Lavender Faces Lebanon Valley; Injured Return

Kupperberg and Diamond To Bolster Eleven For Tilt

PARKER DRIVES SQUAD Concentrates on Tackling and Blocking in Heavy Scrimmages All This Week

Reinforced by the return of its injured stars, the Lavender eleven will embark on the comeback trail this Saturday, against Lebanon Valley at the Lewisohn Stadium. Capt. Mike Kupperberg, veteran lineman, and Diamond, backfield ace, have recovered sufficiently from their wounds and will give their much needed assistance to the team.

Terming "Disgraceful"

Termining the tackling and blocking in the R. P. I. game "disgraceful," Coach Parker has been driving his charges mercilessly this week, scrimmaging the entire squad through a heavy session on Monday and continuing these for the rest of the week. The St. Nick coach is stressing in these drills, low charging and clean tackling, dissatisfied with the play of the candidates for the left end position, he is experimenting with Ben Smolian, veteran tackle, at the wing post, leaving the vacancy at tackle to be filled by Emmett Dowling promising sophomore.

Lebanon Valley sends down to New York a veteran squad which has been beaten in its only two starts, by Bucknell 34-0, and by Penn State 32-6. The line averages six feet in height and about 180 lbs. per man from end to end while the backfield is composed of three light shifty ball carriers and a heavy, hard hitting fullback. The visitors have a dangerous aerial attack and in both of their games were worn down in the last half by the superior man power of their opponents.

Three Gridders Star

The only redeeming features of the 33-0 trouncing from R. P. I. were the stellar performances turned in by Hy Rosner, Gene Berkowitz, and Irv Weber. The former did practically all of the ground gaining for the Parkermen and his aerial tosses were potent factors in the only sustained drive the College could muster when five of the seven first downs which were registered at the beginning of the second half. Berkowitz, hampered by a bad leg most of last season, was a tower of strength at the running guard post and even caught a few passes after

Tech News' May be Printed, Third Issue of Term States

"Tech News," appearing yesterday for the third time this semester, stated that plans had been made to apply to the Board of Higher Education for permission to publish a printed paper. Formerly it has been mimeographed.

Besides the permanent features, it contained news of the faculty and students of the Tech building.

Forum to Hold Political Symposium; Awaits Appointments to Committee

Awaiting only the appointment of a permanent committee before it swings into action, the Open Forum has already prepared tentative programs that will carry it far into the year, it was declared yesterday. Present members of the student committee who made the announcement, are Albert Kaplan '34, M. H. Siegel '34, and Howard Frisch '35.

Political Symposium Slated

First in prospect is a political symposium temporarily slated for Thursday, November 2 at which representatives of the five leading parties will be invited to speak. The possibility of obtaining the standard bearers appears slight now but the committee was confident that each of the political organizations would send a well known and influential member to the College.

Other programs too far in advance to be scheduled now include symposiums of the press, of the theatre, of the business world, of labor and of education. Student symposiums were also under consideration as was a series of debates on linked topics.

Sinclair Meeting a Success

Declaring themselves very pleased with the results of the Upton Sinclair meeting last week, the members of the committee explained that the whole of their work would depend for success upon the support of the student body. The Open Forum was formed this year as a result of combined efforts of Dean Gottschall and Harry Weinstein, president of the Student Council.

Designed to take the place of the former discussion groups a faculty committee headed by Dean Paul Klapper was organized to assist the student committee in the arrangement of programs. Complete control, however, remains in the hands of the students.

Hold Mayoralty Straw Election

Politics Club to Test Student Opinion in Straw Vote Today

More than four thousand students are expected to vote today in the mayoralty straw vote which is being held by the Politics Club, it was declared by Edwin F. Rains '34, vice-president of the club. The poll will be held on the concourse floors of both the Main Building and Townsend Harris Hall from 9 A.M. to 1 p.m.

Governor Herbert Lehman will be the principal speaker to address the society this term. Although no date has been chosen as yet for the meeting, the Governor has wired acceptance of an invitation to speak at the College.

