans whereby it might act as a true functioning body and not merely as a superficial society discussing policies. This year the members of the Council have engaged themselves in the less important business of revising and debating and have added scarcely anything to the work done by their predecessors, the founders of the organization.

It is to be hoped that the Council does not fall into another deep lethargy next autumn. The delegates to tonight's banquet at the City College Club are entrusted with the task of preparing plans for next term's work. They should bear in mind that the benefits which accrue to the fraternities and their prospective members from the regulations of the Council are of no greater importance than the inculcation of a spirit of loyalty to Alma Mater. Let the Council search out further means of increasing and enhancing that intangible yet indispensable something called college spirit.

Gargoyles

The Day's Mail

Dear Red:

Mercury will be out on Friday. It will be here on Monday

You will recall that many years ago, or many, many years ago, I offered to you gratuitously many of the finer points of amorous technic. I have watched your progress with deep interest, and regret to note that you have not attained to that state of sublime perfection which, well, you have not attained to. I feel that since you are my particular protegee, it is my duty (and I never shirk duty) to once more take you under my protective wing.

In the first place, your method of achieving the vital first kiss.....or three more dots.....

In the second place, you should by this time have kissed her, in the second place. (Her, not the second place.)

Further, or, what is more, bridge is the device which wives employ to span the flow of Time. Two legs equal one rubber.

The lipsticks they sell nowadays chaps your lips terribly, depending entirely, of course, upon the chap.

And then, you realize, you should never never, never, never go to bed without saying your prayers, no matter whose bed it is.

This, I believe, covers enough space in Gargoyles to entitle me to a free season pass to the National Winter Garden.

Thus and thus,

The Self-Advertiser

Compelled by a surcharged egoism, the self-advertiser visions himself as a man of parts destined to revolutionize quickly into a man for the ages. No matter how funereal or reverent or unbecoming the occasion, he utilizes it by bursting out into a paean of self-exultation. Even if he has nothing to say, he pardon the Irish bull—says it.

Last Wednesday I sat beside a self-advertiser. The question he flung at the English instructor was whether or not the day's date on the paper was absolutely indispensable. A query shot through with interest, truly.

"Do you want to read my theme?" This was simply a rhetorical question, for he thrust the literary effusion into my hand before answer could be made. "Isn't it wonderful? I bet you couldn't do it."

"I couldn't," I admitted. For if I could I would lie down in the path of a steam roller and urge it to do its worst.

The self-advertiser is a self-starter, and, notwithstanding the conflicting automobile terms, a crank and a loose nut. He is—to put it squarely—round shouldered from patting himself on the back. Were his Gascon energies directed elsewhere, I really hesitate to say how many Grand Canyons would be carved out.

PAST PERFORMANCES

Dry Pie.

CHERRY PIE, an intimate revue in twenty four scenes. Produced by the Inter-Theatre Arts at the Cherry Lane Theatre.

Friday there happened at the Cherry Lane, which has long fallen upon evil days, precisely what has been happening to all the tiny theatres for the past year and a half; a poor vehicle was run across the stage and the ill versed players, of necessity, stumbled and tripped all over themselves in the vain effort to make the most of things. It was an intimate revue, the playbill ran, and one was inclined to take the announcers at their own word. For a greater part of the revue never went over at all. It remained behind the footlights, and not even the audience, who pulled strong for it as soon as it seated itself, could extirpate it from its deep rooted, intimate secretive mood.

There are twenty four items, of which only four, all skits, are excellent, and really amusing. One of them is a takeoff on some of the current plays and another offers versions of The Village Blacksmith as Elinor Glyn, George Kelly and Eugene O'Neill see him. The lyrics by Carroll Carroll are rhyme conscious, but not tuny; they lack the Lorenz Hart swing and motion. What he has done for this revue is like the tepid, lifeless pieces he has been doing for New York's humor weeklies. The music is tomtommy, as any music would sound if two pianos hammered away at one's tympanum for two hours. No doubt the lyrics lost whatever efficacy their carver vested them with in the meagre assistance of the last mouth-piece that was the evening's music.

