POLOISTS DEFEAT SYRACUSE TEAM IN MEET ABROAD

Elterich Playing Fine Game Is High Scorer With 17 Points

SYRACUSE TEAM SWAMPS LAVENDER SWIMMERS, 54-8

Herman Mars Perfect Syracuse Score by Taking Second in the 440

Predictions that the College would break even in its dual league encounter with the Syracuse aquation teams Saturday afternoon at the Archbold Gymnasium pool at Syracuse were completely fulfilled. The Lavender mermen were swamped by the Orange swim team 54-8 while League got under way last Friday ming the upstate outfit to the tune

Captain JohnnyElterich playing his usual brilliant, faultless game was spread athletic activity in the Coleasily the outstanding player of the game. In scoring 17 of his team's 82 points, he couclusively proved that he is one of the best individdual performers of the League.

With the attack centering around Elterich the Orange was unable to check the concerted drive of the New Yorkers' forward wall, and Captain Elterich and his teammates virtually pierced the Syracuse defense at will to get within easy scoring distance.

The upstaters repeated efforts to score against the College were to no avail, the local backs presenting an almost impregnable appearance to the opposing forwards.

Monty Massler, new sophomore star, playing at Elterich's former position at goal, showed himself quite capable of emulating the latter's fine playing at that position. Only two goals were scored against Massler Captain Weissman's men and the C via the touch route.

Captain Elterich scored one touch made nine foul goals for his total of in favor of Weissman's five by the 17 points. Willie Halpern, veteran star forward, playing a fine aggressive game scored two more touch witz accounted for most of the points goals and Walt Modell scored another with some fairly accurate shooting, touch goal to fill out the Lavender's score of 32 points.

The entireC.C.N.Y. team played a fine game and its team play and individual work made Syracuse's efforts hopeless. The score at half time was 16, Schneider and Kaplan captained 26-10. As a result of its victory Saturday, the Lavender clinched fourth ing game resulted from the combinaplace in the League standing. In capturing first and second places in by Schneider's quintet, and the spovent, except the 440-yard swim, in which Herman took second, the strong Syracuse team had no trouble at all in defeating their New York rivals. Cannon won the 440 in the rather slow time of 6:00 2-5.

Mergott, Syracuse sprir star, was the star of the meet, capturing first made by the members of the Politics in both the 50 and 100 yard distances and swimming lead-off man on the winning relay. He covered both distances in the fast times of 0:25 4-5 and 0:57 3-5, respectively.

Captain Dick Boyce was defeated in his event by Morse, Orange captain, who covered the 150 yards in 1:54. Webster took second place.

Karachefsky was also forced to take third place in the 200 yard during the Easter vacation are probreaststroke when Cannon and Ser-gressing at a rapid rate and it is hus both beat him to the finish, the

ACHIEVEMENTS

We wonder what achievements would the Student Council credit itself with so far this term in the first of three monthly printed reports promised to the student body by the president before his election, were such statements actually published. It is no new manoeuver of office seekers to forget pre-election pap in the course of their incumbency. However, during the absence of this mythical publication we will endeavor to chronicle the Council's activities by contributing this short resume:

At its first meeting, the Council raged over the certain disputed elections with the result that reelections for the undecided posts were held in the Concourse, a polling place which did not grow famous for the absence of electioneering tactics. At the second meeting the Council wisely legislated by a vote of 4 to 2 in favor of withdrawing its supervision over student alcoves, created one committee on the new ruling requiring the presence of a member of the faculty at every club meeting, another committee to report conditions in the Lunch Room and a third to investigate the Co-op Store. At the third meeting, the Council retrieved jurisdiction over student alcoves by rescinding its former motion, and elected several men to the Student-Faculty Discipline Committee.

At this point the history of student government at the College will rest with four important committees existing and the Council on the threshold of a new era in a position to distinguish itself by effective and constructive legislation. We anxiously await the Council program that will be based on the reports of these four committees.

INTER CLUB COMMITTEE

Some doubt seems to prevail concerning the purpose and functions of this body which was formerly called a council. It was pri-marily created to obviate confusion during the Thursday off-hours when the club organizations of the College present speakers of note to the student body. A general purpose of this body with two representatives from each club is the promotion of cooperation and harmony. Indeed it is a necessary agency in an institution harboring numerous extra-curricular organizations. We suggest to this committee that it draw up a table of rules under which it will operate this term and succeeding terms and to submit the document for approval to the proper body, operating in the meantime in the interest of the clubs and the College as such a committee properly can do with credit to itself and its members. At the next meeting to be held tomorrow we urge every club not present at the first meeting to make affiliation without further delay.

