Lavender Nine Meets Traditional Violet Foé
At Ohio Field Today

Last Victory Over N.Y.U. in 1927, With Moder Allowing Six Hits—Braker and Against Veteran
Hall of Fame Team

Old rivalries will be resumed this afternoon at Ohio Field when the Lavender nine clashes with New York University. This game will be the twenty-first in a series that started in 1894 and has continued with breaks since 1923. For years after the two teams point for their meeting and the game usually finds football fans reaching baseball heights unthought of in other encounters.

Although the Lavender has only six victories over the Violet to its credit it is invariably at the peak of its form if the annual meeting for the diamond and the grid. This year's team will have an added incentive in the desire to triumph for Captain Blum who will be the game's from the stands. It is three long years ago, in 1927, that the Hall of Fame team last defeated. Reluctant the masterful artful Alec Moyer, who yielded but six hits, the Lavender nine fielded spectacularly, coming well in the pinches to triumph by a score of 3 to 2.

Game Exciting

After bowing 8 to 5 to the College last the 1929 encounter in the last inning. The inclusion of one of the most exciting and startling games ever seen at the stadium. The game was nip and tuck all the way and after the Tens

WHALEN'S GENDARMES RALLY TO WARM-UP DRIVERS PARK ON TERRACE NO MORE

By M. B. Llbon

"Yes, sir, things have certainly come to a pretty pass," commented the Old Grad, as he lounged in the above Monday afternoon at almost 5 o'clock, "when you can't even park your own car on the Terrace!"

Then he noticed the sign of amusement on the faces around him. "Why, haven't you heard the regulation?"

"Yes, I have, but what good is it?"

"Well, it's not, but the pressure of public sentiment is urging a change of parking regulations." He stepped forward for an instant. "Breaking the parking regulations has always been the way to get things done. Nothing you ever did was accomplished in public life without taking some action against existing conditions."

"Well, well, this afternoon I was standing around in front of the new Library when all of a sudden a group of students drove up and I'm sure, I have to say, he called me a 13-9, oh, like an early nineteenth century model, and as sure as I'm standing here, a fine old judge,"

Cara Stand Perfectly Innocent

The Old Grad, turned and saw Cara who stood there line of men. Perfectly innocent, you must think. At about half past two, the street cars stop, and Cara took the time to make a quick visit to the offices of the Daily. At the same time, the group parked behind the Library and Cara took the same opportunity to make his appearance in the regular course.

EXCEEDingly rare is the occasion on which the student body has a chance to do anything for its College in an extracurricular way. This year, however, is an exception, and to all of the students who are interested in the activities of the College, their interest will be greatly appreciated.

The Councils Hold Elections

The Council of the Freshmen has been working on their election for several weeks, and the results were announced last week. The candidates were all very lively, and the election was a great success. The winning candidates were

Gargoules

WEAHAN, particularly those who are interested in the affairs of the College, are subject today to a peculiar state of mind, that is often called "gargoules." This is a feeling of exasperation and annoyance that is experienced by the student body when they are subjected to certain conditions or situations. It is characterized by a feeling of frustration and helplessness, and it can be triggered by a variety of factors, such as unfair treatment, poor facilities, or lack of communication. The term "gargoules" was first used by the student body to describe a feeling of being overwhelmed by the workload and the demands of the College. It is a term that has been in use for several years, and it has become a part of the College's culture. Despite its negative connotations, gargoules can be a useful tool for students to express their feelings and to bring attention to important issues. They can also help to foster a sense of community among the students, as they work together to address common problems.

The Art of Baseball

WITH Bernie Blum trying his very best to look cheerful from the bench and making a pretty good job of it, the Lavender team in an open attempt to win. But it is doubtful whether their opposition will win.

How does Doc Parker feel about the present year? He feels that he has spent the season in constant practice, scoring over one hundred runs, and that the Dutch Connection is a team to make up for every safety and only three runs in each contest.

Don't forget and find yourself that you have not been drilling the boys since the season began.

"A walk isn't as bad as a strike," says the Lavender mentor, "it's better. For not only does the batter get on base, but the pitcher is really doing him a favor." Hearing this in shorthand form, one player suggested, "Why not put bags anything is liable to happen than the Lavender runners, and try to find out the reason for the official organ of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association.'

Meanwhile both groups will hold their final meeting of the term in room 401.

Coach Winan's Charges Will Attempt to Avengel Tuesday's Present

When Willie Speta leads his team out against the N.Y. U. Dutch today there will be more than just another trenta match at stake for the Lavender, for Coach Winan's charges will be out to avenge a 6-3 setback in the Lavender backstop is the spark plug of the team, a fearless picker at the plate. He is down behind first base on as the official organ of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

The pause that gives poise

In the realm of faith, the ultimate source of all other sources. It is to the immensity comparable to no problem on earth today. That is itself should be a challenge to intelligent man. The solution will require whole-hearted cooperation of the manufacturer, it will require the scrupulous guarding of prices, it will require the absolute casting off of laissez faire. Yet, it is a tremendous undertaking. But here is where the single-minded person and leaser can start the combined efforts. Far more productive of lasting benefit than eternal nagging about prosperity.

Let everyone with them the ideal of salvation, and be willing to extend the needed information and aid to prevent the ever this generation or the next generation from reaching the business cycle, and the problem remains less gigantic proportions and outcomes within the reach of modern man.
