RASKIN REINSTATED AS CAMPUS EDITOR BY ALUMNI BOARD

Graduate Association Removes Suspension Imposed by Directors Last Week

ACTION IS UNCONDITIONAL Directors Resign Following Verdict— New Board Chosen at Meeting Saturday

Abraham H. Raskin '31 was unconditionally reinstated as editor-in-chief of The Campus after a five-hour meeting of The Campus Association held Saturday afternoon in the Faculty Room of the School of Business. Raskin had previously been suspended on Dec. 3 by the Association's board of directors.

Raskin Suspended Dec. 3

Immediately following Raskin's reinstatement, the entire board of directors resigned and a new board was chosen, made up of Nathan Barall, president; Isidor Glassgold, vice-president; and J. Kenneth Ackley, secretary. The personnel of the retiring body was Bernard A. Shalek, president; Stanley B. Tunick, vice-president; Albert H. Aaronson, secretary and Sidney Pepper, treasurer.

Raskin's suspension from the editorship took place on Dec. 3, after the publication of an editorial entitled "Hands Off, Please!" which appeared in The Campus of the same date. It was charged at that time that the article allowed for possible misconstructions of the attitude of the Campus Association toward the student editorial policy. The suspension on the part of the directors was only temporary pending final decision by the Association proper.

Temporary Campus Board

The dispute between the executive board of the Association and the editors of The Campus which led to the publication of the offending editorial and Raskin's subsequent suspension had its inception in an editorial in the issue of November 12, wherein The Campus criticized the construction and powers of the downtown Faculty Committee on Student Relations, the members of which were appointed by Dean George W. Edwards.

Following this editorial, the Downtown Council, at the request of the various class presidents and the Dean voted to hold a referendum to determine the advisability of retaining The Campus as the official undergraduate organ of the Commerce Center. Before the date set for the referendum, Dean Edwards and the directors of The Campus Association reached an agreement whereby the referendum was postponed.

The editors of The Campus believing this agreement between the Association and Dean Edwards an infringement of their editorial liberty, published the "Hands Off, Please!" editorial, and suspension followed.

Editorial control of The Campus for the duration of Raskin's suspension rested in the hands of a board composed of Oscar H. Shaftel, managing editor, uptown; Joseph P. Kash, editorial chairman, Irving Tashman, managing editor, downtown; Max Benko, of the associate board and Harold Schwinger, business manager.

FROSH-SOPH TIE

By winning the frosh-soph swimming meet last Thursday, the Uptown freshmen have tied the standing for the plaque at 3-3, according to Sol Jankowitz '31, chairman of the committee. The contest will end next Thursday when both classes replay a recently-declared no-contest soccer game.

The second-year men have won at wrestling, basketball, and tug-of-war, and the yearlings have taken the flag rush, and roadrace.

DOWNTOWN CENTER PRESENTS PLAYS

Large Audience Enjoys Presentation by Pauline Edwards Dramatic Society

Before an appreciative audience of 850 people, composed mostly of students and faculty members of the School of Business, the Pauline Edwards Society of the Theatre presented Saturday night at the Business Center auditorium three one-act plays for the second time this season.

The first two, under the direction of Dr. Eliot H. Pollinger, were widely different types, Alice Gerstenberg's "Opera Matinee" being of the light comedy class and Eugene O'Neill's "Ile" falling into the category of "tense dramas." The third play, under the direction of Mr. Liban H. Studley, was that ever-popular comedy stand-by, "Wurzel-Flummery," by A. A. Milne.

Acting laurals for the evening fell to Miss Esther Forer, whose realistic portrayal of Captain Keeney's unfortunate spouse in "Ile," drew the unanimous acclaim of the audience. Lionel Marcus carried off second honors, giving a particularly ingratiating exhibition as the actor-solicitor of "Wurzel-Flummery."

The first play which was scheduled to begin at 8:15 p. m. did not get under way until three-quarters of an hour later. At nine o'clock the curtains parted revealing a scene at an opera matinee. A number of ladies, evidently of the elite, were occupying three boxes and listening raptly to a singer off-stage. Following this "opera prologue," the occupants of Box 1 proceeded to gossip diligently about their neighbors in the adjacent boxes while the latter enthusiastically reciprocated.

In Memoriam

PAULINE S. EDWARDS
Deceased Dec. 15, 1929

Whereas:

Pauline Edwards, mother of Dear George W. Edwards, rendered unselfish and everlasting service to the students of the School of Business and was held in esteem and affection by the graduates for her generous nature, genial personality and quick sympathy. Be it resolved:

That the Student Council of the School of Business and Civic Administration, representing the undergraduate body of this institution, express its sympathy on the first anniversary of the death of Pauline Edwards, and affirm that the loss of this endeared friend is a personal bereavement.

