SC to Hold Second Forum Tomorrow

Dean Gottschall,
Others, To Discuss
City University

The possibility and desirability of establishing a City University will be the topic of discussion at an open forum sponsored by the Student Council Curriculum Committee tomorrow at 3 p.m. in 126 Main. This is the second of a series held by the committee with the purpose of gaining material to include in its report.

Dean Morton Gottschall and Professor Harold H. Abelson (Education Dept.) will speak. Professor Harry J. Carman, member of the Board of Higher Education, is among those who have been invited to participate in the discussion.

That students of the College like their elective courses is the conclusion reached in the report on a survey conducted last term by Gibbs '39 of the House Plan. The report, prepared by Howard J. Hausman '39 and released last week, states that students find a high proportion of electives interesting and do not consider themselves overworked.

Asking recipients to grade elective courses as above or below average in interest for the student and work required of him, 1,150 questionnaires were distributed to students who were studying their major subjects last term.

The tabulation of the results of the survey, course by course, is printed on page two of this issue of The Campus.

In 424 replies, an "unusually high" return, 62% of the courses are ranked above average in interest, 25% of average interest, and 14% below average. 14% of the electives require "too much" work, 30% require "plenty" of work, and 40% require an "average" amount of work.

Avukah to Protest 'White Paper' Plan Thursday in 126

To protest the British White Paper, aimed at limiting Jewish immigration to 75,000 over the next five years and at the end of that time having the Jewish population frozen at one-third of the total population of Palestine, a "Mass Protest Meeting" will be held this Thursday at 12:30 p.m. in 126 Main under the sponsorship of the Avukah Society. A prominent speaker, as yet unannounced, is promised for the meeting, according to the Society.

Simultaneously, it is planned to hold mass meetings in colleges throughout the country "as a result of the urgency of the situation and the necessity for prompt actions of public protest," according to a bulletin issued by the National Avukah Headquarters, 111 Fifth Avenue.

"The tenseness of the situation demands immediate and united action on the part of every Jewish student," declared Seymour Melman '39, Editor-in-Chief of Avukah Student Action.

Irv Glasier and his boys feel very bad about the whole thing. Mercury has been denied permission to use its den of humor and to guarantee this the lock was changed. An unpaid bill for a broken door was the reason.

Subscription Sale Begins In Save 'The Campus' Drive

Public sale of subscription vouchers in the Save The Campus Drive will begin today following a program in Freshman Chapel. Dr. Mead and Deans Gottschall and Turner are expected to purchase the first three pledges, inaugurating the drive for 1500 by June 19.

Members of the Campus staff will sell vouchers in classes Friday at 11, if department heads grant permission. In a letter to all department chairmen, Dean Gottschall yesterday stressed the "special emergency" of The Campus "financial difficulties" and declared that he has no objection to the sale in class.

Frank C. Davidson, Director of the House Plan, has agreed to allow sale of subscription vouchers at 292 Convent Avenue. A canvass of all clubs meeting Thursday has been planned, and club officers have volunteered support of the drive.

BCC to Name Candidates For SC and Class Offices

Seeking representation from all organizations to insure the selection of candidates on a non-partisan basis, the Build City College Party will nominate candidates for Student Council and class offices for next term at a convention in 306 Thursday at 3 p.m.

SC Sets June 2 As Election Date; Nominations Open

Elections for Student Council, Legislative Congress and Class Council posts will be held on Friday, June 2, at 11 a.m., according to William Rafsky '40, vice-president of the SC.

Representation from the classes on next term's Student Council will be increased as a result of the adoption of changes in election procedure by the Council at Friday's meeting.

Other sweeping changes in election procedure were adopted by the SC Executive Committee yesterday, and will be voted upon by the Council at a special meeting today at 3 p.m. in 306 Main.

The establishment of a Legislative Congress, separate from the Student Council, to act on peace and all other matters affecting the College student as part of the community, was recommended by the Executive Committee. The Congress will be composed of twenty-five delegates elected at large by the student body.