Among the other speakers who are expected to appear before the club are: the Hon. Samuel Seabury, Fiorello H. La Guardia, Postmaster James J. Farley, and Chief of Police Bolan. In continuance of their policy the Politics Club will also make many visits to governmental institutions.

Courses Opened At College Centre

The recently established make work College of White Plains headed by President Frederick B. Robinson entered upon its second term last Monday. The school, under the control of the Westchester Collegiate Centre, is again offering first year college courses in various subjects. These courses were established for unemployed high school graduates who wish to avail themselves of opportunity to continue their education. Credit for completed work will be allowed by the College.

The centre was organized in March under the direction of Dr. Lewis A. Wilson, deputy Commissioner of the State Department of Education. More than 150 students attended the Summer term and more have already enrolled for the winter semester.

St. Nick Quintet Holds First Drill

Captain Goldman Heads Ten Returning Veterans; Jayvee Outlook Extremely Bright

Football, now entrenched upon the dais of the college sport stage, has been temporarily cast aside, as the 1933 Lavender basketball team, Eastern champions and winners of the Mayor's Trophy last year, blossoms forth to take its place in the limelight for the first time this semester.

In an effort to launch on its perennial bid for supremacy, the entire squad was assembled yesterday for the initial practice session of the season. Responding to Coach Nat Holman's general call for candidates for the varsity team, seventy-five aspirants, one of the largest turnouts in years, made their appearance before the St. Nick mentor.

Included in this unusually large number were ten experienced holdovers from last year's championship quintet and a group of newcomers comprised of former Jayvee luminaries and ex-Jamaica Training School stars, who are bidding for regular berths. Ever a staunch exponent of speed, Holman believes the only way to build up the pre-season endurance of the squad is to give it plenty of intensive work during the early training period.

The only figures, conspicuous by their absence, were those of ex-Captain Moe Spahn and Lou Wisnevit. The former, mainstay and most important cog in the Lavender machine

Theatre tickets for current Broadway productions can be obtained at reduced prices at the Concert Bureau office outside room 100, 12:00 to 2:00 p.m. or 5:00 to 9:00 p.m. according to an announcement by Julian Moses '34. The reductions range from 40 to 60 percent off the regular box office prices.

Dr. John Finley To Be Honored On Anniversary

Was President of College For Ten Years; Now 'Times' Editor

CEREMONY OCTOBER 26

Dr. Robinson Will Also Honor Arthur Howe, Board of Education Member

Two men, prominent in College activities, will be honored by the College in celebration of their birthdays.

Dr. John Huston Finley, third president of the College, will be feted with a party and exercises in the Great Hall on Thursday, October 26, at noon. President Robinson will tender a party in honor of Arthur Howe, former editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, on the evening of October 25 at the Hotel Astor.

To Present Bust

Members of the faculty, students and guests who were associated with Dr. Finley in his numerous enterprises will help celebrate his seventieth birthday at the assembly. After an academic procession of the faculty, Dr. Robinson will present the College with a bronze bust of Dr. Finley, the work of the late Dykaar. At the conclusion of the program, Dr. Robinson will give a luncheon in Dr. Finley's honor.

Dr. Finley, who was President of the College for ten years, was born in Grand Ridge, Illinois, in 1863. He was educated at Knox College, of which he became president in 1892. After editing Harper's Weekly for a year he became Professor of Politics at Princeton. On the death of General Alexander S. Welsh in 1903, he became President of the College.

Increased Enrollment

When Dr. Finley came to the new buildings on St. Nicholas Terrace, there were 500 students enrolled. When he became Commissioner of Education in 1913, the enrollment was increased to 1200. Dr. Robinson, who was graduated

Dram. Soc. Starts Rehearsal of Play; Tickets to "Guardsman" on Sale Soon

Now that the ticket sales are over and the receipts safely stored in the treasury, the Dramatic Society is willing, nay eager, to announce that henceforth burlesque productions such as "Here Comes the Bride" will be studiously and consciously avoided. But, mark you, our brave thespians do not rush directly from Thalia to Melpomene, that is, from comedy to tragedy. No. Either consciously or unconsciously they have decided to mount the ladder of dramatic presentation rung by rung. And so they have come upon the field of light, sophisticated humor — as interpreted by Ferenc Molnar in "The Guardsman."

