Future Prospects of College Reflect Nationwide Crisis

By Mel Stein

A sharp decrease in the College's enrollment for the Fall semester seems probable. This decrease, along with talk of an accelerated curriculum and a requested increase in the College's budget to cover the enlarged Summer Session that would thus result, is evidence of the direct effect the present national emergency is having on the College.

In speaking of next Fall's enrollment at the College, Mr. Robert Taylor (Registrar) said that it was entirely dependent upon Congressional policy. "However," he stated, "working on the assumption that students in the age group of 19 to 26 are drafted, there will probably be a 30% decrease in enrollment. If those 18 to 26 are drafted, the figure will probably reach 50%."

Meanwhile, College authorities stated that in the event of a great decrease in enrollment, there was very little that could be done to compensate for it.

The College has also announced that almost one-third of full time

An extensive publicity campaign to promote a Civilian Defense Program at the College will be launched in a few weeks by the College's Defense Committee.

In addition to full scale posters that will be displayed at strategic spots on the campus, mimeographed lists of instructions of how to act in case of an air raid will be distributed among the student body.

and part time instructional and administrative staff are subject to the draft call. One hundred thirty-one members of reserve organizations, and 14 members of the administrative staff are subject to the draft.

Commenting on an article in the February 5 New York Times stating that the nations' colleges would probably institute an accelerated curriculum similar to that of World War II, Mr. Taylor said that although there has been some talk of acceleration at the College, it was his opinion that it would only come about if the national situation truly demanded it. "The system did not work well in 1943," he stated, "when the College increased the Summer Session period to permit students to carry a full term's program. Not many attended the session, and of those who did, few took many credits."

Dean Leslie Engler (Administration) stated that the College has requested a budget of about $7,500,000 for the fiscal year July '51 to June '52, marking an increase of approximately $680,000 over that of the previous year. A good part of the increase was asked for in the event that an enlarged Summer Session is instituted.

Sizeable parts of the increase would also go toward expanding the teaching staff, increasing Evening Session teaching lines (providing fixed salaries for instructors rather than hourly pay), and maintenance purposes.

Gilbert and Sullivan Revived in Great Hall By D'Oyly Carte Opera Co. Next Thurs.

The D'Oyly Carte Opera Company of London will give a performance at the College next Thursday, February 15, in the Great Hall.

The players, long recognized as being among the foremost interpreters of Gilbert and Sullivan, will present selections from various G&S operettas at 12:15. The program has been arranged under the sponsorship of the Department of Student Life. Admission will be free.

Plan to Unite City Colleges Presented by BHE Chairman

By Linda Valentine

A plan to unite the four city colleges to form one university was proposed Monday by Dr. Ordway Tead, Chairman of the Board of Higher Education.

Dr. Tead recommended that all municipal colleges be under the direction of one executive whose title would probably be "chancellor," rather than the present system of having four autonomous college presidents. He believes the one executive would do work of a more important nature than what the individual presidents are now doing.

Pres. Harry N. Wright told Campus yesterday that he did not read Dr. Tead's report and could not make a statement.

Through a telephone interview, Campus was informed Tuesday by Pres. Harry D. Gideonse's secretary, that the President of Brooklyn College is "in favor" of the move.

Pres. John J. Theobald of Queens' College reserved comment until he could look into the matter more thoroughly.

Under this new system the University of the City of New York, which may be the University's new name, will have the largest enrollment in the United States: about 71,000 students. New York University now has the largest enrollment in the country: about 60,000.

A committee on administrative organization appointed by the Board of Higher Education will report on the plan by next month. Dr. Tead believes that the committee will agree with his proposal and recommend that the four city colleges be united.

In an editorial, the Herald Tribune stated that the four municipal colleges, "have an unfortunate way of being taken for granted. Any worthy New Yorker is here assured, without cost, the finest education." The Tribune felt that an adequate budget has never been given for our system of higher learning, "possibly because there are four separate units."

Cafeteria to Serve Breakfast at 7:30

Hot breakfasts are now being served in the Main Cafeteria from 7:30 to 9. This morning service has been switched from the Army Hall Cafeteria, explains Mr. Herbert Flaster, manager of the Main Cafeteria, because "we have the help and the facilities to handle it more efficiently."

