College Groups Attend State Youth Congress At Stuyvesant High

800 HOLD MEETING

Cirri, Bixbee, Tyler, Browder Speak in Party Symposium; Mayor Sends Message

AYA BACKS SCHAPPES

"From industry, from the schools, from the farms," 800 delegates of youth organizations representing 300,000 young people packed the New York State convention of the American Youth Congress at Stuyvesant High School Saturday and Sunday.

Twenty-seven College groups sent one of the largest delegations to discuss and examine youth economic, political, social and religious problems and the possible solutions to them. The following campus organizations were represented: Student Council, Inter-Club Council, American Student Union, Tech Council, '38 Class Council, '39 Class Council, Baskerville Society, Biology Society, Cadet Club, Caduceus, Campus Club, Conjurers Club, Debating Frum, Douglass Society, Economics Society, Education Club, El Circulo Fuentes, History Club, Literary Workshop, Math Club, Menorah-Avukah, Microscopical Society, Physics Club, Politics Club, Psychology Club, Radio Club, and Society for Student Liberties.

Discuss Political Parties

Under the chairmanship of William W. Hinckley, president of the Congress, a discussion was held on the various political parties and their respective positions on youth questions. Earl Browder spoke for the Communist position, Frank Cirri for the Democrats, Burdell Bixbee for the Republicans, and Gus Tyler for the Socialists. Governor Floyd B. Olsen of Minnesota and Mayor La Guardia sent messages outlining the views of the Farmer-Labor and Fusion parties respectively.

Mr. Browder, urging a united front with the Socialists, declared "Most of the Fascist-minded people in this country are either in or gravitating around the Republican party. A Republican victory is the worst thing that could happen for this nation."

The Democratic speaker, Mr. Cirri, praised President Roosevelt for having reasserted the nation's faith in "Government by discussion."

Bixbee, a senior at Colgate, denied that the Republican party was either tending toward or supporting fascism and warned of the increasing tax burden on youth.

'MIKE' PAYMENTS

Subscription Fee Due June 1, Moskowitz Announces

Payments for the Microcosm are due by June 1, Sam Moskowitz '36, business manager, announced yesterday. Payments may be made in the Microcosm office, room 424, at any time, he declared.

Seniors who desire keys or rings may order them from the Senior Key Committee which is also located in the Microcosm office. A deposit must be paid on any key ordered.

No more pledges will be accepted for the Microcosm. All seniors who have already pledged and who have not yet handed in their records must do so at once, according to Edward Goldberger '36, editor-in-chief.

Ticket Sales Open at House

Theatre Workshop to Stage Pirandello's Prize Play At Roerich Museum

Tickets for the two performances of the Theatre Workshop's production of Luigi Pirandello's Nobel Prize winner Six Characters in Search of an Author are now on sale at House Plan Center. The play will be presented at the Roerich Theatre, 103 Street and Riverside Drive, Friday and Saturday evenings, May 29 and 30.

The business committee will be announced Thursday, according to Dr. Richard Ceough, director of the Workshop. It is expected, according to Dr. Ceough, that both performances will be attended by leading persons in the theatrical world and important figures in metropolitan high schools and colleges, including several heads of departments of languages and literature.

Several professional actors will appear in the cast, although most of the parts are taken by students at the College. Dr. Ceough believes this casting of professional actors in an amateur college performance to be "an important example of college-community relations."

The Friday night tickets are priced at twenty-five and fifty cents while the Saturday night tickets are twenty-five, fifty, seventy-five cents and a dollar.

'37 BOAT-RIDE

The '37-House Plan moonlight boat-ride is scheduled for Saturday evening, June 13, on the S.S. Peter Stuyvesant. The price of tickets is $1.85 a couple if bought before June 1, after that it will probably be two dollars, according to the committee. There will also be dance music and entertainment by a Broadway orchestra.

