Positions on Class
Councils

RE-ELECTIONS ON FRIDAY

Only Union Members Will Be Permitted to Cast
Ballots

All class elections will be held today between the hours of eleven and two in the Concourse. Only "U" members will be permitted to vote. All candidates who have no "U" tickets will have their names stricken from the ballot. All re-elections will be held on Wednesday of this week. The candidates of the classes for the various positions are:

For president of the senior class there are Edwall Gall who was vice-president of his class last semester, vice-president of the Ed club and a substitute center on the varsity gridiron aggregation. Ralph Temple, a member of the track team; Paul Weiss, former editor-in-chief of the Lavender and member of the Student Council; and Marty Seelenfreund. For vice-president, Bernard Reiss, vice-president of his last semester's class, and Mac Slavin, secretary of last year's class. For secretary, Nat Hirschberg, a member of the football squad and Student Council; and Julius Filles, president of the Politics club. For treasurer, Morton Grossman and for Student Council representative, Ben F. Daneman. The latter is manager of the varsity swimming and water polo teams, member of the executive board of the A.A., president of the Handbook Association, and chairman of the Elections Committee.

To Dispute '28 Presidency

NEW CLUB TO PROBE PROBLEMS OF PEACE

Peace Club to Reorganize
Thurs.—Communicates with League of Nations.

Last year a student symposium was conducted by Professor Harry Allen Overstreet on the question "What Can the College Man Do About War?" Harry Heller '27 suggested that the college man could help effect, through chambers of communication, a relationship of good-will and understanding between the students and thus, the peoples of the world.

Heller then moved that a club be organized whose constitution and preamble would embody his idea. His motion was unanimously passed, and Heller was appointed to organize the club. His efforts have brought about the present Peace Club which is awaiting re-organization by the Student Council.

The preamble of the constitution of the Peace Club follows:

"To make a thorough research study of the problems facing those who desire lasting world peace, to promote, advance and further the closest fraternal feeling and understanding between American and foreign college students, we, the members of the Peace Club, do solemnly ordain and establish this constitution."

The club is to have an international background. Article 5, section 3, of its constitution states, "This club shall effect channels of continual communication with American and foreign students attending centers of higher education, as may seem wise and proper for the more satisfactory accomplishment of its aims and ideals."

Reports of the research work of the club will be made from time to time. It intends to investigate the problem of war, and the ideal of world peace. Such reports will be made public to all students of the College.

The Peace Club has received communications from the "Vox Studentum", an international student magazine, at present edited by Dr. Walter Kotsching. It has also heard from the secretary of the League of Nations. Both of these letters, which are of general interest to all students, will be later published in The Campus.

WRESTLING TEAM MEETS WEDNESDAY AND FRIDAY

Nat Hirschberg, new manager of the Wrestling team, announces that wrestling practice will begin immediately. Men for all weights are urged to come out. Practice will be held every Wednesday and Friday in the Small Gym after 4 o'clock. Coach Cantor has promised to give individual instruction every practice session after 5 P. M. All men interested should see either Manager Hirschberg or Captain Levin immediately.

SOROKOFF ELECTED TREASURER OF A. A.

Benjamin Daneman Received
As Representative of Managers Association.

Hy Sorokoff '28 was elected treasurer of the Athletic Association at a special session of the A. A. Board last Thursday. Sorokoff was president of the February '28 class for the past year and also won renown for his work on the Student Council. The vacancy he has been appointed to fill was incurred by Al Leventhal's departure from College.

Another feature of the meeting was the acceptance by the Board of the article in the constitution they are ratifying providing for a seven man executive board. The two new members are a representative of the managers' association and a manager of intra-mural athletics. A portion of the article, however, was amended to provide for the election of the latter by a combined vote of the F. A. C. and the A. A. Board instead of by popular vote of the student body. In accordance with this action, Benjamin F. Daneman '27, manager of swimming, was received by the Board as the managers' representative. The other newly established officer will be elected in the course of the next two weeks.

The candidates for the position of varsity cheer leader were then afforded an opportunity to demonstrate their skill, with the result that former assistant cheer leader Mac Schimmel '28 was promoted to the vacant berth. Dave Coral '28 was appointed to the staff.

The managership of the wrestling team was bestowed upon Nat Hirschberg '27. Hirschberg served the grappling aggregation for the past two years in the capacity of junior assistant. He was a member of the football squad at the beginning of the current season but was forced to resign due to injuries incurred during practice. His assistant will be chosen

JAYVEE BLANKED BY NEW UTRECHT

Strong High School Team
Easily Breaks Through
Light Cub Line

In a very unequal contest the Jayvee lost to the New Utrecht High huskies last Saturday by the score of 19-0. The Juniors ran up against a much heavier team and they never had a chance to score. New Utrecht did not use the aerial attack very much as it could make consistent gains rushing through the light Jayvee line.

