GROUP PROTESTS FACULTY ACTION; VISITS GOTTSCHALL

National Student Federation Calls Expulsions, Suspensions Too Severe

HITS ADMINISTRATION Committee Recommends Rein- statement of Student Council; Meets Ousted Students

After an investigation into the recent Anti-Fascist demonstrations at College that resulted in the expulsion of twenty-one students, a committee of the National Student Federation of America protested Friday against the faculty's action as being too severe. The committee met Friday morning with Dean Morton Gottschall and in the afternoon with three representatives of the disciplined students.

The student representatives were Edwin Alexander '37, Morris Millgram '37 and Gilbert Cutler '36. After these two meetings, the committee, bearing the title of the Committee on Student Rights, made known its report on the affair in a letter published in this month's Clonian.

"We protest," the letter declares, "that the penalties inflicted have been unreasonably severe in that the offenses were an outgrowth of the conditions at C.C.N.Y. resulting from the Administration's policy. For several years student uprisings at City College have been prompted by the failure of the Administration to permit legitimate action by student groups on the campus. Not only has there been repression but that repression has been discriminatory."

"The latest manifestation of this policy has been the abolition of the Student Council, the organ of student self-government. Even if it necessitates a change in Administration, we recommend that the student council resume its functions and that the student council resume its functions and that the penalties meted out be reconsidered and made less severe."

Petitions requesting the faculty to reconsider the cases of the expelled students continued to circulate this week among clubs and other College organizations.

After the meeting of the faculty of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences taking place next Thursday, President Robinson has advised Professor Frederick G. Reynolds, secretary of the faculty, to call a meeting of the entire faculty to reconsider the case.

Daniel Gunsher Wins Award In Daily Newspaper Contest

Daniel F. Gunsher '36, a student of the College was awarded third prize in the Biggest Jewish News of the Week contest held by the Jewish Daily Bulletin. He received a cash award of five dollars.

Cash prizes of twenty-five, ten and five dollars are awarded the winners of the contest each week for writing the best 250 word articles on what they consider the biggest Jewish news of the preceding week.

Packed Houses Receive "Last Mile" With Loud and Cheerful Laughter

By Ezra Goodman
John Wexley's "The Last Mile" saw light again last week in the Pauline Edwards Theatre and was received in unusually fine fashion by a packed house. The audience in fact was in such good humor that it laughed loud, long and cheerfully on the wrong occasions.

Although a drama which deals with conditions in a prison death-house is not usually regarded as conducive to laughter, the reaction to this term's Varsity Show seemed to disprove this contention. No one thus far has been able to explain the behavior of the audience. Someone has suggested that the Psychology Department take up the matter and offer an explanation.

MEMBERS ELECTED TO HONOR SOCIETY

Sheriff, Rosner, Among Eight Admitted to Lock And Key

Lock and Key, honorary senior society, elected eight new members at a meeting held last Wednesday.

The eight students distinguished in extra-curricular activities are: Oscar Bloom, captain of the boxing team and member of the football team; Martin Blum, editor of Clonian; Harold Halpern, business manager of last year's Varsity Show and the Student; Marvin Levy, manager of the football team; Les Rosner, all-American lacrosse star and member of the football team; Max Schoenfeld, business manager of this year's Varsity Show; Seymour Sheriff, editor of the Campus; and Leon Zitver, managing editor of the Student. Membership in the Lock and Key is limited to those who have completed their junior year and who are prominent in extra-curricular activities.

Instructors Plan Staff Association

Plans for the establishment of an Instructional Staff Association of the Evening Session of The College were formulated at a meeting of instructors on November 28. An Organization Committee of six members to draw up a constitution for the Association was elected with Dr. Ralph B. Winer as chairman.

The purpose of the group is "to advance the scientific, professional, and economic interests of the instructing staff, as teachers of the Evening Session."

Membership in the association is open to "all instructors, tutors, etc., of City College, who teach either exclusively or partially in the Evening Session."

As soon as convenient, steps will be taken "for co-operation with the Instructional Staff Association of the Day Session of the City College, for the achievement of their mutual interests."

