Beavers Lose Second, Face Drexel Tech

By Tony Shub

Neither arc-lights nor brass bands nor the screams of 5213 partisan rooters last Saturday night could spur the Beaver football team on to its first victory since 1943, and so Red Gebhard's eleven will just have to try again, this time against Drexel Tech at Lewisohn Stadium, Saturday afternoon.

Handed their second defeat of the season by West Chester State Teachers' College, 20-0, the St. Nicholas Heights gridders nevertheless gave a creditable performance, and a capacity crowd is expected to cheer their next home effort. For it was against Drexel last year that the lads in Lavender came through with their first touchdown in eleven tilts, although losing, 19-7.

Peltz Returns

What is more, Saturday's game will undoubtedly mark the unveiling of Marvin Peltz, triple-threat quarterback who was originally expected to pack most of the punch in the Beaver lineup. The return of Peltz, sidelined since the Bear Mountain training trip with a leg injury, is undoubtedly the best news Coach Gebhard has heard all year.

Since Drexel lost to West Chester, 12-0, earlier in the season, a close struggle is forecast. The Dragons from Philadelphia have split two decisions this year.

No Runaway

Although the Beavers lost by three touchdowns in last week's fray, the game was a struggle until the final quarter when the Pennsylvanians' reserve strength began to tell. Gebhard's determined operatives recovered five enemy fumbles, intercepted nine passes, and penetrated on seven occasions within the opposition thirty-yard stripe. The farthest the St. Nicks ever got, however, was the 14, as poor down-field blocking continually stymied potentially long runs by Dan Glassman, Stan Goldberg and Harvey Denis.

Rhodes Scholarships Resumed This Term

Elections to Rhodes Scholarships throughout the country will be resumed in December, it was announced by Dr. Frank Aydelotte, Director of the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, and American Secretary of the Rhodes Trustees. Applications are due on November 2, and candidates elected will enter the University of Oxford in October 1947.

Information and application blanks may be obtained from Prof. Henry Semat (Physics), who is the representative of Rhodes Scholarships at the College.

Baruch and Frankfurter Chief Speakers At Centennial Dinner Saturday Night

Bernard Baruch and Justice Felix Frankfurter, two of the College's most distinguished alumni, will be the featured speakers Saturday night at the Centennial Dinner, the Hotel Astor, the first of many special events commemorating the College's 100th Anniversary.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, another distinguished alumnus, will serve as honorary chairman of the dinner, which will be attended by 2500 alumni and guests.

Also scheduled to speak are Mayor William O'Dwyer, Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese Ambassador to the United States, George D. Stoddard, President of the University of Illinois, and President Harry N. Wright of the College.

Dr. Stephen Duggan, President of the Institute of International Education and an alumnus of the College, will be the toastmaster.

SC Reluctant

One sour note on the proceedings was provided by the Student Council which last Thursday refused to send any representatives to the dinner.

According to SC President Arthur Goodman '47, "The Centennial has become a faculty-alumni affair with all student efforts and suggestions tabled or ignored."

Protest Invitations

The dinner will inaugurate a program to be concluded in June, 1947, with the Commencement Exercises. The program includes a basketball carnival at Madison Square Garden, two educational conferences, and a lecture series entitled, "Toward A New World."

Bernard Baruch

A highlight of Saturday night's affair, will be the presentation of a report on the progress of the alumni campaign to raise $1,500,000 for student social and cultural facilities.

Centennial Show

Encompassing a century of College tradition and history, the College's Centennial Exhibition will open Oct. 19 in Townsend Harris Auditorium. Prominent civic leaders will attend the opening which is being conducted by The Alpha Phi Omega fraternity.

This presentation traces the school's history from its beginning as the Free Academy to the present, including authentic documents and mementos of various phases of its existence. Another section of the exhibit outlines various fields of the arts, sciences, and public life, featuring the work of the College's many distinguished alumni.

The exhibition will be open for two weeks from 10:30 to 5:00 every day, and on Thursday evenings from seven to eleven, after which new times will be announced.

Hillel-SC Rally On Discrimination Set for Oct. 24

Plans for a rally on October 24 to urge the passage of the Austin-Mahoney Bill were announced yesterday by a spokesman for the Hillel Foundation. Some of the organizations on the campus that are affiliated with Hillel in the co-sponsorship of this rally include Student Council, the Tom Paine Club, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the Douglass Society, and the Veterans' Association.