Lavender—Clonia To Emerge Soon Featuring Article by Mr. Schappes

The merger of Lavender and Clonia, so much bruted about these last few months, will finally venture forth into the world of reality when the combined Lavender-Clonia appears for the first time in the history of the College on Monday, May 25. It will go forth under the co-editorship of Arkady Zisskind '37 and Albert Sussman '37 who were editors of Lavender and Clonia respectively before their union.

The editors speak proudly of their forthcoming work and especially boastfully of an article contributed by Mr. Morris U. Schappes. It is a commentary on the work of Archibald MacLeish. Another article by Co-editor Sussman defends Mr. Schappes from the allegations of incompetency made by Professor Charles Horne, and asks for the renewal of Mr. Schappes' contract.

Despite numerous changes in policy on the new magazine, Lavender-Clonia remains pre-eminently a literary publication. There is a short story by Zisskind and another by David Katz '36. There is a discussion of poetry by Abraham Weber '27, called Three Younger Poets.

Barnes Speaks On Developing Social Order

'TRANSITIONAL PERIOD'

Complexity of Society Makes Crises More Severe, Noted Educator Says

TWENTY HOUR WEEK

"We are in a major transitional period," Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes told his audience yesterday in a speech before the History Society. "We don't know where we are going—towards Utopia or the disintegration of civilization—but we are going fast."

In the past, he pointed out, crises often lingered on for a century or more. Today the structure of society has grown so complex that a crisis cannot endure more than a few years.

Twenty-five Year Maximum

Dr. Barnes gave twenty-five years as the maximum time in which revolutionary changes in social structure will take place. The present society has grown so tense, he said, that even a "superficial flurry in the credit system" like the 1933 bank crisis caused a near panic.

The present economy of abundance, Dr. Barnes brought out, is accompanied by a strange discrepancy. At the height of scientific development, the world still subscribes to a "strange mosaic of social, economic, religious, and ethical thinking, some of which dates back to the Paleolithic age."

The present technological advance, Dr. Barnes held, offers the potentiality of a utopia for superior to More's or Plato's. A twenty hour week could (Continued on Page 4, Column 1)

COUNCIL ELECTIONS

Applications for Student Council and class officers for next semester should be handed to Charles Saphirstein '36, temporary chairman of the Elections Committee, the Executive Student Affairs committee announced. All applications must be accompanied by thirty-five cents, the nomination fee. Elections will be held Wednesday, May 20.

Classroom Conference To Map Further Actions In Campaign To Reinstate Morris Schappes

Lock and Key Protests Dismissal of Schappes

Lock and Key, College honor society, added its voice last week to the growing list of College group's protesting the dismissal of Morris U. Schappes by passing a resolution urging his reinstatement. A resolution asking the removal of President Frederick B. Robinson was also passed.

Edward Goldberger '36, editor of Microcosm, was elected chancellor for this term. Other officers elected were Nat Gaiman '36 vice-chancellor, and Gil Kahn '37 scribe.

Bernhardt Stern, Dr. James Mendenhall, Dr. Robert Speer To Address Conference Today at 1 p.m.; Board Meets Tuesday, May 19, to Hear Appeal on Case

Classes throughout the College will be represented this afternoon at 1 p.m. in a conference in room 126 called to lay further plans for the fight to reinstate Morris U. Schappes.

Bernhardt T. Stern of the Columbia Sociology department, formerly on the College staff, Dr. James Mendenhall of Columbia's Teachers College and Dr. Robert K. Speer, head of the education department at NYU will address the gathering. The Joint Schappes Defense Committee urged all classes to elect one or two delegates.

More than 2,000 students are expected to attend the mock trial and dance to be held this Saturday night in Irving Plaza at 15 Irving Place. Tickets to the affair, which are being sold by the Student Schappes Defense Committee and the ASU, are priced at $25 for single tickets and $40 per couple.

Dr. Margaret Schlauch of NYU will address the gathering. Other speakers invited by the Schappes Defense Committee include the Reverend John Haynes Holmes, and Professor Edwin Burgham of N.Y.U.

