Schwartz, Edelstein, Friedlander, Teperman, and Aronowitz Elected Class Presidents

"INDEPENDENT TICKET" DEFEATED FOR OFFICE

Balloting Marked by Close Votes, Uncontested Positions and Tie

George Schwartz, David Edelstein, Moe Friedlander, Joseph Teperman, and Alfred Aronowitz were elected the new class presidents in a balloting marked by everything from uncontested positions to close votes and even a tie in Wednesday's main center class elections. The "Independent Ticket" which put up candidates for three positions, advocating, among other things, abolition of Military Science was defeated in all three contests.

Abraham Baum and Joseph Gottfried were tied for the post of treasurer of June '33, with a vote of 115 each. Seven class offices attracted only one candidate apiece, but in eight other cases, including two of the races for presidential offices, the leading candidates polled within eight votes of each other.

Hyman Gold '33, Harry Weinstein '34, Leonard Kahn '35, and Aaron Delfin '35 will represent their classes in the new student council, which, under the presidency of Emanuel Warshauer '32, will meet for the first time this afternoon.

According to Harold J. Glickman '32, chairman of the elections committee, the re-election between Baum and Gottfried will be held some time in the near future.

The candidates and their votes follow:

Municipal Statute Kayos "Rigoletto"— Concert Presented Instead of Opera

Beniamino Riccio's contribution to the culture of the collegian—a series of operas at the Business center auditorium of which "Rigoletto" was to be the first—smashed against the rock of municipal statute, last Monday afternoon, and disintegrated into farce.

And while hundreds of students, parents, and lovers of music, packed in the tight closet-like room that is Chaliff Hall, alternately shrieked and muttered their disgust, Riccio, instead of the operatic performance and dance recital by the Demishawn troupe originally scheduled, presented a concert of arias.

Thus, after a long series of difficulties with the Bureau of Public Welfare, ended the much heralded performance of "Rigoletto."

The intention of Mr. Riccio to donate one-third of the proceeds to the Student Aid Fund was the immediate cause of the fiasco. According to a statute of the city, benefit affairs must receive a permit before they can be held in public buildings. Since "Rigoletto" was to be a benefit affair, and since the Bureau of Public Welfare refused to issue the permit, it was necessary to transfer the place of the performance.

But Chaliff Hall, as has already been mentioned, is a small room, seating about 200 people and without a stage. Consequently it is impossible to give performances there requiring scenery. With the result that neither the dance recital nor the opera could be presented.

Although the College originally was interested in the affair, a clause in its contract with Riccio has enabled it to wash its hands of the matter. According to this clause the Civic Light Opera company was responsible for all permits necessary.

"BLOODY KENTUCKY" GREAT HALL TOPIC

Speakers Describe Harlan "Horror"; Professor Otis Presides

The current violence, atrocities, and suppression of civil rights in Harlan county were interpreted as "a foretaste of class struggle" by speakers at a "Bloody Kentucky" mass meeting of the Social Problems Club in the Great Hall yesterday noon. Two members of the Workers' International Defense and two native victims of the Harlan County terror described to an audience of seven hundred, the series of murders and assaults, and the continued program of starvation and oppression which, they charged, "a league of mine operators, gunthugs, civil officers, and judges" is perpetrating upon the ten thousand miners "striking for their very lives."

Professor Otis presided, and introduced the "exiles" who came to open the eyes of their hearers to "what's going on in the world."

Mrs. Boyden, a member of the independent committee of writers who went down to investigate the state of affairs in Harlan and Bell Counties, speaking first, averred that "Kentucky is not a backward state, perhaps it is in the vanguard and is giving us a foretaste of the class struggle of the future; when murderers sit with judges, organizers are shot at sight, and sympathizers beaten up."

Waldo Frank, prominent author was still too weak from his slugging there to attend the meeting, but he sent a note pointing out that "when a writer gets his head bashed in, that's news; whereas the mere starving of hundreds and thousands of men and women, since it happens every day, is not news." He held that the affairs in Kentucky are but an example "of the forces of lawlessness and cruelty which are smouldering everywhere in the U. S."

Mrs. Charles Baldwin, widow of a miner "shot by thugs and deputy sheriffs for maintaining a soup kitchen for relief of his fellow strikers," exclaimed, in reference to the preceding accounts of official violence and terrorism, "God help America if this sort of thing goes on much longer!"

