Faculty Sets Appointment Procedure

Council Also Acts On BHE Proposals And Jurisdiction

The Faculty Council yesterday decided upon procedure for appointments and promotions. That the fullest expression of opinion within the departments and the Faculty should take place, is the Council's recommendation, The Campus learned yesterday.

The report on the general principles to be followed in appointments and promotions, indirectly resulting from the Arm case, stressed the allowance of full discussion within the departments so as to render unnecessary appeals to the Board.

The report concluded with a renewal of the Faculty Council's previous recommendation that the Board authorize the formation of a Joint Conference Committee of the Board and the Faculty to "promote mutual understanding regarding educational policies," Dean Gottschall said.

A report of its special committee on the status of the non-instructional staffs was adopted by the Council. While welcoming the elimination by the Board of its provision that present members of the administrative staffs be required to take qualifying examinations in order to receive tenure, the Council believed that additional revisions should be made in the Board's proposals regarding the non-instructional staffs.

The Council recommended that the Board keep within its jurisdiction under the State Education Law, the qualifications, methods of selection, working conditions, tenure regulation, classifications and salary schedules of all educational employees — both classroom teachers and non-instructional members of the staff.

A joint committee of Faculty and Board members to undertake reclassification of the staffs and to consider

$9,000,000 State Education Cut Passes Assembly

A bill legalizing the nine million dollar budget cut in State aid to education has been passed by the Assembly, Bella V. Dodd, Legislative Representative of the State Federation of Teachers Unions, declared last night.

She spoke at a membership meeting of the New York College Teachers Union.

For the Board of Higher Education this will mean a reduction of approximately $300,000 from the allotment which had been made for Townsend Harris and Hunter High Schools. It will probably mean further decreases in other vital services of the Colleges, continued Mrs. Dodd.

She told the CTU members that since the budget, as cut by the Republican majorities in the Legislature, did not appropriate the full sum apportionable to local school districts, this money was owed to the communities under the requirements of the State Education laws.

The bill passed by the Assembly nullifies these requirements, she pointed out.

"This bill and others aimed at cutting State aid can be vetoed by Governor Lehman," Mrs. Dodd stated.

Non-Instructional, Budget Development

The importance of the budget situation, and its effects on the College—considered from the local, city and state viewpoints—was thrown into sharp relief yesterday when

Mr. Ordway Tead, Board of Higher Education chairman, made his first public statement on the matter (Column 6)

The Parents Association, ASU and instructors at the College pushed plans for a rally to protest the budget cuts (Column 2)

Mrs. Bella V. Dodd analyzed legislative bills pending at Albany before a meeting of the New York College Teachers Union last night (Column 1). The TU, also, which had been pressing

A state bill granting tenure to the instructional and non-instructional staffs, learned last night that the legislation it sought had passed the Senate (Column 3).

Earlier in the week the non-instructional staff had protested the change in their status advocated by the BHE (Column 3).

PA to Protest Budget Cuts

ASU, Instructors Join Parents In Rally

Parents will join instructors and students in protesting against slashes in state and municipal school appropriations at a meeting in the Great Hall tonight at 8:15.

Sponsored by the American Student Union and the College Parents Association, the meeting will hear Albert Clurman, PA president, Edwin Hoffman, president of the College chapter of the ASU, and a representative of the College Teachers Union. Miss Terry Levin, national high school secretary of the ASU and one of the three students who were admitted to the Board of Estimate hearings a fortnight ago, will discuss the latest threats to free education.

"Parents are an important voting group and can be a pressure group of tremendous importance," Mr. Clurman said at a meeting of the Association. A letter distributed to students and parents, signed by Mr. Clurman and Hoffman, called attention to the strong possibility of six thousand teachers being dropped from the city schools' rolls.

BHE Hears Tenure Draft Opposed

Administrative Staffs Seeking State Law To Assure Status

BULLETIN

By a 27-15 vote the State Senate passed, late yesterday afternoon, the Legislative Conference-College Teachers Union bill granting tenure to the instructional and non-instructional staffs.

The bill is now before the Assembly Rules Committee.

By Henry Finley

Non-instructional staff tenure, as provided under the Legislative Conference-College Teachers Union bill now in the State Legislature, was almost unanimously approved by three hundred members of this group at a Board of Higher Education hearing on Wednesday night.

The hearing was called to discuss a proposed by-law of the Board which would provide tenure under the Municipal Civil Service Commission, and reclassify duties and titles as well as salary schedules.