Main, Business Centers Hold Council Elections Tomorrow

Fifteen Candidates Compete For Main Offices; Four Seek Re-election

Uptown students will cast their votes for the three major offices of next term's Student Council tomorrow during the 11 o'clock hour when members of the Elections Committee will distribute printed ballots throughout the classes. Students with off hours at that time are requested to vote in The Campus Circulation Office in room 409.

Fifteen candidates are competing for the various offices; of these Samuel C. Berson, Sol Jankowitz, Hy Miller, Abraham H. Raskin and Harry Rosenfeld, all of the June '31 class are running for the presidency; Ike Bloom, Leon Calafura and Abe Tauchner of the Feb. '32 class for the vice presidency and Charles Barasch '33, Hy Gold '33, Gustav Goldberg '32, George Schwartz '32 and Manny Warshauer '32 for the Secretaryship.

FOR PRESIDENT
Samuel C. Berson—chairman of recent Debating Drive.
Sol Jankowitz—chairman of Frosh Chapel, former member of the S.C. and Student Discipline Committee.
Hy Miller—present president of the S.C., business manager of the 1931 Mt. Vernon former president of his class, junior advisor and manager of intramurals.
Abraham H. Raskin—editor-in-chief of The Campus, Chairman of Uptown Process, managing editor of the 1930 Mt. Vernon, member of the Faculty-Student Discipline Committee, former chairman of the Elections Committee, Look and Key.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT
Harry Rosenfeld—president of the Feb. '32 class, former secretary of his class, member of the Student-Correlation Committee, Varsity Football.
Ike Bloom—Junior advisor and secretary of the Feb. '32 class and member of class committees.
Leon Calafura—S.C. Representative of Feb. '32 Class for the past two years, manager of the Student Mail Room and Lost and Found Office and chairman of the S.C. Auditing Committee.
Abe Tauchner—chairman of the S.C. Elections Committee, manager of Cross Country, vice chairman of U Sales Committee.

FOR SECRETARY
Charles Barasch—president of the June '31 class.
Hy Gold—former president, vice president and present secretary of the Feb. '32 class.

Ike Neidorff—former vice president of the Feb. '32 class and chairman of the Soph Smoker.
George Schwartz—S.C. Representative

Sophs Ousted From Freshman Feed After Following Decoy To Yonkers

It's an old College custom—this kidnaping of prominent sophomores for the Frosh Feed—but it started an interclass riot last Friday night when forty sophs raided more than two hundred freshmen of the Uptown Center during their dinner at the Astoria Palace, 62 East Fourth Street, and succeeded in causing considerable damage before being ousted into the street.

Waxing hilarious and carefree as the 10 o'clock hour passed without revealing the sophs, the yearlings were beginning the last portion of a six-course dinner when suspicious, telltale odors of ammonium polysulphide, incongruous to a festive occasion, permeated the room.

"Sophs!" someone yelled from a far corner of the banquet hall. "Rush 'em out!"

Handling With Care
Taking up the cry, the diners hurried aside tables, chairs, china, and silverware and sallied to restrain the surprise attack. Before many could

All Students Except Lower Freshmen Are Eligible to Cast Votes

School of Business students will elect the president, vice-president, and secretary of next term's Student Council during the eleven o'clock hour in all classrooms. Students free this hour may vote in room 206, it was announced by co-chairman Jack Prisant '31 and Sam Fishman '33.

The candidates for the presidency are Sol Magid '31, and Irving Tashman '31. Both have been active in extra-curricular activities, Magid as contributor of the Twenty-Third Street column and member of several committees; and Tashman as vice-president and secretary of the Student Council, editor-in-chief of the School of Business Handbook, and managing editor of The Campus.

Two Contest Vice-President
Sol Shapiro '32 and Steve Rohdie '32 are campaigning for the office of vice-president. Shapiro is the circulation manager of the Mercury and secretary of the newly formed Debating Society. Rohdie has seen service as a member of the varsity football team and as Junior Adviser of the 1934 class.

For the secretaryship the contestants are Al Doloff '32, Dave Levy '32, Abraham B. Pollack '32, and George Posner '32. Doloff was manager of the Downtown swimming team and adviser to the frosh class. Pollack is the leader of the Downtown Menorah society and a member of the Student Council Insignia Committee. Levy is the secretary of the 1932 class. Posner is Student Council representative and chairman of the recently organized Building Committee.

