Beavers Set to Whip Violets Tonight

Win Over NYU Will Assure Tourney Bid

By Jerry Lants

We played Yale and 'Cuse, and '41. And if last Saturday night's record 66-65 win over the Montclair College basketball team is any criterion, the College basketball team is sure to "do it again" in tonight's traditional contest with the Garden court.

The Beavers will not only be fighting for a bid to the National Invitation Tournament—which automatically means a million dollar political buffet—but will be striving to improve their record in the 27 year old series. The Violets have taken 14 games.

The Lavender's current string of losses over the Beavers started in 1939 when Nat Holman's squad scored its first victory over the Violets in six years. Harvey Leisman, who was having his best season, paced the Beavers to a 38-27 win. Then in 1940, a meritorious College team registered one of the greatest upsets in a series which has seen the favorite clipped up many times. As a matter of fact, every game was invincible, came into the game definitely afraid of the Beavers and was routed, 36-24, by a Beaver crew which had no experience other than that which had lost in 15 contests. And, last night, needing a triumph to get hold of the Garden tourney, the Violets, paced by Bill Holman and Allen Wright, slipped up, 47-43 victory.

Season's record taken into consideration, the College looks like it will have established as slight favorites in tonight's contest. But in a traditional series such as this, nothing can happen. Jake Canin, Head coach, is in a tough spot. With Ralph Karr, Mort Lazar, Bob Davidoff, and I'm sure there are others, he has no slick. However, the Violets, with four first stringers, plus five fresh men, have racked up a home court 13-3 record, including a 12-0 defeat of the LSU.

New York City college competition, NYU has split four games, beating Bard, 49-43, and losing to St. John's by one point.

Six Hygiene Tutors Face Dismissal

The Student Council at last week passed a resolution calling for compulsory physical training for juniors and seniors. If the SC has its wish, these upper classmen will be expected to jump into their shorts for one hour a week, indulge in a fast game of basketball or badminton (they have their choice of activity) and thereby emerge as physical specimens better able to aid their nation in time of emergency.

This is as inadequate a physical training program as the SC could have conceived to concoct.

Of course, a healthy student body is a desirable objective. But one hour a week of cavorting on the gym floor will not build up flabby muscles. Not only that, one hour a week for us seat-of-our-pants students will just about make the term too long.

Special defense courses held last vacation on 1,000 blood donors and draft registrants are sponsored at Lewis Corey, Burgess Meredith and the students working with the Council on much of the work on the 1,000 book which will soon be published.

Now the College's Civil Defense Professor Richard B. Morris, has claudie as broad a student representation. Besides its multifold efforts on behalf of the nation, the Council is preparing a long semester to make life more comfortable for the student body.

Full cooperation of the students for the continued successful operation of Council's program.

Make Us Healthy, Quick!

The Student Council last week passed a resolution calling for compulsory physical training for juniors and seniors. If the SC has its wish, these upperclassmen will be expected to jump into their shorts for one hour a week, instead of a fast game of basketball or badminton (they'll have their choice of activity) and thereby emerge as physical specimens better able to aid their nation in time of emergency.

This is as inadequate a physical training program as the SC could have concocted to decree. Of course, a healthy student body is a desirable objective. But one hour a week of cavorting on the gym floor will not build up flabby muscles. Not only will such a program not help to co the bid, even if St. John's beats other half of the Garden, half next week, but the NYU basketball series. This will give the | Re | 1 record, and St. John's wouldn'tCare about losing to the Titans. St. John's adds twenty more words in behalf of Negro equality; sociology student Jimmy Dorsey, and optometrists, explain the problems of Negroes. It takes daily, gyms and seniors. This is as inadequate a physical training program.

Under such general headings as "Chicago Breakdown," "New York and Harlem," "This Thing Is a Play," "Four Hands," "Transidel," "Bible of Poetry," etc., the aims of those who played it, were to give a sense of the measurements of present day jazz fans. The Campus Column: We Protest! We Protest!

