LAVENDER FINISHES BEST GRID SEASON SINCE '22 REVIVAL

Strong Team Was Greatest
Ever Turned Out on College Gridiron

TEAM GAINS 4 VICTORIES

Washington, Haverford, and
Fordham Win By Low
Scores

The 1926 football team can boast of having compiled the best record made by any grid team since the revival of the sport in 1922, and was perhaps the strongest aggregation that ever represented the Lavender on the gridiron. In addition to winning the majority of their games, they outscored their seven opponents 91 points to 50.

Winning four out of seven games may not be a startling record, but it is a very good showing considering the strong teams the College met throughout the season. The four games the team won were annexed by margins of twenty-nine, thirteen, eleven and one points, while three contests were dropped by the close margin of three, four, and six points.

Inauspicious Start
The season started inauspiciously when the gridmen journeyed to Washington, D. C., and lost their opening game, 10-7, to George Washington University. The College trailed for two periods when the Capitol city boys scored a field goal, but Les Barckman tallied on a long forward pass, putting the Lavender into the lead. This advantage was kept until the very last sixty seconds of play, when Irv Shehman, the Purple accented fifteen yards around end on the last play of the game.

St. Lawrence Defeated 20-7
The team returned to the Stadium to meet St. Lawrence University in their first home game. Many experts consider the Lavender's performance against the upstarters to be their best showing, with the exception of the Fordham game. The Canton team came down expecting to duplicate their 1925 victory, but the fine all-around play of the St. Nicholas men gave them quite a jolt, and they were forced to return with a 20-7 defeat.

Upsala Falls By Count of 7-6
On Oct. 16 the team experienced an off-day against Upsala at East Orange. The Jersey team took advantage of the College's sluggish playing and scored a touchdown in the third period. This score seemed to provide the necessary punch, and the C.C.N.Y. men started a march that finally resulted in a touchdown. Tubby Raskin's pass to Les Barckman for the point after touchdown was successful and proved to be the winning tally, for Upsala missed her attempt for the point.

In the second home game the Lavender rolled up the biggest score since the revival, trouncing Rhode Island State 29-0. On Election Day, Manhattan came down to Convent Avenue and went home with a 25-14 defeat tagged on them, thus extending the College's winning streak to four games. The Lavender rolled up 19 points in the first quarter and added six more in the next period. The Green was held in check throughout the whole game and was never seriously threatened.

Haverford was next four days later and an unknown quantity. It proved

HOLMAN URGES ON QUINTET FOR GAME

Return of Veterans Captain Raskin and Jack Goldberg Greatly Improves Team

With but a scant week and a half remaining before the season's basketball opener with St. Francis, Coach Nat Holman has been working his charges hard in order to present his usual strong quintet against the visitors. The squad has been augmented by the return of Captain Tubby Raskin and Jack Goldberg, both veterans who are now free with the termination of the football season.

Last night the varsity cagemen played a practice game against the Brooklyn, a professional team of the American basketball league. Although no account of the scoring was kept, the teams were rather evenly matched. The contest marked the first appearance of Raskin and Goldberg. The former played at forward and later at guard, where he is better fitted, while Goldberg alternated at guard and center with Dick Rubinstein.

Fifteen Men on Squad
At present there are about fifteen men on the squad, many of them or in general, will be given a hearing. Beinstock, cub guard, who was on the varsity football squad has also returned and will probably be used as a reserve guard.

The presence of Teddy Meisel on the squad seems to strengthen the team considerably. Meisel, of former football fame, is a fast and aggressive player. He is a good shot, an accurate passer and besides inspires the men about him. At present he is holding down a berth at guard, and great things are expected from him this year.

Coach Holman is not over-optimistic about the season's prospects but in an interview stated that he expects to turn in a successful year. The team that furnished the opposition last night against the Brooklyn aggregation is as follows: Liss and Leschner, forwards, Hick Rubenstein, center, and Meisel and Hirsh guards. Sandak was used at guard for part of the practice game.

A. I. E. E. to Visit Exchange Today

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers will visit one of the automatic telephone exchanges of the city this afternoon. The society will meet at two p. m. outside Compton Hall. The expedition is limited to twenty-five men.

The institute visited a manual exchange last Wednesday afternoon.

Donor Achieved Fame as Leading Man in Presentations of Shakespearean Plays.

James K. Hackett, prominent actor, president of the class of '91 and a member of Delta Alpha fraternity, who died last week in Paris, has bequeathed to the College the sum of $2,000 which will be used as a permanent fund for the distribution of a series of oratory prizes to bear his name.

While attending the College he excelled so in declamation and the reading of verse that he was awarded the greatest number of prizes offered in public speaking. He was the founder of the City College Dramatic Society, and at the time of his death was vice-president of the College Associate Alumni.

