

Rain Compels Beaver Eleven To Quit Camp

Loss of Several Veterans Weakens College Squad For Opening Game

By Harold Mendelsohn

After two weeks of pre-season training at Tyler Hill, Pa., the College football squad returns today to classes and additional practice sessions in Lewisohn Stadium preparatory to the Buffalo game on October 1.

Although this is not quite the same outfit which finished the 1937 season with the best record in Beaver grid history, Coach Benny Friedman, starting his fourth season, may have a suitable '38 follow-up. Academic requirements, business reasons and graduation brought the disappearing act into full play. Several players who were main cogs in the '37 machine will not be available.

But bad breaks and all, the Beaver eleven which will take the field against Buffalo will probably line up with ten lettermen and one sophomore. And it isn't the soph who is the question mark of the team. Bill Mayhew, transferred from Fordham, is a -boded J -s- J veY d7 flix rangy 190 pounder whose spins and plunges were smashing opposing lines in camp scrimmages. On the defense he backs up the line with the effective viciousness that made Walt Schimminy so useful for the last three seasons.

The Beavers line may be weaker than last season's forward wall, considering the loss of Charlie Wilford and Jess Aber, tackles, and guard Bill Silverman. What enemy ball-carriers will be able to do when they get past the line of scrimmage is another question. Right alongside of Big Bill Mayhew will be Captain Jerry Stein.

Definitely one of the outstanding St. Nick footballers in recent years, Captain Jerry comes back from center with finesse and finality whether the business at hand is to intercept a pass or put the quietus on opposing ball-

Eight Hundred Men, Girl To Look at College Nooks

The venerable officers of the Student Council are combing their shabby locks and picking wisps of hay from their gray beards. Tomorrow's their big day. They're officiating at the semi-annual Frosh Tour, wherein the entering freshmen—eight hundred men and one girl, this time—are introduced to the poison ivy on the College walls, General Webb's size 12 shoe and Abe Lincoln's magic nose.

Starting from the Great Hall at noon, where the freshmen will foregather for their first chapel period, the tour will include all possible points of interest around the College. Short froshies, tall froshies, fat freshmen and vice-versa freshmen will be given glimpses of the various buildings, the alcoves, the stadium, will marvel at the library pit, will take to their hearts the excavations and the WPA shacks. The day's work for the freshman will finally wind up at the House Plan, with tea on the menu and welcome on the mat.

Lunchroom Milk Prices Increase by One Cent

The price of milk in the lunchroom was raised during the summer session to five cents for a half-pint container and eight cents for a pint. This action was taken by Mrs. Elsie Kamholtz, cafeteria dietician, with the approval of the Faculty-Lunchroom Committee.

Near the end of last term, following a campaign led by the American Student Union, milk was sold for four cents and seven cents respectively.

According to Mrs. Kamholtz, the price rise was due to the fact that Sheffield Farms raised its prices approximately one half-cent per half pint and over one cent per pint.

Richardson Resigns Post

Offers Board No Reason For Taking Action

Dr. Willoughby Park Richardson early last month submitted his resignation as head of the College Medical Bureau, a position he held for seven years.

In his letter to the Board of Higher Education the physician gave no reason for his action. However, Ordway Tead, Chairman of the Board, said early yesterday morning that Dr. Richardson is now employed in a full time research position at the Neurological Institute of the Medical Center.

Dr. Richardson stated that he was resigning with the understanding that the Board's investigation of him "had been concluded and that no charges had been formulated by the Board of Higher Education or by any committee of the Board."

"If this understanding is correct," he wrote, "and it also means that I have been cleared, you may regard this letter as my resignation as of August 31, 1938."

Dr. Richardson came under fire last January when the Teachers' Union filed a brief charging him with holding up the promotion of Charles Melowsky, a civil service clerk employed in the Medical Record Office at the College.

Stevenson Heads Chem Department

Professor Reston Stevenson has been appointed acting head of the College Chemistry Department by the Board of Higher Education, filling the post made vacant by the retirement of Professor Herbert R. Moody, which became effective September 1. A permanent chairman will be elected "at the earliest moment permissible" according to Professor Stevenson, in accordance with the provisions of the new reorganization by-law of the board.