Of the June '32 Class for the past two years, originator of recently formed Council Brotherhood, chairman of the S.C. Co-op committee and member of several class committees and Soph Skull.
Manny Warshauer—present secretary of the S.C. and A. A. Soph Skull, former president of the June '32 class and Varsity Soccer leader.

Freshmen will not vote in this election according to an announcement of Jerry Kirschbaum '33, chairman and Samuel S. Ellman '32 vice chairman of the Election Committee.

Student Alcon Committee Enforces Chem Kit Ruling

Seven lockers were clipped and their contents removed by the Student Alcon Committee of the Main Center last Thursday at 3:00 P. M., in an effort to enforce the regulation prohibiting the keeping of chemicals within lockers. Students who desire to reclaim their property may do so at the Student Council Lost and Found Room where all goods have been deposited. The lockers which were clipped are: 1465, 1442, E13, E22, E68, 2016, 107.

COLLEGE SWIMMERS CONQUER SYRACUSE

Swimmers and Water-Poloists Both Triumph for First Time Since 1928

Scoring one of the most startling upsets the Intercollegiate Swimming Association has ever seen, the Lavender tank teams ran wild Friday night in the College pool and defeated the Syracuse University natators in the swimming meet, 44-27, and then came thru to win the water-polo engagement by the tally of 49-15 for the first double victory the home rooters had seen since 1928.

Friday night's pair of triumphs, in addition to being the first of their kind in two years also marked the first College swimming win since that memorable night in 1928 when Julie Karashefsky and his team mates just nosed out the Columbia University tank men.

Kramer Shatters Own Record
Pool records in the four-forty yard free style and the two hundred yard relay were shattered beyond recognition as the Lavender staged its great struggle for victory. Hal Kramer, lanky College star, bettered by a minute and three-fifths of a second, his own quarter mile record of 5:49 set last year against Penn, while the St. Nicholas sprint quartet swam two hundred yards in 1:44, four seconds faster than the standard of 1:48 which had stood since 1926. Lou Abelson, Charlie Mortimer, Johnny Nolan and Kramer composed the new championship four.

Joe Wohl, Syracuse ace and Intercollegiate backstroke champion, took individual scoring honors in the swim-

B.A.S. Bulletin To Appear Soon

The second issue of the Business Bulletin will appear on Monday, December 22, according to a statement made last Friday by William Gibelman '31, editor of the publication.

Included among the contributions to the latest number are "The Depression: The Way In and The Way Out" by S. S. Fontaine, Economist of Benjamin Hill & Co. and "Credit Extension" by Professor William H. Steiner of the Business faculty. In other articles, Professor Lewis Meyers discusses "Newer Aspects of the Ueury Law," and Professor Delaisi writes on "The Central European Wheat Situation."

The results of the researches of a committee headed by Milton S. Mantner '32 in "The Business Depression and Installment Buying," and "Methods of Compensating Salesmen," feature the student section of the bulletin.

VARSITY TROUNCES SETON HALL QUINTET IN ONE-SIDED GAME

Lavender Overwhelms South Orange Squad, 38-22—Three College Teams See Action

TRUPIN IS HIGH SCORER

Third Successive Victory for College; Quintet Continues to Show Improvement

When the St. Nicholas varsity five, unleashing an overwhelming stellar attack, ran up a 22-point score, and held the Seton Hall quintet to a measly four points by means of a well-nigh impenetrable defense in the first half of last Saturday's encounter, the South Orange team literally shrugged its shoulders and admitted that it was hopelessly outclassed.

But when the aggregation, which had bowed only after a severe battle to the powerful Columbia contingent the night before, not only found itself playing against the Lavender's second and third string outfits but being challenged for control of the court situation, the Jerseyites ended what had hitherto been a basketball farce and by dint of more or less inspired efforts managed to produce an attack which scored enough points to provide the disappointed crowd with some measure of excitement and thrills. The final score was 38 to 22 but was no measure of the superiority of the Holman squad over the South Orange group.

First Team Improved

The game was the first court engagement with Seton Hall and gave the College its third intercollegiate victory in as many starts.

The first team was in the contest only the first half and last five minutes of the second half but increased improvement in every department of the game was noticeable. Passing was smooth and sure, the ball was recovered off the backboard with increasing frequency and the foul shooting showed the effects of two week's strenuous practice. The shooting was more accurate than in the Rutgers game but not at par with the usual high College standard.

Scoring actively was fairly evenly divided among all of the players. Milt Trupin by notching up eight points in spite of the fact that he has not entirely recovered his shooting form, regained his position as high scorer for the Lavender. Captain Singleton of Seton Hall tied Trupin for high honors. Joe Davidoff turned in another brilliant all-around performance and his seven points gave him a tie with Lou Babiak of Seton Hall for second place.