The changes adopted by the SC Friday create the post of Class Council Delegate. The Delegates—seven in all—represent the classes on the Council. Regular Student Council representatives from the classes will not be members of their respective class councils. This will enable the SC representatives to devote their time solely to school-wide affairs.

Nominations open this morning and will close Monday, May 29 at 6 p.m. All nominations, accompanied by thirty-five cents, must be left in Box 22, Faculty Mail Room by that date.

Faculty Council

The Faculty Council yesterday recommended that the Board of Higher Education revise the salary schedules for teachers on leave and for research grants to members of the staff.

At present instructors on leave for a year receive half-pay and those on leave for half-year are paid full salary minus a substitute's pay. The proposed change would not deduct pay for substitutes. The Council also asked for the procedure for granting research aids be liberalized.

College Budget Cut Approved By City Council; Curriculum Expansion To Be Curtailed

Tead Addresses Over 1000 At All-Science Open House

The gap between what pure science has done to provide a better life and the failure of the social sciences in its effort to accomplish the same, was stressed by Ordway Tead, chairman of the Board of Higher Education at the All-Science Open House before an audience of over one thousand including several industrial leaders, Friday evening in the Great Hall.

"Science can become not only a religion, but the religion. Not only a method of finding the truth, but the method," he asserted.

Other speakers included Acting President Nelson P. Mead, Professor Martin Kilpatrick '15 member of the chemistry department of the University of Pennsylvania who advocated the enlargement of the chemistry department to afford scientific research in the College, Professor Alexander Gettler of NYU who described the work he did in his capacity of City Toxicologist and Professor W. L. Prager (Chairman Chemistry Dept.).

Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia who previously indicated that he would attend the Open House was unable to be present. However, the Mayor sent his felicitations. "New York City's system of public higher education is a source of deep personal satisfaction to me as it is to all who believe that a free higher education is a matter of right and not of privilege for the youth of a democratic nation. We are proud of our colleges, proud of the excellent work being done in them, and proud of their graduates," he wrote.

Professor Prager described the Open House as being the link between the school and community. "The tempo of scientific invention is causing a modification of society," he declared. "In order to keep us going schools and universities will have to produce a fresh stream of scientists and to do this, they must receive support from the community."

Following the addresses, tours were conducted through the various science laboratories where special exhibitions were on display. Among them were exhibits on glass blowing, urine analysis and a movie on Microchemistry. A seminar on chemistry was conducted in Doremus Hall at 5 p.m. in which physiological, biological and physical chemistry were discussed.

Temple Trips Beaver Nine

The sign outside Lewisohn Stadium called it a baseball game, but the 300 fans (estimated, not counted) who saw it are still wondering today. The final score was Temple 15, College 13, but that doesn't give an inkling of what really happened.

The St. Nicks will face Brooklyn College again at home tomorrow, and for twenty-five cents, or an AA book you can see the team that spotted Temple 14 points, to make the game interesting.

They must have spotted the Owls that number of points, because as the Beavers came to bat in their half of the seventh, the score was 14-0, favor Temple. Then came the Big Parade.

Bob Nicol who had pitched good ball up to the sixth inning, suddenly went wild and gave 7 passes. He was yanked, but the example had been set, and a succession of moundsmen sent in by the Owls all were unable to settle down, and gave a total of nineteen walks.

The "rally" started on a walk by Pat Brescia. Paul Graziano hit a slow roller to second. Honochick made a stab for it but the ball got away, and as Patty turned second, he stumbled over the ball and booted it away, scoring Cozin. Two singles, a double and a pop to centerfield forced in six runs as the inning ended.

With two out and bases loaded in the eighth frame, Cox handed out three free rides, and hiked the score to 14-9.

Pitcher Jack Williams, the Owl's ace, was sent in, and started the last (Continued on Page 3, Column 6)

Harris Alumni Meets

A meeting of the Alumni Association of Townsend Harris will be held tonight at 8:30 p.m. in 4N of the Commerce Center, at Lexington Avenue and 23 Street.