Professor Stevenson has been teaching at the College since 1906. Professor Moody, who now holds the position of Chairman of the Division of Chemistry and Chemical Technology of the National Research Council at Washington, D. C., taught at Hobart College and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, of which he is a graduate, before coming to the College in 1905. He had been department chairman since 1922.

A proposed plan for expansion of the College Band, featuring the addition of new instruments and the presentation of a Winter and Spring concert each year, was announced by Nathan Zelazo '40, secretary of the Band, recently.

The Band hopes to be engaged for more College functions this term than in previous semesters, and invites requests to play at such events. Students interested in joining the band are asked to come to rehearsals in T. H. H. on Fridays from 2-4 p. m. or to room 308A T. H. H.

Board Adopts New By-Law For Faculty

Provides For Changes In Departments and Tenure Guarantee

As a result of new by-laws adopted by the Board of Higher Education in June, a complete reorganization of the College Departments and faculty, and the guarantee of tenure to all members of the permanent instructional staff are being introduced into the College this fall. Termed by John T. Flynn, chairman of a special Board committee of five, which drew up the proposals, "the most important measures yet adopted during the present administration," the reorganization by-law in essence "is the taking of the autocratic powers from the presidents and lodging the government of the colleges in faculties and departments."

The provision for granting tenure to the instructional staffs has been in operation since the first of September. The reorganization provisions are scheduled to go into effect on November 1, although The Campus has learned from reliable sources that the date will probably be advanced to October 1.

Under the new plan, department heads will no longer be appointed by the president, but will instead be autonomously elected for a term of three years by members of the respective departments who are either professors or instructors who are members of the permanent instructional staff. The permanent staff now includes those teachers of in-

Hygiene Salaries Raised

Board of Higher Education Puts Gym Teachers On Par With Other Instructors

A resolution which places Hygiene teachers at all the city colleges on the same salary basis as other members of the teaching staff was adopted by the Board of Higher Education at a meeting last night at the Commerce Center. Hygiene teachers had previously been allowed by a law only five annual increases in salary up to a maximum of $2800.

The resignation of President William A. Boylan of Brooklyn College, due to ill health, was accepted as of Monday. Installed as first president of Brooklyn College in June, 1932, Dr. Boylan has been on a six-months leave due to illness. Dean Mario Cosenza, who has been acting-president in Dr. Boylan's absence, will continue temporarily in that capacity.

Band Plans Expansion, Asks for New Members

A budget of $10,200,000 to be used in a six-year program for construction work and equipment purchase at all the city colleges, was adopted by the Board of Higher Education during the summer. The report was submitted to the budget Director for approval and action.

Mead Is Acting President As Board Grants Robinson Leave of Absence for Year

Acting President's Statement

Students of the College:

I am happy to avail myself of this first opportunity as Acting President to extend my greeting to the students of the college through the courtesy of The Campus. I believe that I appreciate fully both the honor and the responsibility that has come to me in being chosen to preside over the affairs of my Alma Mater during the coming year. Nor do I underestimate the difficulties involved in the position which I hold. It is my firm conviction that the solution of the many problems confronting the college can be found only in a whole-hearted and sympathetic cooperation of the students, the faculty and the administration. It will be my earnest endeavor to bring about such cooperation. The reorganization of the faculty and of the departments which goes into effect this Fall introduces a large measure of democracy in the administration of the college. I am heartily in sympathy with this change. It is my hope that some method may be worked out for associating the representatives of the student body with this new policy of college administration.

It is important to keep in mind, however, that democracy involves responsibilities as well as privileges. For a democracy, whether in the political or the academic world, to function satisfactorily there must be a spirit of give and take and a willingness to abide by the decisions of the majority. It is manifestly impossible to please everybody in conducting an institution as large as our college, nor will it be possible to remedy all the admitted short-comings at the college in a day. Patience and tolerance will have to be exercised by all concerned. There will undoubtedly be occasions when the president will have to say "No" to student requests, but I shall make every effort to make it clear to the students why such requests cannot be granted.

What seems to me to be of the greatest importance is that there should be a policy of complete frankness in the relations of the student body, the faculty and the administrative authorities. I can assure the student body that this will be my policy as president and I am counting with confidence upon the students to reciprocate.