Seton Freezes the Ball

The fans were treated to an exhibition of "freezing" in the first half, reminiscent of the clashes with Davis.

BARRETT WILL ADDRESS BUSINESS FORUM TONIGHT

Judge Richard W. Barrett will address the Business Policy Forum at the Downtown Center tonight, at 7:30 p. m. His speech will be broadcast over WNYC.

"The Railroad as a Stabilizing Influence in Industry" is the title of Judge Barrett's address. As vice president and general counsel of the Lehigh Valley Railway, he is considered an authority on present railroad conditions.

QUINTET TROUNCES SETON HALL TEAM

Elkins and Dickenson. The Seton Hall team with the score 11 to 1 against it and desirous of preventing an utter rout, desperately resorted to the antiquated zone defense. The Holman quintet heedless of the impatience and chagrin of the crowd, nonchalantly passed the ball back and forth for some few minutes in mid-court. Finally, with nothing to lose, the locals resumed the attack and the game speeded up.

In the second half, coach Holman started the second team which was later replaced by the third string squad. Two newcomers to varsity play—Willie Heft and Johnnie White made their debuts. Hefts injured ankle healed sufficiently to allow him to see a few minutes action. White, recently promoted from captaincy of the jayvee to the varsity group, took the post of Captain De Philips in the last five minutes of the game and made a creditable four points in his few minutes of showing. Charlie Hochman scoring four points in his few minutes of play was outstanding among the reserves.

De Philips Scores First

The College took the lead before the game was two minutes old, Frank De Philips caged a center play pass from Moe Spahn to give the Lavender a two-point lead, Spahn receiving the ball from Joe Davidoff tallied a one hand under basket shot and Davidoff after fumbling the ball duplicated that feat. Foul points by Babiak and Davidoff left the score at 7 to 1. Joe then dropped two beautiful shots in succession, one a pass from Spahn. At this point Seton Hall resorted to the zone defense, and the St. Nicholas men "froze the ball."

Finally the local warriors took to the war-path again. De Philips scored a foul point. Milt Trupin tallied two points on a great follow-up shot after Weissman's long try just missed. Babiak scored the visitors lone field goal of the half. Trupin and Babiak caged foul tries. Coach Dan Steinberg of Seton Hall instructed his players to maintain the zone defense and the game slowed down considerably. The spectators hand clapping and disgust seemed to have no effect. Trupin then scored five points in a row. A foul point, an under basket shot, on a pass from Weissman and a one hand try after several unsuccessful long attempts netted the Lavender Flash five out of his eight points of the evening. Phil Weissman dropped a long one and the half ended with the score at 22 to 4.

The second half opened with an all new College line-up consisting of Puleo, Hochman, Wisneveitz, White and Heft. Babiak and Singleton succeeded in scoring two long shots. Charlie Hochman took a running pass from Willie Heft and tallied from under the basket. A one hand basket by the same player brought the score up to 26-8. Babiak netted a foul.

The third team now started. Halperin pushed the ball in after a foul try. Singleton dropped a long one and his team-mate, Madigan caged two fouls. Kunitz of Seton Hall and Julie Trupin and Kranowitz of the College each basketed single foul points. Captain Singleton scored two field goals for his team. Gitlitz on a pass from Kranowitz caged a one hand side shot. Madigan on a mid-court attempt notched up a field goal. The score was now 32 to 20.

The first team returned to the fray with Johnnie White substituting for Captain De Philips. Trupin did some nice passing at this point. A fast pass to Weissman who dropped one in from under the basket and a similar throw to Moe Spahn gave the locals four points. Kunitz scored a long one and Spahn netted two foul points. With but a minute to go, Spahn was fouled. Instead of trying to score, he slammed the ball against the basket with Milt Trupin ready to follow up. But the referee refused to be fooled by such an obvious attempt and gave the ball to Seton Hall as the whistle blew.

LENORE ULRIC COACHING DOWNTOWN PLAYERS

play, a typical comedy of manners, depended for its success entirely upon the dialogue, there being little in the way of action. In spite of the generally high standard of acting, the comedy had a distinct tendency to drag, a fault probably due more to the nature of the play than to any definite lapses by members of the cast.

Frascona Plays Captain Keeney

The second play of the evening was "He," the action of which took place in the cabin of a steam-whaling ship. The plot concerns stubborn old Captain Keeney whose relentless search of whale oil in the dreary arctic regions causes his wife, who has accompanied him, to go mad. In addition to Miss Forer's brilliant characterization, this production had the benefit of a generally meritorious performance by Joseph Frascona in the role of Captain Keeney. The effect of Frascona's performance was marred somewhat by its uneven nature, the youthful actor's portrayal not being always convincing. Partly because of this fact, the play did not make the most of its possibilities; the suspense, which should have gripped the audience from the beginning, actually did not make itself manifest until the final portion.