NEWS ITEM

New York, N. Y. xx cr (AP) March 14, 1928-Papers were filed in Superior Court yesterday charging Herbert Lachman, 19, of Convent Avenue with petit larceny, burglary and Rape of the Lock in connection with the recent disappearance of the Campus telephone. He was not admitted to bail but was remanded for execution by Magistrate Ginsberg who declared "Some of my best friends are Jews."

In a statement made by his publicity agent, Lachman denied all except the charge of burglary and offered to come clean if given a bath. However, the Campus telephone, over which the rumpus started, is still corpus delecti and all wrong numbers are being shunted via Miss McCarthy, who is Prexy by proxy, during the absence of President Robinson who is at a Southern woman's college.

SAD BALLAD OF A LOCHMAN

"Oh, college is a wicked place:" The Lachman mother cried. "And, Herby, when I see your face My poor heart quakes inside."

So Herbert thought, "If aught should hap To me the shock would damage her. I'll never curse, I'll shoot no crap, But I'll be business manager.

But Campus fooled him and wen't broke And scarce as dodos grew the gelt. My lads; there never was a bloke Who felt as blue as Herby felt.

Quoth Herb, "Our needs economy And I'm the man to tackle it." He thought and thought then tried with glee, "The telephone, I'll shackle it!!!"

A lock he bought and put it on But Lochman soon was moved to wrath. Ere morning came the lock was gone, The bolt and staple split in half.

Yale after Yale soon came (and went) But Herbert was invincible Though badly broke remained unbent And fought it out on principle.

One wonders how the hell a phone Can answer to the voice that smiles When Herb has clipped the telephone And hid it in the business files.

ENVOI

Oh, Herbert, the Lachman, came out of his vest All bloody with anger and hot to the bone For somebody, somehow had ruined his rest And stolen the thrice stolen telephone.

Ask Abe Horowitz whether he isn't forming a Facial Problems Club. Just ask him.

NOO-O, HERSCHEL???

(From the campaign manifesto of the now Hon. Harry Horowitz)

(I propose to) "raise $3,000 for the Student Council by one of two plans, both too lengthy to explain, neither one of which will require any monetary sacrifice on the part of the Student Body, or any other persons."

Mr. Horowitz is hereby offered the privilege of guest conducting this humorous strip to explain either, or both, of his plans.

Why do most young poets seek to probe the mysteries of life in their first volumes? When a novitiate versifies such subjects as "Wisdom", 'Tragedy", "The Suicide", we expect to listen to the usual shallow trite. A. B. Shiffrin in his first published work (1925), Blind Men, does treat of life and its futilities, and yet he is neither shallow nor trite.

His poems show experience and sincerity not usually met with in a first volume. Writing of man's eternal efforts for advancement and gain, in "Envy", we feel the selfishness and irony of the quest. The tragic phase of our existence is further emphasized in his swift-moving study of the "Nigger", and in his rhythmic portrayal of the lot of ,"The Slave". However, he is not obsessed with toil alone. He smiles and meets life

Philosophy While we live, let's live, For when we die, we're dead: So I shall take the candy-cake, And you may eat the bread.

Books and poets also occupy Mr. Shiffrin's attention. In a section, called Bookshop Sonnents, there are four keen studies of bibliographies. In answer to Joyce Kilmer there is this reply in God and the Pasts Poets are fools, and wise men know it, But only God can make a poet.

In his second volume of verse, Jewish charity. Dimple Diggers, published in 1927 under the nom de plume of Robin Christopher, A. B. "A dimple", said my father. "A dimple", said my mother, "Quite simple", said the two.

The verse of Rosalind Nadlestein although lacking of ease and polish of exceptionally good work, has spontaneity and a refreshing spirit behind them. All her poems leave us a feeling that something more is necessary to complete the picture, as

THE SECRET HOUR with Pola Negri. Directed by Rowland V. Lee. A Paramount picture present. ed at the Paramount Theatre.