The Austin-Mahoney Bill sets up a commission to investigate the educational institutions in New York State which practice discrimination in their policy of admitting students on the basis of race, creed, color, and nationality. Where such practices continue, the institution in question will suffer a loss in tax exemption. Sectarian institutions, are, of course, exempt from the terms of the bill. Efforts are being made to secure well-known speakers from the national PAC.

The purpose of the rally is to inform students at the College of the provisions of the bill and to make plans to secure its passage in the state legislature.

Dean Newman, Returning, Tells of Life in Germany

By Bernard Hirschhorn

After 14 months in Germany, Dean Albert B. Newman of the School of Technology resumed his duties at the College September 1st. During his absence, Prof. William Alien (ChE) served as acting dean.

During these 14 months Mr. Newman served as chief of the Chemical Industry Section for the American Military Government in Berlin. This key position involved negotiating with representatives of the Russian, British, and French zones, on the chemical industries to remain after reparations. He also served as the American delegate on the Committee for The Liquidation of German War Potential.

German Policy Told

"Our efforts in the last few months were concentrated on bringing Germany back to a self-supporting basis. At best it will take 50 years to rebuild its peacetime economy," Dr. Newman declared.

In his opinion, the United States has gone farther than any of its allies in the Denazification program. "In spite of this, however, the committee cooperated very well," he said.

Good Reputation

Dr. Newman acquired a reputation for getting along with the Russians on a purely business basis. "I also regard some of the Russians as my best friends," he said, "though the only words in Russian I knew was I agree."

Life in Berlin during this period moved at a fast pace, with a great deal of social intercourse between the allies. This also tended "to remove any cause for friction between the allies."

Veterans' Association Plans Forum, Dance

With the backing of 1300 members, the Veterans' Association of the College is planning for an activity-crammed semester accenting both social and political affairs.

A rally demanding increased subsistence allowances is contemplated for October 17. Other events include a political forum to be held in Drill Hall October 31 and a dance scheduled for November 16. The forum will feature speakers from the major political parties and municipal agencies.

The first meeting of the term will take place today in 126 Main.

SC Committee To Investigate 'Squeeze' Here

Investigation of overcrowded conditions at the College by a special committee of six was voted by Student Council at its first meeting last Thursday. The committee has also been charged with presenting a series of recommendations to the City Planning Commission, one of which will undoubtedly be a plea for the restoration of $186,000 recently slashed from the College budget.

The committee, headed by Dave Fanshel '47, also includes Bill Herman '48, Marvin Rosenberg '48, Robert Bernstein '48, Oscar Berland '49, and Sidney Heilveil '48. It is expected to formulate its proposals in the near future.

Money Slashed

On January 3 of this year, the City Planning Commission proposed appropriating $14,905,352 for "alterations and additions to the College Physics, Engineering, Science and Student Center Buildings." After considerable discussion, this sum was reduced by $150,000.

In addition, a library extension proposal for $36,000 failed to meet the approval of the Commission.

Outline Objectives

It is now the object of the SC committee to launch a campaign to achieve the restoration of the proposed $186,000 and to obtain the assistance of groups at Brooklyn, Queens and Hunter Colleges in this movement.

To achieve complete effectiveness, the committee has planned to solicit 25,000 signatures on a petition for reconsideration of this year's Board of Higher Education budget. Said a spokesman for the committee, "These funds were to be used for enlarging school facilities, and even a blind man can see that our facilities could be enlarged." A mass delegation is expected to present this petition, and the additional proposals to the Planning Commission's hearing scheduled for October 23.

Representatives of the Planning Commission could not be reached for comment.

Merc Sales Skyrocket; Humor Mag Returns

Mercury, the official humor magazine of the College, hit the campus yesterday with the first issue of the semester. Sale of the "Back To School" issue began in the morning and is continuing today. The response has been very favorable, and Al Davis '48, editor, predicted an early sellout.

The next issue, which will appear late in October, has the "Returning Veteran" as its theme.