Voting informally at the request of Dr. Harry J. Carman, chairman of the Board Committee on By-Laws, the non-instructional staff showed by a large majority that it did not desire Civil Service tenure, but that it wanted tenure similar to that granted last year to the instructional staff.

The latter proposal is incorporated in the Feld-Goldberg bill now pending in Albany.

Among the individuals who spoke against the Board by-law were Professor George M. Brett, College curator, Recorder John K. Ackley, Professor Harry C. Rivlin of the School of Education, Professor O'Neill, chairman of the Public Speaking Department at Brooklyn, and Samuel Kagin, Brooklyn registrar.

Albert W. Clurman, president of the College Parents Association, also protested for his organization against the by-law.

Every group at the hearing, except the clerks already under Civil Service, declared themselves opposed to the by-law. A better means of granting tenure as well as a more equitable merit system could be devised, it was

Beavers Swamp Kingmen, 22-4 In Game for Refugee Fund Aid

By Simon Lippa

Poor attendance and a slight drizzle couldn't dampen the enthusiasm of the Beaver nine as the St. Nicks swamped a pathetic Brooklyn College nine in the Stadium yesterday. The official Campus count was 22-4, but various estimates of the score are ranging all through the alcoves today. The entire proceeds of the game, which climaxed the annual Charter Day ceremonies, went to the Foreign Refugee Student Fund.

The students who also needed the benefit, however, were the refugee pitchers of Brooklyn College. Three of them were shelled from the mound by a barrage of thirteen hits, while the rest of the team helped not a bit by sandwiching an error around each hit. Even the shortcomings of Beaver pitchers Arky Soltes and Frank Tosa faded into the dust of the Stadium as the fans sat wide mouthed, and then gave up in sheer disgust, at the comedy of errors which unfolded before them.

At that, the Lavender tossing wasn't too bad. Soltes allowed the visitors two hits and a run in the five innings he worked, while Tosa, who came in with a nine run lead, held the Maroon and Gold hitless. The six passes he issued were good for three runs, though, while he mixed 'em up sufficiently to fan seven Fiat-bushers.

Staff Selects Shair For 'Campus' Editor

David I. Shair '40 was selected Editor-in-Chief of The Campus for next semester at a meeting of the staff Tuesday. The selection will be ratified or rejected by the Campus Association at its meeting Monday evening.

The following staff members were elected to posts on the Managing Board: George F. Nissenon '40, Managing Editor; Bert R. Briller '40, News Editor; Arthur H. Lucas '40 and Eugene V. Jennings '41, Copy Editors; Sidney Mirkin '40, Sports Editor; and Simon Alpert '41, Features Editor.

for six, seven and five runs, gave Sam Winograd's boys enough markers to win five times as many ball games. Bill Mayhew and Al Soupios led the attack with three hits apiece, while Tosa, Sam Meister, and 'Twin' Weintraub, who seems to be coming out of his batting lethargy, contributed two hits each to the carnage.

Sy Balkin, who has the knack of getting on base with minimum amount of hits, made his twentieth trip to first in thirty-eight times at bat, though

Open House Progresses

All-Science Exhibit Set For May 19

"We want to show through the All-Science Open House, being held May 19, that the budget allotment for education which the state legislature and the City Council have seen fit to cut is unjustified," declared Irving Yarmush '39, secretary of the Baskerville Chemistry Society.

"We should urge the Governor to do this."

Preparations for the Open House, Yarmush stated, are in their final stages of completion. The program for the day includes a seminar on chemistry in the afternoon, exhibitions which will be demonstrated in the Chemistry Building and addresses in the evening by Acting President Nelson P. Mead; Ordway Tead, chairman of the Board of Higher Education; Martin A. Kippack '15, chairman of the Department of Chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania; and Dr. Abraham Gettler, head of the Chemistry Department of Columbia University. Isidore Pitchersky '39, president of the Baskerville Society, will be the student speaker.

Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia will attend unless other pressing matters prevent his appearance.

The proceedings will be broadcast over Station WNYC from 8 to 8:45

Tead, Dunn And Lewisohn Among Speakers

As the peal of bells resounded across the campus, 1,700 students, faculty members and alumni filled the Great Hall yesterday to commemorate the ninety-second year since the charter for the Free Academy was granted and the ninetieth year since classes began.