Bringing the evening's entertainment to a close "Wurzel-Flummery" presented the humorous situation of two respectable members of parliament required to change their names to Wurzel-Flummery as a condition precedent to their acceptance of a legacy of £50,000. The histrionics in this piece were of a uniformly high calibre. The only fly in the ointment was George Dineen's performance as Richard Meuton, M.P. Dineen's acting, excellent at the beginning, missed fire noticeably in the closing stages.

FRESHMEN REPEL SOPH INVASION; BOTH CLASSES STORM PARAMOUNT

On reaching 230th Street, the obfuscated sophomores telephoned to their man at the booth and were informed that two shadows had been successful. Ten men went astray and the remaining forty took to the trail again. They traveled downtown, quietly entered the Astoria Palace by crawling in through a rear, top-floor window, and rushed downstairs to provoke a struggle for possession of the dining room.

The Library Suffers

After law and order had been restored by the officers on guard in the street and a squad of reinforcements from the Fifth Street precinct, the freshmen and sophomores proclaimed a status quo ante bellum and decided to continue the celebration from the steps of the New York Public Library.

Securing Eddie Halprin and Jerry Kirschbaum, the '33 officers, in their midst, the freshmen crashed the I. R. T. at Astor Place and escorted them to the Grand Central terminal. With dizzy snake dances and mazy

After the Curtain

SCHOOLGIRL—a dramatization in 3 acts, produced by Henry B. Forbes, at the Ritz Theatre.

THE modern generation has stood for a lot of treatment at the hands of the novel and the theatre. The pros and cons of this perennial revolt of youth seem to have been exhausted long ago, and the authors of "Schoolgirl" bent upon settling the controversy, only succeed in lowering the final curtain upon a theme that becomes more complex and enigmatic than ever it was before they undertook to unravel it.

In its present configuration the conflict is between daughter and father. Naomi is but a child, yet already she is in love with Dave and hence in conflict with her resolute dad. Marriage is a social contract he claims, and to enjoy its bliss one must first discover the difference between being in love with love and really being in love. He sends her to boarding school in order to break up the affair. Instead it finds a revolting fruition in this cloistered hot bed of sexual repression. And when her father, to preserve her honor, deems it imperative that she marry Dave, Naomi, initiated into the mystery of life, refuses to do so.

Were it not for Act II, the evening would become yawnful and obscure, and a unique glimpse at the promiscuous phase of girls' boarding school life would be lost to the folks at home. Cast among a bunch of wild school adolescents who cuss like men, read the "Sex Life of the South Sea Islanders," and engage in lesbian jealousies and "crushes," Joanna Roos gives an ardent and sympathetic performance. However, what the play attempts to propound is hard to say, except perhaps, that one ought to think twice before sending his daughter to boarding school.

meeting meet with eleven points garnered by firsts in the two-twenty and the backstroke, and a third in the hundred. Wohl was closely followed by Kramer and Nolan of the College with ten points apiece. Each of the Lavender stars tallied ten points on a first and a second in the individual events and membership in the winning relay team.

Sobel Scores 44 Points

Jesse Sobel, captain of the College polo sextet, got off to a flying start in the race for individual League scoring honors by tallying forty-four points of his team's total of forty-nine. Jesse was ably assisted by Irv Weinstock, husky forward, who seemed to have the knack of taking out his own man and then Sobel's thus enabling the latter to score time and time again.

The new G-E low-grid-current Pliotron tube capable of measuring a current as small as 10⁻¹¹ amperes

This Little Tube Measures Stars Centuries of Light Years Distant

BY MEANS of a new vacuum tube called a low-grid-current Pliotron tube, astronomers can gather the facts of stellar news with greater speed and accuracy. In conjunction with a photoelectric tube, it will help render information on the amount of light radiation and position of stars centuries of light years away. It is further applicable to such laboratory uses as demand the most delicate measurement of electric current.

So sensitive is this tube that it can measure 0.000,000,000,000,001 of an ampere, or, one-hundredth of a millionth of a billionth of an ampere. This amount of current, compared with that of a 50-watt incandescent lamp, is as two drops of water compared with the entire volume of water spilled over Niagara Falls in a year.

General Electric leadership in the development of vacuum tubes has largely been maintained by college-trained men, just as college-trained men are largely responsible for the impressive progress made by General Electric in other fields of research and engineering.