Lavish Praise Heaped on Current Mercury; Comic Monthly Getting Better and Better

By Elliott Hechtman
A remarkably husky Mercury appeared on the campus yesterday—composed of several parts of "Ballyhoo," several parts of intercollegiate punnery and several parts of just good plain staff work.

"Ballyhoo" is "Ballyhoo," of course, and intercollegiate punnery is always terrible, but the Mercury is funny notwithstanding. Hatch is giving his customers more for their money than any editor for a long time back. The drawings are new, the jokes are new, and some of the verse is pretty good (a poem that must be read is a Pinafore form of advice to freshmen in search of a Ph. D.).

Dean Redmond has apparently relaxed a bit, for there are a few pieces that gave an entire locker room a big laugh. And to give a locker-room a laugh, you gotta have something good and stark, now ain't that a fact?

Lavender Quintet to Climax Season With Violets at Armory Tomorrow; Jayvees Will Encounter N.Y.U. Cubs

Junior Varsity Seeks Revenge for Defeat Incurred Last Year

WIN OVER VIOLET CUBS MEANS PERFECT RECORD

Mandell, Goldbaum, Out of Line-up in Preliminary to Annual Classic

Galvanized by an urge for sweet and decisive revenge, the Lavender Jayvee basketball team will make its greatest effort for victory tomorrow night when it meets the marauding New York University frosh quintet in the preliminary to the varsity game at the 102nd Armory.

Last year at approximately the same time the Jayvees reached the final contest of their campaign with an unblemished record behind them. The meeting with N. Y. U. wiped out the sugary taste of this undefeated string when the Violet youngsters turned in a surprising 20-15 win over the confident St. Nicks.

Injuries and illness late in the season have hindered the efforts of the aggregation and the fray may open with a number of St. Nick stars out of the lineup.

Joe Mandell has been out of the past few games on account of sickness. In all probability he will see no action in the coming event. Although Mandell did not report until late in the season, he has since proved to be a valuable asset.

The team that goes into action will be by no means makeshift. Sid Horowitz, husky dribble artist, will handle one of the forward posts. Horowitz always provides plenty of action for his opponents. Alongside of him at the other offensive position will be Al Goldsmith, the curly-headed wizard.

Bill Webb, efficient pivot man and mainstay of the organization, once again will jump center. Sam Winograd, veteran of every contest this

COLLEGE FIVE WINS OVER THREE TEAMS

Quintet Beats Three Out-of-Town Opponents During Past Week

Seven days have marked three new entries upon the sunny side of the account for Lavender basketball, all gained at the expense of non-Metropolitan institutions. Victories within a single week over such a trio as Providence, Lehigh, and Rutgers should certainly pardon any ostentatiousness, if there were any, on the part of their distinguished majesties, the Rulers of the Eastern Court.

Each of the eleven players who journeyed to Providence last Thursday participated in the truly fine exhibition of offensive and defensive tactics that earned the easy 39 to 20 victory over the Friars. The superb Holman defense held the feared home team to one point, tallied from the foul line for the first eleven minutes of play and to two baskets for the entire half.

Meanwhile Joe Davidoff and Moe Spahn aided and abetted by the rest of the smoothly-clicking machine, cavorted and toyed with the outplayed Providence team. The score at the half was 23 to 7, and the boys from the Big Town coasted into a 37 to 20 triumph.

The Lehigh squad came to the Exercising Hall two nights later with a ten point victory over Rutgers preceding it. It departed suffering a 50 to 29 defeat.

The Pennsylvanians were out of the picture almost from the start, although the Lavender game was not quite up to the standard of the Providence exhibition. The entire St. Nick squad of three complete quintets performed, the third team entering with the score 45 to 23.

Speedy little Lou Wishnevitz featured with spectacular dribbles through the Lehigh defense, and caged long shots from the field for a total of thirteen points. Spahn helped with five goals, and Davidoff donated eight tallies. Arthur Kaufman, substituting for Davidoff, added four markers to the two he caged in the Providence game.

After traversing the tortuous and devious highways and byways of New Jersey by bus, the entire squad arrived at New Brunswick just before game time, and proceeded to trounce Rutgers, 27 to 18.