After nine decades, the College was pictured as "uniquely in transition" in its treatment of curriculum, budget and equipment, and administrative methods by Ordway Tead, chairman of the Board of Higher Education, who delivered the principal address.

With Acting President Nelson P. Mead presiding, the ceremonies included an address by Gano Dunn '89, representing the Fiftieth Anniversary Class, and presentation of the Adolph Lewisohn House by Sam A. Lewisohn, son of the late philanthropist and College alumnus.

Addressing his words to "rightfully apprehensive" students, Mr. Tead said the College "has perhaps been less affected by budget cuts than the other colleges. With some reallocation of funds, we can go forward next year without too great an impairment of the total college project."

Although curriculum reexamination is "a responsibility which I fully understand to be rightfully assumed solely within the college by faculty and students," Mr. Tead ventured to suggest the objectives of such revision. He favored a curriculum which would impart to students "synthesis, roundness, and an intelligible total view of the world."

"But I venture to warn the students that progress here is slow and the path thorny," he continued. "For those of us who are older have been victims of a system wherein educa-

House Plan Movie To Have Preview In Harris Tonight

An experimental series of plays will be presented by the House Plan Dramatic Workshop in the Townsend Harris Auditorium tonight at 8:30. An original play, Nobody Has to Know by David Latner, a scene from They Shall Not Die, and a "sneak preview" of the unfinished House Plan movie will be shown. After the performance the audience will be asked to write their criticisms of the movie and the play.

"This is purely an experimental venture," said Frank C. Davidson, director of the HP, "and one of the plays is original. The performances are designed to encourage creative writers."

Members of the Board of Higher Education, the House Plan Board of Directors, the Faculty Wives, faculty House Plan members, Acting President Mead and Dean Gottschall have been invited.

The first all-student tea of the term was given by the Briggs houses on Wednesday. Students of the HP dancing classes gave a dancing exhibition of the Lindy Hop and the new HP creation, the Mess Around. Bernard Mechanik, Briggs '40, led a group discussion on "What the Boys Would Like in the New House—294."

The Girl Brings the Lunch, You Bring the Girl And a Boat Brings You All to Bear Mountain

Ping Pong Champs To Strut Stuff On S. S. Delaware

By Murray Meld

Boatride etiquette means only one thing, according to Bernard G. Walpin '39, chairman of the Boatride Committee. The girl brings the lunch. Otherwise, anything goes — except that Bernie Goltz '42 must make up his mind on which side of the boat he will sit, so that ballast will not have to be shifted again.

In order to insure that at least twenty College men eat lunch on that great day (Sunday, May 21) drawings for free lunch cards will be held next Tuesday at 1 p.m. in Alcove I. The rest of the fellows will have to drop a hint to their girls if they want to eat. A subtle "I like ham-on-rye" should be enough.

Of course, this tactic applies only if you have a date. If you haven't the procedure for getting one is simple.

Your girl may be different, but any girl will answer "yes" to a proposal as tempting as the boatride.

You may be different, but even you have the courage to lift up a telephone receiver and croon "How's about it, babe?"

There is hope too for ping-pong players and other members of the pariah caste. Somewhere on the great deck of the S. S. Delaware, Ruth Brewer, third ranking table-tennis champion of America, will put on an exhibition game with the College intramural champ and will take on all other comers.

All in all, it should be a cinch and according to Stanley N. (Big Wind) Rosenberg '40, "our fifty ticket salesmen are hitting on all fifty cylinders. Half the tickets are already sold and unlike last year, we will not hire a second boat at the last minute."

On the boat a musical revue will be presented by members of the Dramatic Society. "Peaches," Joe Engel '39 and Marvin Rothenberg '39 will merge charm and talent in skits from In the Groove, What's the Youth and Idiot's Delight.

The faculty, with Dean Turner as captain, will gang up on a student team at one of the five reserved diamonds at Bear Mountain Park. The faculty team issued a plea for more support among its own ranks. College teachers who can play baseball are at a premium. Professor "Bill" Guthrie (Government Dept.) and Professor Holland Thompson (History Dept.) will umpire to see that justice is done.

Deck scenes, dancing in the moonlight, rowing on Hessian Lake, the ball game, the picnic grounds and generous portions of Brooklyn College and Commerce girls strewn around, offer ideal subjects for the photo contest being sponsored by the Boatride Committee.

