FROSH CHAPEL THURSDAY

Professor Guthrie, Nat Holman and Coach Parker to Talk

After a conference that President Sidney E. Meies held last Tuesday with Jerome Hyman '27, president of the Student Council, and David W. Kanstoren '27, chairman of the Frosh-Soph committee, it was announced that the freshman assembly scheduled for yesterday had been postponed until next week.

Kanstoren, however, predicted that some way, other than he compulsory chapel method, would probably be found to bring the freshmen together next week.

The liberal arts and science division of City College ranks first among the liberal schools of the East with a registration of 3,314. In the course of five years the enrollment under the liberal curriculum has almost doubled. This, says Dean Brownson, "has taken place despite the introduction.... of very much higher requirements for admission....".

These restrictions, as we see it, have served two purposes: First, they have held the enrollment of the College just within the breaking point of its facilities. Secondly, they have served to make room for students in the professional schools of business, education, and engineering. The authorities, then, have put a premium on free liberal education to the extent that they are permitting an ever-growing number of students studying in the professional schools to use valuable space during the day. In this regard we have several times had occasion to point out the College was constituted on the basis of a liberal curriculum; that past administrations have dedicated themselves wholly to the ideals of the cultural studies.

The work of liberal schools throughout the nation is increasing each year. Nevertheless, another demand has as its purpose the acquisition of practical knowledge directly useful in the earning of a livelihood. At a free institution this demand, if encouraged, would prove devastating to all cultural ideals.

We do not oppose free higher educa-tion in the more useful arts. Let the city, if it will, make provision elsewhere for students of business, engineering, and education. City College, however, must remain a liberal institution. It must not capitulate with those forces that see adjustment to the economic environment as the immediate goal of a college education. Such a capitulation would involve a surrender of the prior rights of those citizens that seek a broad, cultural

News Item

The reports from the Concourse indicate three attempts on the life of the president of the Student Council for his pernicious plan to reinstate compulsory chapel. Paul Weiss, Harry Heller, and Kenneth Ackley were thwarted in their purpose, which was the assassination of the president.

According to his spokesman, the president is resting well despite a severe attack of hiccoughs caused by the sage remarks of the editor-in-chief of The Campus. The president, it was further announced, is greatly fatigued by the necessity of writing letters and may refuse further interviews to Campus candidates.

of the Dramaic Society and the Glee Jerome Hyman in his reply by means of a letter to The Campus explained the motion as follows:

"The Council planned to have chapels throughout the term for the purpose of inculcating college spirit into the men of 1930 by the fundamental method of teaching them ongs, cheers, and tradition. A voluntary chapel held last week recruited fifty frosh, which, to theorize means that only fifty frosh know the correct way to sing their Alma Mater song, the correct way to give their neers, and the correct attitude of the City College man. Now what we are asking for is this: Give us the entire frosh class for just one voluntary assembly and have enough faith in the class of '30, to know that, after they hear Professor Guthrie and Coach MacKenzie speak, they will want to attend future chapels on their accord."
