CAMPUS PETITIONS GAG-RULE REPEAL

Calls For Student Support Against Restriction Of Speech

Urges Students Fill Blanks

By-Law Prohibits Political Discussion Or Agitation On College Grounds

"Neither the College buildings nor the grounds of the College shall be used for meetings or addresses or for any activity in interest of any political party, religious sect, or cult, or for any agitation against the institutions, laws and established public policies of the College, city state, or nation."

So reads the amendment to Section 42, Article XI, of the by-laws of the Board of Higher Education, adopted four years ago and alternately enforced and violated ever since. In a College-wide campaign of opposition beginning today, The Campus, the student tri-weekly, will attempt to organize student support of its petition for repeal of the amendment.

Although the ruling has been shown to be generally unenforceable, frequent applications of it have served to prohibit specific meetings, notably pre-election political symposia. The latest enforcement of this measure occurred this October, when the Student Forum was denied permission to hold a meeting at which representatives of all the major political parties were to speak.

Previous appeals by student clubs and publications have elicited no action on the part of the Trustees, nor has the resolution passed last year by the Student Council had any effect. The Campus plans this time to submit with its petition a sheaf of the blanks, to be found on this page, returned to it by students and clubs. They may be deposited in the box in the Campus booth or turned in to members of the Campus staff today or tomorrow.

The petition, which will be submitted to President Robinson today for consideration at the next meeting of the Board of Higher Education, reads as follows:

"On behalf of the students of the City College, The Campus, the student newspaper, hereby petitions you for the repeal of the amendment to Section 42, Article XI of your by-laws. We are convinced, and we feel that the majority of the students of the Col-

S. C. ADOPTS NEW SUCCESSION BY-LAW

Also Drops Charges Brought By Alcove Committee Against Y.M.C.A.

The Student Council passed the following in its regular session Friday.

1. A by-law providing for the succession of council officers in the event of the ineligibility of president and vice-president and also for the clarification of the eligibility clause.

2. A motion dropping all charges brought by the Alcove Committee against the Y. M. C. A.

3. A motion that the secretary write the chairman of the Faculty Co-op Committee to hold a joint meeting with the Student Council Co-op Committee in the former's next regular session to discuss the Co-op situation and have their books at disposal.

4. A motion that all organizations be deprived of S. C. facilities unless members of such organizations pay their Student Council activity fee by Friday December 9.

5. A motion that Vic Feingold '33, be appointed treasurer pro-tem of the council.

6. A motion that Professor Hastings be appointed Faculty Treasurer of the council.

7. A motion that W. Arthur Schatteles, editor-in chief of The Campus be summoned to appear before the S. C. for questioning.

8. An appropriation of fifty cents each to the council's delegates at the United Student Conference against

Brown to Address Menorah Thursday

The last of a series of addresses on "Whither Jewish Youth?" will be given before the Menorah Society next Thursday at noon by Meyer Brown, president of the Jewish National Workers Alliance, and national secretary of the "Poale-Zion." The subject of Mr. Brown's talk will be "Labor Zionism and International Labor Movements." Others who have appeared in this series of lectures are Jacob Katzman, Goldie Meyers, and Dr. May Bere, all eminent in Jewish affairs.

Plans concerning future activities of the Menorah Societies at the metropolitan colleges were discussed at a meeting of the Inter-Varsity Menorah Council at N. Y. U. Bear's Den yesterday afternoon. It was decided to hold a dance the "latter part of this month to bring together the members of all metropolitan Menorah Societies." The College representative at the meeting was I. Spiro '33, president of the Menorah Society.

THE GAG-RULE

The Campus, in directly sponsoring a practical move to have the Trustee "Gag-rule" repealed, intensifies a fight that it has waged, on and off, for the past three years. Last year we brought the matter up to the Student Council and had that body put through a resolution asking the Trustees to reconsider the by-law. That, of course, was the last of that. This term, however, we are determined upon a fight to the finish.

The Board of Higher Education has in the past ignored every appeal against the gag-rule because it has been able to ignore them. The Campus intends by a vigorous campaign against the amendment to Section 42, article XI of the by-laws to so organize and articulate student opposition that the Board will not be able to ignore it.

The restriction prohibiting political activity within the College is not only an un-American violation of the freedom of speech and press, it is a distinct impediment to an important phase of our College education, as defined, not only by Professors Cohen, Overstreet, and Otis, but also by President Robinson himself.