Accorded Great Honors in Paris
During his comparatively short life of fifty-seven years, he was accorded many signal honors by friends in his profession as well as public officials and organizations. While in Paris, where he spent many years of his later life, he was made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor in recognition of his significant achievements as an actor and director, his most notable successes being interpretation of the various Shakespearean roles both in America, and in London and Paris. The highly laudatory press notices which greeted his performance in Paris prompted President Harding to send him a message of felicitation.

Many theatrical societies, among them the Actor's Fund, Equity, the Lambs Club and the Players Club, have inherited a large part of his estate, estimated to be about $1,000,000. In addition to several trust funds established for personal friends, the Board of Education of N. Y. C. is the recipient of a large bequest to go for prizes in oratory in the public schools.

DR. ROBINSON INAUGURATES NEW OPEN DOOR POLICY

Declares He Is Always Ready to Aid and Advise All Students

President Robinson, in an interview, Monday, announced the inauguration at the president's office of an open-door policy.

"This open door policy," Dr. Robinson declared, "does not mean that the doors of the office will be physically open. It means rather, that any student who wishes to see me about any matter, either personal or in general will be given a hearing. Already we have dealt with a number of committees and individuals about private or school affairs."

"It is our aim," Dr. Robinson continued, "to keep in the closest possible touch with the students. They should feel that this office is ready to consider their problems and difficulties and to give them the best possible advice."

The adoption of this constructive policy at the president's office is simultaneous with the advocacy of the policy by Dean Redmond and the heads of the departments.

MAYOR SPEAKS AT ALUMNI BANQUET

'76 Class Celebrates Fiftieth Anniversary; Mayor Walker Speaks

Eight hundred alumni attended their annual dinner Saturday night to join in congratulating Senator-elect Robert F. Wagner '98, on his being chosen the first Senator from C.C.N.Y. The Senator-elect was detained with Governor Smith somewhere between here and the Sesquecentennial grounds, however, and failed to appear at the dinner.

Mayor Walker, also an invited guest, appeared at the last moment and delivered an amusing talk. He asserted that he was intensely interested in the College and is always ready and willing to help it when the occasion arises.

A resolution, proposed by Rev. Dr. Henry Stott '63, to cable congratulations to President Sidney E. Mezes, who has been in Europe on a leave of absence was adopted. All present stood with bowed head in tribute to James K. Hackett '91, second vice-president of the Alumni Association, who died a week ago Monday.

The dinner was featured by departure from custom. When the doors of the dining room were opened, all took their seats except the Class of '76. Then, with the lights dimmed, and the atmosphere hushed, the eleven members of that class filed in as special colored light played upon their table, and were seated to the cheers of the assemblage.

Nelson Stanley Spencer '75, President of the Associate Alumni of the College was toastmaster. He spoke of the association and of the activities of the alumni during the year. He congratulated the varsity football team, in the name of the alumni. Doc Parker also spoke of the work of Nat Holman, who was also roundly applauded.

Dr. Robinson outlined the year's activities at the College, announcing that the enrollment at present is 22,842.

ALL CLUBS TO CO-OPERATE IN PRESENTING LECTURERS

To Send Delegates to Inter- Club Council Meeting Tomorrow

Every Club of City College is requested to send a delegate to the meeting of the Inter-Club Council to be held on Thursday at 12 o'clock in room 312. The purpose of the meeting is to have every club that has any intention of engaging prominent speakers to address the college, co-operate with each other in presenting a resume of the club's activities to the student body.

According to the plan which Elliott Zeitlin '27, president of the Council contemplates, each society will have an opportunity to bring before the College at least one speaker each semester. A program of addresses will be arranged in the near future to take place every Thursday from 12 to 2 o'clock.

Several attempts have already been made by the Inter-Club Council to effect this change. It is hoped that greater success will attend this system than those that have previously been arranged.

Deutscher Verein Concert Tomorrow in Great Hall

The complete program of tomorrow's Deutscher Verein assembly is as follows:

1. March, Prof. Baldwin at organ
2. Remarks, Harry Neumark
3. Address, Prof. von Klenze
4. Violin Selection, A. Zaino
5. Folk Songs, Octette
6. Tenor Solo, S. Cibulski
7. Concertina Selection, S. Baron
8. Student Songs, Octette
9. Organ Selection, Prof. Baldwin
10. Violin Selection, A. Zaino
11. English Songs, Octette

QUOTA IN SIGHT FOR DEBATE FUND DRIVE

Seventy-odd Dollars Collected Leaves But Thirty to Reach Goal

Debating Tag Week, during which the annual campaign for funds for the debating team takes place, will end today. The members of the Debating Council and team have been selling tags with the inscription, "Debate Fund—1926" since early last week. Some seventy-odd dollars have been collected thus far, and a final effort to collect the thirty dollars necessary to reach the quota set will be made today.

Appeal for Funds
"Let me take this final opportunity to urge you to contribute to the Debating Tag Drive", declared Richard W. Vogel '27, manager of the debating team. "You have had excellent teams in the past. You have an excellent team now. All we ask of you is to contribute some small sum and purchase one of the tags to support our forensic representatives."