You young men belong to an institution which has a long and distinguished history. It is my sincere desire that all of us—students, faculty and administration—shall work together to enhance the prestige of The City College so that you may be proud in later years to be numbered among its alumni.

NELSON P. MEAD,
Acting President.

Ill-Health Given As Cause for Furlough

Acting Head to Talk With Student Leaders

Professor Nelson P. Mead, head of the History Department, will act as President of the College for the coming year in the absence of President Frederick B. Robinson, who was granted a year's leave because of ill-health by the Board of Higher Education on July 27.

The furlough was granted at Dr. Robinson's request.

At a meeting Monday with the acting editor of The Campus, Bert Briller '39, Prof. Mead announced that he would have a conference with the leaders of the Student Council, the American Student Union, The Campus, and other student publications and organizations at 3 o'clock on Friday in the President's office. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss matters concerning the relation of the administration to the student body.

Dr. Mead has also consented to holding regular meetings with the acting editor of The Campus twice a week.

Dr. Mead issued a statement to the student body which appears in the adjoining columns.

Maxvin Rothberg '39, vice-president of the S. C., stated last Monday, "The few officers of the Student Council feel particularly proud and honored to assume office at the same time as Acting President Nelson P. Mead. We are sure that this semester, which will also see the inception of the Flynn Reorganization Bill, will mark a new era in the history of the College, an era in which C.C.N.Y. will take its place as an institution second to none in administrative democracy and faculty-student cooperation."

Mitchell Lindeman '40, speaking for the Executive Committee of the College Chapter of the ASU said: "The American Student Union, largest organization on the campus, welcomes your term (Continued on Page 4, Column 4)

Personnel Bureau Loses Three Men

Three men were dropped from the staff of the Personnel Bureau this summer, when the Board of Higher Education failed to reappoint them, Dr. Bernard Riess, co-chairman of the Teachers' Union's Grievance Committee said yesterday.

The men—Martin Schaul, Isadore Levine and George Forlano—are the same for whom the Union has been trying to get a salary increment for some time.

The TU previously attempted to get them raises in salary, but did not succeed. Last winter, however, the Board voted to give each of the men an additional $100. But this was rejected by the Director of the Budget.

College Saw Stirring Times In Past Year

Store Deficit, Stoppage, Were Among Events Of 1937-38

Every year at City College is an exciting one; and the academic year 1937-1938 was no exception.

As soon as the fall semester opened, the College was startled by the news of a $54,000 deficit suffered by the Coop Store. An investigation led to a reorganization of the store.

Led by The Campus, the fight to increase the interval between classes from seven to ten minutes was finally successful.

Professor Morris R. Cohen's retirement from the faculty brought to a close his distinguished teaching career at the College. His leaving was the most regrettable incident of the term.

The opening of the spring term saw the passage of the McGoldrick resolution, which legalized the American Student Union, by allowing any club to organize if it submits the name of the club and the names of the chief officers to Dean of Men John R. Turner.

The agitation for the removal of President Robinson was brought to a climax by the publication in The Campus of a series of articles entitled "The Case Against Robinson."

Protesting against the invasion of Austria by Germany, the Student Council held a peace stoppage in March. Representative Jerry O'Connell of Montana, spoke at the demonstration urging a policy of collective action against fascist nations. A group of students from the newly formed Anti-War Club protested against this policy as one which would lead to war.

This conflict over the best means of stopping war and fascism was brought to a head the following month, on the occasion of the annual student anti-war strike. Two separate strikes were held. The official Student Council strike, which was supported by the ASU was held in the Great Hall. Former Ambassador William E. Dodd, the main speaker urged a program of collective action.

In Lewisohn Stadium, at the same time, Norman Thomas addressed a strike sponsored by the Anti-War Club. Thomas attacked collective security, and advocated independent working class action against fascism and support of the Oxford Pledge. Student Action, a four-page newspaper, was issued by the club on this occasion.

Both strikes advocated the lifting of the embargo on Loyalist Spain, and the defeat of the big navy bill and M-Day plans.

In spite of all the excitement about war, the social life of the College was not neglected. Dances, varsity shows, smokers, and teas were often held. But the climax of the season, socially, was the all-College boatrid., which was a huge success. The House Plan became increasingly important in the life of the College.