The Campus calls upon the students of the College individually and in their organizations to express their support of this movement in a practical way: with our petition to the Trustees we shall submit all the returned copies of the blank which will be found on this page. We ask every student and every club to sign and turn in one of these blanks.

Board of Higher Education,

I.C.C. to Hold War Forum Ask Lacrosse Recognition

Each Club Will Have Speaker At New Sponsored Symposium

A symposium on "The Student and War" will be held this Thursday at a mass meeting of the student body to be conducted by the Inter-Club Council, it was finally decided at Friday's meeting of that body. Representatives of the leading clubs in the College will present their addresses on the question of the probability of another war, the vital interest this question should have for the students of the College, and the necessity of planned, organized and continuous student action for the prevention of war.

The Social Problems Club, the Student Forum, the Y. M. C. A., the Engineering Societies, the Douglass Society, the Officers Club, the Menorah Society, the Cercle Jusseland, the Deutscher Verein, the Circolo Dante Alighieri and the Circolo Fuentes have been invited to choose representatives to speak.

The Social Problems Club, the Student Forum and the Y. M. C. A. have tentatively accepted the invitation already. The editors of The Campus declined a request to present their views, on the grounds that the student newspaper prefers to present all the views expressed at the symposium impartially.

Manager Says Lacrosse Team Faces High Calibre Opposition

As a result of the huge turnout for lacrosse, a movement is under way to place that sport in the major category, on a par with basketball, baseball, and football.

The fact that the team competes with the outstanding twelves in the country has also exercised its influence in adding impetus to the movement. Consequently the matter will be brought before the A. A. Council on Thursday, December 8, and that body is expected to take action upon the proposition.

Coach Leon "Chief" Miller and Captain Bernard Kushner '34 expressed themselves as believing that lacrosse deserves to be rated as a major sport not only because the number of active participants in the game rivals the turn-outs for basketball and baseball, but also because the team has in the past put the College in the championship division in intercollegiate lacrosse.

Bernard Schwartzberg '34, manager of lacrosse, and Elliott Norwalk '33, junior varsity manager, pointed out that last year the City College lacrosse team played the leading colleges in that sport in the country, facing a much higher level of competition than the football and baseball teams.

JAYVEES DEFEATED BY KIPS BAY, 26-23

Yearlings Suffer First Defeat By Any Team But N.Y.U. In Three Years

A hard-fighting Jayvee five went down to defeat for the first time in three years to a team other than N. Y. U., when it was conquered by the powerful Kips Bay A. C. quintet 26-23, in a spirited battle.

With three minutes left to play and the score 23-22 against them, the St. Nick club five had an excellent opportunity to tie or forge ahead of the husky downtown squad, but Gallagher of the visitors put an end to this threat when he sunk a long shot to sew up the game.

Both teams played the same type of game. They displayed a fast passing, hard cutting, man to man style of play with the physically stronger and more experienced squad winning. Capt. George Tarzian of the downtown cagers was the individual high scorer of the battle, followed by "Lefty Greenblatt and Phil Levine of the College, with eight and six tallies respectively.

The contest was extremely close from start to finish with Kips Bay taking the lead for the while only to have the Lavender yearlings spurt and recapture it. At half time the St. Nick cagers held a slight edge with the count 11-10 in their favor.

St. Nick Cagers Display Top Form In Second Half To Clinch Game

Tommy's Shows Fine Form In Holding College to 16-12 In First Half

By L. R. Guylay

Displaying the type of basketball that won the Eastern Championship last year the College courtmen completely outclassed a rugged St. Thomas quintet Saturday night in the gym to triumph by the one-sided score of 42-19. In winning this second straight game, Nat Holman's team showed a remarkable improvement in form over the performance in the season's opener a week previous which had had fans worried for the success of the Lavender.

The scrappy Scranton outfit put up a surprising battle in the first half and the Lavender could not definitely forge ahead with the result that the score at half time was only 16-12. However, in the second half the blinding speed and the seemingly inexhaustible supply of substitutes that Nat Holman kept streaming in and out of the game began to wear down the Tomcats and at the end the Lavender scored almost at will. In fact so completely did the College outclass its opponents in the second half, the Saints could not even score a single field goal.

Spahn Brilliant

Captain Moe Spahn was brilliant in leading his team to this decided victory. In addition to his valuable defensive work he was the spearhead of the Lavender attack accounting for four field goals and one foul for a total of nine points to gain high scoring honors. Francis McGrath with eight points led the visitors' attack.