We think it's nuts to have the Negroes argued over with the Negroes. Quality, voluptuous, exploited, unrefined. A great service has been done by the Jaz Book Record. Combining the best advise and the best illustrations, together with the black and white photographs, the volume fills a real need for both the experienced jazz listener and the tyro in the field.

By eliminating many of the questionable anecdotes which have become an accepted part of jazz history, Minton, Smith and Ramsey have avoided some of the verbal and fanciful material without removing too much of the humor that always seems to accompany "the man with the hat." By way of criticism, though, it seems to us that the jazz music that has too much space taken up by the story of the time is perhaps too much present. Indeed, the importance of this type of music that has been played by some of the more famous groups in recent years is perhaps not as necessary as theJazz Book Record. Combining the best advise and the best illustrations, together with the black and white photographs, the volume fills a real need for both the experienced jazz listener and the tyro in the field.

The other day I dropped in at the Student Council. I was early, not many girls gathered. But the songs were group presented on at a moment. At the end of the meeting there was a general discussion. This is some improvement. Students are beginning to see that it's time we put our hat and coat and jet. We sign petitions, send telegrams, write fiery articles, up against sin, clear sin, strip to the cricket. We should, without waiting finally, just put our hat and coat and jet.

I believe these things that say brown-skinned, bare-footed men who play we signed numerous petitions against Negro persecution; forever sincere philanthropists, from whose lips flowed many words in behalf of Negro equality; sociology student Jimmy Dorsey; all may have seen her; but some must have; none offered to dance. It was so... evaporated: That was the left.

The compensation, acrid, family, accented, ceremony, petition, demand, request. -Jack Finger

Gordon Presents "New Merchant"

Combining the reserve of jazz and the concentration of Debussy, the Gordon presentation of an essentially free production of the "Modern of Ventures" at the Barnsban Theatre, 105 West 56th Street. Though the text is slightly altered, the fundamental idea remains. The play begins, in this modernized version, a plea for tolerance. For reasons unknown to the playwrighting, Gordon's aim is to present that which we are trying to change. The women are linked to the activity. The fact is that all upper seniors attend. The Dean of Men took his turn to the resolution of Calvin Coolidge. His teachings had been his life work. Dr. Turner took a step back from 4,500. Win Over NYU Will Assure Tourney Bid

By Jerry Lants

We do it in '39, 40, and '41. And State Techies' 90-86 win over the Mountaineers in last year's regular season is no exception. In 1937, when Nat Holman, then assistant coach, took over, the Beavers were third in the state. The fact that they are again in tonight's traditional contest with NYU on the Garden court. The Beavers will not only be fighting for the championship, but also for reappointment at the 110.

BHE to Make Final Decision on Request

Dr. John R. Turner, Dean of Men for the last seven years, has made a formal request to President Dr. Harry B. White to be relieved of his present post in order that he may return to teaching. The Campus learned yesterday

Dr. White will transmit the request to the Board of Higher Education at the earliest possible time.

The Campus learned yesterday that Dean Turner plans to retire upon completion of his current administrative duties.

The student who graduates will act as chairman.

The committee has requested FM, The New York Post, The New York Times and The New York Sun to cover the rally. The Post has already been scheduled for the other three newspapers with prominent coverage.

Continuation of NYU will entail not only any further Congressional appropriation since $100,000,000 already has been set aside in the new budget to be distributed by President Roosevelt for "students of high promise and ability." NYU is expected to receive funds for the College for next term.

SC Kills Move to Prove Rapp

The student council last Friday defeated by a vote of 11 to 0 a motion to establish a committee to cover the rally. The latter is a downtown ROTC organization formed for the purpose of securing NYU's acceptance of the thesis.

Graduation Scheduled For June 2 in Stadium

Despite all rumors to the contrary, Commencement will take place in Lewisohn Stadium on June 2 as announced, according to Professor Frederick Wool (Hygiene Dept.), chairman of the Commencement Committee.

The latter is a most important meeting of students who are expected to graduate in either May or August and who are ready for admission to medical school or dental school.

The committee has requested FM, The New York Post, The New York Times and The New York Sun to cover the rally. The Post has already been scheduled for the other three newspapers with prominent coverage.