Caught by the government's price freeze of January 26 with its prices down, the Cafeteria has decided to wait and see about future policy. "If the Cafeteria continues to lose money, announces Mr. Flaster, "a hardship appeal will be filed with the Price Freeze Board."

Inaugurating its policy of serving hot breakfasts, the Cafeteria will offer cereals, sausages, ham and eggs, bacon and pancakes, the menu varying from day to day.

Allagrooter Saves Banner via Shiner

That beautifully tinted "shiner" currently being sported around the campus by Jerry Jacobson '51, Mr. Allagrooter himself, is one of his souvenirs from a visit to Boston Tuesday night for the Holy Cross game.

After entertaining 10,000 Boston Garden fans at halftime with his impromptu version of "Lavender" over the P.A. system, Jake hurried up to the second balcony for a visit with his buddies on the "45-Club," Commerce Center boosters. He arrived just as a mob of well-lit 'Cross rooters started to make off with a Lavender banner, and he acquired his black eye and various other bruises while single-handedly fighting six Boston toughs for the honor of City College.

Incidentally, Jake saved 93% of the banner. Hats off, boys, to the man with the Lavender blood!

This will be the second appearance at the College by this Company which has also made personal appearances at Oxford and Cambridge Universities. At their previous appearance in 1948 they presented excerpts from "The Pirates of Penzance," "The Mikado," "HMS Pinafore," "Yeoman of the Guard," and other popular Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, to a standing-room-only crowd in the Great Hall. It is expected that next Thursday's program will include selections from many of these same operettas.

Recalling last year's performance, Dean James S. Peace said, "The Great Hall was so crowded that many students had to listen from outside in the hall. I, myself, couldn't get in."

The group's appearance at the College has been made possible through the personal efforts of Dean Daniel F. Brophy (Student Life) who is a friend of Leonard Osborn, manager of the Company.

Pres. Wright Optimistic About Future, Tells Men Not to be 'Draft Panicky,' In Speech at Commerce Center Tues.

There will probably not be more than a 25% drop in total enrollment next Fall, said Pres. Harry N. Wright in a speech at the School of Business Convocation Tuesday.

This is the lowest estimate yet made concerning next term's enrollment. This announcement was made after the Board of Higher Education had revealed that women will be admitted into Liberal Arts in September.

A capacity audience at the Commerce Center heard Dr. Wright tell the men not to get "draft panicky." He felt certain that Congress would take institutions of higher learning into account when it sets up a long range draft policy. Meanwhile, he urged students to keep in touch with the advisers at the College, Mr. Stuart Clarkson at the Main Center and Mr. Taft at the Commerce Center.

As before, President Wright urged that the army draft all young men at a certain age, whatever age is determined. All those who are eligible for college, however, should be allowed to complete their education and then serve the required amount of years.

He also pointed out that if a student attends summer sessions, he can be graduated in three years under the present set-up and therefore, it would be unnecessary to offer accelerated courses next fall.

'Campus' Begins Class

The Campus' semi-annual Candidate's class will begin today at 12:30 in 15 Main, announced Gabriel Gelb '51, managing editor.

Attendance at the eight sessions of instruction is required for those trying out for Campus. Techniques of newspaper production, such as news and feature story writing, interviewing methods and headline construction will be taught.

Candidates for the paper will be assigned to work on assignments after the first week of class. Photographers (with press-size cameras) interested in doing newspaper work and students interested in joining The Campus' business staff should contact the managing editor today.

Reporting on the College scene since 1907, The Campus is one of the largest undergraduate newspapers in the metropolitan area, and the largest in circulation among the four city colleges.

Helping the BHE

The Board of Higher Education is in the process of selecting a new president for the College.

According to the New York City Charter, the Board is authorized to make the final selection. But there is nothing in the Charter that prohibits interested groups from advising the BHE. As a matter of fact, the CAMPUS is certain the Board would welcome such advice.