Play Improved

The Lavender play once again had the spark and elan that swept aside all opposition last year. Passing was vastly improved and the recovery of the ball off the backboard was excellent. The St. Nick team however, continued to be as erratic in its shooting as it was against St. Francis missing numerous easy shots and follow ups.

St. Thomas started with a bang when it scored two goals in quick succession.

Wishnevitz's foul shot gave the College its first point. Danny Trupin was successful on a follow-up and Wishnevitz tied the score at 4 all with another foul. Winograd made a beautiful shot on an equally beautiful pass from Trupin to put the College in the lead as the crowd roared forth its approval.

Contest Close

Winograd and Trupin scored field goals in rapid succession and Spahn sunk one on his specialty, the pivot play. Captain Butterly dropped a long one to be followed by McGrath's two-pointer leaving the score at 12-8.

Play seesawed back and forth with McGrath and Deitch each scoring field goals for the Miners and Goldman and Kaufman converting long shots to bring the count up to 16-12 as the half ended.

St. Thomas showed effects of the terrific pace as the second half started and the College quickly asserted its superiority. Winograd missed an easy shot but Goldman converted on the follow up. Spahn layed one up on an excellent pass from Trupin to bring the score to 20-12 Deitch scored the first of the seven foul shots the Tomcats got during the half followed by Spahn's foul.

Lavender Clicks

Wishnevitz, Spahn, and Goldbaum all scored easy goals as the Lavender attack began to function with the smooth finesse that was so characteristic of it last year. The Purple could do nothing offensively and had all it could do to keep the College in check. McGrath converted two fouls to bring the count up to 27-15.

Berenson sunk a pretty shot as did Ben Goldbaum. On a foul Goldbaum then accounted for his fifth point in three minutes. Wishnevitz and Goldman sunk long ones to bring the score to 36-15. McCaffrey almost scored the first field goal of the half for the Tommys but the ball rolled off the rim. He sunk a foul as did Deitch. Spahn and Levine accounted for two-pointers and then McCaffrey and Deitch again got fouls.

By this time Holman had an entirely substitute team in the game but still the Pennsylvanians could do nothing at all offensively. Sid Horowitz sunk a pretty one to bring the count to 42-19 and there it remained in spite of the frantic efforts of the Purple to score from mid-court.

The ever popular gesticulating referee, Pat Kennedy made his first appearance of the year in New York and received a hearty round of applause and a brisk cheer from the boys.

But the game was a decided disappointment to many of the fans who had come from far and wide to see the famed pugilistic antics of the Lavender worthies. There was nought one single shindig not even a friendly little tiff.

For a time it looked interesting when Robert Butterly gave Ben Goldbaum a friendly boot in the tail. But Goldbaum merely apologized and everything was hot as tarts—much to everyone's keen disappointment.

Correspondence

To the Editor of The Campus:

In view of the fact that the Campus is continually complaining about the childishness and immaturity of the City College student it is strange that nothing has appeared in the paper concerning the manner in which our stately campus is being degraded by a pack of morons who evidently cannot realize that they are out of high-school.

Crap shooting in itself is not a hanging offense although it does betray a weakened moral fiber, but crap shooting on the campus is something that I know is resented by every student who desires to maintain the good name of the college. A college is an institution of learning and as such is synonymous with maturity and dignity in its students. What a shock the casual passerby with such ideas must receive, when on passing the campus he beholds a bunch of "students" shooting crap, playing box-ball, eating and drinking and otherwise disporting themselves in a fashion entirely unbecoming of "men" of college training.

A. J. '36.

We note with much joy, the fact that you sign '36 to your name. You have four long years ahead of you, and at their completion we would like to hear from you again on the subject.)

Foilsmen Practice For Army Match

Preparing for the opening match with Army, in February, the fencing team is practicing three times a week at the Salle d'Armes Vince. According to S. Thompson Stewart '33, captain, the height of rivalry will be manifested in the contest, because of the close score by which the foilsmen triumphed in 1931, and last season's 8-8 tie score.

Although the team is green, because of the loss of most of last year's veterans, a good many fine prospects have been discovered. "Due to lack of experience some of these will be unavailable for competition," Stewart said, "but next year's team will be a crackerjack."

The schedule has not as yet been officially announced. All aspirants for the team are invited to attend practice at the Salle d'Armes Vince, 247 Park Avenue on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons.

QUESTION: WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE GAG-RULE?

Joseph Bergovitch '34—The gag-rule is obviously a puerile attempt by a bourgeois oligarchy to keep from the students the true facts, in order to preserve a dyine economic system—but we will not be suppressed!