Dr. Kirtley Mather of Harvard, Professor George Counts of Teachers College, Assemblyman George Kominsky, and Dr. Margaret Schlauch will speak on "Gag Legislation" and the Schappes Case next Tuesday evening at Washington Irving High School.

Petitions and resolutions supporting Schappes are still coming in from classes, clubs, and outside groups. The Yale and New Haven branch of the Teachers Union came to the defense of the instructor last week in a statement declaring "The Yale and New Haven Local joins with the Teachers Union of the City of New York in vigorously protesting against the termination of the teaching contract of Morris U. Schappes."

The New York Evening Post, in an editorial published Saturday, declared it would be unjust to dismiss Morris U. Schappes from the College "while Dr. Frederick B. Robinson is himself under investigation by the Board of Higher Education."

"The notice given Schappes that he will not be reappointed after eight years of distinguished service," the editorial stated, "seems to us to bear the Robinson hallmark and to be precisely the sort of action for which Robinson is being investigated. There should be no arbitrary faculty changes until the case of Robinson himself is decided. Will the Board of Higher Education permit C.C.N.Y. repression to continue, even while it probes the fountain head of that repression?"

"Whatever the reason," the editorial continued, "the Schappes dismissal must be withheld until we dispose of Robinson's case."

AFA TO HEAR TALK BY J. SCHLOSSBERG

Mr. Joseph Schlossberg, recent appointee to the Board of Higher Education will speak on "Academic Freedom and the Right to Organize," Sunday, May 17 in room 126 at 3:45.

The meeting will be held under the joint sponsorship of the Anti-fascist Association of the Staffs of the City College and the Union Against Reaction of Brooklyn.

May 22 is Jingo Day

Col. Robinson 'Doesn't Know' Anything Else, However; But There Won't Be Any Show

Colonel Oliver P. Robinson, head of the College Military Science department, was the logical man to see to answer questions about the annual military field day—affectionately known to the student body as "Jingo Day." The celebration will be held this year on May 22, probably in Lewisohn Stadium. That much we knew before we visited the Colonel.

After identifying himself to some sergeant or other, who informed the inner office of our arrival, we were led into the sanctum sanctorum of Colonel Robinson himself.

"Colonel," said we, "We are from The Campus. We would—"

"How do you do," the colonel said.

"Colonel," we repeated, after the amenities had been duly observed, "we would like to know the particulars on Field Day."

Silence reigned supreme.

"Who is going to review the troops?" we gently tried to lead the colonel on.

He thought for a moment.

"I don't know," he said.

"What is the program?" we then asked.

The colonel pondered for another moment.

"I don't know," he said.

We must have looked at the colonel somewhat fixedly.

"Well," he finally added, "we won't have any show this year. It will be a simple review."

We did not thank Colonel Robinson for the heart-to-heart talk.

Curran to Speak To Student Union

Joe Curran, one of the leaders of the seaman's strike in New York City, will address the College chapter of the American Student Union, Thursday at 1 p.m. in Doremus Hall.

Curran is the leader of the 'rank and file' movement within the International Seaman's Union, and he has appeared before the Senate Committee investigating marine disasters.

In a business meeting preceding Mr. Curran's address, the Student Union will discuss plans for a student strike as a means towards the reinstatement of Mr. Morris U. Schappes. The ASU also announced that membership cards will be distributed to those who have paid their fees.

Legion Prescribes A Second Dose Of Americanism

The College Post of the American Legion will hold its Second Annual Drum and Bugle Corps Metropolitan Championship Contest at Lewisohn Stadium on Saturday evening, May 23.

An attempt by a Campus reporter to learn by whom permission to use Lewisohn Stadium had been granted, proved fruitless. Dean Gottschall referred the reporter to Professor Williamson's office. He in turn, declared that Professor Holton was taking charge of the contest. Professor Holton could not be reached at his office yesterday, but the Campus reporter was told that the professor.

The contest was inaugurated last year as a part of the Americanism program sponsored by the Legion.

Lore to Address Economics Club

Ludwig Lore, New York Post columnist, will discuss current economic conditions in the world this Thursday at 12:30 p.m. before the Economics Society in room 202.