There is no doubt that the play is interesting, even fascinating. And we are promised several individual and novel performances by the vari-

Ruling Allows Students to Vote In Classes Originally Entered

Students who are no longer members of the class with which they entered, are now enabled, by a ruling of the Elections Committee, to vote for members of their original class, it was announced today by Sigmund Dreilinger '34, chairman.

Under the terms of this decision, for example, a student who came into the College with the class of '35, but who is now in a position to graduate in '34, will be permitted to vote in the '35 elections.

Harriers Meet R.P.I. Saturday

Veteran Team Headed by Volkell — Confident of Opening Contest

The sharp bark of a starter's pistol will officially usher in the Lavender cross-country season Saturday when the Lavender harriers take the field against R. P. I. at Troy. The St. Nick team has not yet hit its peak condition at this early date but Coach Lionel MacKenzie is relying upon a strong nucleus of veterans to secure a victory for the College.

Capt. Nat Volkell will head a starting team which will probably consist of Marvin Stern, Jimmy Fisher, Milt Gerber, Frank Devlin, Ed Hochberg, and Israel Sohn. Volkell, Fisher and Gerber saw action against the Engineers last year, while this will be the first year of varsity competition for Hochberg and Devlin. Marvin Stern, the star of the varsity two years ago, will probably be the bulwark of this season's squad.

Frosh Coach Pleased

Although last year the Lavender bowed to a strong R.P.I. aggregation the strength of this term's squad leads the Lavender mentor to hope for success.

The freshman team is rapidly rounding into shape for its first meet next week. Coach Orlando is especially pleased with the work Schlectiger, Meagher, Hoffstein, Neer, and Haimovitz have shown during road practice.

College to Elect Student Council Officers Today

Ballots to be Cast for Class Officials at Same Time

VOTES S. C. EXPANSION

Faculty Committee Would Add Seven Delegates Named by Student Clubs

Aiming to coordinate all the extra-curricular activities in the College, the sub-committee of the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, arrived yesterday at several recommendations which will place students in more direct control of their own activities.

At the same time, it decided to go through with class elections as scheduled for today. Election for the vacated Student Council offices will take place at the same time, if arrangements for the printing of ballots are completed by eleven o'clock this morning.

Conclusions Only Tentative

All the conclusions decided upon for future student government organizations, are tentative and will be reported to the committee at its next meeting. The faculty members of the sub-committee expressed a "sincere desire" to permit students to regulate their own affairs and the major part of the report will contain provisions which attempt to make existing rules for faculty supervision less stringent.

In an effort to broaden student interest in extra-curricular activities the Student Council will be enlarged to about seventeen members. Besides the ten members on the Council now, representatives of clubs will be selected in the following manner. One delegate will be selected to represent publications; one the A. A.; one literary organizations; one science clubs and another for social science groups. Other delegates will represent religious organizations, and another fraternities. Each group will select its representative in a manner to be determined by the group. The placing of clubs in the various categories has not yet been completed.

S. C. Members Only to Vote

It is likely that after this semester, Student Council officers will be chosen only by holders of Student Council activity cards instead of by the entire undergraduate body.

Another vital change is called for in the proposal which obviates the necessity of a club faculty advisor attending every meeting. Instead, the responsibility for the "tactful conduct" of every club meeting will be

Lewis Announces Increase In Military Science Courses

The allotted enrollment for the advanced courses in Military Science has been officially increased from seventy-one to eighty, Colonel George Chase Lewis, chairman of the department, announced yesterday. He also stated that three times the number of the given quota had applied, and that there had been a twenty-five percent increase in the basic course.