PHI BETA KAPPA TO MEET DEC. 19

Gamma Chapter to Consider Resolution to Reinstate Students

A special meeting of the College chapter of Phi Beta Kappa to consider resolutions urging the reinstatement of the suspended and expelled students, and of the Student Council, and the removal of President Robinson as head of the College has been called for December 19 at the Town Hall Club, 123 W. 43 Street. This is in accordance with the action of the chapter taken at its regular meeting last November 27 deferring the resolutions until a future date. It is expected that President Robinson will attend this special meeting.

Notices severely criticizing the recent action of the faculty taken against Student leaders of the Anti-Fascist demonstration of October 9, were sent to all members of the College chapter. Petty politics, the notice claims, is the root of such action. "It is clear to us who are familiar with our College and have a deep-seated interest in it that underneath the outward appearances lies a cesspool of political maneuvering and chicanery."

Agrees With Union

It agrees with the statement of the Teachers' Union that "members of the Faculty are so beholden for salary increases and other favors to the 'go-getter' qualities of the President that the Faculty is placed in the position of having to accept the domination of the president and the board (of Education)"

It is not denied, in the notice, that there is an "honest and liberal element" in the Faculty. But, it asks, "Can they not realize that the banning of the Student Council is a piece of academic fascism? Is it not evident that the administration has suspended this body because it could no longer dominate it? Does it not seek to reorganize the Council now to insure administrative control?"

Disclaiming the fact that disorderly conduct was the reason for punishing the thirty-six students the notice addresses itself directly to the members of Phi Beta Kappa.

FROSH COMMITTEE REQUESTS SPIVAK TO CLARIFY STORY

Ten Students, "Vigilante" Committee Members, Sign Protest Letter

DENY SPIVAK CHARGE

Ask Clarification of Accusation Made in "Student" Inter- view Last Week

Vigorously denying John L. Spivak's statements which accused members of the Freshman class of partaking in anti-semitic and Nazi activities, ten Freshmen were preparing yesterday to send Mr. Spivak a registered letter asking him to clarify the accusations made against their group.

The students were members of a "vigilante" committee which had visited President Robinson the day after the anti-fascist riot in the Great Hall.

The letter, which was signed by Mortimer Cohen, Irving Rindelman, Irving Tannenbaum, Jerome Goldsmith, Dan Daniels, Irving Elefant, Albert Eisen, Jasper Schoenholz and Howard Smolin, all of the class of '38, reads as follows:

Ask Clarification

"I, the undersigned, was a member of the committee composed of Lower Freshmen, which visited President Robinson on October 10, 1934, to protest against the repetition of such scenes as occurred in the chapel on the preceding day. I do solemnly swear that I am not affiliated with any Nazi group or any group whose name, purpose, or program are related in any way to Nazi or any other un-American activities, either in school or out. I ask Mr. Spivak to clarify his statements published in the Student of November 23, 1934, and to publish in the Student the fact that I am not a member of any Nazi Fraternity."

Ticket-Taker Tells Tribulations Of Tearing Ducats at Varsity Show

In which a ticket taker at "The Last Mile" once again takes pen in hand and jots down some memoirs:

"Tickets please, have your tickets ready.... The show starts at 8:45. Yes, I know it is now 8:50.... What to do with the stubs? Well I suggest you keep them until you find out where your seats are. No, I'm not trying to be smart, little girl.... Do I want the tickets? You can't use them anywhere else so I guess you'd better give them to me.... Tickets please, we'll take tickets on both sides. (Brief pause for station announcement).... Here you are, get your Mercury. Free programs given away with each Merc.... You fellows the musicians? Say Max, how many musicians are there? Five? Eight just walked in.... No, you can't use the telephones inside. Did I say you were trying to crash?.... Beautiful blonde: Here's a ticket for someone, hold it. And she walks away.... Max Schoenfeld, business manager of the show, tells this one:

STRONG COLLEGE FIVE TOPS BROOKLYN, 35-23, IN 40th HOME TRIUMPH

Ex-Beaver Basketballers Form New Court Five

Six ex-Lavender court aces, now well established in professional and coaching circles, have organized the Metro Stars and intend to schedule games with the leading teams of the American League circuit.