The tag campaign was undertaken because the debating team has no other source of income than this. The Union has refused it an allotment, and there is no admission charge to any of the debates held in the Great Hall. The Debating drive, is composed of Richard W. Vogel '27, Irving Lubroth '28, Abraham A. Birnbaum '29 and George Bronz '30. The members of the varsity team are assisting by touring the public speaking classes.

Big Program in Sight
A debate has been arranged for the early part of December with Boston College on the subject of "Resolved: That the United States grant immediate independence to the Philippine Islands." The C. C. N. Y. team will uphold the affirmative of this question. Several debates have been arranged for next February and March with Rutgers, Marquette, and others. Contests may also be scheduled with Gettysburg and some western colleges. A proposal for the formation of a tri-city league with the College of the City of Detroit and Crane College of Chicago, must be abandoned unless sufficient funds are forthcoming. Some alumni may back this plan.

The Student Council granted permission to hold this drive at the beginning of the term, since it felt that an activity in which the college has been so successful in the past and which has aroused such interest among the student body, should receive the support of the students of the college.

Several debates have been tentatively arranged for the freshman team. A debate with the Brooklyn Centre is practically certain, and one with the N. Y. U. frosh is probable.

DEUTSCHER VEREIN TO CONDUCT CHAPEL TOMORROW AT 12.30

Octette Will Be Feature in Varied Musical Program

CIBULSKI TENOR SOLOIST

Renditions on Concertina, Piano, Violin and Organ

Deutscher Verein will be the second club to conduct a student chapel this term when it will offer a varied musical program at 12:30 tomorrow in Great Hall. Last week, the Peace Club initiated the first of the assemblies with an Armistice Day program.

Tomorrow's chapel will be, in the main, devoted to music lovers. An enterprising program has been arranged. The well-known Deutscher Verein octette, which last term carried off the highest honors in The Campus "sing", will provide the vocal entertainment for the day. Their repertoire, consisting chiefly of German folk songs, was offered before a delegation of students of New York University at the Washington Square College auditorium on November 11, and met with much favor.

Practice for Coming Recital
The Verein octette is the outgrowth of Professor Whyte's original group which was organized a year ago. In the absence of Professor Whyte, who at present is a member of the German department at the Brooklyn Center, L. Leo Taub '29, is directing the octette. He has been aided by Professor Samuel A. Baldwin of the department of Music.

The octette will offer three groups of songs. They will render German folk songs in unison, with student and English selections harmonized. Members of the octette are Abraham Oppenheim '28, Harry Neumark '27, Hugo Bergenthal '28, Eli Lifton '28, Albert Hofstadter '29, Joseph Mezinoff '28, Israel Horowitz '29 and Samuel Baroff '27. L. Leo Taub, musical director, has been concentrating his efforts this week on the octette in preparation for their recital tomorrow.

Prof. Von Klenze to Speak
Renditions on the violin, concertina and piano will comprise the remainder of the program. Samuel Baron '27, will perform on the concertina, while Anthony Zaine '28, will play the violin. Miss Lee Bider of the Institute of Musical Art and Professor Baldwin will accompany, respectively, at the piano and organ. Samuel Cibulski '28, tenor, who made his debut at Chickering Hall last spring and who is now studying at Walter Damrosch's school, will render a tenor solo. Professor Camille von Klenze of the German department and Harry Neumark, president of the Deutscher Verein, will address the audience.

Concert will Start at 12:30
The Verein announces that the concert will start promptly at 12:30 p. m. and advises those students who expect to attend, to appear on time. After the audience has been seated, the members of the club, clad in the traditional German student caps and bands, will march into the Great Hall. Officers of the club this term are Harry Neumark '27, president; Bernard Reese '27, vice-president; L. Leo Taub '29, musical director; Hugo Bergenthal '28, secretary; Sidney Meehlust '29, treasurer and Joseph Turner '29, publicity manager.

THE POINT SYSTEM

Several semesters ago the Student Council adopted a point system which automatically regulated the number of offices which might be held by one student in the field of extra-curricular activities. Undoubtedly this piece of legislation was enacted to prevent one man or a group of men from monopolizing the majority of important positions, and by so doing to allow these leaders to concentrate in one major endeavor and thus to open the field of service to many previously excluded. This ruling was hailed as an advance, and was then worthy of the commendation it received, as it is even now. But unfortunately unenforced progressive legislation, while possessing potential good for future generations, is of no practical value to the present one. The list of committees appointed by the Council's president does not include one whose function would be the enforcement of the above ruling. Possibly it is because such a committee would actually have to take pencil in hand and compile statistics, which means work, which in turn means something with which Student Council committees are notoriously known to be unconnected.

Some day someone will awake and buckle down to business, and then perhaps this matter will be attended to together with several others. But we would be expecting too much to hope for that great event now, especially of a body that has no legal basis for existence and that has members who individually represent anywhere from eighteen to one hundred and eighteen students.