"INITIUM BONUM"

THE whole-hearted, sincere effort of the sub-committee of the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs to place student affairs in student hands is an admirable step in the right direction. For the authority to take such action, the faculty goes back to a recent edict of the Board of Higher Education. It is well that the Trustees realize that the faculty is in a far better position to know and understand students' desires and needs more clearly than the Board can. Such is true by the very nature of things as they exist today.

But the faculty might have been either narrow or dictatorial in its policy. But such courses would have been born only from the union of short-sightedness and suppression. The Campus is glad to see that such courses were not followed; The Campus is proud to have offered the suggestion that student opinion be represented on the committee and we are even more delightful to learn of the amicability and harmony which prevailed at the joint faculty-student sessions. There is room for more legislation in which the faculty and undergraduate body ought co-operate, but at least a beginning has been made.

The proposal to enlarge the composition of the Student Council so as to include organizational representation will for the first time give a voice in the Council to those whom the Council would supervise. The benefits and fairness of such legislation cannot be questioned. Similarly, the plan, to make faculty supervision of club activities less stringent, is a forward-looking idea.

Student freedom, of course, carries with it the burden of student obligation and responsibility. Such a proposition is, however, eminently just. Those, who expect to gain greater freedom without the concomitant restrictions of liberty, deserve nothing better than a tyrannical despotism. To those who are willing to bear the burden of a real and heavy duty, the new regulations will open long closed opportunities for intelligent discussion and undergraduate self-expression.

There will be flaws in the new system. But no new plan can hope to be perfect. The arrangements as constituted, at present, are flexible and pliable so that as loop-holes become manifest, it will be easy to stop up the gaps.

Acting Dean Gottschall said yesterday: "Deplorable as the events of the past term have been, they have, at least, tended to clear the atmosphere." For that at least we can be thankful. What the present reorganization of undergraduate activities owes to the happenings of last semester is a moot point, but if there is any debt, then what transpired last term must not be credited only on the debit side of the ledger. Anything that brought out the weakness of the Student Council served some good purpose; and any movement, which will revitalize that body and make it the powerful organization it ought to be, deserves hearty support. The report of the faculty sub-committee is the beginning of such a movement.

Alumni

Here we are back again, piloting this column for one more year, but we are saddened a little by the thought that after ten short months we'll have to say farewell. Then we will be one of those about whom we're writing now.

There is a great deal to tell you, but the main thing now is, of course, the city election. Never before in its entire history, we feel safe in saying, has the citizenry of New York been more roused, more interested in, and more concerned about the outcome of a mayoralty election than at present. And as usual C. C. N. Y. alumni are in the midst of the fight, big as life, and playing their part.

Alumni Battle in Politics

Some names are new, some are familiar, and a few old ones are sadly missing but always the name of the College is borne along in a never-ending procession. It is to those, upon whom the political spotlight now shines, that we pay tribute today.

Until a few days ago it appeared that a bitter battle was to be waged by two alumni for the office of President of the Board of Aldermen but one reconsidered and retired. Can it be that after thirty years the respectful Frosh attitude toward Seniors is still so strongly ingrained? Frosh M. Malwin Fertig '07, leaves the field to Senior Bernard S. Deutsch '03. Mr. Fertig, a Roosevelt man, (F. R. B. C.) found the candidacy of Federally-supported Mr. McKee more to his liking than that of Mayor O'Brien and accordingly stepped out of the picture. In order to run for the post, which he just decided he didn't want, Mr. Fertig resigned as Counsel to the Governor of New York, a post he also filled during Governor Roosevelt's term. Before that he was assistant Corporation Counsel to the City of New York.

Deutsch Candidate

Mr. Deutsch, as you probably know, is the Fusion candidate. Strangely enough he and Mr. Fertig are very good friends. Mr. Deutsch is a lawyer and has not previously held public office. You may or may not recall that last year together with Mr. Alger he ran as an independent candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court, in protest against the so-called Hofstadter — Steur deal.

Samuel Levy '94 would like to succeed himself as President of the Borough of Manhattan. Well, as dean of them all, we wish him luck. The more men C. C. N. Y. has on the Board of Estimate the better it will be for future students. By the way we mention that Mr. Levy is a Democrat.