The members of the new quintet include three former St. Nick captains, Moe Spahn, leader of the '33 team and present J. V. coach, Moe Goldman, last year's head and all-Eastern center, Lou Spindell, captain of the '30 cagers.

J. V. FIVE TRIMS B'KLYN YEARLINGS

Schneidman Leads Team to 36-18 Victory; Cohen, Fliegal Star

The College junior varsity dribblers rang up their second consecutive victory of the present campaign by defeating the Brooklyn College yearlings by the score of 36-18 last Saturday night.

Rolling up a lead of 8-4 in the first period, as a result of a scoring spree by Sy Schneidman, Bernie Fliegal, and "Red" Cohen, the Lavender men were never headed throughout the remainder of the contest. Playing under the watchful eyes of Artie Kaufman, who took Coach Moe Spahn's place for the night, the quintet established itself as one of the strongest yearling teams in many (Continued on Page 3)

Beavers Stage Rally After Being Held Even At Half

1500 WITNESS CONTEST

Holman Quintet Displays Speed And Power; Goldsmith High Scorer

Battled to a standstill, the Lavender court machine, deadlocked 18-18 at the end of the first half, roused itself with dramatic suddenness to overwhelm a plucky Brooklyn quintet, 35-23, last Saturday night before a crowd of 1500 that jammed the Main gym to capacity.

It was the Beavers' fortieth consecutive triumph on its home court. The game had been regarded as one of the few "breathers" on the St. Nick schedule but the advance prediction proved faulty and the College five was forced to extend itself to chalk up the victory.

Brooklyn, seemingly fully unconscious of its underdog role, viciously carried the fight to the Beavers for the entire first half and overcoming its height and weight handicap by sheer drive and aggressiveness left the floor at half time with the honors equally divided and the score tied 18-18.

St. Nicks Display Speed

The St. Nick five, temporarily set back on their heels by the unexpected fight the Kingsmen were putting up, were not to be denied however and after the fifteen-minute interval, returned with a superb display of speed and power that has long become synonymous in basketball circles with Holman-coached quintets. Asserting their supremacy over the Kingsmen became a matter of minutes and the Maroon and Gold, having had its brief fling but with its cause obviously lost, fought bitterly to keep the Lavender score down.

With the College clicking on all cylinders after languishing in the first half, the St. Nick defense, leaky in the first period, kept pace and took on an air-tight character. Effective use of the zone defense brought on this startling metamorphosis.

Brooklyn had chalked up 18 points of their total 23 in the first period when the Beavers were employing the man-to-man. With zone defense (Continued on Page 3)

Gerhard Colm to Address History Club on "New Deal"

Gerhard Colm, distinguished German exile and prominent member of the New School for Social Research, will address the History Society tomorrow, in Room 126, on the topic "The New Deal from the European Viewpoint." Professor Colm formerly taught economics at Kiel, Germany and is now one of the heads of the Department of Business Cycles of the University in Exile. He is also a contributor to the Social Research magazine.

BEAVER QUINTET BEATS BROOKLYN ON HOME COURT

 in use, five points was all the Kingsmen could tally. In the first ten minutes of play in the second half, the St. Nicks had yielded only one point to the Brooklynites and that on a foul. Fourteen minutes elapsed before Brooklyn scored from the floor and then reverting for the last two minutes to man-to-man, the Beavers grudgingly yielded another two points.

The Maroon jumped into an early lead at the outset when Milt Perkel rang up eight points in the first five minutes of play on three lay-ups and a foul. While Perkel was on the scoring spree, George Goldsmith, was the only Beaver to tally, sinking a foul and hooping a long shot from side court to make the count 8-3 with the College at the short end.

The action waxed fast and furious as the Lavender strove mightily to cut down the Kingsmen's lead. Brooklyn, equally desperate, held its own. The count went to 9-5 and then Pincus, hooping a foul made it 9-6. Winograd brought it to 9-8 by netting a dazzling lay-up and then Pincus put the Lavender in the lead, 10-9 on a tap-in off the backboard.