Selecting a successor to President Wright will not be a simple job. The man chosen will have to have broad ability, for he will administrate a college whose total enrollment is third highest in the country. And in addition he will have to be sufficiently sympathetic with the student body to understand and accept their action even when it appears to be at cross purposes with his own aims.

We therefore cannot urge too strongly that responsible groups—Alumni, faculty or students—contact the BHE, and make known their views concerning the choice of a new president.

The fact that President Wright doesn't retire until 1952 should not deter anyone from acting now. The board will have made its decision long before that date arrives.

Tree in the Forest

Jerry Gould leaves us this week, but few persons know and even fewer care.

Overburdened, underpaid, and with no promotion in twenty-one years of service to the College, Jerry, the switchboard operator, has finally quit. At the age of fifty-seven, he will try to start over again.

In a democratic community, professing to value the worth of the individual, Jerry became just another small tree in a large forest. Though hired as a switchboard operator, he acted as mail, lost and found, and supply clerk. He ran the mimeograph machine, painted signs and, in his spare time, taught students to operate the switchboard. Still Jerry was lost and overlooked in our College.

Jerry has applied many times for the Civil Service advancement examinations, but his application has bogged down in the Budget Director's Office. The administration has neglected to apply the customary pressure in his case.

The really sad note is that there is little we can say or do. It is too late. All we can write now is "Good Luck Jerry."

Betrayal

An ugly situation has exposed its unwholesome features and now threatens to overwhelm male students at the College.

In a word, the College's reputation is at stake. With "open arms" we have promised to welcome the entering female students into the College of Liberal Arts. We are, however, forced to go back on our word and admit to defeat. How is our promise to be fulfilled when the arms of our male population will soon be engaged in much more disagreeable tasks.

Male students will leave the College in June because of the draft.

One-third of our instructors, professors, and other administrative personnel might very well be donning that army khaki.

Let us resign ourselves to the truth. Our female population has been betrayed and our breach of promise will haunt us in the years to come.

Victory may still shine bright in the eyes of our women, but a frustration will soon take its place. They have captured the School of Liberal Arts, but the male sex has escaped their grasp.

Let us meet the truth face to face; there will be no "open arms."

BHE Selecting New President

The Board of Higher Education met last week to begin the selection of candidates to succeed Pres. Harry N. Wright. Results of the meeting will be published within the next two weeks.

President Wright, scheduled to retire in 1952, became the sixth president of the College in 1942. He is required by New York State law to retire upon reaching the age of seventy. He will attain the retirement age in October, 1951.

As yet, it is unknown whether or not an alumni committee will assist the BHE in making its selection. Mr. Howard Kieval, Director of the Associate Alumni, commenting upon this possibility, said, "This is the first I've heard of." Dean Leslie Engler (Administration) said that he didn't know whether there would be such a committee but that it was not improbable.

Dr. Wright succeeded Prof. Nelson P. Mead, chairman of the Department of History before his retirement in 1948, who was Acting President since the resignation of Pres. Frederick P. Robinson in 1938.

Letters

Dear Editor:

In your first issue a quote was attributed to me. I wish to state that not only did I not say what had been attributed to me, but I do not agree with the printed statement.

One of your reporters approached me before the term began, after I registered. He asked me about my thoughts at the time when I noticed the word "draft" stamped upon my election card. In reply, I told him that I believed that the word "draft" only signified that a letter had been sent to my draft board informing them of my scholastic standing.

Your reporter asked me questions to which he desired his own answers. Although I specifically disagreed with many of his ideas, he nevertheless found it to his advantage to put his own words into my mouth. I hope that something can be done to prevent such situations from occurring again.

Yours truly,

William Buchman '51

Academic Prizes

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS: Fellowships and prizes to students attending colleges and universities in the United States are once again being granted for study at home and abroad.