For at least two weeks we should be in the good graces of those sarcastic lexicographers who define higher institutions of learning as football stadiums with colleges attached.

On the subject of football again, one cannot refrain from throwing roses where they belong. The superb playing of the Lavender eleven on Saturday thoroughly delighted the stands, while undoubtedly it gave satisfaction to the team members themselves, several of whom fought side by side for four years, ever since their freshman days. All in all, the game was a tribute to amateur sport, and to a hard-working team and coaching staff.

Gargoyles

THE ANCIENT GARGOYLER

It was a sophomore president,
And he filled this page with glee;
Until one day his doom was sealed,—
The Frosh went on a spree.

They rid friend Jackie of his pants,
And of his poise serene;
In such a state his writing could
Be nothing but obscene.

"Alas! Alack!" cried Bernie Bayer,
"Somebody new, need we."—
And so a search was then begun,
And Campus picked on me.

The Way of a Sub

Brainy Malone, substitute quarterback, felt the importance of the next few moments. Before him just a few yards away lay the line. Would he cross it? Would he gain his coveted goal? Suddenly he saw an opening. Here was an opportunity to use his brains. His muscles tensed, his jaw set, his eyes blazed with inexorable determination. He would do or die. Suddenly there loomed before him the opposing guard, the two-hundred pound defensive star. There was no time to think. With every ounce of strength, he charged. He felt the eyes of thousands upon him. For a moment he was stopped, as if he had struck a brick wall. He pressed forward, ever forward! The short distance seemed endless. Suddenly he felt the great guard give way. It was a moment of moments! Bleeding, torn, and battered, the great quarterback staggered across the line, faint and exhausted.

And then the subway door closed behind him!

Mendacity Personified

(to all save E. E. S.)

I'd tell about your golden hair,
About your naughty, haughty stare,
About your form, so debonaire;
If my tongue I could but fire.

I'd tell of your angelic eyes
How you'll always idolize,
For you, your lover gladly dies;
If the case were really dire.

I'd tell about your eyes of blue,
Of all the saintly things I'd do,
If I were but alone with you;
And could act as I'd desire.

I'd tell of how when sick at heart,
You never, ever shirked your part,
But helped give me another start;
My soul you surely did inspire.

All this I'd tell, and even more,
I'd rave anecdotes galore,
I'd vow but you I will adore;
If I were but a dirty liar.

A La Autrefois

A Harvard chap was on his way home to spend the week-end with his folks in New York, when suddenly he saw a child on the railroad tracks. The oncoming train was but a hundred feet away. What did the Harvard lad do? Did he clutch the child in his powerful arms and carry it to safety? No! He was from Harvard! He tackled the train and threw it for a loss!

PAST PERFORMANCES

Beauty and Charm

CASTLES IN THE AIR—"a Westchester musical comedy and a Grandtork operetta" in three acts. Book and lyrics by Raymond W. Peck, musical score by Perry Wenrich. Presented by James W. Elliott at the Selwyn.

As one walks west on 42 Street from Times Square he passes several musical productions commonly rated among the very best. And makes no mistake if he enters the last theatre along the line, for that one houses Castles In The Air, as beautiful and as pleasing a combination of operetta and musical comedy as the season will probably offer. Charming music and voices, hilarious comedy, wellstaged chorus numbers, excellent dancing, beauty of scene — what more could one ask?

The scene opens and closes in Westchester. Spanning these times is a trip to Satavia, where the audience is treated to a colorful array of uniforms and peasant dress. Speaking of these uniforms by the way, one must admit they're gorgeous and one does admire them, but when Mr. Murray appears back in Westchester clothed in full dress, pearl white waistcoat, et al, then is the time I remark "the old soup and fish for me anytime."

Vivienne Segal and J. Harold Murray, familiar figures in musical circles, are the loving couple of this production. Both are gifted with charming voices, the best qualities of which are reflected in their combined rendition of "My Lips, My Love, My Soul," one of the very good musical numbers. I can't leave that pair without remarking about the very handsome features of Mr. Murray, who is "more good-looking than ever", to quote the one on my right. As the comedian of the piece, Bernard Granville excels. He seems to be another one of those little-more-than-five-footers whose histrionic ability varies inversely with his height. His dancing, together with that of Joyce White, comes in for meritorious mention.

An especially well trained chorus staged several numbers which induced encore-bringing applause. The Boyle Double Dancing Sextette is especially responsible for this. A number in which Baby Roselee Dolls, under the guiding hands of the girls, strutted their stuff behind Mr. Granville, was very well received. No need to say more to express my perfect delight on Tuesday evening.

Magnihild Styhr

In her second New York recital last Thursday, Miss Magnihild Styhr, young Norwegian pianiste, presented for the first time the fairy tale adventure suite "In the Blue Mountain," by Agathe Barker Girndahl, Norwegian composer.