Many numbers are inserted which have no place at all in a slow moving piece like Cherry Pie. The cast is a typical downtown cast, blessed with inordinate enthusiasm, which tickled themselves, and a scattered few of the listeners. There is one little girl, however, worth the whole crew. She possesses a real comic sense, and acts well enough. Agnes Lombard they call her, and without her the evening would have gone stale and your unfortunate describer might never have endured to tell this tale.

The enterprises, which in the opinion of this seldom consulted desk merit pecuniary investment are:

- The Wisdom Tooth
- Bride of the Lamb
- Young Woodley
- The Dybbuk
- Craig's Wife
- By the Way
- Raquel Meller.

OTIS WILL DEBATE ON M. S. OVER WEAF

Aaron I. Dotey to Oppose English Professor in Radio Debate

Dr. William Bradley Otis, Professor of English at City College, will uphold the affirmative side in a debate, Resolved: That all peace time compulsory military training in colleges—other than strictly military colleges—shall be eliminated." The debate will be broadcast from station WEAF, on Saturday, April 24th, at 8:30 P. M. Dr. Aaron I. Dotey, Dean of DeWitt Clinton High School, will uphold the negative side of the question.

The chairman will be Mrs. George E. Owens, President of the Government Club, Inc. All questions on the subject are requested to be mailed on or before April 20 th to the chairman at 306 West 45th St., New York City. All questions will be answered by the speakers during the debate in the order of their reception. The debate will be broadcast through fourteen affiliated stations of WEAF and will thus be heard by thousands of people all over the East.

Professor Otis is an outspoken opponent of compulsory military science for other than military colleges. He has recently been ousted from the National Security League on account of his definite anti-compulsory military training views. He has participated in numerous debates against compulsory military training, within the past few months. Professor Otis has consistently upheld the stand taken by The Campus last term against compulsory military training in this College.

STICKMEN LEARN CANADIAN METHOD

Schedule of Regular Practice Announced by Coach Rody

The fundamentals of Lacrosse from the Canadian view-point of the game are being taught to the College Lacrosse team by Coach Rody. This view-point is from the scientific angle of the game whereby the men are taught left-handed stick handling contrary to the belief that right-handed handling of sticks is the easiest and most natural way of playing the game. Coach Rody believes the introduction of this new method will be a very decided advantage to all players and will improve the team immensely.

The lacrosse team, as a result of frequent intensive practice is rounding in a form and will soon be able to meet the best of them.

The passing formation which Coach Rody has been teaching his men constantly and which is an important factor in the game of lacrosse is improving greatly. Coach Rody expects to have a good speedy midfield organized shortly.

Many of the players have shown fine form and Coach Rody should have no difficulty in picking men for the mid-field.

At present there are forty men practicing regularly among whom are some well known College football and water polo men.

All students interested should see H. Block '26, E. Curtin '29 or manager J. Ratshin '28. The stickmen hold regular practice sessions every day. The schedule of practice follows:

Monday	3:00-6:00
Tuesday	2:30-6:30
Wednesday	2:30-6:00
Thursday	2:30-6:30
Friday	2:30-6:00

Special practice sessions are held Tuesdays and Thursdays with the New York Lacrosse Club with which the college team is affiliated. This practice is very advantageous to the development of the City College team.

NEW NUMBER OF MERC WILL BE OUT FRIDAY

"Let No Man Put Asunder" is the appropriate title that S. Malcolm Dodson, editor-in-chief of Mercury has applied to the cover design of the Matrimony number to appear Friday.

Emanuel Eisenberg has contributed a center-spread which is entitled "The Marriage Novel." S. Malcolm Dodson has done the illustrating for this feature.

Sidney Sedwitz and Sam Sugar divide the cartoons between them. Sugar has recently had some of his work accepted by the New Yorker.

The literary work has been done by Arthur Goodfriend, Howard Fensterstock and Bernard Smith. Lewis Granich, Jesse Spurk and Edwin Lewis are the special contributors to this issue.