U. S. FELLOWSHIPS: Approximately 250 Atomic Energy Commission sponsored fellowships in the physical and biological sciences will be administered through the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies. Applicants for biological fellowships must have a bachelor degree, while students with one year of graduate study are eligible for fellowships in the physical sciences. . . . The Institute will also appoint AEC pre-doctoral fellows in the physical, medical and biological sciences. Forty radiological fellowships for study at Vanderbilt University and the University of Rochester are also offered. . . . Application forms and other information may be obtained from the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies at Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

FOREIGN GRANTS: The Brazilian government has made four fellowships abroad available to American students. Money will be granted for moderate living expenses. A good knowledge of Portuguese is necessary for all candidates applying. . . . About 35 fellowships and 40 assistantships are to be offered to American students in all fields of study by the French government. . . . Three individuals will receive a fellowship from the Netherlands for study of the Dutch language, Dutch history, history of arts, archaeology, technical sciences, natural sciences, economics, business administration and agriculture. The period of study is from September to July 1, 1951. . . . A fellowship of 1000 dollars will be granted in the fields of Germanics by the Germanics Society of America. Candidates must be single at the time of application and those who already hold a Ph.D. are not eligible. The applicant can study at the University of Zurich, Basel, Bern, or a university in Austria or West Germany. . . . Applications for all foreign grants can be obtained from the Institute of International Education, 2 West 45 Street, New York 19. All applications must be submitted by March 5.

SUMMER STUDIES: Concerning summer programs, the National Broadcasting Company will collaborate with Barnard College for an annual six-week summer institute at a fee of $140. The classes will be held at NBC commencing June 25. All college graduates are eligible. Non-degree holders must have had some previous professional experience in radio and television. . . . Thirty-five students will be admitted for the first program. Applications can be obtained from the Barnard-NBC Summer Radio and Television Institute, 401 Barnard Hall, Barnard College, New York 27, New York.

Frosh Miss Prexy Twice

President Harry N. Wright still has not given his customary speech to the entering freshmen.

Because of a cold, President Wright was unable to attend the freshman pre-registration assembly. He was unable to attend the regular freshman assembly Tuesday because of a previously scheduled Commerce Center speech.

President Wright's secretary stated that he will address the freshmen Tuesday.

Beaver Bavard

By Morton Weiser

OLD STUFF—Our fan mail is mounting daily and now totals one letter by Sal Rosenzweig '52. He graciously informs us that "Bavard" is French slang for talk and talk and talk. In other words, he says, our column is entitled "Beaver Bla—Bla—Bla—" (Yeah, well we're still not interested.) . . . A reminder that Campus holds its Candidates' class today at 12:30 in 15 Main, where Gabe Gelb '51 gives out with the fundamentals of journalism.

HOT NEWS?—Items found near the Bursar's office during registration week include hats, gloves, scarfs, and one pair of trousers. . . . Izzy Levine of the Public Relations Dept. breaks into print with an article in the Feb. issue of "Woman's Day" magazine. Entitled "Where Parents and Kids Learn Together," its a story on the Extension Division's parent-child classes . . . The College's renovated swimming pool now holds 120,000 gallons of water and accomodates 100 students. To prevent engineers from dragging out their slide rules, that's 1,200 gallons of water for each student. . . .

LOVE AND SUCH—Good chance that Ethel Hakim '53 soon becomes engaged to Danny Matarasso, an LIU grad. We refused to marry this girl because she is just unable to finish a cross-word puzzle. Larry Gralla '51 puts it this way, "The girl means nothing to me." . . . Flo Goodstein '52 to marry Ivan Shapiro '48, former SC President, in June. Ivan now attends Harvard Law School . . . Arlene Zeller '54, HP's Carnival Queen, is having difficulty with her love life. They're twins and Arlene is never quite certain at whom she's throwing her fond glances . . .

Clipped Lockers

All material taken from "clipped lockers" last term, must be picked up by the owners by end of next week from the Lost and Found in 20A Main, opposite the Cafeteria.

If not picked up by Friday, February 16, the material will be donated to charity.

The Lost and Found is operated by Alpha Phi Omega.

All Work, No Advance, Phone Operator Quits

By Mark Maged

Twenty-one years without a promotion is just a little too much for Jerry Gould, so the College's chief telephone operator is packing up and taking off for a "good long rest."

Gould, a slightly graying fifty-seven-year-old civil service employee, started working at the Commerce Center of the College in 1931.