Mercury, forever following the lead of The Campus, has elected two women to its Editorial Board. They are: Edith Cheshluk '49, and Marilyn Erets '49. This step has been taken just two weeks after the election of two femmes to the Managing Board of The Campus.

100 Years of Students

Almost one hundred years have passed since the experiment to determine "whether the highest education can be given to the masses" was hesitantly undertaken. Today it has grown to a living, expanding actuality.

On the threshold of its second century of service the College is pausing for a satisfied look back. The prominence and contributions of our graduates can be viewed with justifiable pride. But our true strength and glory lies not in the heights to which alumni of the College may rise. It is rather in the less spectacular and continuous contribution of alert citizens to the local progressive forces of the community. We owe our existence to the community and it is to the community that we must discharge our debt by accepting the responsibilities of intelligent and educated leadership, no matter how we earn our bread.

While we can be gratified by the College's record of accomplishment in the past, present conditions merit no such satisfaction. Higher education in the City Colleges is being doled out on a penny scrimping basis by an underpaid teaching staff to overflow classes in cramped, antiquated quarters that were inadequate years ago. Students cannot find seating space in our library while plans and promises for expansion gather dust. One lounge in the Main building and one in Army Hall, a gift to the College, are supposed to provide for more than 7000 students. The list is as long as it is disgraceful.

The days ahead are dismal with the problems to be overcome. How we face them will be the measure of our courage and will determine the status of higher education in the city. If we hedge and excuse, if we are timid and fearful for our positions, we might be able to just get by in our present patchwork shape but it would be a denial of all the ideals that have made our first century of existence so glorious. What happens to us in the next one hundred years depends upon what our City and College administration do now.

From 'Bull' to Ballots

Education and intelligent voting just about run a dead heat in the consideration of democracy's strongest points. With more eligible voters in attendance than ever before, the College this year with a record enrollment stands equipped to contribute much in both fields.

During this registration week, the Veterans Association has given over its lunchroom booth for the dissemination of information about the mechanics of this pre-voting necessity. The Campus calls upon every eligible voter in the College to register before Saturday so that he can lift his political ideas from the "lunchroom roundtables" and make them count in the coming elections.

IBEROAMERICANO ELECTIONS

Newly-elected officers at the Club Iberoamericano, were announced yesterday by its publicity committee. They are: Domingo Rodriguez '48, president; Raymond Clar '48, vice-president; Lillian Gotesman '49, Secretary-Treasurer; Leo Benardo '47, Librarian; and Jose L. Circuns '47, SC Rep.

CLASS OF '49

All sophomores, who are interested in going to the Sophomore Prom, which will be held on November 15 in the Essex House, are urged to attend a meeting which will be held at 12:30 today in Doremus Hall.

The Campus will next appear on October 17.

Romance Language Case Awaits Decision of BHE

Now in its final stages, the Romance Language dispute over charges of discrimination by four members of the department that broke loose in April 1945, is awaiting the decision of the three-man committee of the Board of Higher Education appointed to re-investigate the matter last April by Dr. Ordway Tead, chairman.

According to Mrs. Stuart of the BHE staff, "It is difficult to say exactly when the committee will have its report ready."

Letter to BHE

Charges of anti-semitism, contained in letters to the Board of Higher Education and to President Harry N. Wright asking for an investigation of the Department of Romance Languages were first hurled at Professor William E. Knickerbocker (Chairman, Romance Languages) by Professors Ephraim Cross, Elliot H. Polinger, Otto Muller, and Pedro Bach-y-Rita on April 18, 1945.

Professor Knickerbocker denied the accusations, declaring that they had "no foundations." He stated that, "This question of anti-semitism is ridiculous," when Rabbi J. X. Cohen of the American Jewish Congress attempted to prove that discrimination existed in the department by citing records of departmental promotions. An analysis of Rabbi Cohen's report, however, showed it to contain several mistatements.

Disciplinary Action

On January 29, the General Faculty decided as a result of its investigation of the matter that the charges were unfounded. In addition, the Faculty there asked President Wright to take appropriate action concerning the four department members. Shortly afterward, President Wright announced that they would face disciplinary action and removed the names of Polinger and Bach-y-Rita were removed from the departmental promotion lists.