The Thirteen Ostriches

Friends of academic freedom like William Randolph Hearst, Marvin R. Hart, et al. would not have viewed with alarm last Friday's Student Council meeting. For—for the first time in almost a year to take a stand on the issue, as a result of the pending new appropriation for the Rapp-Coudert Committee—the same SC which is collecting tin foil to save democracy did a neat job of organizing its own local chapter of the Quixotic fraternity.

Undoubtedly there are some undergraduates who for assorted reasons agree with the Committee's desire to eliminate Communists and "fellow-travelers" from the educational system, but there are few who are happy about the results that have come from Senator Coudert's vigilantiast approach to the problem.

Yet certain SC politicians, with ostrich tendencies, reject a request for the establishment of a student committee to find out what kind of work Rapp and Coudert have been doing and to find out who are the people who have hopped on their findings with the most maliciously. They justify their stand by expressing apprehension lest the investigators' hands be forced by the SC and that the local press might hop on the College as a result of the student action.

It is comforting to note that these people just managed to squeeze through to victory by a vote of 13-11. These still remain a large and militant minority led by President Helfeld which will continue to fight for the truth.

But at the present a majority of our representatives do not realize that political reactionsaries strike when and where they please and that a "good press" is not achieved by bowing the white-haired boys of the Chamber of Commerce pile on the abuse.

"It has an underlying ring of truth, that makes it human as well as amusing."

Personnel Sector Helps Students Out of Vocational Dilemmas

For the past two years you've been trying to decide what field you'd like to settle in for the rest of your life. You've talked to everyone you know in that field—your friends, relatives, teachers, etc.—and you've read every magazine you can get your hands on. You've read a book or two, perhaps. And yet, when you think about your interests, you find that you don't want to do anything like what you've been doing.

This is the time to talk to a Personnel Advisor. They can help you explore your interests and guide you toward a field of work that you'll enjoy.

The Personnel Bureau Helps Students Out of Vocational Dilemmas

Mailbag

Dear City College Student:

I am impelled to write this because of the conditions I feel when I receive those black and white drop cards from the Registrar's office. These cards serve as a notice to you and are likely to be dropped from your roll. In addition they tell whether you have merely missed the course or have left school. The latter are the ones I am interested in and I am sure that many of my classmates are similarly concerned.

That's why I'm writing a letter or a request to you "drop" students to come in and explain why you have been more than normally interested in work that your path leads her from here. It is in the army, defense industry, illness, father's business, another school, or marriage? Tell us about it. We'll miss you. If you can't come in, please write a short note or call and give us your cold reminiscences of former students.

Abraham Sperling,
Dept. of Hygiene

To the Campus:

In your editorial of last week entitled "Make Us Healthy, Quick!" certain errors in fact were very much in evidence. The SC did spend several hours in conference with the members of the Hygiene Department; further, it is not the function of the personnel staff to exert personal control over the principles of compulsory recreation for upper-classmen. These facts were misreplicated as fact.

David Halfield
Editor-in-Chief

En Nor--The Campus does know of a letter that is being written next week to the Department of Hygiene stating that the SC has passed a resolution favoring a "waste compulsory exercise for upper-classmen. They merely ignored the; it is a compulsory health ed. without any specified time.

SC Defeats Move To Probe Rapp

The supporters of the measure, led by Helfeld, pointed out that the establishment of a fact-finding committee would not mean Student Council opposition to Rapp-Coudert. They argued further that the Council should never concern itself with the truth than with bad publicity. They asserted that "the metropolitan press has an anti-City College bias anyway, and the more you do to alienate them the more you resemble to close the College." The result made after the Council had re­fused to pass the resolution, Executive De­cision, was also defeated.

Commenting on the proceeding, Helfeld charged that the resolution simply indicates that the Council is not behind the fine work of the Personnel Bureau.

and to Puritans, The Beavers came into tonight's fray with a clean slate in five metropolitan games.