Mr. Lore's column, "Behind the Cables," which appears daily in the Post editorial pages, reveals what is between the lines in European developments. It consists of Mr. Lore's interpretations of recent happenings in the world. In addition to his column, Mr. Lore writes for the New Republic, The Nation, and numerous other periodicals.

Lore is Bitter Anti-fascist

Mr. Lore is an outstanding anti-fascist and has bitterly attacked the Hitler government on several occasions. He played a prominent role in the drive to boycott the Olympics in Berlin and was one of the first of the American journalists to publicize the murder of a Polish Jew last year by Nazis.

A Thought About Intramurals And Lacrosse

By Irving Feingold

It was some time ago when the Board of Higher Education finally came around to the conclusion that intramural affairs at the College should be looked into. So convinced were they of the fact, that Maurice Deiches suddenly found himself at the head of a committee whose sole function it was "to make a survey of intramural activities with student cooperation, with a view towards formulating a program to be used in substitution of the present Hygiene course.

The Board Stalls Again

Sorry to say, however, our Board of Higher Ed has gone about as far ahead with the intramural situation as it has with the case concerning the ouster of President Robinson. The group of about three of four fellows whom we see reefing the basketball contests, ping pong tournaments, fencing matches and practically everything else under the sun—these fellows, who compose the intramural board haven't heard a thing from friend Deiches or his board.

Intramurals Flourish

And yet when we look back at the last year of intramural activity, then only can we realize what a splendid calendar of events the students found available, with, incidentally, prizes on the side. A resurrected cup was dug up from some hidden corner of the Hygiene building and will be presented to the winners of the interclass competition in the court game. With the aid of College Humor magazine a brace of medals will be awarded for ping pong enthusiasts. Mr. Ehrlich of the Hygiene department has been kind enough to donate a medal for the ranking intramural fencer and so on down the list.

'Ray for Peace

The grandest prize of them all, however, should be awarded to Mr. Peace, another member of the Hygiene department. Freshmen who take physical ed in the Hygiene building can't help but know this instructor who has, we guess, the reddest cheeks in the department, and who has a penchant for exercising before first year classes. It was thru the efforts of Mr. Peace, that the "Beaverette," intramural news sheet was able to appear. It was thru his efforts that throughout the duration of inter-house and pick up basketball competition, games were run off so smoothly.

Some Action Please

We think the Board of Higher Education's committee should devote only half as much time as Mr. Peace has, and perhaps then not only 2000 students but the entire student body might be able to participate in one sport or another.

The Perennial Alibi

The question of the quality of Beaver Lacrosse teams has been developed year in and year out. Altho the "Chief" isn't on speaking terms with The Campus right now, it seems fair that we present his perennial alibi.

According to the past master, we play the toughest teams in the country. That St. Johns, Johns Hopkins, Swarthmore and a few others are the cream of the crop we cannot deny. Why not drop them from the schedule? Year in and year out the Lavender meets with defeat at the hands of these top-notch contingents and victory is still around next year's corner.

What About Stevens?

It's allowable to explain away the above defeats, but what about the case of Stevens Tech. Is it the players themselves who don't get started till the last stanza or is it the Coach who might not convey to his men the fighting instinct, so essential to a winning ball club?

NYU Lambasts Lavender Nine By Tune of 12-6

Beavers Outright and Outplay Violets, But Wind Up on Losing End of Score

What matter if we lost the game, And all is quite forlorn? Let's breathe a pray'r in heaven's name—

Thank God we still have Horne!

It is becoming increasingly apparent that in order to follow the Lavender baseball team, one must develop a sense of humor—and last Saturday's defeat at the hands of NYU was an excellent case in point. For, after watching Jerry "You-know-me" Horne try to coax a pass from the Violet pitcher, or attempt to slip over a strike while neither the batter, the catcher nor the umpire were looking, one found it very difficult to feel the proper amount of grief at the 12-6 pasting administered by the boys from the Heights.