James A. Foley '01, after twelve years of fine service comes up for re-election as Surrogate of New York County. He is the Democratic and Fusion candidate and certainly with this combined vote he ought to get in.

This year a large number of alumni seek judicial positions. To mention a few of the more important ones we have Israel J. P. Adlerman '99, Democrat, candidate for Justice of the City Court; James C. Madigan '00, who would like to sit on the City Court Bench in Manhattan. Mr. Adlerman is partial to the Bronx.

Geo. Trosk '10, Fusion is running for the Supreme Court; Owen W. Bohan '02, Democrat for the General Sessions and Edward R. Koch '03, Democrat for the Supreme Court.

Win or lose Mr. Donald A. Roberts '19, Secretary of the Associate Alumni, hopes to have all the candidates at the Alumni Dinner on Nov. 18. You can stand outside the door then and get your autographs.

Jerome B. Cohen.

what makes a cigarette taste better

WHAT makes anything taste better? It's what is in it that makes a thing taste better.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because we buy ripe tobaccos. These ripe tobaccos are aged two and a half years—thirty months. During this time the tobaccos improve—just like wine improves by ageing.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because they have the right kind of home-grown tobaccos and Turkish Tobaccos "welded together."

We hope this answers your question.

Upton Sinclair '97, was very refreshing to the students in his speech at the Great Hall. He refreshed their minds about his books, policies and everything else—including Upton Sinclair....The Lavender alumnus also spoke about his motion picture. Fifty-four miles of film were used in the shooting of "Thunder over Mexico." After the picture was cut only one mile of film remained. Some detour....Sinclair is seeking the nomination for governor of California on the Democratic ticket because he thinks that more people will listen to him as a Democrat than as a Socialist.

We might also add that in California more people would listen to him as a Republican than as a Democrat....

When Mr. Woolf, the librarian, threatened to put several students out of the library unless they made less noise, the boys burst into a chorus of "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Woolf?"...The Politics Club is holding a mayoralty straw vote on the main concourse today. As space is provided on the ballots for write-in votes a big struggle is expected between Mickey Mouse and the Four Marx Brothers....

In order to prevent the misuse of student funds, the committee will suggest a permanent accounting form which will be filed by each club and which will be audited by responsible auditors.

Today's elections will be conducted as they have been in the past and this term's Council will be in the nature of a transition council. The club delegates, however, will be seated in the Council as soon as they have been pulling out of the line on the attack. Weber, playing right end gave his usual steady performance, piling up and turning in the flank plays several times when R. P. I. threatened to break away.

However, the play of the entire team was far below its playing calibre. From the opening running play when it fumbled, the Lavender was back on its heels except for a brief drive in the third quarter. Since, it was the Cherry and White's initial contest, it could not be scouted and the College, minus three of its five veterans, was unable to cope with the confusing muddle huddle and single and double wing-back formations of the Trojans. The Engineers went around the left flank almost at will and Coach Parker, intending to put in both Diamond and Kupperberg in case of a close battle, kept them on the sidelines and allowed most of his substitutes to play through the last half when the victors had 22 points out of their total score.

Two Men Hurt

Berkowitz and Ed Juliber were battered from the fray and have not been in uniform this week. It is doubtful whether either of them will see any action against Lebanon Valley but the rest of the squad, as a whole, is in good shape. Paul Sidrer hasn't been in uniform since he received a concussion in the brain while Hy Velkoff, who tore a ligament in his arm early in the season, is expected back any day.

uated in the first class to receive a diploma signed by President Finley said, "His administration was marked by a consciousness to serve the community beyond merely educating its youth."

In 1921 Dr. Finley became Associate Editor of the New York Times. He has received more than twenty honorary degrees from universities in the United States and Canada, and has been decorated by Japan, France, Italy, Serbia, Poland, Finland, Norway, Denmark, Lithuania, and Greece. He was a guest lecturer at the Sorbonne, Pacific School of Religion and Harvard, North Carolina, Virginia and Edinburgh Universities.