Jack Cahn '35—The gag-rule is a malicious attempt by the Board of Trustees to suppress free academic discussion of affairs vital to every student in the College. We are no longer "babes in the wood." We know what things to accept and what not to accept.

Robert Von Doenhoff '33—I agree with Professor Schulz's statement quoted in last week's Campus. If the College wants to keep what freedom it has, it must restrict agitation. The campus is no place for husky-throated street-corner mouthpieces.

Jack Winckelman '33—I would define Liberalism as the tolerance of people with sane views. The gag-rule would be liberal under that definition.

Joseph Weinberg '36—Any attempt on the part of the administration to hinder the expression of student opinion is an outrageous attack on student ideals and must not be borne with!

Carl Marcus '36—The right to freely express one's beliefs is an inalienable one. The authorities have no right in "gagging" student opinion.

Paul Sidrer '35—It is ridiculous. Only a moron would say that all established public policies are beyond reproach and since the purpose of a college education is to enable the student to distinguish the good from the poor policies, the student body should be permitted to actively repudiate what they know to be detrimental.

Max Klinkowitz '35—It is inconceivable that the College—so liberal in many respects—should lag behind perpetually in its duty of citizen training.

Meyer Falcoff '35—City College is justly proud of its reputation as a liberal college—a college whose students besides acquiring an academic education are interested in the political questions of the day. To keep them from taking part in political discussions is to do them a grave injustice.

Nathan Mendelson '34—The rule is excellent inasmuch as it serves to keep the College from becoming a haven for rattle-brained Communists whose sole idea is to keep the spotlight focused on them.

BUNCHUK TO PLAY AT BAND CONCERT

As a result of numerous requests, Yaska Bunchuk will again be the soloist when the College band, under the direction of Capt. Hopf, gives its semi-annual concert next Thursday in the Great Hall at 12:30.

Mr. Bunchuk, who is the leader of the Capitol orchestra, is also renowned as a cellist. Before taking up the baton at the Capitol, he played for the Roxy Symphony Orchestra and frequently appeared as a soloist.

In his previous appearance at the College, Mr. Bunchuk conducted the band in several selections and was accorded an enthusiastic reception by a large audience.

Curtains for This

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING—by William Shakespeare, produced under the personal direction of Percival Vivian; at the Shakespeare Theatre.

The bard of Stratford-on-Avon did a good bit of grave turning Saturday night. It really was a conspiracy on the part of the actors as to who could turn in the most amateurish performance. Leslie Austin as Claudio and Bernard Savage as Friar Frances won.

This group of actors is engaging in an effective crusade to ruin any taste for Shakespeare left in this American intellectual desert. "Much Ado About Nothing" is pretty bad at best but the censors do not permit

COLLEGE WRESTLING FINALS COMPLETED

Thrilling Bouts Feature Tryouts Held At Business Centre Gym

Thrilling and well-wrestled bouts featured the "All-College Championship" tournament held at the Business Centre Gym Friday afternoon before a small but vociferous crowd. From first to last the matches bristled with action and in each the winner knew he had been in a struggle before finally coming out on top. In every case a fall decided the issue but only after much struggling, grunting, and thrashing about was this true.

Last Minute Victor

The outstanding bout on the program saw Zach Biegel '34, finally pin Sol Warren '33, to the mat on the 155-lb. class with only 30 seconds of the match left. At the seven minute mark, Warren had a definite time advantage over his more experienced opponent, but then the tide began to turn and striking with unexpected suddenness, Biegel, who had been content to remain on the defense, took the offensive and with a crotch and body hold, downed his opponent in 9.30. Both contestants put up a splendid struggle and it was only the greater experience of Biegel that gave him the edge.

The next best bout in the point of wrestling technique was the 115-lb. clash between D. Kimmel '34, and H. Friedman '36, in which Kimmel came out on top after 5 minutes and ten seconds of scientific wrestling.

Matches Even

The boys went at each other with a vengeance and were fairly even for the first few minutes. However, Kimmel's superior work on the inside finally enabled him to get the fall. Captain Sid Becker '34, won his bout in the 165-lb. class over Bob Kahn, who put up a very plucky showing, but who finally succumbed to his more experienced adversary in 6.10.

Other matches saw R. Horowitz '33, pin M. Dickerman '35, in 2.48, in the 125-lb. class, while the clash in the 135-lb. division resulted in a triumph for R. Clark over S. Shields after 7 minutes of grappling. G. Hutchinson '35, won the championship in the 145-lb. group by pinning R. Vernon '33, in 2.05, in what was, up to the sudden ending, a very even match.