The Postman Rings

Dear Joe Frosh:

Today we become a senior. And to think that only a few years ago we too were a frosh. You see what a few years at City College will do to a fellow. So we intend to unburden ourselves of a little advice to you, Joe, who have probably been made a mite dizzy by days of medical examination line-ups, registration red-tape, and the rest of this collegiate whirl.

Here's one thing to guard against. Over in Europe, where universities trace their birth back a thousand years, they speak with some contempt for American colleges and their "lack of traditions". They tell the story of an American university (name not given) which hung up this sign on its campus: "There is a tradition here that no freshman may walk across the green. This tradition goes into effect September 23."

European opinion to the contrary notwithstanding, the City College student does feel part of a tradition, the forward-marching tradition of American democracy. He puffs up with pride at the thought that entrance requirements at his college do not include: 1) an income of $50,000 per annum; 2) membership in a particular religious sect; 3) social position which comes with being the son or nephew of a second vice-president of the local bank or higher. He'll tell anyone that a free College like ours is the prima facie proof of what democracy means to the people.

There is the growing danger that democratic traditions may be overthrown. As Prof. Mead pointed out in his welcome to the freshman class, "Peace and democracy are being challenged." The problems which face democracy throw a great responsibility on the students of America. Not the sort of responsibility which should keep you up awake nights or furrow your brow in a perpetual professorial frown. But the sort of responsibility that makes you want to become an active part of the College, to join the clubs in your line of activity (viz. adjoining article on clubs), to discuss the issues that face America in class. These are the things President Roosevelt undoubtedly had in mind when he wrote, make "the campus a fortress of democracy."

Friendship is not dead at the College. Don't be afraid, Joe. City College welcomes you — warmly

Frats to Start Frosh 'Rushing'

In the next few days or so you freshmen will be receiving postal cards and letters inviting you to this smoker and that social. Be it known to you that this constitutes part of the Greco-American collegiate custom of "rushing." This is that habit of fraternities whereby you are invited to meet the boys.

Fraternities are well-founded on the belief that college life must be enriched by close contact with your classmates. In the process, you make valuable friendships and relieve the humdrum existence of going to class, to class, to home. These organizations have social centers—be they houses or rooms—where fraters meet during off hours and after day of classes.

There are seventeen fraternities on the campus, ranging from Alpha Beta Gamma to Omega Pi Alpha. They have a governing body — Interfraternity Council—which serves as a coordinating agency. Officially recognized on the campus five years ago, it now has representation on years ago, it now has representation on the Student Council.

College Sports Wide in Range

Athletes and spectators will find many sports to occupy them between and after classes at the College.

Current interest of the student body is in the football squad, which is even now bucking, plunging, passing and kicking in preparation for its fifth season under the tutelage of former All-American Benny Friedman. With a revised schedule of opponents, the eleven will start its first game at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, October 1, in Lewisohn Stadium.

Most widely reputed of the College squads is the hooping quintet. Coached by Nat Holman, the basketball team looks forward this year to defeating the nigh-redoubtable NYU five, a feat unaccomplished since 1932. Only one veteran of last year remains, but the younger men coming up have been trained in junior varsity competition.

House Plan Is Happy Escape From Harsh College Routine

In the year 1934 was conceived the brain child which helps make College life fuller and more enjoyable. Starting in empty Townsend Harris Hall classrooms, the House Plan grew to such dimensions in the first year, that 292 Convent Avenue was purchased as a meeting place. The four-story building was refurbished and refurbished, and has been the Plan's headquarters ever since.

The House Plan is the chief social and cultural institution of the College.

Its program includes such events as an annual carnival in November, a Charter Day Ball in the Spring, frequent dances, discussions, debates and forums. The Plan is split up into divisions named after prominent men associated with the College. Each division conducts its own social activities, musicales, dinners and teas. The Plan was officially recognized two years ago, when the Board of Higher Education assumed responsibility for payment of the director. The experiment has spread to the Commerce Center, under, Brooklyn, Columbia and N.Y.U.

Always expanding in facilities and activities, the House Plan, with a present membership of six hundred, continues to serve as a happy escape from College routine.

Faculty Bulletin

Publication of the Faculty Bulletin has been temporarily suspended, Acting President Mead announced recently. Official notices, news of contests, Faculty Notes and other Faculty Bulletin features will henceforth appear in The Campus.