Following a report of the School Affairs Committee on the progress made toward combatting the proposed abolition of Harris, plans will be laid for future social functions and reunions.

Although Mr. Ordway Tead, Board of Higher Education Chairman, has said that the Harris question would probably not come up for several months, opponents of the dissolution of the school are now working for its retention.

ASU Will Urge Lehman to Call Special Session

A budget which lopped off $715,000 from the funds requested by the Board of Higher Education for the College was passed Saturday by the City Council. Although it slashed $1,585,288 from the budget as passed by the Board of Estimate, the Council left intact the Estimate Board's educational appropriations.

Expansion in curriculum will be curtailed and all vacancies and leaves will be replaced at the lowest salaries as a result of the cuts, Dean Morton Gottschall told The Campus. Money for supplies and maintenance will be far below requirements, the dean said. The College will have to dip into the fund of student fees to maintain certain services.

The "Veterans of the '39 Budget" will be organized at a meeting of the American Student Union Thursday at 12:30 p.m. in 306 Main. The organization will urge Governor Lehman to call a special session of the State Legislature to provide deficiency appropriations for the state's schools.

The 1939-40 budget for the College is $167,261 less than the 1938 figure. In addition to this slash, the administration is faced with the necessity of saving $100,000 in accruals, which result from vacancies and replacements at lower salaries.

Because the budget has eliminated all existing vacancies, "it will be impossible to accumulate $100,000 in accruals," according to Acting President Mead.

Further economies will be necessitated by a cut estimated at $15,000 in state aid to the College preparatory school, Townsend Harris Hall.

BHE Allots Funds For Minor Repairs In Lunchroom

The appropriation of funds for minor renovations in the lunchroom, including the fixing of the tables and chairs and the painting of the cafeteria, was approved by the Board of Higher Education at its meeting on Monday, May 15. Bids on the reconstruction are being sought by the Curator's Office.

Money for the changes, about $1,900, is to be provided by a residue fund left over from the lunchroom concession, owned by the John C. Hammond Corporation, which expired in June 1929.

No extensive alterations are planned in the cafeteria, however, until the construction of the new library wings now being sought is completed. When these are finished it is expected that there will be adequate space facilities to permit tearing down of the mezzanine and rehabilitation of the lunchroom.

Erratum

Dr. Paul Linchan, former director of the evening session, will continue to teach in the day session, not the evening session, as erroneously stated in the last issue of The Campus.

Lou Daniels On Boatride; S. S. State of Delaware Lacks Only Pat Kennedy

By Harold Mendelsohn

From The Campus write-up of the 1922 Varsity Excursion to Bear Mountain:

"For sports, we had a tennis game between the College and NYU and the well-beloved Professor Guthrie, as in previous years, took on all comers in pitching three-pound horse-shoes at fifty feet and left the field with his shield unmarked by rival's stroke." In other words, Big Bill Guthrie won.

At the 1939 Boatride to Bear Mountain, the College basketball team was most conspicuous for its numbers and Lou Daniels. With Babe Adler, Manny Jarmon, Dave Siperstein, Izzy Schnadow and Jack Carpien on board along with Lou, Pat Kennedy and a basketball were the only missing requirements for a Grade A basketball game.

The S. S. State of Delaware didn't ship Pat Kennedy or a basketball but how can you go wrong with Lou Daniels on deck. On Sunday, Loquacious Lou, Heaven's gift to Brownsville, stumbled to port and starboard while mumbling about "Poison pen politicians." It wasn't long before he was growling, "Toss him overboard. If Schnadow only wasn't so tired!"

Great guy, Lou, a heart of gold kept warm by an eternal stream of hot air. It won't be more than a few years before the College student forgets everything that he ever learned in 90% of his courses. Men of the faculty all will probably fade into a haze of gray-hair, pince-nez eye glasses. And fellows like "Crazy" Lou Daniels remain the only part of the old days that made any sense. "Who was that prof we had for the Bio?"