A slow, tepid picture, culled from the stage play, They Knew What They Wanted, is this week's feature of all loves and the souls of all at Zukor and Lasky Paramount Theatre. Only, instead of calling the mations "Making lighter the burneds of this film by its original stage name, those movie titlers have tried to captivate our attention by naming it The Secret Hour.

Pola Negri, in the role of Annie, the character made famous by Pauline Lord in the Theatre Guild's pro duction, (Miss Lord was called Amy in the play) plays the love-loving waitress in a San Francisco restaurant who succumbs to the charms of a photograph and travels to the hinterlands of California to wed the original of the picture. Here she finds that the sender of the photo is not the original but an aged Italian fruit-grower of wealth, who has become enamoured of Annie after seeing her in her restaurant, and has sent her the picture of his handsome, shiftless assistant, Jack (Joe in the play).

In the play, if we remember correctly, Joe and Amy then deceived the old man by loving secretly and when the product of their indiscretion was made known to old Luigi he declared that it was okay with him. The infant industry of the cinema, however, will tolerate no such bald deceptions and we therefore find that Annie does not marry the old man but secretly weds Jack. When Luigi recovers from the effects of a broken leg and proposes marriage to the girl, he is informed that she is already secretly married to Jack.

The secret hour comes in, we presume on the sly.

Jean Hersholt, playing the part of Luigi, is just as good as Richard Bennett was in the stage play. The character of Jack is portrayed by Kenneth Thompson and we have yet to see so inadequate a performance as that which this newcomer to the screen presented.

The stage presentation is a lavishly planned and executed revue called "Galloping On" and it is, as usual, dull. But there is still Jesse Craw-

The Revolt of Youth

PRIMANERLIEBE, a screen drama made in Germany, directed by Robert Land and presented at the Fifth Avenue Playhouse, with a cast headed by Fritz Kortner, Greta Moshein and Wolfgang Zilzer.

The much talked about revolt of youth now finds sympathetic expression in Primanerliebe, a German reen drama offered Avenue Playhouse. This interesting photoplay has a fine indignation, an essential honesty, and a credible crusading spirit that impressed this reviewer not a little. Yet the suicide of the student who is expelled from College, the brutal teacher, and the uncomprehending uncle are mixed up and involved in a plot and character ization of what is supposed to be modern youth that creates a some what hysterical impression.

Certainly the screen is not especially subtle or full of philosophical intuition in its study of the rebellion small German College and their Group captains are welcome to en-old school teachers is sincere and

PROFESSOR MEAD TO TALK ON WORKS OF CHAS. BEARD

Famous Historian and His Books Will Be Discussed Tomorrow.

Charles Austin Beard, his historical works and their value as contributions to the study of American History, will be the subject of an address to be delivered by Professor Nelson P. Mead tomorrow at twelve in room 129. Professor Mead, the head of the College History Department, will be the first lecturer in a series of historical talks which will be conducted under the auspices of the History Club this semester.

Professor Beard, a lecturer in Columbia University, and an author of famous historical works, will be discussed from the view-point of the influence of his realistic style of history writing on contemporary history. Dr. Beard's book, "The Rise of American Civilization", will form one of the principal bases of the lecture.

The above talk will be the first of a group which the History Club will present this term as one feature of its program to interest students in research and special study phases of American and European history.

ED OFFICERS ELECTED PLAN RESEARCH TRIPS

Holding its first meeting of the present semester on Thursday, March 8, the Ed club elected the following officers pro-tem:—President—Charles A. Bird '28; Vice-President—Moses Bergman '28; Secretary-Treasurer—Paul Denn '28.

Professor Tallion addressed the club on "The Policy of an Education Club".

A decision was reached by the members of the club, that by actual research they could gain more than by listening to a series of lectures. Therefore, trips to experimental institutions will make up the major part of this semester's work, and the number of lectures will be limited to one or two of national repute. Visits to a socialized recitation and nursery school are now being arranged.