Letter of Intro;
What to Expect
On Page Three

By Philip Minoff

To those of you who are reading this column for the first time, and to those of you who are reading this column for the last time, these words are respectfully dedicated. I have always considered it a wise practice to use the first column of the semester to explain exactly what this sports page is going to do during the term. This enables those who will continue reading to check up on us and write stinging letters of abuse whenever we deviate from our avowed policy. And it will enable those who will never look at this page again to participate in discussions with their sport-minded friends as to merits of the Campus sports page. You know, like reading the preface to a novel and writing a profound 3,000-word book report on the work for one of your English courses.

First of all, there will be no monopoly of space by one sport. Of course football will be the most popular subject until the basketball season rolls around, and justly so. But it does not follow that cross-country and intramurals must be dwarfed in the background. Intramurals is still the sport in which most people are actively interested, and as for cross-country, Coach Tony Orlando has a corking good team coming up. Last term basketball rode the crest of popularity, but that did not prevent our featuring columns on tennis, track, boxing, wrestling, intramurals and rifle.

At the risk of being assailed for a lack of school spirit I would like to say right here and now that we will never let our enthusiasm for the home team distort the account of a game or meet. If an opposing squad is definitely superior to our own that fact will be made clear in the news account of the contest. There will be no such thing as a 45-0 defeat being "eked out" or "lucky". I also hope there will be no such thing as a 45-0 defeat. But that is outside our province, in the very capable hands of Benny Friedman and a gridiron squad that shapes up as a humdinger.

Although there are a number of handicaps because the paper comes out only two or three times a week, every effort will be made to get up-to-the-minute and accurate news. We don't believe in getting our material, for instance, from the second cousin of an assistant manager. All news stories with any doubt involved will first be verified by the coaches themselves. Naturally, opinionated articles such as columns and features don't come under this heading. They are strictly subjective, and to submit them to the coaches for scrutiny would be defeating their very purpose.

As to the actual style of the stories, I think and hope you will find them comparatively free of sport writing cliches and thoroughly readable. Because the paper sometimes does not come out until two or three days after an event many of the stories will be of the feature variety resembling mostly, perhaps, the World-Telegram news treatment. This column itself will sometimes be written in paragraphs and sometimes in the dot and dash form, as the occasion demands. Each of the two styles has its advantages. An analysis of a game, for example, would demand the first form, while bits of locker room gossip would call for the abbreviated, staccato form.

Finally, let me assure you that the column will never be as serious as this again. Although it's been kicked around a helluva lot in the past few weeks, the world still isn't shaped like a football. What's happening in Praha today is infinitely more important than what happens inside the ten yard line on some Saturday afternoon. We should get some fun out of sport, and one of the ways we can do it is to look at it from the lighter side. There's drama, excitement, glamour and humor in sport. Let's not leave out the humor.

Rain Compels Team Return

carriers. Coach Friedman thought highly enough of this boy last year to rate him the top pivot man of the city, Alexander Wojty's supporters to the contrary notwithstanding. This season he'll just play center.

Jerry's brother Harry, a man with a mustache, not much weight, and a lot of football sense, will call signals. Completing the backfield will be little Mike Weissbrod to throw the passes and Joe Massiglia to do the punting.

Line Coach Joe Alexander, re-staff two years ago, has Al Toth and Artie Jacobs as ends, Leon Garbarsky at guard and Jerry Stein at center as a quartet of experience linemen around which to form a capable forward wall. Leading candidates for the remaining three positions are Bill Burrell and Ernie Slaboda, tackles, and Herb Kaplan and Sam Posner guards. Slaboda, 6'3" and 195 pounds of converted end, along with 188 pound Burrell, substitute tackle last year, showed five defensive power and steady

Purge Creates Need For Sports Writers

Graduation and other types of academic purge have affected the Campus sports staff as well as the football team. In order to recoup losses, Sports Editor Phil Minoff today issued a call for willing and able workmen.

Experienced men are preferred, but anyone who is interested in the newspaper coverage of sports is invited to try out. You no doubt feel quite certain that you can turn out as snappy a football story, feature or column as this paper has seen in many a year.