Comes the AA Elections; Babe Adler and Bill Wallach Ask For Your Vote

By Harold Mendelsohn

Nominations for officers of the College Athletic Association closed yesterday afternoon. But the finagling, caucusing and conniving has been going on for weeks. This campaign is proving at least one thing: some College athletes are as cute when it comes to pulling a fast one as the crummiest class politician.

The race for president of the AA is now between Babe Adler, captain of next season's basketball team, and Bill Wallach of the football and lacrosse teams. Although he will work much more quietly and with a minimum of publicity, the president of the AA has the most responsible student position in the school. He and his board act as right hand men to Professor Williamson, faculty athletic treasurer.

What the Student Council does has small effect in the allotment of the general budget. The AA Board, acting with the Professor, may have an important voice in the raising and dispensation of athletic funds.

What do the boys themselves have to say about the situation? Bill Wallach says, "In view of my record as assistant treasurer of the present AA Board, and having shown my willingness and ability to do work, I believe that I am the best qualified candidate for the presidency. During this semester the sale of AA books for a spring term exceeded the sale in the previous fall semester for the first time in AA history. This was brought about by a plan of between-terms sale of books which I helped formulate. I have also served on many committees of the Varsity Club and was AA representative for the Refugee Jam-boree Basketball Game."

Babe Adler says, "For the last several years the AA presidents have been downtowners. As one who attends the Main Center, I believe that I have an advantage over Bill Wallach who attends the Commerce Center. If I am elected president, the AA will embark upon a more intensive program of support for intramural athletics. The lack of fund-raising dances for the benefit of the AA in the past will be remedied. Another important point is the placing of medical attention and hospitalization for athletes on an official basis rather than leaving it to the charity of alumni."

Sport Sparks . . .

Although the Fordham tracksters trounced the College 104 1/2 to 21 1/2 on Friday, the standout performance of Jack Crowley, Dave Polansky and Ralph Di Martino bodes ill for their future opponents. Crowley did a 1:59.8 half mile; Polansky ran a 4:32 mile and Di Martino went 220 in 23 seconds flat. These times are the best made at the College since 1932 when George Bullwinkle established the current records for these distances at the College.

Bill Wallach, the lacrosseman with energy to burn, hasn't yet given up his two-sports schedule. Since Benny Friedman called a stop to spring football training, Bill has taken up swimming in preparation for the lifeguard's exam.

Friedman has already prepared the tentative list of players who are going to training camps. Rumors have it that the footballers won't taste Wayne County apples this fall as Coach Benny is looking for a new camp. . . . While on the subject of football it is well to know that basketball Bobby is not the only athlete in the Sand family. His younger brother is out for the football squad.

The twenty wrestlers at the squad dinner at the Parkside Hotel on Friday broke training with one blonde waitress present. When all the bonobenders tried to date her at once she was quite befuddled as to whom to favor. . . . Speaking of women, the red-head who was cornered in the Campus office by lacrosseman Julie Yokel was shocked by his caveman tactics. It seems Julie used to be a gentleman before he took up that bloodthirsty Indian game.

Sandy "Hatfield" Bruckner and Morty "Coy" Feigleman are reckless College boys and feud it out like their namesakes every night in the Stadium tower. Next term's basketball manager still has to repay Morty, the current baseball manager for pulling the legs out from under Sandy's cot the other night. Sandy's back is in such bad condition that even "Doc" Drucker, Beaver trainer, can't do anything for him.

Beavers Rout Brooklyn; Bow To St. Johns

The win yesterday pulled the Beavers' record up to seven victories and five losses. The Lavender lost a close one to St. John's Wednesday, 7-6, in a game played at Dexter Park. A belated rally in the last three innings just fell short, as the tying and winning runs were left stranded.

Pat Brescia was pounded for fourteen hits and all the runs, while Paul Graziano did a creditable relief job. The Redmen pecked away at Pat in the second, third and fourth, and sent three runs over in the seventh before Graziano quelled the uprising. The Beavers, meanwhile, couldn't get to Shea until the seventh, when they scored three times. They got one over in the eighth, and drove two runs in and Shea out in the ninth. With two on and one out, Ananicz got the first man on a fly to center, and fanned Angie Monitto on three pitches to end the game and give the Indians their second victory over the Beavers this year.

'Pet' Petrino, who has been filling in nicely for Mike Grieco at third base this week, will probably be sent down to the jayvee 'farm' when Mike returns to the lineup Wednesday against Manhattan. 'Pet' got two hits against St. John's Wednesday, and though he went hitless yesterday, he sent the Brooklyn outfielder back on his heels with a tremendous drive to deep center.