Mutt and Jeff

The "long and short" of it would be an appropriate title for the 175-lb. clash, in which S. Hirsh '33, tall and thin, won over J. Giglio '33, short and squat after 4.50 of hearty, if not too scientific, grappling.

The last bout on the program, between the behemoths wrestling in the heavyweight, or unlimited division, was won by S. Lipshutz '35, who pinned G. Hartenstein '36, twice, the first fall coming after 5.01 minutes and the second 1.45 later.

Coach A. Chakin, under whose guidance the tournament was held, presented gold medals to the winners, after the meet, and declared himself to be quite pleased with the form shown by his pupils. While unwilling to commit himself as to how the team will fare in its regular matches, he did say that with a little more experience the team would make a creditable showing.

the adjective for what it is at worst. If, previous to the performance, all cast members, except Morris Greet, as Dogberry, had been decapitated, and the stage hands and musicians had been left among the unemployed, (where they belong) your reviewer might still have a taste for "Much Ado About Nothing." Mr. Greet, nephew of Sir Phillip Ben Greet, was a filet mignon 'midst a slew of boiled hams.

Verily, it stank.

New Election Committee

In executive session Jerry Macklin '33, was appointed chairman and Elkan Wendkos '35 and Norman Weisman '35, members of the Election committee. Vic Feingold '33, was instructed to see that the Student Representative Committee be brought to trial before the S. C. Discipline Committee.

The charges against the Y. M. C. A. brought up at the council meeting last week by Eugene Gilhuly '33, co-chairman of the Alcoe Committee, specifically that, (1) it was defunct, (2) it opposed the authority of the Student Council, (3) it refused to recognize the Alcoe Committee, were satisfactorily refuted by Charles Kates '34, acting president of the club. Kates pointed out that the club far from being defunct, has thirteen members and is at present in the midst of reorganization. Also that the club has also recognized the Student Council. Kates took exception to Gilhuly's conduct, denied making any threats against Gilhuly and stated that the latter told him, "I'll break the 'Y'."

Succession Law

The by-law adopted by the council provided that in the event of the ineligibility of any of the officers of the S. C. chosen at the end-term elections provision shall be made to hold a re-election to fill such vacant offices during the regular elections. If at any subsequent time the president and vice-president shall become ineligible the succession shall be through the representative of the U. Sr. class and then the representative of the J. Sr. class. S. C. officers in the future must be registered members of the proper class. Class officers and council representatives "shall run in their entering class" however.

Starbin, S. C. delegate to the United Student Conference against War at the Rand School over the Thanksgiving week-end reported the scope of the conference and stated that he "felt the conference represented a majority of one point of view, the Socialist," and that the Communists were a minority.

"High Class Labor"

The Co-op Committee reported that the reason the co-op gave for charging prices, which are higher than neighborhood stores, was that it hires "high class labor." The committee suggested student employment and arrangement were made for further investigation in conjunction with the faculty committee.

The Special Lunchroom Committee reported due to the type of investigation it was undertaking it had to be "silent on it's findings" for the time being.

The secretary of the council announced that the letter sent to Mr. Glasgal of the Campus Association demanding the dismissal of the editor of The Campus had been accepted, but that it would take two weeks to call a Campus Association meeting and that an answer would be forthcoming then.

Applications for membership on the Curriculum Committee should be handed in to the secretary of the council before the opening of the next council meeting.

Bound in Morocco

A co-author of "The Wandering Jew" returns to the realms by dusting off the Yale University Archives to present what he considers the solution of the House and Wilson friendship. Mr. Viereck, however, does not reveal anything of new value—it amounts to a relash of all previous facts surrounding the much discussed case.

The farthest point the author reaches in the presentation of the Wilson documents is hinting as to their contents. It is no fault of Viereck that the documents are missing—the Yale University library forbids their publication.

The book therefore serves as a presentation of Colonel House's views all over again—partly through interviews and letters, that have already appeared—plus facts gleaned from interviews with such notables as House, Colby, Morgenthau, Burleson and Page.

Psychology Helps

The book is full of facts—there seems to be no end of them—but they overwhelm the author and he seems to lose himself. When a conflict arises, Mr. Viereck relies on psychology to seek his way out and to give an explanation of the perplexing situation. This is seen in the last part of the book, especially.

Mr. Viereck, by looking between the lines, presents the theory that Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson was the real ruler of the U. S. for ten months. Throughout the entire book there are presented theories and contentions by the author which to him may have seemed plausible but to us, full of holes.