Signing up as a telephone switchboard operator, he soon found himself acting as a combination mail, lost and found and supply clerk. Between chores he also taught students how to operate the switchboard, ran a mimeograph machine and painted signs.

In all, after twenty-one years (plus ten additional civil service years) spent in the Health Department) he has received no promotion, nor has he even been given the chance of taking an advancement test. "I've probably established some sort of record for staying in the same bracket," he joked.

Gould said he has time and again requested a chance to take the promotion exam, but every time, the application bogs down in the budget director's office. "If only the administration would show some concern and apply a little pressure, I'm sure something could be done," he explained.

Nothing has been done, though, and Gould has handed in his letter of resignation to Assistant Business Manager Charles J. Anderson. When he leaves the College next week, Gould plans to take a six month to a year vacation, before looking for a new job. He is looking forward to a good long rest in the Adirondacks, where "I will try to restore some of my shattered nerves."

Too Long to Wait

The retiring telephone operator handles an average of five or six hundred calls an hour on "good" days. In 1948, the New York Telephone Company conducted a survey of the College switchboard and found that Gould was doing two and a half men's work per day. As he phrases it, "On this job, you've got to be an English diplomat, have patience, and possess nerves of steel.

"I may have the patience of Job, but twenty-one years is a trifle too long to wait for a promotion exam."

Roman Shows Way With 25; Third Road Win for Cagers

By Morty Sheinman

Flashing the form that led them to the Golden Double last March, the College basketball team won their third straight road game Tuesday night, trimming Holy Cross, 73 to 63, at the Boston Garden. A hundred lavender rooters made themselves heard among the 7,842 fans who witnessed the thriller.

In addition to viewing a satisfying victory, the Cityites who made the trip saw Herb Holmstrom give a clutch performance that established him solidly in the fifth-man berth that has changed hands weekly.

In halting an eight game win-streak amassed by the Crusaders, the Beavers played what Coach Nat Holman described as "their best game of the year."

Holman said he wasn't surprised at the hustle the team has displayed in its last few games.

"If no injuries or illness hit the squad we'll give any team in the country a battle," Nat said.

Holman lauded his entire team for their play and was especially lavish in his praise of Ed Roman. "Roman's outside shooting was phenomenal," declared Nat. Big

A.A. tickets for Monday night's Fordham game at the 69th St. Regiment Armory will be on sale this afternoon from 1-4 in front of the Army Hall Canteen.

For the Canisius game at Madison Square Garden Thursday evening, Feb. 15, tickets may be purchased on Feb. 13, from 1-4 in front of the Army Hall Canteen.

Spring semester A.A. cards are on sale today and tomorrow in front of the Army Hall Canteen from 1-4.

Ed led the Beavers' attack hitting on 11 field goals in 15 attempts and 3 out of 4 foul shots for a game high total of 25 tallies.

"Layne and Warner were great. Roth played well and Herb Holmstrom has definitely established himself as our fifth man," Holman continued.

The Beavers' ninth victory in 14 starts was called "a real team effort" by Nat. Floyd Layne scored 19 points and Warner chipped in with 18. Al Roth was solid defensively and rebounded well, but was off in his shooting.

All traces of Warner's knee injury have disappeared. On the road he has performed like the Ed of old, wheeling, digging, cutting, and picking off rebounds. In the last three games, he has scored 48 points.

The whole team played a fine defensive game, forcing the Crusaders to shoot from the outside. Successful through the greater part of the contest, Holy Cross kept ahead of the Beavers until there were eight minutes left to play.

At that point, a set shot by Layne put the Beavers in front and started an 11-point tear that iced the game. Holmstrom's clutch shooting was instrumental in the closing minutes as was the playing of Roman, Layne, Roth, and Warner, all of whom played the entire 40 minutes.

Gilly Allen Back On Frosh Quintet; Face Ram Monday

Stock in the College freshman basketball team took quite a boost this week, when Gil Allen, former all-scholastic at Boys High, returned to Coach Mike Wittlin's roster.