Margin Short-Lived
 The St. Nick margin was short-lived. The hustling Brooklyn outfit took the lead only to surrender it back to the Beavers soon after. Putting on the pressure, the St. Nicks forged ahead. Goldsmith, teamed with Pincus, brought the College count to 17 while the Brooklyn total stood at 14. Bouncing right back, the Kingsmen made it 18-17 in their favor. Two seconds before the gun barked to terminate the half, Goldsmith sunk a foul and both teams left in an 18-18 deadlock.

The boys from the other side of the bridge had out-hustled the Beavers in that half. Kopitko was out-jumping the Maroon center but the alert Kingsmen were stealing the tap. Besides missing more than their usual quota of fouls, the Lavender was passing sloppily, their defense was leaky and the Beavers were failing to put their height and weight advantage to good stead.

The Lavender quintet stormed into action in the second half, brushing aside the feeble attempts of the Brooklynites to stem the tide. "Digs" Schiffer, Goldsmith, Winograd, Pincus scored in that order in quick succession, giving their side a comfortable 8 point lead, 26-18.

Every man on the team turned in a scintillating performance in that fast-paced, thrilling second half. Working as a coordinated unit on attack and defense they mopped up with comparative ease.

Lavender Booters To Meet Brooklyn

The Lavender Club, unofficial soccer contingent of the College, will attempt to extend its winning streak, when it seeks its sixth consecutive triumph against the Brooklyn College booters at Mac Canbs Dam Park on Saturday at 2 p.m.

The Lavender aggregation is conceded an even chance of vanquishing their Brooklyn opponents, although in the Maroon and Gold, it meets up against a team of excellent calibre and the unit that won the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Soccer Crown this year.

Captain Birnbach entertains high hopes that if the College booters score a win over the "Kingsmen", the Athletic Association will recognize Soccer as a collegiate extra-mural activity.

Prof. Goldberg Studies Prodigy; 7 Year Child Records I. Q. of 195

The highest intelligence quotient recorded in the history of the Educational Clinic of the College was recently scored by a boy seven years five months of age, according to an announcement by Dr. Heckman, Director. The child received an I.Q. of 196, showing a mental age of nearly twice his actual years. Only one child in a million obtains an I. Q. so high, explained Mr. Samuel Goldberg, a member of the clinic who has been studying the child.

The name of this unusual "genius" has been withheld for his own benefit. Dr. Heckman explained that "much advertisement of his abilities and the popularity arising therefrom would prove harmful in introducing unfavorable and artificial influences in his social, emotional, and intellectual achievements".

Child Called "K"

K, as the child is known on the records of the clinic is of Jewish origin. Neither of his parents has had a college education, but are self-educated. The father is the proprietor of a small retail business.

K has had no serious illnesses and his present physical condition is relatively good, since he is above the height norm for his age and also above the weight normal for his height and age. He has no defects of heart, lungs, vision, glands, audition, and teeth.

K was born on June 25, 1927, and started to walk at fourteen months. He was talking fluently when one and one-half years of age.

Although K is only in the 2A grade in the elementary age, his mental level is comparable to that of the average pupil of the 7B grade. His ability in arithmetical reasoning is equal to the average of pupils in the 6A grade; and his comprehension of reading is approximately equal to the average of the pupils in the 6B grade.

He also shows familiarity with items in geography, history and astronomy.

It is expected that K will attend a private school where he can receive the individual modification in curriculum he requires. Because of the problems arising from his brilliant mentality, he will require careful and competent direction in his play and in general in his social and educational activities, the Clinic stated.

When the prodigy was 20 months old, he knew his alphabet, and in a short time was able to recite it backwards. By looking at one of the sides of any of his seventy-two blocks, he could call off from memory the other five objects on the remaining sides. When two years of age, K knew his own name and address, and the addresses and telephone numbers of his entire family.

Studied Calendar

"It remained, however, for him to attain the mature age of three and one-half years in 1931, in order to perfect the following amazing technique," Mr. Goldberg said. "By studying a calendar he learned to tell on what particular day a certain date would fall. For example, if he were asked on what day of the week July 16 would fall, he would indicate Thursday. As may be expected the family made much of this particular ability."

K's vocabulary is equal to that of average eleven year old pupils; his auditory rate memory is good for his age; and his comprehension of everyday situations involving language is superior for his age. In an association test which K took, he used such words as "encyclopedia, evolution, and luminosity."