Halpern started the scoring for New Utrecht in the initial period by a five yard plunge off tackle for a touchdown after his teammates had brought the ball 55 yards down the field. No further scoring was recorded against the weak and inexperienced cubs who just started to practice last week, until the third quarter.

The College juniors resorted to the overhead game in this quarter but it only brought disaster as Ryan, Utrecht's husky fullback snatched the ball out of the ozone and ran 60 yards for a touchdown. Another touchdown was scored by Kinnsbrunner in this period by a line plunge. In the final period New Utrecht sent its second team in. The cubs tried to rally but in vain and New Utrecht held the ball on the Lavender's twenty-five yard line when the whistle blew.

Registration Figures Attain New High Record; Science Men Exceed Arts and Social Science

Enrollment figures at the College, both Main and Brooklyn branches, for undergraduate matriculated students, have reached the unprecedented total of 3537, it is revealed by statistics made public by Dr. Morton Gottschall, Recorder. This does not include 121 Special students at the Main Branch and five at Brooklyn.

"The enrollment for the present term is more than three hundred larger than the enrollment a year ago, that is, September 1925," Dr. Gottschall declared to a Campus representative, "and it is almost one hundred larger than the enrollment of February 1926."

"B'klyn Center Great Boon"
"It is our hope," he continued, "that enrollment in the next year will not show any substantial increase over present figures, in order that the congestion at our main Center may be relieved."

"However," the Recorder explained, "the opening of the Brooklyn Center has been a great boon in this respect, and will result in increasingly greater comfort here, as the enrollment in Brooklyn increases."

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences ranks among the first five Liberal schools of the country with a registration of 3287, including 586 enrolled at the new Brooklyn Branch, which opened its doors for the first time this semester." Science men predominate in the roster of the Liberal College, with a total of 1712 students, exceeding the total number of Arts, Social Science, and B.B.A. students combined, whose aggregate at both centers is precisely nineteen students less, or 1693. Arts men are second in the total registration with 938, and Social Science a poor third with 637.

The College of Business and Civic Administration, has enrolled only ninety-five at the Main Branch and twenty-three at Brooklyn; whereas Engineering students number one hundred twenty-two at the Main Branch but only ten at Brooklyn.

Frosh Largest Class
The Freshman class is the largest group with an aggregate of 1468, including both Branches. Sophomores trail a slow second with only 841. The Junior class is third with 667, having only three students at Brooklyn, while the Seniors add 561 to the grand total, at both Branches, of 3658, with no fourth-year men at Brooklyn.

The figures for the registration at the College, showing concisely but in brief form, the distribution of students in all sections and at both Branches, are listed below, as compiled by the Office of the Recorder:

LAVENDER SCORES UPSET BY TRIMMING ST. LAWRENCE 20-7

College Gridmen Decisively Avenge Last Year's Defeat—

BARCKMAN AND RASKIN OUTSTANDING STARS;
HEAVY LAVENDER LINE HOLDS UP-STATERS

Largest Crowd Since Football Revival Overflows Stadium—
More Than Half of Fans St. Lawrence Rooters—
Alumni of Both Colleges Well Represented

Displaying an impenetrable line coupled with a powerful attack, the varsity eleven opened its home season by sending the Scarlet-clad warriors of St. Lawrence University back to Canton, N. Y., with their first defeat since 1924, by the score of 20-7. St. Lawrence was only scored on once last year and its defeat by the Lavender was a great shock to the up-state rooters who turned out in great numbers for the game. The St. Nick aggregation scored in the first five minutes of play and was always in front, never being less than six points ahead. However, the threat of a Scarlet touchdown was very strong several times during the game and it was only by the superb playing of its powerful line that the Lavender prevented the ball from crossing the line.

LAVENDER DEBATERS TO MEET THURSDAY

Tentative Schedule Includes
N.Y.U., Boston College, and Gettysburg

The varsity debating squad will hold a joint meeting with the frosh debating team Thursday at 12:15 in room 223, according to an announcement by Richard Vogel '27, manager of debating. Prospective candidates for either team must be present at this meeting, although tryouts will not take place at that time.

The debates with Crane College of Chicago and the College of the City of Detroit have been regretfully cancelled due to the lack of funds. At a meeting with the faculty advisors, Professors Palmer and Schultze, the debating council was obliged to abandon the tri-city engagement. In the meantime all other arrangements of the debate had been completed and agreed to before the debating season began by communication with these institutions.

Dave Kanstoren '27, president of the Student Council, will take an active interest in his official capacity, in order to dispose of the financial difficulties confronting the forensic activities of the College. At the next Student Council meeting, several methods for securing funds for debating will be considered. It is likely that a Tag Day for the purpose of getting funds by donations similar to the procedure that was adopted in the past, will be adopted again this term. Other expedients to alleviate the problem will be discussed by the debating council.