"That was no prof that was a wof. But remember Lou Daniels, he was a character."

That College-Villanova baseball game really required a boatride to encourage forgetfulness. At the beginning of the game, the Lavender played the gracious host and looked silly before a team which had lost nine in a row. The late inning rallies might look good in the box score, but they were strictly the McPiff. Milt Weintraub had the right idea when he said, "We didn't deserve to win that game."

Sport Sparks . . .

Watching Ryban Ross turn back the St. John's Frosh last Saturday, Sambo Meister confided that he expected the Beaver varsity nine to have exceptionally fine pitching next year . . . With Graziano and Tosa back, and Ross and Blenderman coming up, Sambo may know whereof he speaks.

Attention Sy Balkin: Les Rosenblum, the Westchester Mary of this column, offers a bit of advice to ball players who get into fights during a game. "Always get the first punch in, because the fight is stopped almost immediately and it makes you look good to the crowd," says Les.

Boat Ride Chatter . . . Babe Adler will soon be known as a real all-around athlete. As you may know, he plays basketball for the College. He was also a football player at New Utrecht High. On Saturday he held his daily lull session with Chief Miller and laughingly declared that he could go out on the lacrosse field and do a better job than some of the varsity . . . to top it all, he played softball at Bear Mountain on Sunday and was the sensation of the day, ranging all over the outfield to grab any ball within reaching distance.

Lou Daniels, on the other hand, pitched like an old lady, and was a failure at the bat . . . At the outset, the Beaver athletes took over the student-faculty game . . . Harry Stein, Dave Siperstein, Manny Jarmon, Bobby Sand and Jack Carpien were on the students' team . . . Babe played with the faculty . . . Mr. Abe Sperling of the Hygiene Department, got the longest clout of the day.

Don't forget the Varsity Club dinner, Thursday, June 1, at the City College Club.

SMIRK

Sportraits . . .

"How should you spell my name? I don't care. Anyway you want to be O.K. by me. But I spell it Sy Balkin."

And this lackadaisical attitude just about sums up this quiet, unassuming young fellow who has landed a starting berth his first year on the varsity nine.

Sy hails from Townsend Harris, the same school that gave us pitcher Frank Tosa. In fact, Balkin, who captained the team, was Frank's battery mate.

He's from an athletic family. His cousin, Bill Silverman, was co-captain of the Beaver eleven two years ago, and his kid brother Fred is on Clinton's varsity quintet. Sy himself was undefeated while he was on the Creston Junior High swimming squad. His proudest moment at Creston came when he was presented with a medal, for which all the gym teachers chipped in.

He played behind the bat for Char-

Beaver Ten Intramural Bows 10-6 Season Nears Final Stages To Clubmen

The College lacrosse team muffed a chance to break the losing streak that has been mounting up since the stickmen lost to St. Johns of Annapolis on April 22, when they fell before the superior stickwork of the Crescent AC to lose 10-6 on Saturday in Lewisohn Stadium.

Coach Leon A. Miller was dissatisfied with the final score, but what the Lavender didn't get in goals they took in blood as they body-checked the Crescent outfit all over the field.

Things looked quite sad for the Miller men at the end of the first quarter with the Crescent ahead 3-0. But in the next period Hal Kaufman scored on a feed from Cory Kornstein while Co-captain George Leuchner ran the ball through the whole Crescent defense to tally in 10:06. Meanwhile the hard checking of the defense as demonstrated by Marty Multer, Bill Wallach, and Herb Heyman coupled with the superlative performance of Mendy Mendelsohn in the goal limited the Crescent output to one goal.

In the second half Kaufman kept scoring on shots from all over the field to bring the score to 8-6. With close, the intramural program is beginning to slacken in its record-breaking pace of activities. But the season is far from being ready for the moth balls. In six fields, action is still going on; this includes wrestling, boxing, softball, table tennis, gymnastics and basketball.