Trackmen Set For City Meet

While the other colleges battle it out for the Metropolitan Intercollegiate track championship at Randall's Island Stadium tomorrow, the Beavers will be striving to finish higher than the customary fourth or fifth which has been their lot since the meet's inception in '33.

Basing his predictions on their showing in the Fordham meet, Coach Lionel McKenzie is confident that his ace, Captain Jack Crowley, Dave Polansky, Jim Clancy and Dick Di Martino will be able to break into the scoring column and boost the standing of the College. Crowley, whose fine race against Fordham's Frank Slater has established him as a threat, has been perfecting his timing during the week and is set for his attempt on the half-mile crown, now held by Andy Neidnig of Manhattan.

The chief trouble as far as the sophomorphs, Polansky and Di Martino are concerned, is their lack of experience, which has hampered them in their efforts thus far. Polansky, who has a terrific homestretch kick in the mile run, has yet to learn pace. The experience gained in the Fordham meet may prove helpful in tomorrow's race. Sprinter Di Martino, an in-and-outer up to now, may also crash the select circle.

Whether the Beaver outfit will achieve its objective or not, depends to a great extent, on whether Jim Clancy will be able to score in the field events. Jim has been bothered by an old football injury and hasn't been up to par, but if he forgets about it long enough to ease himself into a scoring position, the Beavers will, for the first time, occupy a respectable position in the Metropolitan standings.

Coming Back Soon

Netmen Crush Manhattan, 7-2

On the rebound from a disheartening loss to Columbia last week, the College tennis team came back with a vengeance Wednesday to rout Manhattan's racquet wielders, 7-2, at the Hamilton Courts.

Coach Daniel Bronstein's revamped line-up gave the Lavender its fourth victory in five starts and still further changes in the Beaver rankings are indicated for tomorrow's meet with Fordham.

Lanky Hal Schiffman, College ace, opened with an easy 6-2, 6-2 triumph, Bob Siebert following suit, 2-6, 6-1, 6-3. Al Wasserman, playing in the number three spot for the first time this season, bowed, 6-1, 6-4, as Beavers Bill Farley and Ted Schein came out of their slumps with straight-set wins. Sid Gershon, number six man, applied the pressure at the right time to defeat Stan Tomaszewicz, 3-6, 7-5, 6-4, giving the St. Nicks a 5-1 lead and clinching the meet for the Lavender.

Combining in the doubles encounters, Schiffman and Sieber trounced Manhattan's number one twosome, 6-1, 6-3, and the Wasserman and Farley duo chalked up a 9-7, 6-0 win. In the final doubles duel, Manager Walter Kaghan, making his season debut, showed he needs more experience, for teaming up with "Peanuts" Auerbach, Kaghan's double-faults led to a 4-6, 6-1, 6-4 defeat, preventing a clean sweep in the doubles.

Wallach, Adler Compete For AA Presidency

The list of candidates for AA offices on which uptown students will not vote next Thursday, is as follows:

- President—Bill Wallach, Babe Adler
- Main Center Vice-President—Sam Cantor, Harry Stein
- Secretary—Leon Garbarsky, Jack Lowenbein
- Treasurer—Julie Yokel
- Main Center Assistant Treasurer—Edward Goodman, Irving Talent
- Student Council Representatives—Al Hanfling, Herbert Kaplan

Charter Day Holds Up Intramurals Program

JV to Meet Evening Nine

An almost completely new team will take the field when the Lavender JV nine plays the Evening Session squad in the Stadium tomorrow. Although the Baby Beavers have won two and tied one of their last three games, Coach Charley Malone hopes that a shakeup of the line-up will produce more hitting power in a team that secured but seven hits in the last two games.

The new line-up will present Martin Goldsmith, the nine's Handy Andy, in a new role—that of catcher. Taking over Goldsmith's shortstop post will be Frank Liguori with "Pet" Petrino and "Angie" Monitto at third and second base respectively. Third baseman Kohen will be shifted to the outfield and Friedman will replace Sager at first.

Lacrossemen Face Loyola Tomorrow

With the team at full strength for the first time this season, Chief Miller's lacrosse men travel to Baltimore to face Loyola tomorrow.