K has always been recognized as a very prodigious youngster and many persons have felt obligated to call this fact to Mrs. K's attention.

J. V. FIVE TRIMS BROOKLYN CUBS FOR SECOND WIN

The team showed itself to be in fine physical condition by playing almost a full three periods before a substitution was made. During this time they passed the ball around smoothly, although at times too excitedly, and scored frequently on long shots. However the most important factor in the team's victory was the fine cutting both with and without the ball. It was in this phase of the game that the College team showed its marked superiority over its Brooklyn rivals.

Beavers Lead at Half

Entering the second period with their four point lead the Beavers rolled up seven points on baskets by Schneidman, Silcowitz and Fleigel, together with a foul by the latter, before the Kingsmen yearlings could catch their breath. In retaliation, the Brooklynites went on a scoring spree and rolled up five points on baskets by McGuire and Levine, plus a foul by the latter. The second period closed with the Beaver yearlings on the long end of a 19-10 score.

No sooner had the second half started than the Beavers continued in the scoring ways and brought the score to 28-10 with Schneidman, Silcowitz and Goldstein splitting the cords. With the score 30-13 Coach Kaufman made his first change by sending in Kaufman for Cohen. Soon after Artie completed the job by substituting a full second team and in the course of the change the fans rose up to pay a fine tribute to the first five. The second team continued in the footsteps of their predecessors and brought the team's total to 36 where it stood as the whistle blew, ending the game.

Joseph To Speak

Professor Samuel Joseph of the Department of Government and Sociology will speak at Thursday's meeting of the Social Research Seminar in room 206 at 12:30. His topic will be "The Sociological Approach to Modern Social Problems." Mr. Harry Alpert and Mr. Adolph Tomars, also of the Department of Government and Sociology, will discuss phases of the same topic at the meeting.

Frosh-Soph Basketball

The fifth event on the Frosh-Soph schedule will take place this Thursday when a basketball game will be played in the Exercising Hall of the Hygiene Building at 1 p. m. The contest will be an important one in view of the fact that a victory for either side, especially the sophomores, who are leading, will produce a commanding lead. A win, however, would by no means decide the term's victor, as the Flag Rush, the "Rose Bowl" contest of the freshmen and sophomores, would still provide a last opportunity for the losing team.

To Attend Conference

A bus load of Civil Engineering students will leave at 7 p.m. tonight for the semi-annual metropolitan conference of local engineering schools at Newark. The Newark College of Engineering will be host to the group which will be augmented by members of the Tech faculty.

Radio Shack Painted

The completion of the painting of the Radio Shack in the Main Building was accomplished over the weekend, and the shack is now open to visitors. The walls, formerly a mixture of ancient red paint and dirt, are now cream-colored, and will be further redecorated by members of the club.

Final work has also been begun on a new 40-watt transmitter. Plans for the project were formulated at the beginning of the term, but actual construction was started only recently.

We found out that the best tobacco for use in a pipe grows down in the Blue Grass Section of Kentucky, and it is called White Burley.

There is a certain kind of this tobacco that is between the tobacco used for cigarettes and the kind that is used for chewing tobacco.

RIOT, EXPULSIONS CONTINUE TO DRAW DIVERSE COMMENT

Reflecting city wide interest in the recent anti-Fascist disturbances and the subsequent expulsion of twenty-one students from The College, a deluge of letters scoring both the attitude of the student body as well as the action of the faculty, continued to pour into the columns of the metropolitan dailies. Outstanding among the letters was a missive from Albert P. d'Andrea, secretary of the College Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, printed in the Sunday edition of the New York Herald Tribune.

Stating at the outset that he had been designated by the Gamma Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa of the College to express that society's disapproval of the recent Tribune editorial advocating the abolition of the College, Mr. d'Andrea goes on to say: "It is not my purpose to provide a detailed reply to an expression of opinion which cannot be regarded by any citizen acquainted with the realities of the situation as other than repugnant to the finest American traditions of education and civic service."