As a result of petitions from students of the College and outside organizations, the Board of Higher Education decided at its April 23 meeting that a re-investigation of the affairs was warranted. It is the report of the three man committee authorized at that time to conduct the re-investigation that is now awaited as the climax to the affair.

Plan Double Entendre As Army Hall's Future

Last Thursday, while public officials were dedicating Army Hall as an "important annex" to the College plant, the Board of Education was taking steps "to oust veterans living at City College's Army Hall next June so the site may be cleared for a needed public school building," according to The New York Sun of the same day.

The story further disclosed that Army Hall "has been 'loaned' to City College veterans until June 30 next and there have been indications that the Board of Estimate may extend the date." The Board of Education plans to build the proposed new P. S. 192 on the Army Hall site.

HouPla Carnival Foretells Future

Reversing the College's present-day vogue of looking back at a century of achievement, House Plan has chosen "City College—One Hundred Years from Tomorrow" as the theme for its Third Annual Carnival to be held in the Main Building on Saturday night, December 7.

Robeson Here

While plans for the music, entertainment, and refreshments are being worked out by a committee under the co-chairmanship of Judy Feinstein '47 and Morris Schwartz '48, the acceptance of one of a number of invitations extended to members of the professional entertainment field has already come from Paul Robeson.

Following through on the futuristic scheme of things, the booths to be run by the individual houses of Houpla will each look to the year 2046.

College Chorus, Expanded Music Program Mapped

Highlighting a large expansion program of the music department, the formation of a mixed chorus was announced yesterday by newly-appointed departmental chairman Prof. Mark Brunswick.

Professor Brunswick, while asking for more student participation in the orchestra, glee club, mixed chorus, and military band, said: "We have room in one of these groups for all students who want to join."

Jahoda to Conduct

In line with the expansion, the department has appointed to its staff, Assistant Prof. Fritz Jahoda, formerly conductor of the Municipal Opera in Graz, Austria; Bailey Harvey, experienced conductor of male choruses; and Sidney Kleinman, a graduate of the College in 1941.

Professor Jahoda will supervise orchestra and chorus work at the Main Center. Mr. Harvey is to direct the College's glee club as well as the chorus at the Commerce Center.

Glee Club Today

The glee club, which is for students who "just want to get together to sing for the fun of it," will meet today between 2 and 4 in 310 Harris. At the same time, the orchestra will rehearse in the Webb Room, on the 5th floor Main.

For those having home knowledge of music and a desire to sing, the mixed chorus meets regularly Tuesdays from 2 to 4 in the Webb Room. The military band rehearsals at the same time in the Webster Room.

"If you are genuinely interested in participating in one of these groups, do not worry about any program conflicts," said Professor Brunswick.

PREDICTS BEAVERS TO WIN SATURDAY; LIKES CROWDS

BY DON COHEN

On behalf of the 1946 City College varsity football team, SPORTSQUIRE, extends a very personal "thank you" to each and every one of the 5,213 pigskin customers, who put in an appearance last Saturday nite at Lewisohn Stadium in the St. Nicks grid opener. On the way home from the Susquehanna contest, the boys were taking pot shot guesses in the hundreds naturally at the expected attendance for the coming West Chester tussle. This bit of the conjecture was atomized at 7:45 P.M. when the 44 Lavender gridriders ambled onto the arc-lighted gridiron, watched by some 4,000 pairs of eyes. It was indeed, a rare, surprising and welcome sight to the Gebhardmen . . . and they promptly retaliated.

For two and a half hours, the record turnout was treated to the slam-bang, hell for leather brand of football, reminiscent of the Benny Friedman grid machines of a decade ago, with one exception . . . we lost.

The exit gates of the old monolithic stadium which used to rattle with disgusting sermons on Beaver elevens by second period home bound fans, were strangely silent; in fact, Arthur Adams, CCNY's Howard Johnson on a motorcycle, didn't dig once into his traveling icebox for a sale from 8:10-10:37 PM inclusive. A stone's throw from ice cream man, Artie, the first fan-appealing style of Beaver football operation in four years was in progress. Here's how the statistics stacked up for the first quarter ALONE: The butter-fingered West Chester scat-backs fumbled five times into the mitts of the Convent Avenooers; thrice, City College operated within the Pennsylvania's 20 yard marker . . . but not a Lavender shirter tread paydirt. This was the pattern of the next three periods until the disintegration in the last 10 minutes of playing time; This was why 5213 whooped, cheered and prayed for the ballclub to score . . .