Mr. Howe, who became editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle in 1915, has been connected with that paper since 1893. He retired from his executive position last year but continued his membership on the Board of Higher Education. Born in Nova Scotia in 1867, Mr. Howe came to the United States at an early age, where he soon joined the staff of the "Eagle." He rapidly rose until he reached the position of editor.

Procaccino Kidnapped Again; Vengeful Sophomores Accused

The hand of fate has fallen heavily on the junior advisor of the freshman class.

"They'll never get me," Morty Procaccino '35, boasted, but last Monday a group of vindictive sophomores crept up in the dark, and the vainful boaster was kidnapped, stripped, and then sent on his lonely way.

This marks the third kidnapping of Procaccino. Once in his freshman year he shone too brightly over his classmates, and last year as a sophomore the new yearlings took vengeance. He is planning to open a course on "how to take it."

Intramural Entries To Be Held Today

All entries for the Intramural 4-Wall Handball Singles Tournament, must be in the hands of the Intramural Board by 6 p.m. today, Bernie Schwartzberg '34, manager of intramurals announced. Candidates may submit applications at the A. A. office in the Hygiene Building.

First round eliminations will begin on Friday, and must be played off by next Wednesday. Pairings for the first round will be found in the Hygiene Building on Friday.

The next event on the intramural program will be a cross-country race Thursday, Oct. 19, at 1, which will be held on a course around the College. This change of schedule was occasioned by a student demand for the event near the College.

J. V. to Open Season Against Monroe High

With two weeks of practice over, the junior varsity football team will open its season when it faces the James Monroe High School team at the latter's field Saturday morning.

The Lavender yearlings will take the field a decided underdog against the powerful, well-coached Monroe eleven, because of a lack of actual contact work and a dearth of experienced back field reserves.

To Use Entire Squad

Anxious to get a line on as many of his candidates as possible in order to get together a winning combination, Coach Miller intends to use his entire squad if possible. The back field is giving the "Chief" the most concern at present because of the scarcity of experienced material and because lack of practice has prevented him from obtaining any real information as to his candidates' merit. The loss of Kavanaugh, a brainy quarterback with great potentialities, has also hurt the team's chances.

The tentative starting lineups is as follows:—

- L.E.—Dwyer
- L.T.—Goldburg
- L.G.—Musgrave
- C—Lubow
- R.G.—Maroff
- R.T.—Howit
- R.E.—Mearns
- Q—Klamaskus

chime for the past two seasons, was by far the best versatile player ever turned out by college. Wishnevitz, diminutive guard, whose stellar performances stamped him as an All-Metropolitan player, will also be missed.

The main task of cutting the cutting the squad from its unwieldy proportions will undoubtedly begin as soon as the regular scheduled practises get under way. The pruning knife will fall heavily considering the fact that such a large number of aspirants have answered the call. It is safe to predict now that several new faces will turn up to take the places of some of the fading veterans.

The nucleus of this years aggregation will consist of Moe Goldman, Captain-elect and center for the last two seasons, Pete Berensen, a sensational forward, Danny Trupin, forward and guard, Artie Kaufman, a bulwark on the defense, and Sam Winograd, the only sophomore on last years starting five. Offhand it is fairly certain that the current edition of the team will have as its regulars the aforementioned players, all of whom saw service in every tilt last year.

The Jayvees under the tutelage of Lou Spindell for the second successive season began practice on Monday with a turnout of over eighty candidates. Harry Kovner, all-Brooklyn guard at New Utrecht, seems outstanding at the present writing.

... all of the claims that have been made about smoking tobacco—how it was that one was this and that one was that?

After all, what you want to know when you get a thing for a certain purpose is . . .

"Was it made for that?"

Granger is made of White Burley—the kind of leaf tobacco that's best for pipes.

And old man Wellman, who taught us how to make Granger, knew how.

Granger is made to smoke in a pipe—and folks seem to like it.