The suite is moulded in an eerie atmosphere, similar to that in which the "Peer Gynt" suite of Grieg is written. The theme of the selection is greatly like the latter, and it possesses a certain strange beauty. The suite consisting of a Night in the Woods; (b). In the Hall of the Trolls; (c). The Giant Troll; (d). The Witches' Enchantment Song; (e). Lament of the Captive Mortal; (f). The Dance of the Trolls, was excellently interpreted by Miss Styhr.

The young Norwegian pianiste produces a tone of exceedingly great sweetness and delicacy upon the piano. Yet, it lacks assertion, vitality. Miss Styhr executed one of J. S. Bach's Preludes and Fugues from the Welltempered Clavier, in a manner which exhibited great facility in her fingers. Most of the numbers were played with great ease.

Her program, included a Sonata B flat Major of Domenico Scarlatti, Pastorale Variée, W. A. Mozart, Sonata E. Minor, op. 7, F. Grieg, Three Etudes, Chopin; Phalènes op. 29. No. 4 of I. Philipp, and the Bourrée Lantase by E. Chabrier.

PART II.

2. Tzigane (Rhapsody de Concert) for Violin and Orchestra. M. Ravel
3. Symphonie excerpts from "Daphne et Cloe". M. Ravel

The New York Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Walter Damrosch, gave the most interesting and most enjoyable recital of its several seasons this season, last Friday night. Paul Kochanski, violinist, was the soloist of the evening in Bach-Ravel program.

Bach's Suite in C, edited by Walter Damrosch, the number which opened the evening, was played in a manner which deliciously brought out the feeling of the rich-toned symphony. Some interesting work was done by two oboes and two bassoons of the orchestra who "played in the manner of a concertino" in several parts of the number. They achieved an effect which was wonderful.

The Concerto in A Minor, the second number in the group, was soloed by Mr. Kochanski, with the assistance of the orchestra. The selection was a typical Bach violin concerto consisting of three movements, in which an andante separated two allegro movements. In this, and in Tzigane of Ravel, the selection which Mr. Kochanski soloed in the second part of the program, the violinist displayed exceptional fluency and versatility. Tzigane filled with glowing colors and sudden modulations was executed with great excellence. Mr. Kochanski combined the violent climaxes of the selection with the slow, vividly beautiful passages, in a most admirable manner. His tone was pure, but at times, it lacked the profundity, and sweetness exhibited in the Bach number.

"The Tombeau de Couperin", Symphonie excerpts from "Daphne et Cloe", and Tzigane (Rhapsodie de Concert) for violin and orchestra, made up the Ravel part of the program. The orchestra turned to this portion of the recital with great spirit, and the fortissimo passages were fortissimo. The Fortane (Viennese Dance), in "Le Tombeau de Couperin" was effectively played, and the Nocturne of "Daphne et

As '27 Passes

THE GREAT era of football inaugurated by the famous '27 freshman team reached a stupendous climax last Saturday afternoon, when the greatest City College eleven of all time outfought and outplayed a powerful Fordham combination whose bewilderment increased with every passing minute as the vaunted Zev was stopped in his tracks again and again. The underdog finally bared its fangs to a self-satisfied Ram, and that voracious animal learned that small teeth may nevertheless be sharp.

In their greatest victory, the men of '27, who pass from the Lavender gridiron to the glare of flourishing trumpets, were ably assisted by a new crop of talented sophomores. To wit: Willie Halpern, Les Barckman, Hank Rosner, John Clarke, and one brawny representative of '28, Johnny Elterich. But our tale today deals with those who have worn the black football jersey of City College for the last time.

Arma Viresque Cane qui Primus.....

CAPTAIN Is Seidler, dubbed Tige, heads the procession. Prepared for his best year at guard, for which position he is fitted by size and inclination, Seidler was shifted to end. A crackerjack linesman, he was a mediocre end for six games and then suddenly flashed such speed and accurate tackling against the Maroon as to wind up a glorious career in fitting fashion.

Tubby Raskin, whom we should consider carefully before terming Roy Plaut the greatest quarterback the Lavender ever had, is awarded recognition best by the difference between the brand of game displayed by the team when he is calling signals, and that when he is warming the bench. Raskin pulled off two of the brainiest pieces of football last Saturday when he called for the pass from behind the goal line which enabled Sam Donstein to reel off his run to midfield, and when he again directed a pass on fourth down, with a long way to go, and the ball in Lavender territory, which caught the Ram napping. If either of these plays had failed, he would have been booed and razzed, and it takes quite a bit of nerve to switch in that manner from the conventional and the safe.

Artie Rosenbluth, the concrete in the forward wall, has had his greatest season. Of him, more anon. Irv Packer reported too late to make the first team, but he was all there whenever he was used. Al Dreiband, the center around whom the wall was cemented, also passes with fame and paunch undiminished. Of him also more anon. Bill Cohen, the rugged fullback, was hard hit by fortune and by something else before the season opened and was kept from playing for several weeks. His leaping over the line to bring down opposing backs will long be remembered. Sam Donstein, another late-comer, had his best day in the Fordham fracas.