"The team's practice schedule was disrupted by yesterday's Charter Day baseball game," said Coach Miller, "but with the spirit this team shows, despite the series of setbacks, they have suffered—Well, it's just remarkable. There is going to be a darn good lacrosse game played in Baltimore tomorrow, and my boys will do the good part of the playing."

The Loyola outfit plays a bang-up type of game, and so the Lavender attack can expect a good, bruising fight, but Chief Miller is confident that the body checking of his defense will counterbalance all the roughness the Loyola fellows will display.

Only Softball Teams Progress

With Charter Day exercises cutting deeply into the Intramural program, forcing cancellation of most competition, only the soft-ball schedule went into the fourth round.

The Health Ed nine, emulating the "Big Bertha" batting of the Yankees, pounded out 18 runs to romp away with a win over the ASME II team, which was shut out. Second high-scoring honors went to Webb '42 with an 11-1 victory, thus eliminating Shep '42 from the running.

The All-Star pitching, effectively throttling all resistance, blanked the Cinches, 9-0. Shutouts seemed to be the order of the day, with three other games having goose-eggs recorded for the losers. Phi Epsilon Pi came out on the wrong side of a 2-0 score, the Kappa Delta Tau squad getting the breaks.

In the lone "double-header" of the day, the Assi Nine team lived up to their boast that "any team that plays us is 'assi-nine'" by scoring two shut-out wins. They squeezed through with one run to top the Violets; and followed this up with a 5 run attack upon the Dervishes.

The Greeks slugged it out on the baseball field, and when the smoke cleared way, Chi Alpha Pi had defeated Chi Beta Nu, 4-2.

It was a "no decision" affair when the Jones Boys squared off against an AIEE squad, the score remaining deadlocked at 4-4 after five innings. The sophs squelched the frosh in the Bowker '42 vs. Webb '43 game, as Bowker gained a 7-4 victory. Gibbs '41 forfeited to Abbe '42.

The Intramural program will continue on all fronts next week, with the basketball finals between the All-Stars and the Shep Club headlining the day's events.

There's a rumor floating around that Bob Siebert likes tennis. What does Bob have to say about it?

"I've been playing tennis for seven years now, but only five years has been in competitive play. I was on the team at Townsend Harris for three years and I've played for the College for the past two years.

"No, the only hobby I have is following tennis results, and tournament play. Two years ago I was eliminated in the final round of the Part Department singles tournament, that's about the best I've done so far."

Bob doesn't count it as a sport (it's not tennis) but he was a backstroker on the Harris swimming squad.

Siebert is 6 feet 2 inches tall but only tips the scales at 155. He has sandy hair and a Florida tan and is the last type of fellow you'd expect to be an English major.

Didn't his absorbing interest in tennis interfere with his scholastic work?

"In high school I earned a State scholarship and I'm pulling down pretty good marks now—except for Latin," he admitted ruefully.

"Besides, I still find time for an outside job." No, it has nothing to do with the net game. He works in a parking lot outside Yankee Stadium, hence that terrific tan.

"Don't say that I'm interested only in tennis. It's just that the other things aren't so important."

No comment.

College Expansion Asked By Faculty Committee

Graduate School Alumni Research Body Recommended

Expansion of the College, including establishment of a graduate school, to provide greater opportunity and better facilities for research by staff members, is the most important recommendation of a faculty committee after a year of investigation.

The report of the group, which is a sub-committee named by the Faculty Committee on Research in December 1937, was distributed to members of the College staff earlier this week.

The committee's proposals included establishment of an Alumni Research Foundation, the issuing of a College Year Book containing original papers and digests of other published work and research by staff members, and institution of research associates and fellowships financed by industrial concerns in specific fields.

The Alumni Research Foundation, to be supported by endowment, would provide apparatus and collect source material for research, establish traveling fellowships and publish the Year Book.

Because pressure of teaching duties and administrative and committee work leaves inadequate time for staff members to engage in research, the committee suggests lightening the teaching burden, rearranging class schedules, and a "liberal attitude" toward sabbatical leaves.

Stressing the importance of "administrative functions and student welfare," the committee believes that teachers "should not be forced to engage in half-hearted projects of research," if they elect to work in the other fields.

The report is signed by Professors Oscar I. Janowsky (History Dept.), chairman, Albert P. d'Andrea (Art), Bennington P. Gill (Mathematics), Robert A. Love (Economics), Charles A. Marlies (Chemical Engineering), and Mr. John M. Firestone (Economics).