Violets Are Last Obstacle in Path to Eastern Court Title

16 VICTORIES, 1 LOSS IS RECORD OF CAGERS

Victory Tomorrow Will Make Clean Sweep of City Opponents

With the mythical Eastern court title a practical certainty and the metropolitan championship within its grasp, the College varsity basketball team faces the final obstacle in its quest for undisputed supremacy when it meets the New York University five tomorrow evening on the 102nd Regiment Armory floor in a game that promises to be a thriller. The two schools, bitter rivals on the court, have been meeting annually for seventeen years, and the game has become known as a classic battle.

Nat Holman's high-g geared machine, in compiling an impressive record of 15 victories in 16 starts, has amassed a total of 499 points as compared with 280 registered against it. As a result of this enviable record the College quintet will enter the game a decided favorite to repeat its 29-24 victory of last year.

Beat City Rivals

A Lavender win tomorrow night will signal the first time since 1925 that the Lavender has been undefeated by metropolitan teams. To date among the city teams, the College enjoys decisions over St. John's, Manhattan, St. Francis, and Fordham (twice). In the general Eastern race the only team to hold a victory over the College is Temple University, but inasmuch as the Philadelphians have been beaten five times, they have no basis to contest the Lavender's claim for the crown.

Three of the men who started against N. Y. U. last year will again oppose the Violet tomorrow night. Joe Davidoff, Moe Spahn, and Lou Wishnevitz, all of whom were instrumental in N. Y. U.'s defeat last year will again be in the starting lineup. Moe Goldman, lanky sophomore pivot man, and Johnny White, flashy forward, will round out the first quintet. Wishnevitz, who stopped Monty Banks, Violet star last year, has been sick lately but his illness probably will not keep him out of the fray.

One More Game

Since only the post-season charity tilt with Howard University remains on the Lavender schedule, tomorrow's game will be the last major one for five men on the squad. Joe Davidoff, Dave Halpern, Robbie Siegel, Al Solomon, and Harry Giltitz all are seniors who are closing their college basketball careers.

Last year in a rough game, the College took an early lead which it never relinquished, successfully staying off a last-quarter spurt. N. Y. U. capitalized on its foul tries, converting 18 out of 21. On the other hand the close defense of the Lavender limited the Violet to but 4 goals from the floor, such scoring threats as Jerry Nemecek and Banks being held entirely in check.

COLLEGE TANKMEN ENGAGE DELAWARE AT HOME TONIGHT

Relay Team Probably Will Have Kramer, Abelson,
Ratner and Snow

CITY COLLEGE FAVORED
TO BEAT SOUTHERN TEAM

Kramer Figured to Win 220 and
440 Yard Free Style
Events

Another attempt to break into the victory column will be made by the College Varsity swimming team when it faces the University of Delaware mermen, this evening at the College pool in a non-league encounter. The Lavender natators, in their last start, dropped a 46-25 decision to Rutgers in a meet which saw the St. Nick ace, Harold Kramer, swim to a dead heat with Walter Spence, his closest rival for Intercollegiate Swimming Association high scoring honors, in the 150 yard backstroke event. It was the first time that Kramer ever swam in the back-stroke in collegiate competition.

Kramer still holds the lead in the I. S. A. individual scoring lists with forty points which give him a four point lead over Spence. However, the Rutgers star stands a good chance to take the lead, over the week-end at least, as the New Brunswick team will be meeting Columbia while the Lavender is dallying with Delaware in an outside encounter the results of which will not count in the league totals. However, it is more than likely that Kramer will finally gain the crown, as the Columbia meet will be Spence's last while Kramer will have a chance to add to his score when he swims against Penn on March 4, in the Lavender's last dual meet.

Delaware is not likely to give the St. Nick mermen much trouble tonight. The Southerners in their last start conquered the William and Mary tankmen by a 38-29 count but their times do not compare favorably with the marks established by the New Yorkers. Kramer may be counted on for victories in the 220 and 440 yard free style events while it is more than likely that the relay team which will probably be composed of Kramer, Lou Abelson, Jesse Ratner and John Snow will come through to first place. Also Gene Sigel is almost certain to win his specialty, the breast stroke event.

EXAMS FOR ED. 41, 42, 61

English Qualifying Tests to be Given on March 3

In order that students may learn as early as possible whether or not they will be permitted to take Education 41, 42 and 61, the qualifying examinations will be given as soon as these students begin their studies in the Department of Education. Students enrolled in the Education 11 and 16 courses, therefore, will be given their written and oral English examinations this semester.

The written English examination will be given on March 3; the rooms to be assigned by the instructors of the Education courses.