Other stars who are to be lost through graduation and who were not members of the original freshman team are Jo Josephberg, who from a mere punter last season was transformed in 1926 to a ripping line plunger and a powerful defensive back; Frank Longo, Bill Cohen's sturdy rival for fullbacks honors, and shock-absorber extraordinary; Joe Tubridy, a speedy end and a hard tackler; and Artie Moder, second quarterback.

All-Metropolitan Selections

First Team	Position	Second Team
Leary, Fordham	End	Rosner, C.C.N.Y.
Lassman, N.Y.U.	Tackle	Miller, N.Y.U.
Skudin, N.Y.U.	Guard	Rosenbluth, C.C.N.Y.
Dunn, N.Y.U.	Center	Dreiband, C.C.N.Y.
Bunyan, N.Y.U.	Guard	Bruce, Fordham
Feastern, Fordham	Tackle	Halpern, C.C.N.Y.
Furey, Columbia	End	Brady, Columbia
Connor, N.Y.U.	Quarterback	Kaplan, Columbia
Graham, Fordham	Halfback	Madden, Columbia
Strong, N.Y.U.	Halfback	Roberts, N.Y.U.
Rieger, Columbia	Fullback	Briante, N.Y.U.

Chick Meehan's huskies place every position except the wings on the two elevens, it will be noticed. The linemen, tall as the cedars in Lebanon, might have placed every man on the first team without much variation in the ranking. In the backfield, Graham and Connor assuredly both belong at the top and we should place Connor at quarterback as the man with the better head, and Graham at half as the better ground gainer. With Strong and Rieger rounding out the quartet, we have a most versatile backfield. Willie Halpern is shifted to tackle, in which position he can easily fit, as Parker's system is somewhat unusual in calling for fast guards and big tackles. The presence of so many fine backs in New York this year precludes the possibility of men like Raskin or Barckman placing on the All-Met, though they are only slightly shaded.

Gazing upon the benign countenance of Is Seidler, as portrayed in Monday's Campus, and knowing him better, we are tempted to query: Was this the face that crunched a thousand hips?

GRIDMEN END BEST SEASON IN YEARS

to be a powerful football machine. After a hard-fought battle the Pennsylvanians came out with a 6-0 victory.

The last big game of the season loomed with the Fordham contest. The Maroon had trampled the local team, 76-0, the year before and while not expecting to roll up such another score, was fully confident of winning. The Lavender scored the biggest upset of the season in metropolitan circles by holding the Ram to a 7-3 score. The College team actually outplayed Fordham for the three periods but weakened in the last quarter and the Maroon pushed over a touchdown with but five minutes to play.

The feature of the last few games was the excellent work of the line. The College forward wall outplayed every opposing line they met and to them the main share of praise should be given for the excellent record of the team. Al Dreiband proved to be a tower of strength on the offense and played brilliantly as roving center on the defense. Willie Halpern and Artie Rosenbluth were as strong a pair of guards as ever wore the Lavender, and it was Halpern's kick that almost beat Fordham.

Johnny Elterich, Johnny Clarke, and Gus Packer all played consistently good games at tackle as did Captain Tige Seidler, Hal Rosner, and Joe Tubridy at end. The play of the line cannot be praised too highly, and was the most gratifying feature of the season. Eddie Gall, Jack Goldberg, Tiny Lipsitz, Ted McAden, and Eddie Bokst all put in valuable reserve duty on the line.

The luminaries of the backfield shone steadily and brilliantly. Tubby Raskin, the southpaw passer, ran the team in faultless fashion and contributed much to the offense. Les Barckman, the speedy sophomore, was a brilliant performer all season and was the team's highest scorer. Jo Josephberg, Bill Cohen, and Frank Longo played superb defensive football as well as being efficient line plungers. Sam Donstein starred with his sixty yard run in the Fordham game and his all-around play. Artie Moder played effectively in his frequent appearances at quarterback.

Thirteen men who played regularly all season will be lost by graduation. They are Captain Is Seidler, Al Dreiband, Artie Rosenbluth, Tubby Raskin, Jo Josephberg, Bill Cohen, Frank Longo, Irv Packer, Artie Moder, Ted McAden, Jack Goldberg, Joe Tubridy, and Ed Gall. These men put in four years of football for the College, one year with the 1927 freshman team, and three with the varsity. Their loss will be felt, for each one was a fine player.

Coach Parker is fortunate in having six regulars as well as a large squad left over for the next season. In the backfield Les Barckman and Sam Donstein remain, while Johnny Elterich, Johnny Clarke, Willie Halpern, and Hal Rosner are left for the line. Bienstock, Lipsitz, Wardlaw, Rothbart, Puleo, Bokst, and Schliacter are also available for 1928.