CLASS SWIMMING MEET TO BE HELD TOMORROW

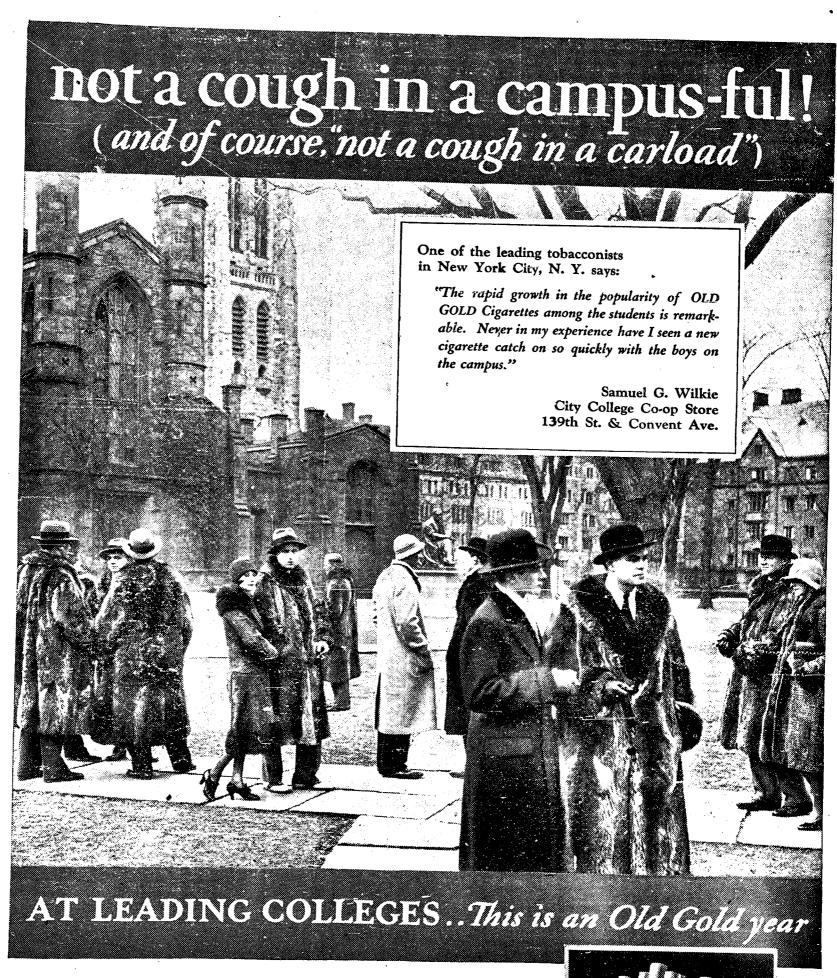

An intra-class swimming meet will be held tomorrow at 12:30 P. M. in the pool under the chairmanship of Howje Iserson '28. The events will be 50-yard and century dash, breast stroke, back stroke, fancy diving, and a four man relay. Judges are Dick Boyce '28, Bernie Epstein '28 and Danny Bayer '28.

RECITAL NEXT WEEK

A piano recital by Sidney Lukoenig will be presented by the Deutscher Verein next Thursday, March 22, at 12:30, in the Great Hall. Some of the numbers are: "The Punch and Judy Show," by Eugene Goosens, "Fantasy in F Minor" by Chopin and "Variations on a Theme of Paganini", by Brahms.

Tomorrow the Verein will have for its speaker Dr. Frank Ma: kewicz, Professor of German of the School of Education of the College. He will speak on "The Constitution of Modern Germany". The talk it is felt will be of special interest to students of Government and History. The lecture will be held in room 308 at 12:15.

Here and There

OMES the period in Lavender sporting circles when the winter teams have completed their campaigns and the warm weather boys are tuning up for their tricks outdoors. Baseball, track on the cinders, tennis and that lusty, welcome infant, lacrosse, are just around the corner, as your swimming, water-polo and rifle squads are winding up typical

Believe it or not, the boys who fool around with loaded fire arms are on the way to another rifle championship. Little is heard of the men who while away their afternoons breaking targets with monotonous regularity down in the basement of the armory on 140th Street, but the College gunmen rank with the best in the country and are, comparatively speaking, probably the best team representing the Lavender in open competition at the present time. All that Captain Larry Feinberg and his men have to do is to trim Syracuse and Cornell. They've done it before, and we have a sneaking suspicion they'll turn the trick once more.