In relation to Mrs. Wilson and Colonel House, the author states—"Messages should travel alone. Woodrow Wilson set forth to save Edith Bolling Wilson. Caparisoned from head to foot in purple, a purple dress, a purple hat and a purple plume, she cast a purple shadow athwart the friendship of the two. . . . Jealous of the camaraderie between Wilson and House, she prejudiced Wilson's mind against Colonel House. She was aided and abetted by the men whom House himself had placed near the throne."

Wilson Betrayed

Of Wilson, Mr. Viereck cites—"His figure overshadows the World War. . . . He is impeccable, he is perfect. He is the hero, foully betrayed by the powers of darkness, rising like spring itself, from the grave—titan, superman, god—"the enigma of House will be entangled eternally with the enigma of Wilson. Wilson stalks through history on the feet of Edward Mandell House."

"The Strangest Friendship in History" is written in popular manner and should not fail to recall facts. The style of writing and the procession of familiar figures through it manages to keep alive the reader's interest.

The title, however, gave us the impression that the book would be better.

We feel that the failure to allow publication of the Wilson documents presents a clear interpretation of the situation and of the so-called Wilson myth. We have had Ray Stannard Baker's book "Woodrow Wilson," "The Intimate Papers of Colonel House," and now "The Strangest Friendship in History"—a psychological study and more or less a re-statement of House's case,—it is time for the true Wilson story.

Sage Foundation, is a well-known expert on exhibits and the author of standard volumes on the subject. Professor Joseph, director of the Social Research Laboratory, announced that the meeting is open to the entire student body.

Students Consider College "Gag-Rule"

lege are convinced, that the measure is an unwarranted violation of the national and state constitutions as well as a contradiction of the principles of education."

Beginning with the next issue, The Campus will feature a series of interviews with members of the faculty on the question as well as a continuation of the "Campus Quizzer" presenting students' opinions. It is also planned to run a series of articles describing the situation in other colleges throughout the country and comparing the freedom allowed there with that granted at City College.

CAMPUS NOW ONE CENT

"—and Comment"

For quite some while now, General Webb's sword has been missing from his statue. And still the authorities have taken no action to apprehend the culprit! Possibly they haven't even noticed that the general is missing one sword. We demand immediate action! Say, Webb couldn't have such a bad fellow, even if he was president of the college.

Well, there's one thing about the cold weather. It's broken up those regular afternoon ball games around the Flaggpole. Before the fadeout of old Pop Winter, young undergraduates had spent their time in playing baseball. We'll wager Doc Woll is glad about it after hearing his comparison of conditions on other campuses.

Doc Parker, former mentor of the grid team, is now giving a series of intimate and personal lectures on hygiene. Among his varied topics were: Your Teeth, Proper Positions for Excretory Action and Play, even if it's needlework.

You should have seen that copy of the N. Y. U. Daily News in which their rising young sports columnist belabored us for our editorial: Emphasize Football. That young man, whose smiling face appears at the head of his learned column, wrote that the editorial, which he quoted in part, as entirely unworthy of even his comment.

It happened during one of Professor Heinrich's weekly organ recitals. A trustworthy member of The Campus staff swears that he saw a mouse listning to the Professor play the organ. Severe cross examination could not break down the incredible testimony of the bystander. L. K.

HAZARD ADDRESSES CERCLE JUSSERAND

Featuring an address by Mr. Lodes on "Paris During the War", and Professor Hazard, of Columbia, who related some first-hand impressions of the late French Ambassador, Le Cercle Jusserand held their regular meeting last Thursday at noon, in Room 211.

The club discussed plans for the early publication of the second Chronicle of the semester. Maurice Kurtz, editor of the magazine, declared that contributions should be delivered to him at an early date for appearance in the Chronicle. Much favorable comment has been raised by the original issue earlier this term.

Production of the "Barbier de Seville," by Beaumarchais, is rapidly reaching a finished stage. Members of the cast are being coached by Professor Perrin, of the French department, to help them attain a perfect French accent for the play.

Blend. . . AND YOU GET A DIFFERENT TASTE

Cross-Blend. . . AND YOU GET A BETTER TASTE

That's the reason Chesterfield not only blends but cross-blends its tobaccos.

Blending mixes the tobaccos together. Cross-Blending welds them together. . . into one tobacco of milder, more pleasing taste! And what's more, a taste that's uniform, always the same.

It's like creating a new and better tobacco for cigarettes. It makes Chesterfields milder, gives them more fragrance . . . and makes them taste better.