The last-mentioned sport makes its final "appearance" on Thursday, when a field day will be held in the Tech gym. Competition consists of three events, ten foul shots; ten long shots, two from each of five different positions on the floor; and "thirty-second shooting," beginning from the foul line and firing away with all rebounds for the half-minute period. Entries are being accepted now, and medals are reserved for winners.

Softball is progressing into the upper brackets. Table tennis, with Harold Nelson opposing Irving Sheraga, enters the final round.

The sixth and final sports clinic of the year, on swimming, to be conducted by Coach MacCormick, will feature a lecture, and Varsity demonstrations of stroke technique, life-saving, diving, and water stunts.

College Netmen Trounce Union For Fifth Victory of Season

Headed by lanky Al Schiffman, the College netmen made their only out-of-town trip of the season a successful one last Friday, trouncing the Union College tennis team, 7-2 for their fifth victory in seven starts.

Schiffman, Lavender No. 1 man, opened the match with a brilliant three-set victory over Marve Dione, previously undefeated Union ace, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4. Co-captain Julie Myers, playing in the No. 2 spot then lost as Ted Schein took an easy 6-1, 6-1 decision. Co-captain Bill Farley won, Al Wasserman dropped a three-setter, and undefeated Herb "Peanuts"

Auerbach breezed through, ending the singles with the St. Nicks leading, 4-2.

The Beaver boys swept the doubles. Auerbach, whose No. 6 singles berth now seems assured him, combined with Wasserman; Myers teamed up with Schein; and Schiffman and Farley formed a third duo, topping the up-Staters in close encounters.

BATTING AVERAGES

Pitcher Arky Soltes breaks in to the "over 300" club just as Patty Brescia drops out. Al Soupios has dropped 26 points in his race for first place as Bill Mayhew holds the lead:

Temple Trips Beaver Nine In Wild Game

Lavender Scores Thirteen Runs In Last Innings

inning by handing out three more walks to load the bases, and one more to force in a run. When "Twin" Weintraub hit into a double play the rally seemed squelched, but the spectators underestimated Temple, because the Lavenders scored three more unearned runs before Pat Brescia struck out closing the game.

Pat was the hard luck guy of the afternoon, for with men on bases in the seventh, eighth and ninth frames, he struck out ingloriously ending the rallies.

The St. Nicks didn't deserve to get so close to the Owls, because the exhibition they had put on until the seventh was a little less than inspiring. In the field they booted balls with great glee and superabundant vigor, and at bat they struck out or popped up with disgusting regularity.

The only point of interest in the early part of the game was a slight fracas at second base in the third inning. Sy Balkin came tearing into second flashing his spikes "to sort of scare the second sacker."

Howie Black decided not to be scared and hauled off on Balkin. In a minute the field was covered with Beavers, Owls and four groundkeepers. As usual, the St. Nicks couldn't hit and it was all over in a minute.

Sam Winograd figures the Kingsmen won't be much stronger than before and is pointing for the Springfield game next Saturday.

Frank Tosa is slated to start against the Kingsmen, with Arky Soltes getting the nod for the Springfield encounter.

JV Nine Blanks St. John's Frosh, 5-0

Ross Allows Two Hits

Coach Charlie Maloney's Lavender JV nine scored a slick 5-0 shutout over the highly touted St. John's Frosh Saturday morning at Lewisohn Stadium. The victory was ample revenge for a previous 22-7 defeat suffered in the first of the home and home series.

The chief Lavender trouble-maker was pitcher Ryban Ross who allowed only two hits over seven innings and faced but twenty-one men. Ross had perfect control, issuing no bases on balls and fanning five Indians. The two Saints who hit safely were erased with the aid of the fine right arm of catcher Martin Goldsmith—one in a vain attempt to steal, the other in a pretty pick-off at first base.