Hall Blows Up

Aside from Horne's performance, there was very little to feel happy about. Once again, the Beavers outright and outplayed their rivals in the field, and finished up on the wrong end of the score. Lou Hall, who hasn't pitched a decent game since he beat Providence, blew wide open in the fourth frame, walked five men and yielded two hits.

After that six-run splurge, which practically clinched the game, the Beavers kept threatening all the way, and the thirteen men that they left stranded on the sacks bear ample testimony of their ability to hit in the pinches. In only one inning, the sixth, in which they scored four runs, did these Beavers hit with any timeliness, and then it was the lower end of the batting order that supplied the spark.

Tomorrow, the team meets the Grand Street Settlement Boys Club. Calmly, with arms folded and fingers crossed, we await our fate.

Jayvee Succumbs To NYU Freshmen

Slowly but surely the Jayvee baseball team is earning the reputation of being the "hittest wonders." Last Saturday it played the same role, when the NYU freshmen won a 3-2 game at this field.

The Beavers got all of four hits, while seven men fanned and both their runs were unearned. Morris "Ace" Goldstein scored one run when he singled, stole second, took third on a sacrifice, and then slid home under the catcher's nose. The other run was an out and out gift, kindly donated by the Violets.

Mauro Yields 8 Hits

Gabe Mauro, who has to worry every time he yields a lone run, pitched a good game, yielding eight hits. He is beginning to get used to the vociferous batting support never given him.

In the Lincoln game he only gave four runs while the Beavers banged out two hits. He was vigorously supported by five hits. Last week he was in the box for three innings and was backed by two (2) hits. After pitching for the College cubs he could even feel at home with the St. Louis Browns.

TRACKMEN DOWN RPI 77-49 IN DUAL MEET

The College track team, in its first dual-meet of the season, scored a sweeping victory over a weak Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, 77-49, at Lewisohn Stadium last Friday.

The Beavers failed to capture but four of the fourteen first places, gaining the first three positions in the shot put. On the whole, remarkable point-scoring strength was revealed in the field events. Black garnered three first places, accounting with Melvin Joffey and Jack Singer for almost half of the entire College total.

Unbeaten Netmen To Face Strong NYU Contingent

The indignant campus gentry, who are still straining at the leash for Heights blood, may be appeased by the unique spectacle of a plucked Violet this afternoon at the Fleet Hollow Tennis courts, 150 St. and Gerard Ave., where the College netmen face NYU.

The Heights net squad, thrice-beaten but nevertheless regarded as one of the strongest of the local outfits, handed the Beavers their lone defeat last year to emerge with unofficial metropolitan honors. The St. Nicks, this season, are still in the unbeaten class, having added the weak Fordham team to their list of victims on Friday, 7-1.

Stevens Trims Lacrosse Team For Sixth Loss

Badly handicapped by the loss of three first string stickwielders, the Beaver lacrosse team went down to its sixth consecutive defeat last Saturday when it bowed to a mediocre Stevens Tech ten 12-7. George Lenchner, St. Nick veteran, starred for the losers with five goals all in the last quarter.

With "Flip" Gottfried, Normie Block and Sam Simon all unavailable for duty, the Stevens ten had little trouble in scoring. On the other hand, the absence of Gottfried, a key man in the Beaver attack repeatedly stalled any attempt at scoring on the part of Miller's charges.

In the last quarter, the Lavender rallied, and led by Lenchner scored all seven of its goals. Had the Jerseyites been held scoreless in that quarter, the College ten would have eked out a tie but unfortunately the hinterlanders were busy collecting five tallies of their own to smother the St. Nicks.

The loss of "Flip" Gottfried, who was one of the casualties in the Army slaughter, is undoubtedly the worst blow Miller has had to face all season. "Flip," who absent-mindedly tried to split a Cadet lacrosse stick with his mouth, will probably be back in harness against Springfield next Saturday.

Smith Declines To Give Reason For His Action

In an interview with two officers of the College Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, who objected to the removal of a petition from the AICHE bulletin board, Professor Earl B. Smith declared that his actions were not accountable to students. He further added that if he felt like taking off and replacing petitions he would do so.