The next step is to make the editor feel the same way about you. All those who are interested may apply at the Campus office, Room 8, mezzanine. Those who have worked on other papers will apply accompanied by examples of their work (clippings, etc.). Those who have accompanied.

Dr. Mead to Speak At House Plan Tea

Will Welcome Entering Freshmen; Gottschall Also to Talk

Dr. Nelson P. Mead, acting president of the College, Morton Gottschall, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Science, will be the guest speakers at a tea and open house for incoming freshmen at the House Plan tomorrow afternoon at four. Other faculty members invited to attend are Dean John R. Turner and Recorder John K. Ackley.

After being feted with tea and hearing welcoming addresses by acting president Mead and Dean Gottschall, the freshmen will be taken on a tour of the House Plan to acquaint them with the Plan, its facilities and purpose.

The House Plan during the fall semester is planning to hold a tea every Thursday at four. Each House would sponsor at least one tea to which it would invite all Plan members and for which it would provide entertainment and guest speakers, according to Victor Tcherkoff '39, vice-president of the House Plan.

The date for the annual House Plan Carnival has already been set for Saturday, November 19, according to Megaron, House Plan paper.

SC Committees Want Members

The Student Council plans to hold an organizational meeting Friday at 3 p.m. in Room 306.

Marvin Rothenberg '39, vice-president, said, however, that since a meeting of student leaders had been called by Dr. Mead for the same time, an attempt would be made to change the Council's meeting "just as soon as the Executive Committee meets."

Meanwhile William Rafsky '40, secretary, asked that all students, desiring positions on SC Committees, apply for them by placing their requests, addressed to the Council, in Box 22 of the Faculty Mail Room. He stated that there were vacancies on the following committees: Alcove, Curriculum, Elections, Faculty-Student Discipline, Finance and Auditing, Lunchroom, Membership, Peace, Sanitation, Social Functions and the College Store. In the case of the last named committee only Sophomores are eligible. Only upper Seniors for the Discipline Committee will be considered. Applications, Rafsky said, should be made as soon as possible as some designations will be made at the first meeting.

City Internes To Start Work

The system of internship, established last May, whereby undergraduates at the College will be trained for City Civil Service positions, goes into effect this term. Thirty-three students, accepted by the College Advisory Committee last Spring, will work without pay in the office of Commissioner of Investigation William B. Herlands '25, as "research assistants."

It is understood that the internes will undertake such tasks as will permit them to study the various city departments at close range, thereby learning something of how the city's administrative system functions. It is also expected that the research posts will enable the students accepted to study the workings of municipal governments other than our own so that they may form a basis for comparison of New York and other city administrations.

Permanent employment of the honors students is not promised, but it has been pointed out that the increased knowledge of the city's government will make it easier for graduates to secure civil service positions.

News in Brief

Adolph Lewisohn, donor of Lewisohn Stadium and inaugurator of Stadium Concerts, died August 17 at his summer home on Upper Saranac Lake, New York. He was 89 years old.

The Stadium was presented to the College in 1914. He had previously given the College his 1500 volume German library containing many valuable works.

His philanthropies also included prison reform, aid for the blind, and scientific research.

Mr. Lewisohn was president of Adolph Lewisohn and Sons, investment brokers, and headed many mining companies.

Applications for the post of Student Council representative are requested by the '39 Class Council. Only registered lower seniors will be considered. It is asked that the applications be put in Box 22 of the Faculty Mail Room and addressed to the '39 Class.

George Pecker and William Tomshinsky have been selected as Senior Prom Co-chairmen.

The '41 class, with a full term's program ahead, is in the market for experienced '41 men to lead class activities, Robert Klein, president, announced today. Especially needed, he said, are a sports man, of the '41 class preferably, to organize and lead '41 teams in intramural touch-tackle and basketball, and a publicity man, who will be appointed to the vacant class council post of historian. Candidates are asked to report to the '41 alcove tomorrow at noon.

Approximately seventy students have joined the American Student Union during the past week, according to Bernard Wolf '40, membership secretary.

Positions on the circulation and business staffs of the City College Monthly are open, it was announced by Charles Driscoll '39, co-editor of the Monthly. Commissions will be paid to all staffmen, he said.

Candidates can apply in room 12, mezzanine, at 5 p.m. today or anytime tomorrow, Driscoll said.