The Little Beavers, led by Mike Rudko and "Angie" Monitto with two hits apiece, scored a single run in each of the first five innings. The only change in the line-up was at third base, with George Sager given a chance at that position.

Beaver Trackmen Seek First Victory Thursday

The Beaver track team, joggling through its worst season in several years, is hopeful of chalking up its first victory this spring in its final dual meet with Brooklyn, on Thursday afternoon at the Stadium.

Looking for material to help assure a win over the Flatbush team, the tracksters approached The Campus with the following classified ad:

Wanted

- a 45 foot shot putter
- a 150 foot javelin tosser
- a 125 foot discus tosser
- a 12 foot pole vaulter
- a couple of 20 foot broad jumpers
- a 0:9.9 100 Yard dash man
- a 0:16.0 120 Yard high hurdler
- and a 0:49 quarter miler

Students in good academic standing who can come anywhere near the above specifications will contact Jack Crowley, captain, or Stan Stein, manager of the Varsity Track Team.

President Reviews ROTC In Annual Stadium Event

The College Unit of the ROTC passed in review before the faculty of the Department of Military Science and Tactics, representatives of various patriotic societies and over one thousand spectators in the Unit's 23 Annual Review in Lewisohn Stadium at 3:30 p.m. yesterday.

Stepping smartly to the music of the College Military Band, the twenty companies, representing about one thousand men, swung into the Stadium from Jasper Oval. The regiment was presented to Acting President Nelson P. Mead and the reviewing party as the band played Lavender.

Competitions in the Manual of Arms and in the School of the Soldier were held while the band awards were presented. Following this, sixty-four cadets stepped out of the ranks to be presented with awards for service and scholarship in Military Science. Judging the competitions were Major Charles F. F. Cooper, Infantry and Captain David A. Newcomer, Corps of Engineers, United States Army.

Outside the Stadium, ten students picketed the review, shouting "Down with the ROTC." This demonstration resulted from a call by the Philosophy, Anti-War and Politics Clubs to "fight jingoism on the campus."

A statement by Milton Hazelkorn '40, president of the Anti-War Club, said: "Despite the smallness of our anti-ROTC demonstration, we intend to continue the struggle against militarism on the campus. The desertion of the ASU-YCL to the ranks of the war-mongers will not impede us in our task."

In the Manual of Arms competition, cadets Alfred Ertel '41, Harold Schlig '41 and Robert Pfaff '41, won first, second and third prizes respectively.

Arthur F. Payne Dies, Ex Personnel Director

Dr. Arthur Frank Payne, former director of the College Personnel Bureau, died on Saturday after an illness of several weeks.

Dr. Payne came to the College in 1929, after serving as director of the New York Guidance Clinic for three years.

Dr. Payne's appointment was not renewed by the Board of Higher Education in 1937, after a series of articles had appeared in The Campus.

9 Faculty Members Sign Manifesto

Nine members of the College faculty, headed by Acting President Nelson P. Mead, have signed a manifesto which "recognizes the threat to democracy inherent in demands for retrenchment in education, in attacks on the Bill of Rights, in gag laws, in censorship of teachers and journalists, in racial and religious intolerance, in those newspapers which make profit or power their chief goal."

The manifesto was issued by the New York chapter of the American Committee for Democracy and Intellectual Freedom and was signed by 2,391 educators and scientists. The College signatories, in addition to Dr. Mead, are: Professors Ephraim Cross (Romance Languages Dept.), Benjamin Harrow (Chemistry), Alexander Lehrman (Chemistry), Harry A. Overstreet (Philosophy), Simon Sonkin (Physics) and Dr. Max Yergan (History).

The Chesterfield glove, created by New York's smart designer Merry Hull...

Original and different too is Chesterfield's way of combining the world's best tobaccos to bring out the finer qualities of each. It's the Chesterfield way and that's why Chesterfields are milder than other cigarettes. They also have a better taste and more pleasing aroma. Chesterfields really satisfy.