Dram Soc's 'Marriage Without'.. Hester When Two Hunter Hopefuls Go A.W.O.L

Females visiting the mezzanine are hereby cautioned not to wander in the immediate vicinity of Room 1, home of Dram Soc.

Strange sounds are emanating of late from the room, and, according to Dram Soc men, if a girl to play the role of Hester in their forthcoming production, Marriage Without... is not found soon—anything may happen. All College men with high-pitched voices will be considered.

Amidst much moaning and rolling of eyes from Dram Soc scouts, Jesse Marcus '40, publicity manager of Marriage Without... told, in a quavering voice, the sad tale of the two Hunter hopefuls who volunteered for the part of Hester and then suddenly went A.W.O.L., leaving Marriage Without... (Hester).

In the midst of a tearful sniff, Marcus' red-rimmed eyes suddenly alighted upon an outstretched figure lying on the floor, (an ASU'er) and

ROTC to Inform Air Corps Hopefuls

Students interested in joining the United States Army Air Corps as flying cadets will have the requirements for enrollment explained by Captain Cobb, of the Corps, on Thursday, May 25, at noon in the ROTC Armory.

Candidates must have completed two years of college work, be between twenty and twenty-seven years old, and pass the necessary physical and education examinations. Those students who are accepted for training will be furnished uniforms, food and quarters at Randolph or Kelly Field in San Antonio, Texas, for the duration of the course.

Ready Funds For Research

The Research Committee of the College faculty will receive application for College awards, according to an announcement by Professor Abraham J. Goldfarb (Biology Dept.) Chairman, and Dr. Cecil H. Kindle (Geology Dept.) secretary of the Committee.

Only limited funds are available for the awards which are granted on a basis of scholarship, ability, promise, and nature of work to be pursued. Staff members have been asked to recommend possible recipients to the Committee, which will consider applications at its meeting on May 22.

The Professor William Stratford Prize in Vertebrate Zoology, The Charles A. Downer Memorial Fund for advanced studies in the Romance Languages, the Caduceus Award in Medicine, the Samuel Greenbaum and the Bonnie Wallace Le Clear Scholarship Fund for graduate scholarships are the prizes over which the Committee has jurisdiction.

Costa, Curtis And Pederson To Be Retired

The retirement of Professors Alfonso Arbib-Costa (Romance Languages Dept.), Robert W. Curtis (Chemistry) and Frederick M. Pederson (Mathematics) was announced yesterday by Acting President Nelson P. Mead. Seven others were granted leaves of absence for one year for the purposes of research.

All three of the retiring professors, who have been at the College more than thirty years, had reached the mandatory retirement age of seventy this semester.

Those who will be on leave, beginning this September, are Dr. Moses J. Aronson (Philosophy Dept.), Dr. James E. Carver (English), Willard F. Barber (Government), Dr. Allen O. Hansen (Educational), Gaston Gille (Romance Languages), Dr. Lawrence W. Shorritt (Accountancy) and Dr. Herman T. Spieth (Biology).

Coming to the College as a tutor in 1904, Professor Costa rose to a full professorship in Italian. A Knight Commander of the Crown of Italy, he has served as the American correspondent of La Tribuna of Rome.

Dr. Curtis, who entered the College in 1907, is the author of a number of articles and a text on quantitative analysis. Before taking up his duties here, he was connected with Yale and the University of Kansas.

Professor Pederson, a specialist in mathematical physics, became connected with the College in 1902.

619 Graduates Get Teaching Licenses

City College graduates garnered more than sixty-five percent of the high school and junior high school licenses issued last year by the New York City Board of Examiners.

By taking 619 of the 952 licenses issued, reported Acting Dean of the School of Education Samuel B. Heckman, College men gained almost twice as many positions as did the graduates of all the other institutions of higher learning combined.

Charter Day—

tion was supposed to come out of an arithmetical addition of "subjects and credits," from a variety of quite independent, instructional "departments."

Emphasizing the need for closer communication and cooperation between the College trustees and faculty, Mr. Tead declared that misunderstandings or misapprehensions which may have risen recently between the BHE and those in its colleges were basically due "to crudity in the machinery of communication... both to and from the Board."

Mr. Dunn, reminiscing on the College of his student days, declared that its discipline was its most valuable contribution to building the characters of its students.