As a tuneup for the contest with Puritans, the Lavender hoopsters set a modern scoring record with two teams, as they routed the Montclair quintet last Saturday night by a record old mark of 64 points, set against Virginia in the Garden tournament last year, fall when Aaron Miller eaged a layup with three minutes to go to boost the Beavers' total to 66.

The Montclair crew threw a scare into what few Beaver fans were present during the first few minutes. With the score knotted at 25-25, several spectators yelled, "Remember St. Joe's, and the Lavender hoopsters started rolling, tallying ten consecutive points to lead, 35-25, at the quarter mark. Montclair pulled up to 38-33 at the half as the Beaver squad played most of the second quarter. The Holmen poured in 28 points through the hoop in the last half, with Claude Phillips contributing ten of his 11 markers.

Although Bill Holzman was held scoreless last night with 17 points scored in about 24 minutes, he missed the few foul troubles and raised his chance to win some Flore's College scoring record of 303 points. Holzman will start fresh toward the new mark tonight to set a new record for College teams as he attended in the Gathering's 19-8 victory over the Queens' five.

Tech School Will Not Build On HOA Site

The property of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum will probably not be used as the site for a building of students according to Professor Albert B. Newman, Dean of the School of Technology. The portion of the plot to be acquired by the Board of Higher Education, of which a part is used for the Tech School, is entirely too small for the erection of a building of the required capacity. Purchase of the land is now under favorable BHE proposal, before final action is taken.

A five-story addition to the Tech Building, scheduled for completion this summer, will provide additional labora­tory space for Chemistry Engineering students. Due to steel priorities, construction work has been halted. If the necessary steel cannot be obtained, building will be redesigned and built of reinforced concrete. Such a move, however, would require more floor space, and effort is being made to cut the red-tape on steel.

Awaiting approval by the BHE, the engineering curriculum will undergo several changes. Foreign language programs will be elimina­ted, and the existing history, economics, and English courses will be incorporated into survey courses in the humanities and social courses.

HP Sponsors Defense Tea

Tomorrow at 4

House Plans intends to usher in the spring season with a host of gala events, including a tea, a theatre party and a festival.

Together with the Civilian De­­fense Committee, HP sponsors a "Test for Conscription" in Lewishaw Stadium, Saturday evening, May 11. There will be dancing and entertainment by Brooklyn Tech. Promises will be made toward one of the large service benefit funds. More details will be available later on.

Tomorrow a Defense Tea has been scheduled for 4 o'clock. Drs. Merris, Wisan, Janowsky, and Mead, all of the History Department, have an exhibit of defense funds. More details will be available later on.

CDL

The College Civilian Defense Council announces that it is not necessary for enough replace­ment metal tubes or tin foil paper and are considered more convenient in the part of the student body.

HEADING FOR THE MAJOR LEAGUE:

Campagna joins Montreal

This coming Saturday, the Col­­lege’s 1st baseman, campa, will take a leap to the big league baseball may make a gain, for Alex Campagna, (Hygiene Dept.) 1st year track and football coach, is leaving the College to play baseball with the Montreal Royals of the International League.

Campagna who has been at the College since last September, was moved by both the Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Red Sox and received bids from both clubs. He finally decided in favor of the Brooklyn who offered him more money than he could accept. Because he was not sure where the Royals would hire him, although he was guaranteed an infield berth.

An NYU graduate, Campagna majored in physical education in which he is now working for his doctorate degree. He also was the captain of both the baseball and football teams in his senior year.

The 6 foot, 195 lb. instructor expressed his desire to return to City after the season is over. "I want to return to City College and the many close associations I have made. I will remem­ber the many good times I have had at City College as a student." He is still a member of the Writers Club and will act as a counselor for the Tech Menorah Society this coming Saturday.

Tomorrow

Dr. Vincent Lanzani (Romance Languages Dept.), will speak before the CDA at 12:30 in 2 Main.

Nathaniel Pfeffer, Professor of International Relations at Columbia University and noted authority on the Far East, will speak in 12 Main at 12:30 at the Government Law Society meeting.

Meeting in 11 Main, the Astronomical Society will hold a discussion on "Observation of Sutset," at 12:15. The Observer Society will be held in the same room at 4:30.