The Arizona debate with the College last term has stimulated other colleges outside of New York to propose engagements. Gettysburg University and Randolph-Macon College in communications to the debating council have asked to meet the varsity team. The arrangements are not consummated but it is believed that these two colleges will be included in the season's card.

The tentative schedule of the varsity debating includes Boston College,

Coach Sullivan's men came on the field with the intention of playing straight football, but they had to resort to the forward pass when line plungers did not gain any ground. Although the aerial game gained territory for the Scarlet no touchdowns were scored by that means.

College Uses Forward Pass
The Lavender also resorted to the overhead game but with much less frequency and to greater advantage. Two of the College's touchdowns were scored by means of this kind of attack; one as a direct result of a pass from the 25-yard line and the other by a line plunge to the four yard station to which the pigskin had been thrown by two well executed passes.

St. Lawrence's only score was the result of a poor pass by Gall, substitute at center for the College which caused a fumble. Goehelke, playing left guard for the Saints, scooped up the pigskin and galloped down the field for eighty-six yards in spite of the heroic efforts of Barckman who would have caught him but for excellent interference on the part of St. Lawrence.

Lavender Scores First

First blood was drawn by the Lavender after five minutes of play when after an exchange of punts Captain Seidler so savagely tackled Paige that he dropped the pigskin. Seidler promptly got possession of the ball for the Lavender by falling on it on the 10-yard line. An offside penalty brought the ball five yards nearer the Scarlet goal and on the next play Raskin went through for a touchdown. His kick for goal was blocked by Manero who played a fine game for the visitors.

Varsity Makes Two Touchdowns
After the kickoff the College resorted to the aerial game. The first pass from Barckman to Raskin netting fifteen yards was followed by another which gained twenty yards for the College, a criss-cross play put the pigskin on the 4-yard line as the period ended. In the first play of the second period Barckman crashed through for a touchdown.

In the last quarter with the ball on the 45-yard line Raskin heaved a pass to Rosner, a St. Lawrence back intercepted the pass but was thrown so heavily that he dropped the ball, the College recovered the pigskin on the 25-yard stripe. A forward pass,

A report made at Yale University last term shows that expenses of the successive years at the college run as follows: Freshman year, $1,384; sophomore year, $1,656; junior year, $1,832; and senior year, $1,918. The report shows that the entire average cost of four years at Yale totals $6,790.

The University of Pennsylvania refused admission to 2,500 of 4,000 applicants. Princeton also turned many away, because of lack of facilities. The total enrollment was 2,200; the freshman class consisting of 617.

At the University of Boston one of the freshmen is 76 years old. He states he is not sure just what career he will follow when he graduates.

Carl H. Gronquist '25 spoke on "The Construction Engineering Office" at a meeting Thursday evening of the American Society of Civil Engineers. President Fred H. Dill '27 presided.

When the students of Columbia University returned for the fall term on Monday of last week, one of the dormitories was not completed. The students without rooms were instructed to stay at hotels at the expense of the university until their rooms were finished. All but two of the students put up at the most expensive hotels in the city. Many went to the Ritz, and turned in bills for $12.00 a night for their temporary lodgings.

This year's registration of students contains the names of more New Yorkers than has any other in the University's history. Why does so large a number of metropolis dwellers flock to this campus, fleeing from such great universities as Columbia and New York?

There are probably two main reasons: first and most important, a college seated in the midst of New York's crowds and chaos can afford its students little or no "campus life" — a life that he has read about and heard much talk of. He is charmed with what he hears of life at college, away from the world, with just books, professors and classmates for companions.

To fulfill his desires for such charms, he looks about him for some college outside of his native city. Why not West Virginia? The New Yorker has heard of its wonderful football team, its enviable reputation as a center of learning, and of its congenial society. The choice is made, a ticket purchased and another New Yorker enters the Mountaineer's portals.

The other reason is the comparatively less rigidity of West Virginia's entrance requirements. Columbia university requires an average of 75 per cent in all subjects offered for entrance, New York University requires a 72 per cent average. This university requires merely that a student have a passing grade in work offered for entrance.

FOOTBALL SEASON SPEEDS "U" SALES

Students in All Activities Must Be Members of the Union

With the Football season in full swing, the "U" sales are finally picking up. The fact that class elections will be held this afternoon is also aiding the "U" Committee in its drive to enroll 1500 members by the end of the month. "U" sales have been progressing very slowly up to now, but it is hoped that now, with activities in full swing, the Committee will reach its goal in a short time.

The Freshman Class has always taken the lead in the purchase of tickets. This semester it is leading as usual but is far behind freshman classes of the past. To date, between six and seven hundred stubs have been sold, a good number having been added at the football game Saturday.