"Y" TO HOLD OPEN MASS MEETING ON THURSDAY

The mass meeting to be held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. for selection of delegates for the "Y" and the student body to the National Student Convention at Milwaukee, December 28-January 1, will take place Thursday, November 18, at 12:30. The object of the convention and duties of the delegates will be explained at this open meeting.

The "Y" is observing National Prayer Week at present by gathering at the house of Mr. Roberts of the English Department each morning during this week to discuss its observance.

On Sunday evening, November 14, the "Y" held a meeting at the home of Elliot Zeitlin, Secretary-Treasurer, to discuss the problem of education and its relation to home.

CHIEF R.C.A. BROADCASTER TO BE RADIO CLUB GUEST

Dr. Alfred N. Goldsmith Was Professor of Electrical Engineering at the College

Dr. Alfred N. Goldsmith, Chief broadcasting engineer of the Radio Corporation of America has consented to visit the Radio Club. The date of his visit has not yet been ascertained.

A dozen years ago, Dr. Goldsmith was a professor of electrical engineering at the College. Having much spare time on his hands, he experimented with radio, an infant science at that time. He became deeply interested in the possibilities of the new instrument. He grew into the new industry and soon joined the staff of the Radio Corporation of America. Today, Dr. Goldsmith is internationally known not only for his remarkable knowledge in the broadcasting field but also for his executive ability.

Robert Lorenzen, president of the club urges all the members who do not know the code system to attend the practice hours, held daily under student instructors. The hours of practice are posted on the club's bulletin board. Lorenzen also announced that the club will meet at 1 p.m. instead of 12:30 p. m., beginning this Thursday.

PROF. MOODY ATTENDS WAR BOARD'S REUNION

Professor Herbert P. Moody, Director of the Department of Chemistry attended the reunion of the War Industries Board of which he is a member, at Chicago, during the latter part of last week.

The men of the board are sometimes known as the "dollar a year men" because they gave their services to the government on behalf of the industries of the United States at the salary of one dollar a year. Professor Moody served on this board in the Chemicals division.

At Forty

"At Forty" the housewife in some sections of Europe wears a black bonnet to signify the end of her youth. A quaint custom—you say—but it usually signifies a fact. Heavy tasks, indoors and out, have made her old—at forty.

Of all the uses of electricity in America, the most important are those which release the woman from physical drudgery. Electricity carries water, washes clothes, cleans carpets, cooks the family's food—better and quicker than could be done by hand.

A trip to town or an hour's rest in the afternoon pays a woman dividends in good health "at forty years." And what is youth but that?

Men and women who have had the benefit of college training and college life have learned to place the proper value upon rest and recreation. They appreciate the relief afforded by electricity.

HARRIERS CONCLUDE MEDIocre SEASON

Peltzer Stars by Winning Three Meets and Shattering a Record

With Morris Peltzer '29 and Johnny Hynes '29, the sole luminaries of a mediocre season, the varsity cross-country team concluded its schedule with the defeat by Rensselaer at Troy, N. Y. The records show four defeats with a single victory for the Lavender.

In the season's first meet, the Quadrangular Metropolitan Champs, the College failed to finish a full team.

Lafayette was victorious in a dual meet by the score of 17-38. In the next engagement the Lavender gained its sole victory by trouncing Manhattan to the tune of 22-33. Fordham triumphed in a dual meet at the better end of a 24-31 score. In the concluding tilt the varsity trailed Rensselaer, 20-35.

A peculiar feature of the Fordham and Rensselaer defeats was that first was in each case garnered for the college by Morris Peltzer. The Lavender Speedboy who started the season with a fourth in the Metropolitan Champs soon developed into one of the greatest harriers at the College in recent years. In the Lafayette meet ignorance of the course robbed him of victory and a new record. Ahead of the record at the half-way mark and constantly increasing his quarter-mile lead over the field, he lost his way at a cross-road and finished seventh. In each of the next three engagements Morris crossed the line first, leading the field by a wide margin. In the Rensselaer meet he shattered the course record making Reid, captain of the opponents' team, who was by far favored to win, eat his dust. Coach MacKenzie plans to develop Peltzer into a two miler, and at this distance he should prove a worthy running-mate to Dick Herrmann, last year's crack varsity distance runner.

Johnny Hynes ran consistently well all season, always finishing second for the Lavender. Dick Herrmann made a disappointing showing through inexperience over the long distance but should regain his two mile form in competition this winter. Elmer Lowe, crack middle distance runner, likewise showed an inability to adapt himself to the difficulties of the six-mile course. Barrow, Sober and Halsband although performing faithfully for the College failed to develop any real form.

With experienced veterans present next year in the person of Morris Peltzer, Johnny Hynes, Dick Herrmann and others of this year's squad, the Lavender faces a more successful season than the past.

MR. WOLLMAN OFFERS PRIZE ESSAY CONTEST

Mr. Henry Wollman, a friend of the College offers a prize of $100 for an essay of indeterminate length on "Accountancy". The donor suggests the subtopic: "Does the accountant merely add subtract? If not, what can he do and what does he do to merit the name of expert accountant?"