The petition, signed by sixty-one students, asked the Tech Council to provide "blinders and smoked glasses" for all Tech students to enable them to forget problems facing them.

Petition Posted Last Week

This petition had been posted last week in an attempt to ridicule an earlier resolution on the bulletin board which urged members of the Tech School to dissociate themselves from other students at the College.

Last Friday, three students charged that Professors George C. Autenrieth and Earl B. Smith were attempting to form a blacklist of students fighting against an anti-radical campaign and had taken down the names of those students who had signed the petition. Yesterday these three students, who refused to divulge their identity, reiterated their charges and declared their intention to press the matter further.

Actions Not Accountable to Students

When Professor Smith refused to further discuss the removal of the petition, one of the officers of the AICHE asked if there were any reasons, other than that he believed his actions were "not accountable" to students, why he declined to talk any more on the subject.

Professor Smith only reaffirmed his previous statement that he didn't chose to discuss his actions with students.

suffice for all material needs.

The national state, representative government, and democratic government grew out of the feudal system, he said. These institutions are on their way out.

"The psychology of smug provincialism, self-satisfied neighborhood feeling has been projected into the national state," Dr. Barnes declared. Although in an eighteenth century technologically backward country, such ideas are harmless, today, backed up with armaments, they can wreck civilization as they all but wrecked it in 1914.

Dr. Barnes sees the end of liberal socialism. "It is as dead as classicism," he said. "Socialism has always given way to fascism. Communism has had a glorious success in Soviet Russia."

CORRECTION

In the last issue of The Campus, two errors were made in the "Tattler" column. The statement that Recorder John K. Ackley called the printing establishment of The Student "To cheer the students on" is not true. Mr. Ackley, as a member of the Campus Association, called the printers last Thursday night to determine whether the suspension of The Campus had been lifted. The statement that "Professor Hastings thinks the National Geographic Magazine is the National Fake" is also inaccurate. The editor regrets any inconvenience that these errors may have caused Mr. Ackley and Professor Hastings.

Chambers to Talk To Biology Club About Injections

Dr. Robert Chambers of New York University will deliver a lecture on "Micro-injection" at an open meeting of the Biological Society next Thursday.

Dr. Chambers, professor of experimental zoology at the Washington Square branch of NYU, has revised a new method of study in the course of his researches in the biological field. He has improved the apparatus and the technique involved, enabling research workers to inject substances into a cell, or to remove various parts from it.

The importance of these studies lies in the fact that we can now see the effect caused by the removal of the individual parts of bodies in living cells.

The method of approach to the study of living things has since been adopted by nearly all the leading biological laboratories of the world. It is for this reason that Dr. Chambers is in constant demand in this and other countries for an explanation and demonstration of his specialized technique.

The results of his most recent studies which have dealt with micro-injection as applied to normal and pathological kidney tubules, will be explained and discussed by Dr. Chambers before the Biological Society at its meeting on May 21 in room 315.

Dr. Wunderlich, Exile, To Speak On German Jews

Dr. Frieda Wunderlich of the University in Exile will address the History Society Thursday on the subject, "Jews and Justice in Germany."

Now a member of the Graduate faculty of the New School for Social Research, Dr. Wunderlich, before her exile, was a distinguished German sociologist. She was for ten years director of the Social Political Bureau and editor of Sozial Prolet.

She was also general secretary of the German branch of the International Association of Social Progress and the author of numerous works on such subjects as unemployment, productivity and social reform.

An important lecture meeting will follow. The address:

Ceylon is famous for Spices
Brazil is famous for Coffee

...but Turkey is famous for Tobacco
...the aromatic Turkish tobacco that adds fragrance and flavor to Chesterfield Cigarettes.

It's the right quantity of this Turkish tobacco blended and cross-blended with the best home-grown tobaccos raised in this country that give Chesterfields their mildness and better taste — another reason why Chesterfields Satisfy.