Johnny Elterich's polo gladiators have practically clinched a first-division berth in the Intercollegiate Swim League having defeated Dartmouth, Columbia and Syracuse in Rossi, on second base, Curry Dono, their last three games. After a discouraging start, in which the first three encounters were lost to Yale, Princeton and the Navy, the leading teams in the League, the Lavender sextet Arty Musicant, Ben Puleo and Hal came back strong with three clean-cut triumphs and fulfilled Malter, the Lavender is assured of all the nice things predicted for them. Skipper Elterich, playing his last year for the College, is performing in a fashion that will make it difficult for the men who chose the All-American teams to overlook him. Last Saturday at Syracuse, Elterich beat the Orange single-handed totaling seventeen points. An- field. other potent factor in the team's recent successes has been the brilliant playing at goal of Monty Massler, the young sophomore. In three games only four touch goals have been scored on Massler, a splendid record even for the most experienced veteran. Lew Kraus, Bill Halpern, Walt Modell, Archie Bell, Milt Kulick and Artie Rosenberg have all played well throughout the season and have been in there doing their stuff effec-

Dick Boyce is the only natator who has enjoyed any degree of success in the I. S. A. swimming division. City College, it seems, is slated to grace the cellar of the League again, and the prospect is not an especially encouraging one. However, it's all in fun, and as the mermen themselves would have it, the Lavender loses to the best teams in the country.

"Poor Old New York"

HAT ever-pleasant subject, basketball, takes one more deep breath before going into retirement next October.

A lot of wasted sympathy is floating around concerning next year's quintet. Of course the loss of Captain Rubinstein, Goldberg and Meisel is not going to be an easy one to forget, but Nat Holman has that delightful habit of taking five good men in March and converting them into five champions in

In the order of their appearance we submit the following men who should make life miserable for the teams they meet next year: Captain-elect Sam Liss, a fine team player and a dangerous man with the ball from any distance and angle on the court; Lou Spindell, who may develop into one of the alltime greats next year with two sound legs and that added valuable campaign that should givehim greater experience; Jack Sandak, aggressiveness and speed personified; Sid Liftin, a hard worker and one of the most graceful men Holman has ever had; Bill DePhillips, a star with a mediocre freshman team and strangely reminiscent of Lou Spindell in action; and men like Artie Musicant, Ben Puleo, Charlie Hochman and Milt Trupin, who may make the varsity grade next year.

With the Outdoor Boys

Baseball pokes an inquisitive nose into things and demands its share of attention. With snow still in the Stadium it is hard to believe that the opening game of the season is a little over two weeks away, but that's just another difficulty that Coach Parker has to overcome. Within the last few days the nine's stock has taken a substantial jump, due to the return to college of two veterans and a promising turnout. A sweet little infield is in the making with Eddie Reich, Joe Rossi, Captain Curry Dono on the bases and Sam Garelick cavorting around in the short field. Jerry MacMahon will ably take care of one of the garden assignments, and Artie Musicant and Ben Puleo look good on the mound. The most serious handicap facing Parker and his assistants is the lack of a capable catcher. If the board of strategy can dig up a god receiver they'll be all set to start the season.

The track team is struggling along hampered, by lack of interest and decent material, but Coach MacKenzie is planning to put a good team on the field for the outdoor season. The indoor record of the trackmen was not particularly inspiring, but better things are looked for when the squad gets outdoors. For the first time in several years the team will be strong in the field events, and this, combined with the usual strength on the track may pull the Lavender through to a good season on the INCREDIBLE as it may seem, rumors are circulating about that the rejuvenated A. A. board under Bernie Epstein is at last justifying its existence. We hereby offer ourselves for missionary work and will make Friday's meeting our objective—if they let me in. In case anything happens, please remember that I meant well anyway.

Dr. Parker is doing his expert coaching in his expert way. In the in the Preamble to the Constitution." meantime, the pitchers are given a chance at limbering into shape for the first outdoor practice. As yet no fielding practice has taken place at the practice.

Although it seems that some of the Metropolitan papers have the idea that there is a scarcity of infielders for the Lavender nine, it appears that the College will have an allveteran aggregation. With Eddy Arty Musicant, Ben Puleo and Hal coordination in the infield. Besides all the enumerated, Coach Parker also has a host of former freshmen stars for the infield as well as out

With less than a month to go before the opening game, Coach Parker hopes to get his men started outdoors at the earliest possible time. The diamond is being put in order and the pitching mound has already been cleared. Practice with Columbia, if arranged, will take place toward the end of this month and the nine should be in fine condition for the first game of the hard nineteen games scheduled for the team this season.