All prospective contestants must economics before Dec. 1st. The latter submit their names to instructors of heads of the respective buildings, who in turn will give the names to the will submit a list to Pres. Robinson. Essays are to be turned in before Feb. 1st. The compositions are to be signed with a nom de plume. Envelopes containing the real name within and the nom de plume on the outside are to be submitted together with the essays. This will insure perfect impartiality on the part of the judges in selecting the winners.

ROBINSON ATTENDS URBAN COLLEGES SOC. CONVENTION

Speaks to Brown Students at Chapel—Submits Report on Evening Sessions

Acting-President Robinson attended a convention of the Urban Universities Association last Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Providence, Rhode Island.

The Urban Universities Association of which Dr. Robinson is secretary was formed to study the problems that face universities and colleges established in large cities. Every year the presidents and high executives of the urban institutions convene.

Friday morning, Dr. Robinson addressed the students of Brown University at their daily chapel on "The Young Man and His College". "Chapel at Brown is compulsory and causes great unity of thought and spirit among the student. Dr. Robinson intimated. At the formal banquet Friday evening, President Robinson spoke on "The Spirit of the Modern College".

Saturday morning, Dr. Robinson submitted a report on the development of evening sessions in city colleges. Dr. Robinson, at the close of the convention returned directly to New York to attend the Allumni Banquet.

SOPH STRUT ON NOV. 20 IN GYM—SMOKER SOON

The '29 class has two important events scheduled for the near future; the Soph Strut, to be held in the gym Saturday night, November 20th, and the Smoker, the date of which has as yet not been made public.

The dance committee, of which Ben Rosenthal and Sandy Rothbart are co-chairmen, has engaged the services of Bernie Fletcher and his Collegiate Orchestra, popular radio performers, for the evening. The tickets are $1.50 per couple, and are being sold by members of the committee in the '29 alcove.

At the meeting of the Soph Council at Thursday, it was decided to make the date of the smoker public. However, due to the dissension aroused by the decision, a revote will be held this Thursday.

ECO. TRIP PLANS MADE

Plans for the trip of the Economics 2 classes have been completed. The Students, under the leadership of Professor Byers will visit the produce markets of lower New York City in order to see how business is transacted in the early hours of the morning.

All details of the trip have been arranged. All students who have enrolled to join the trip should meet Friday evening, November 19, at 11:15 p. m. in the center of the main waiting room of the Pennsylvania Station, 33rd Street and Seventh Avenue.

Forty students are going on the trip which will be made in a large Pullman bus. An itinerary of the trip will be distributed to the students Friday.

This trip promises to prove very interesting and instructive inasmuch as it is a new undertaking and a departure from any previous trip.

LAVENDER NIMRODS DEFEAT RENSSELAER

Metropolitan Prone Championship Cup to Remain with College if Won Again.

The varsity nimrods defeated Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute last Friday night by the score of 495 to 192. Nagler who was captain of last year's team scored 100 points as did Feinberg. Captain Lichtenfels who scored 99 points was followed by Halpern and Valentine with 98 points each.

The Columbia University team will be the next opponent of the rifle-men this Friday night on the home range. The other events on the schedule include matches with Rutgers, University of Pennsylvania and the University of Maine. Matches are also being arranged with the members of the Eastern Intercollegiate Rifle Association which consists of C.C.N.Y., Syracuse, Dartmouth, University of Pittsburgh, University of Maryland, U. S. Naval Academy, Johns Hopkins, and Vermont University. Telegraphic matches are also being arranged with the University of Nebraska, University of Illinois and Norwich College.

Last year the nimrods took first place in the Metropolitan Prone Championship Matches and won a second leg on the cup which will be kept by the Lavender if the prone championship is won again this season.

Plans are being made for the formation of a junior varsity team and high school shots are urged to come out for the team. It is not too late to come out now since the season just began with the Rensselaer match.

The score follows:

C.C.N.Y.	Rensselaer
Nagler 100	Mac Donald 100
Feinberg 100	Young 98
Lichtenfels, Capt. 99	Chatfield 98
Halpern 98	Smith 98

No other cigarette ever had so many millions of friends

WHEREVER you travel, by sea or by land, in places of work or palaces of pleasure, you find the friends of Camel. And since the art of increasing life's comfort through smoking was discovered, no other cigarette ever made and kept so many friends.

Why does Camel lead the world? Because only the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos are bought for Camels. Because Camel is given a blending that, regardless of price, can be found in no other cigarette. Because the world's largest tobacco organization spares neither cost nor effort to make Camel the utmost in cigarettes.

Camel rewards its friends with never-ending peace and satisfaction. Through the day and into the night, it's simply impossible to smoke enough Camels to tire the taste. We invite you to answer, now, the world's most popular smoke invitation—Have a Camel!