Editorial Unfair

He continues: "It will suffice to say that as members of this honor fraternity, and as loyal sons of a college which Dr. Henry Van Dyke aptly termed 'the City's crown,' we urge the readers of your misleading editorial to remember that since 1847, when this institution was founded by enthusiastic public vote, it has continued to repay the citizenry for the financial support which they have been wise enough to expend."

He concludes: "The friends of the College are ever mindful of the high attainments for which the College is internationally noted."

Another letter defending the College and criticizing the recent Tribune editorial comes from the pen of George M. Purver, former student and instructor at the College.

He says: "I consider the College as one of the most important factors in the intellectual life of the city. Any attempt to disparage the good name of the institution because a group of its students happened to displease its president is a cowardly act with a malicious intent to induce the taxpayers of the City of New York to withdraw their financial support from the institution."

He concludes: "College training is primarily intended to develop the individual mind and the courage to express it."

Prof. Overstreet Praises Clionian

Professor Harry A. Overstreet heartily recommends the current issue of the Clionia in a letter to Martin Blum '36, editor of the magazine. A review of the Clionian will appear in Friday's Campus. The letter follows:

"May I congratulate you very warmly upon the current issue of 'The Clionian.' I am happy that college journalism is becoming genuinely realistic, that students are saying clearly and intelligently what they think about the confusions and self-contradictions of the world in which we live. I believe with you, in your editorial, that this is no time for collegiate Ivory Towers. The alert college student is bound to be concerned about the fate of a world in which he is to play his part, and the college halls should properly be the place in which that concern is given generous opportunity to get itself shaped into understanding and wise decision."

Evening Session Club Dissolved

The Economics Club of the evening session of the Bronx Center was disbanded by its faculty adviser, Dr. Hornicker, Monday for sending a telegram to President Frederick B. Robinson demanding the reinstatement of the twenty-one expelled students.

Dr. Hornicker had warned the club, according to Nathan Levine, president, that resolutions of a political nature would lead to drastic action by the College authorities. On his advice, a resolution asking the reinstatement was deferred. An unofficial telegram, however, was sent to the president, making the same demands.

The faculty adviser was called by Dr. H. E. Hein, director of the Bronx Center, to explain the telegram. He was told to continue the club, but to suppress and dismiss "student radicals."

Prof. Waldman to Address Baskerville Chem. Society

Professor Mark Waldman of the German Department will lecture on "Technology and Medicine in the U. S. S. R." before the Baskerville Chemical Society tomorrow at 12:30 in Doremus Hall. Professor Waldman made a three month's extended tour of Russia and Western Siberia, paying particular attention to the factories and plants of the heavy industries and the laboratories and institutes devoted to special research.

CROWDED HOUSES GREET "LAST MILE" WITH LAUGHTER

Upon the merits of the drama per se, it can truthfully be said that the College Thespians have given the play a fine presentation. The defects in the production were few and did not seriously mar the enjoyment of the performances.

Although the first act suffered from a lack of speed because of incorrect pacing, the last two acts were acted in a thrilling and spontaneous fashion. The death-house break and the riot especially were given the advantage both of good acting and excellent technical production.

Charles Hochberg '37 as "Killer" Mears turned in the best performance of the evening. As the virile and hard-boiled leader of the break he gave a straightforward and honest performance, lending an impression of vigor to the part. When he manhandled the other actors he really gave them the works—as they have already attested.

Silverman Directs

Under the guidance of Leonard Silverman the remainder of the cast gave capable performances. Robert Miller '36 as Walters, Everett Eisenberg '37 as Mayor, David Dawson '38 as Kirby and Lee Nemore '36 as D'Amore were outstanding, helping the play immeasurably.

P. S.—They say that the best part of the show was backstage where Alvin Zelinka '37, prop boy, was raising the deuce with his arsenal.

Harvesting tobacco and packing it in the barn for curing—and (below) a scene at a Southern tobacco auction.

They ought to know—

MANY men of the South have been "in tobacco" for years—growing tobacco and curing it—buying it and selling it—until they know tobacco from A to Izzard. Now folks who have been in tobacco all their lives, folks who grow it, know there is no substitute for mild ripe tobacco.

And down in the South where they grow tobacco and where they ought to know something about it—in most places Chesterfield is the largest-selling cigarette.