The return of Allen, who dropped out of school near the end of last semester, makes the Beaver cubs slight favorites in their Monday night preliminary tilt with Fordham at the 69th Reg't Armory.

The Rams have a 7-2 record and they use their height to best advantage with a double pivot offense. Ray Zadorowski, 6'6" Brooklyn Tech grad, and 6'7" Paul Patainka of Mt. St. Michael's play the Baby Rams' bucket.

Fencers Face Maroon; See Success Saturday

The College fencing team will have an excellent chance for its initial victory against a weak Fordham squad Saturday at Hansen Hall (Commerce). The Rams will bring a record of six consecutive drubbings into the fray.

The Beavers possess an 0-2 mark. However, they succumbed to powerful Columbia and Brooklyn College by three-point margins, while both the Lions and Kingsmen ran roughshod over the Maroon fencers, 24 to 3.

In addition, Patterson State Teachers and Stevens Institute—virtual unknowns—managed to upset the Rams.

Jeremias, Rocks Among Lavenders In N.Y.A.C. Meet

A delegation of at least thirteen men—two relay teams and five individual performers—will represent the College at this Saturday's New York Athletic Club meet in Madison Square Garden.

The varsity mile relay team will compete against St. Francis, St. John's, Brooklyn, and Columbia. It will be composed of Jim Burden, Don Spitzer, Charley Fields, and Bill Plummer. Make-up of the freshman mile group will be determined this afternoon at time trials to be held in Lewisohn Stadium.

Among the individual performers, Lou Cascino and Herb Jeremias have been invited to appear in the 1,000-yard run, and Fred Weisz, Gene Rocks, and Don Rosenberg in the two-mile run. Fields, ace high-jumper and one of the College's best point-getters, did not receive an invitation to perform in that event.

Coach Bruce is looking for new material for his team. At least seventy-five new men, both track and field performers, can be utilized.

Few Temple Trip Tix Remain As Hundreds Join Giant Jaunt

Allagaroo and Temple too!

Reservations on the chartered buses for the College's annual invasion of Philadelphia are running out fast. Seats officially will be on sale until Tuesday afternoon, but with the Beaver basketball team back on the winning track, the near $4.75. Combination Tickets of bus fare, Convention Hall reserved seat, and midnight celebration privileges are going like hotcakes.

The Beavers will meet the Temple Owls next Saturday night, February 17, as the feature of a hardwood twin bill in the historic City of Brotherly Love.

The $4.75-plus-AA Card payment includes round-trip transportation, game admission, and a prominent place in the post-game victory jubilation.

Remaining tix to the annual outing are being sold on a first-come, first-served basis daily in the Allagarooter office, Room 15A Main, from 3 to 4.

The excursion buses will leave from the front of the College Quadrangle at 3:00 P.M. Saturday and return early in the Sunday A.M.

Sapora is Hospitalized; Loughlin Now Coaching

Joe Sapora, coach of the College wrestling team, underwent surgery yesterday for the removal of a benign cyst which lay between the aorta and his esophagus. He is recuperating in Post Graduate Hospital, 303 East 20 St.

It is not known when he will resume his duties at the College, but doctors say that it will be at least a month.

Bill Loughlin, a member of the team, will assume Sapora's coaching duties until "Little Joe" recovers. Members of his team have contributed 14 pints of blood for any transfusions the former Amateur mat champ may need.

The College rifle team last Monday defeated the Brooklyn Poly Evening Session riflemen, 1376-1350, at the losers' range.

Bert Mayer, Al and Ted Moss, and Howard Fiedler had the highest scores; Shep Waldman replaced Dick Goldberg as fifth high scorer in the Brooklyn Poly meet.

Today, Brooklyn Poly's day team visits the College to try to avenge Monday's loss. Sergeant Carl Lohmeyer, Beaver coach, expects a tight match with the College coming out on top.

The Beaver scores:
City College (1399) P K S TL
Fiedler, Howard 100 92 92 284
Moss, Al 90 90 91 280
Moss, Ted 97 93 90 280
Mayer, Bert 97 87 94 280
Goldberg, Dick 99 86 91 275