It has been estimated that the total value of the "U" ticket to the student is about thirteen dollars. Tickets are sold for four dollars. Holders of "U" tickets receive thirty-six issues of The Campus free. The Campus is sold to others at five cents per copy. "Mercury", the college humor magazine, will be issued four times this term. "U" members will receive this publication free, as well as a copy of the College Handbook, an annual publication of information about the College. The Lavender will be issued three times this term. "U" members will also receive this.

Besides these various publications which will be distributed to "U" members, those holding these tickets will receive 50% reductions on all athletic events, eighteen in all. Football, basketball, and water-polo are among the athletic events to which reductions are offered to "U" members.

All candidates for class and Student Council Officers, as well as all voters must hold "U" stubs. In addition, men in all extra-curricular activities must be members of the "U". This includes publications, athletic teams, and all clubs in the college.

SENIOR CLASS TO START WORK

The class of 1927 is ready to start work soon after the election of class officers today. However, the usual senior class functions will probably take place during the coming semester.

The Microcosm Committee is already functioning with Louis Rochmes as editor-in-chief and Harry Newmark as business manager.

Among the events to take place, are a formal Senior Hop in an hotel, another informal dance, most likely in the college gymnasium, and a banquet within the coming year.

Natators to Elect Captain; In A. A. Room on Thursday

Elections to fill the recently vacated position of captain of the swimming team, have been called by Manager Benjamin F. Daneman for Thursday, October 14, in the A.A. office. Daniel McGlinchy, who was elected captain at the end of last term, did not return to College this term; going instead to Columbia Law School.

All members of last year's team who have graduated have been notified and are expected to be present.

NEW MANAGERS ASSOCIATION WILL FRAME CONSTITUTION

Meets Thursday in A.A. Room to Elect Officers and A.A. Representative

The newly organized Managers' Association will hold a meeting in the A. A. Office at noon Thursday, October 14 for the purpose of adopting a constitution and electing officers. A representative to be a regular member of the A. A. Board executive committee will also be chosen.

All managers of all sports are members of the association, the purpose of which is to have greater cooperation between the manager of the various sports.

The new A. A. Constitution changes the consistency of the executive board to seven men, one of whom will be a representative of the new association of the varsity managers. The only qualification is that the representative must be the manager of a major sport.

Benjamin F. Daneman '27, manager of swimming and water-polo was elected temporary representative at the last meeting of the Managers' Association. Daneman attended the A. A. meeting on Thursday last, and sat in as a regular member.

An innocent little frosh, still in his tender years, nas unknowingly started a fashion which, it is predicted, will soon be followed by all aspirants to the title of "A Well-Dressed College Man". This style which will hereafter be known as the "fig-leaf collegiate" consists of one pair of pantaloons turned inside out — nothing more.

This poor child was abducted by a group of inconsiderate Sophs who shoved him into a taxi and then proceeded to divest him of his raiment. Their attempts were apparently successful since the result of their endeavors was a slightly peeved, very much embarrassed freshie whose face, covered with a huge blush of modesty, expressed the heart-felt desire to be far, far away. Oh how he wished they had at least left him his underwear which was at that time fluttering from the chandelier in the Sophomore alcove.

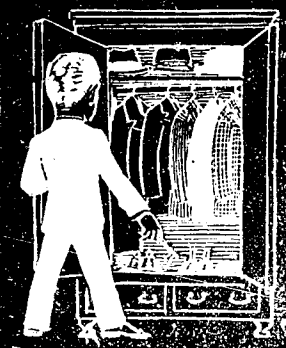

The bashful little fellow, forgetting in his confusion that the College has an entrance near 140th Street headed for the main entrance as fast as he could. The fact that he was barefoot and could make very little headway over the rough pavement rendered the sight only more ludicrous. Passersby thought that a youthful Apollo Belvedere had escaped from the picture in the Lincoln Corridor and was meandering about the Campus determined to present as best he could, the portrait of a wild, wild college boy.

This spectacle seemed to have started things going, for immediately afterwards a taxi raced up Convent Avenue, filled with battling Sophomores and Freshmen. There have been rushes and rushes but the sight of lower-classmen engaging in a peaceful little riot, all their own while taking a joy-ride down quiet Convent Ave, is certainly a novelty in the way of College scraps. Close upon their heels, (or should we say rear tires) of the cab sped a large touring car parked with hatless and coatless fleeing freshmen. Several Sophomores, tried to clutch the men hanging from the mud-guards and standing on the running-board but were defeated in their heroic attempts.

The Freshman class seems to have acquired a mania for tabletops, for ever since the first class rush when the '30 class separated the Sophomore table from its legs, they have cast covetous glances at the only piece of furniture in Soph alcove. We humbly propose that at the end of the term, as a symbol of peace, the '29 class should present the Frosh with a flaming red table cloth to cover their hard won spoils of war. Then the '30 class can have a cover change when they run their Frosh Feed.