Prof. Melander to Discuss "Some Insects I Have Met"

"Some Insects I have met", will be the topic for discussion by Professor Melander, of the Biology department, tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. in room 315. The talk will cover all the strange forms of insect life of ants, bees, wasps and beetles. All striking characteristics such as intelligence, strange behaviors and antics will be explained. The lecture will be aided by stereoptical pictures, covering about 70 different phases of their life. In the discussion Professor Melander will exhibit some insects from his collection.

The club is also planning to hold a symposium on the topic of evolution, on Thursday, April 29. The discussion will not be open to the general student body. It will be limited to members of the organization.

The team which has recently been picked by Captain Mike Rosenblatt will consist of Vin Kleinfeld, Charley Oshman and John Ruggles. The substitutes will be Daniel Bronstein and Edward Sisselman.

Pratt tied the varsity last year but it is expected that the team will turn in a victory this Saturday as the men are now considerably stronger.

Manager Sam Rosenstein has announced that positions are open for freshmen and sophomores as junior assistants. Candidates should apply any day except Wednesday at two o'clock at the Hamilton Tennis Courts, 148 Street and St. Nicholas Ave.

A schedule of seven meets has been arranged and the team is practicing daily under the supervision of Professor Whyte, who has volunteered to act as coach.

SETTLEMENT HOUSE TO GIVE BENEFIT

University Settlement to Raise Money for Summer Camp

In order to raise money for the maintenance of its summer camp which it runs at Mount Beacon, the University Settlement Society of New York will hold its annual Benefit Performance at the Klaw Theatre. Such well-known luminaries as William Collier and Ben Bernie as well as Keith and Loew stars have consented to appear. Many stars from well-known Broadway shows will also appear. A special event will be an exhibition by the children of the Settlement's Interpretative Dancing Class.

The University Settlement House, which is situated at the corner of Eldridge and Rivington streets, is a seven story building. It stands in one of the most congested and densely populated sections of the city. The organization was the first social settlement in America, and is now one of the foremost in the world.

To quote from the settlement's circular,

"Camp Tironda at Mount Beacon, N. Y. is the summer home of the University Settlement. Last summer 1000 children were taken from crowded tenements and the heated streets of the East Side for a two weeks' vacation in the cool, healthful air and green fields of the country. It is difficult to realize that 14,700 pounds of bread, 9,600 quarts of milk, 1,675 pounds of butter, 7,800 eggs, besides the large quantities of wholesome vegetables, fresh meat, cereals and fruits were required to feed all the children....."

This summer the Settlement plans to install accommodations for 1500 children and it is for that purpose that the benefit is being held.

Many City College men are employed by the settlement, but there is room for a few more men of high type who desire to act as councillors at the Summer Camp. Those who are interested should get in touch with Mr. Eichel, 184 Eldridge Street, New York.

FRATS WILL ATTEND BANQUET TONIGHT

Members of Faculty to Be Present at First I. F. C. Dinner

The Inter-Fraternity Council will hold its first formal banquet tonight at 7:30 p. m. at the City College Club, 46 East 50th street. The affair will be attended by the representatives of twenty-four fraternities and by several faculty members.

The immediate purpose of the banquet is to obtain faculty recognition of fraternities in order that the I.F.C. may in time become more than a mere social organization and adopt the duties of a legislative body. It is for this reason that a group of faculty members have been invited to observe the activities of the various Greek letter organizations. The professors who will attend are Professor William B. Guthrie who will be toastmaster, Dean Brownson, Dean Robinson, Dr. Gottschall, Professor Williamson and Professor Gottschall. President Mezes and Professor Otis have also been invited to attend.

All fraternities who wish to be represented at the banquet should get in touch with Dick Diamond '26, who has been appointed to take charge of the financial end of the affair.

During the first few months of the term the Inter-Fraternity Council brought back into practice the system whereby the scholarship ratings of the various fraternities were published in the Campus. A scholarship committee has been appointed and it is taking care of the compilations and standings of the fraternities.

Student organizations at the College, the Inter-Fraternity Council which has been running for two years, will be the first banquet that council has held so far.

B'KLYN EDUCATION BILL APPROVED BY GOVERNOR

the College. He hoped that the "deplorable condition which imposes part-time programs on well prepared students" would be relieved. He praised Governor Smith and said his action in signing the bill is "another instance of the understanding the Governor possesses regarding the educational needs of the State."