Richard Siegal '41 Wins $1000 Naumberg Scholarship

Richard M. Siegal '41 has been awarded the Aaron Naumberg Study and Travel Scholarship for next year, Dean Morton Gottschall announced yesterday. The scholarship, which is awarded annually to the student of the Upper Sophomore class who is judged most capable, because of "character, scholarship and special aptitude, of profiting by a junior year abroad," carries with it a sum of one thousand dollars.

Dick was notified of his good fortune only two days ago and he has not yet had much time to plan things, what with getting over the shock and elation of it all and accepting the congratulations of those who "knew it all the time." He is certain, however, that he will spend his junior year somewhere in South America, either at the University of Buenos Aires, Argentina or at the University of Santiago, Chile. When he is through with college he will either go into the export-import business or become a Spanish teacher.

Siegal, who lives at 3166 Bainbridge Avenue, the Bronx, is studying for a Social Science degree. Spanish is his language major. Besides being president of his class, he is secretary of the Tau Delta Phi fraternity and is a member of the Pan-American Society and the ASU. Last term he served on the Student Council. He was valedictorian of his graduating class at De Witt Clinton, after having attained a general average of 96 per cent.

other changes of the by-laws was asked by the Council.

Elimination of bonus credits was voted yesterday and deductions of one-eighth credit for every credit in the grade D will be discontinued beginning with the class entering February 1939. A general average of "C" in all grades passed will be required for graduation.

Grass at Last, at Last the Grass At Last, at Last Some College Grass

No, it's not optical collusion, nor even post-hypnotic suggestion. Contrary to the best unscientific opinion, grass is actually beginning to appear on the College grounds.

The grass is a result of Spring and a "back to the soil" movement started by Walter Beller '39 and the Biology Society. With the aid of Hygiene classes and some borrowed WPA spades the entire campus was turned up and spaded.

Nor was grass the only bit of green that made its appearance on the grounds during the past week. Twenty-four green ashcans, purchased by the Curator's office under the Townsend plan, are now providing havens for old and dilapidated paper bags and fruit skins.

The cans were purchased after a sanitation campaign conducted by the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity and the SC "Clean the College" committee. At present, the committee is conducting a survey of the College

'The Campus' Puzzled By Bearded Paintings

Students walking along second floor corridors these days are stared at by three men with beards—not the Smith Brothers, Trade and Mark. Who these men are, The Campus was unable to learn yesterday. That they are not alive, The Campus is certain, for the reporter who was assigned pinched all three old men, and the only reaction he received was pain and dust on his fingers. The reporter surmised that the three old men were painted there.

Concerning other essential facts, The Campus can only reveal that it was unable to find out when they were put there, why they were put there, how they were put there. But the old men with the beards do stare, and they are there.

'Monthly' Out Monday

Although threatened by Dean Justin H. Moore of the Commerce Center, who has refused to allow the magazine to circulate unless a copy is submitted to him before sale, The City College Monthly, College literary magazine, will appear as scheduled, at all branches of the College, Monday morning. Charles Driscoll is Editor-in-Chief of this term's edition, and Harold Segal is Managing Editor.

The magazine will feature a long poem by Andrew Schiller, entitled "Fugue of the Black Christ," an original work, and a critical essay on D. H. Lawrence and "A Changing Literature" by William Bernstein. The Monthly will also include an article on the late Thomas Wolfe, author of Look Homeward, Angel and Of Time and the River. The publication will sell for ten cents.

'Campus' Goes On Exhibit

Making of Newspaper Will Be Displayed

Beginning Monday and remaining till Friday, May 26, a Campus exhibit will be in display in two cases in the Hall of Patriots. The exhibit, climax of The Campus' publicity campaign this term, will illustrate step by step the putting out of today's issue of the newspaper.

Part of the display will be printer's tools and literature of the printing trade. Technical problems and terms will be illustrated with diagrams and labels.

The write-up of the Charter Day exercises will be used to describe the steps in reporting and printing a story. Beginning with the assigning of the story, the exhibit will show how the reporter covers the story, how it is copy-read, and how eventually—sooner or later—it appears the next morning in The Campus.

Other parts of the publicity campaign have included a contest in the alcoves and a chapel rally co-sponsored with the Dram Soc.

contended, than that which was recommended by the Board. Furthermore, it was felt that the by-law as proposed would lower salaries and retard opportunity for advancement and promotion.

These fears were repeatedly expressed at the hearing, although Dr. Carman at the outset attempted to reassure the staff that they were unjustified.