One column to the right you have the detailed story, but not the complete picture. Saturday nite's performance was a 100% improvement (and not in the TD column either) over the previous week's outing in Selinsgrove.

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THREE YEARS—

A. Two Beaver elevens were substituted interchangeably.
 B. Four different sets of T-quarterbacks were used, viz.: Schulman, Ziegler, Markowitz, and Zangara. Ziegler played 58 minutes in Pa.)

C. There was a plus instead of a minus in front of City's yards-gained department.

Going hand in hand with the bouquets is a string of A, B, C bugaboos including: the team's ragged tackling, too deep defensive secondary, and the poor blocking that squelched the Beavers' running game. The gang is coming along—and they want you to come along again to Saturday's affair with Drexel Tech at 2:30 P.M. Marv Peltz, Coach Gebhard's number 1 backfield operative, has shaken off a wrenched knee and will handle the signal-calling assignment for the first stringers against the Engineers.

Sportsquire not only goes out on the limb but overboard with this prediction:

and guard Harry Weber especially brilliant, the visitors were forced to give up power plays and resort to trickery, to notch their thirteenth straight win.

Ziegler Smearred

Deep in their own territory after Goldberg had intercepted a pass on the 28 and scampered 15 yards, the Crusaders held as Al Ziegler's passes failed to connect, then held again five minutes later on the 22, once more fending off Ziegler aeriels.

But a bad kick and a fumble late in the second quarter recovered by golden-clad Johnny White soon put West Chester on the Beaver 28, whereupon Wally Blair reared back and heaved one to John Leonard for 33 yards and a TD.

Weber Tenacious

The St. Nicks looked as if they were really rolling in the third frame, after Weber intercepted a flat pass just back of the mid-field marker. Bernie Schulman then pitched three successive strikes, two to Rosenthal and one to Glassman, for a pair of first downs. With the ball nestling on the Crusader 31, however, Schulman, evidently weary of his passing success, elected to run, and fumbled.

Weber again got his mitts on

a W. Chester pass as the third quarter ended. But with a first down on the Pennsylvanians' 36, as the final quarter opened, a Schulman pass intended for Leo Wagner was intercepted. That was the end of the game, as far as City was concerned. Touchdown runs by Rube Williams and Vince Fuici in the last six minutes of play were anti-climactic.

The Beavers registered five downs to the foe's nine. It was the first defeat for CCNY under the home arcs in six outings, and the twenty first straight time the locals have not won.

4 Stars of Past Return to Action

By Irv Genn

Watching his 22-man basketball team run through its first practice last week Coach Nat Holman dryly commented, "Maybe we'll win a few games."

After getting off that prize understatement of the centennial year, he relaxed sufficiently to admit that all the signs pointed to a Lavender five equal to his pre-war championship aggregations

Truby Back

As the greatest single factor in his optimism, Holman points to the return of Sid Trubowitz, who set two scoring records in 1944 (240 points for a season; 34 for a single game). Evvie Finestone, star of the '43 Beaver heavers, Sid Finger, and Moe Brickman are also back. All four should fit in well with the lads who conquered NYU last year and are now at work in the Main Gym; Hilty Shapiro, Paul Schmones, Red Breenberg, the Brothers Malamed, Ike Dubow, and Sonny Jameson.

Five Big Men

Tallest of the possible centers is six foot five inch Mason Benson, formerly of Brooklyn College, but another fugitive from the Kings, six foot three inch Phil Farbman, has been showing the most know-how in the pivot.

Harriers Open Card Oct. 12

The Cross-country squad will open its season Saturday in a five and on-half mile road race at McCoombs Dam Park, 161 St. and River Ave. in the Bronx. The meet is being sponsored and participated in by the Mohawk Athletic Club.

Four other teams are expected to enter.

Coach Harold Anson Bruce will enter some twenty Beaver harriers, including Capt. Hal Feigelson, Herb Benario, George Burke, and Norm Zareko.

HOSTEL CLUB

The American Youth Hostel Club holds its first meeting today in 315 Main at 12:15. A bicycle trip is being planned for Sunday, October 13.