Trustee Charles H. Tuttle, chairman of the Board's committee on Brooklyn, said that the signing of the bill confirmed the policy of free higher education to which the referendum of 1847 committed the City of New York. He said that as a result of this act, New York will develop a system of municipal collegiate education superior to any in the world.

Dean Frederick B. Robinson also praised the Governor and said that the introduction of the bill preceded the action of the Governor. He was certain that under the experienced direction of the Board, higher education will progress rapidly.

Mr. Ralph Jonas, President of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, also expressed his satisfaction at the Governor's signature of the bill. The main object sought by the Committee of Brooklynites which he organized and heads: that of adequate facilities in Brooklyn he thought was attained by the specific provision of immediate action by the Board regarding a unit there.

The law is in the form of several articles amending the Education Law of the State. It does not mention either New York or Brooklyn directly, its provisions being held to apply to a city in the state of "over a million inhabitants." This is the only city of such size in the State. Again, Brooklyn is referred to as "the borough of highest high school registration in such city."

Solves Problem of Establishing a Collegiate Center in Brooklyn

The creation of the Board of Higher Education comes as the climactic end to an inter-borough movement of several years standing.

The creation of the Board is intended as a solution of two problems. The first is the need of Brooklyn for public collegiate facilities and also the crowded conditions at this institution as well as at Hunter College.

The second is that of so organizing the system of public higher education that such problems as the above might be solved in a manner beforehand provided for, without friction, and before they assume proportions that lead to hasty departures from the idea of a unified, city-wide organization.

The Brooklyn needs found expression a year ago in a demand for a "Brooklyn University" publicly supported but independent of the existing public institutions. The plan was severely criticized by the officials of the existing colleges and defeated in the Legislature. An alternative bill with provisions similar to those which the signature of the Governor enacted into law last Friday (and discussed elsewhere in this issue) sponsored by Senator Nicoll and Assemblyman Hofstader was vetoed by the Governor a year ago because there was Brooklyn opposition to it, led by Borough President Joseph A. Guider.

Since last year a committee of prominent Brooklynites interested in the borough's educational problems was organized by Mr. Guider and Ralph Jonas, the President of the local Chamber of Commerce. This body committed itself to a program calling for a Brooklyn college within a system which should take in the existing colleges. Mr. Guider abandoned his plan for an independent publicly supported college in the borough.

Cooperation between the Committee and the Authorities of the College and Hunter College resulted in the introduction of the Nicoll-Hearn bill, embodying the essential features of the vetoed bill of the last session. The bill was unopposed in the two houses and the Governor signed it in the belief that Brooklyn had at last given complete support to a measure concerning the establishing of a college unit within its limits.

VARSITY DEBATING TEAM MEETS BOSTON SUNDAY

establish a chapter at the College. The organization will begin within the next month.

The Lavender debaters will engage Manhattan in the final debate of the season at the College on May 15. A dance in the College gym will follow the debate. Final arrangements for the affair have not yet been made but a band has been hired and Vogel, who is managing the dance announces that tickets will soon go on sale.

Due to a misunderstanding of the arrangements the freshman debate with Fordham did not come off as scheduled. However, the debate will be run off as soon as a suitable time can be arranged. The N. Y. U. freshman debate has been called off as the University Council has written announcing that their coach is ill and they would be unable to prepare for the debate.

Bernard A. Saslow, Abner D. Silberman and Ira E. Sherman all of the class of '30 are the men who comprise the freshman team. With the coaching of the varsity captain, these men will prepare for the coming debate.

ment. The junior varsity will be an important factor in that it will contain the substitutes that will fill the vacancies among regulars. The need of a reserve was never felt as much as in the past season, especially in the Springfield match when sickness left the team with but two regulars.

Numerals will be awarded to all winners of the various weights although a suitable award for the victorious class has not yet been determined. Among the men who have shown promise of becoming varsity material are Seidler '29, Schwalbanest '29, Golin '29, Welinsky '29, Margolin '30, Levy '30, Pike '27, Barish '30 and Heller '29.