Students who plan to take Education 41 or 61 next semester must apply for the exam in room 114, on March 1.

Nosing out Culver Military Academy by a single point, 1860-1859, for its first victory in the sport since the two institutions have been meeting, the varsity rifle team gained its second telegraphic victory in one week. The other win was garnered at the expense of Army, 1387-1332, marking the premier victory the team has registered over this opponent.

The nimrods also triumphed over Lafayette, Drexel, and the University of Pennsylvania in their four-cornered shoulder-to-shoulder rifle match at Philadelphia last Saturday. The team was well in advance of its opponents, scoring 1304 to Lafayette's 1294, Drexel's 1285 and Penn's 1240.

'Register' Claims that Jews Avoid Militarism as Unprofitable

Felix S. Cohen '26, who as editor of The Campus led the successful military campaign against compulsory military training is a pacifist because "being a Jew he would think as he does since there is no profit in the course that he can see," according to an article in a recent issue of the Army and Navy Register.

"The Jews as a race," declares the article, "have notoriously little stomach for military service. The pay is poor there is no profit in it, and worse, they might be called upon to die for the country of their adoption. "If you examine the lists of volunteers in any of our wars you will find that the Jews are conspicuous—by their absence. They are willing to exploit our country, but not to defend it. "People who think as Mr. Cohen does don't deserve to have a country."

In view of the fact that he is a Jew, asserts the writer, Cohen may be an internationalist "and even in the pay of the Soviet I cannot forget that many of the prominent Soviet leaders are Jews. Jews are by instinct internationalists, which is natural, for they as a race have no country of their own, possibly because they would not defend it."

Responsibility for the article has been disclaimed by the Register. In an editorial entitled "Recantation" it declares, however, that the author is "at least honest, however over-zealous in the terms of communication."

JUSTICE PRINCE TO GIVE CONCERT IN GREAT HALL

Former Member of College Orchestra to Lead Symphonic Ensemble

Municipal Court Justice Leopold Prince '00 and his symphonic ensemble of one hundred players will give a concert in the Great Hall, tonight. Justice Prince, who gained his experience as a violinist in the College orchestra thirty-three years ago, organized his group three years ago.

"It seems only a short time ago," Justice Prince said, "that my son Daniel, my wife, two of Daniel's friends and I met in our apartment at 29 E. 124th St., once a week to play for our own enjoyment. Soon other players heard of us and we welcomed them into our group—until now there are one hundred."

FREE HEINROTH RECITALS

The plan for the series of free organ recitals for the current semester will treat music in the light of its expression of the sentiments and aspirations of the people of a nation, according to an announcement by Professor Heinroth. Instead of devoting programs to individual composers or to several of diverse nationalities, Professor Heinroth has arranged his recitals so that each will include compositions by music of a single national group, such as English, French or Italian.

The Wednesday recitals will henceforth take place regularly in the evenings at 8 o'clock. The Sunday recitals will continue, as hitherto, at 4 o'clock each week. Programs may be obtained in advance at the bulletin board of the Music department.

COLLEGE PUGILISTS FACE SPRINGFIELD

Wrestlers Grapple Brooklynites in Dual Bill at Commerce Gym Tonight

The College wrestling and boxing fans will see plenty of action tonight when the grapplers oppose Springfield College and the pugilists trade blows with the Brooklyn College aggregation in a dual bill at the Commerce Center gymnasium.

The boxers will strive for their fifth victory of the season in opposing the Brooklynites. Coach Hugh Benbow's men have been defeated but once in five starts, succumbing to the Catholic University punch masters, 4 1-2 to 2 1-2. Victories have been scored at the expense of the Brooklyn College, Columbia University, St. Thomas College and Springfield College.

Two of the best records in the inter-collegiate boxing ranks have been compiled by Captain George Striker in the 145-lb. division and Frank Di Giacomo in the 125-lb. branch, these men have been undefeated in the two years of varsity competition and will strive to maintain their unblemished slates.

Jack Diamond, the Lavender light-heavyweight, wearing the gloves for the first time this year has also given an excellent account of himself and was outpunched but once, by his Catholic U. adversary.

In spite of unsuccessful team exhibitions, the matmen possess two men who have distinguished themselves by their individual performances. Captain Herman Finkelstein, heavyweight, and Lou Mendell in the 165-lb. division have yet to taste defeat.
