Mishandling of Fee Funds Denied by Administration; Nothing 'Immoral'—Engler

Non-instructional Fee Funds have not been misused and the administration has not engaged in any "immorality or double dealing," Dean Leslie Engler (Administration) declared yesterday.

The Dean replied to charges made by the Student Council executive committee which condemned the administration's reluctance in using the NIF funds for employing student assistants. The committee, in a letter to Dean Ordway Tead, president of the Board of Higher Education, charged that the administration's alleged negligence was "both unwarranted and immoral."

Refuting the accusation, Dean Engler said that the Non-instructional Fee Fund was not designed to pay for student assistants' wages. He noted that its main purpose was to pay for general expenses not falling under capital budget appropriation, but deemed vital to the interests of the College.

These include payment to personnel to make expenditures for work done above the call of duty, and to personnel, who, while not listed on the instructional staff, perform services to the College.

Provision for disposition of NIF funds is made in article 17 of the by-laws of the BHE, the section dealing with the Committee on Finance and Facilities of the BHE. Section e of the article states: "It shall be the duty of such committee, subject to the approval of the Board . . . to have custody of all instructional and non-instructional fees paid by students . . . All other monies for the keeping and dispersment of which the Board of Higher Education is responsible . . . To make expenditures for the benefit of the College on order of the President and for such general or specific purposes as the Committee may authorize."

The only funds which are earmarked specifically for student activities, the Dean explained, are the Student Activity Fees, which are paid at registration each term by the individual student.

Petition of Faculty Members Urges Gottschall as President

By Jay Fischer

More than one hundred members of the College faculty are urging the Board of Higher Education to support Dean Morton Gottschall (Liberal Arts) as the successor to President Harry N. Wright.

Wars Can Be Prevented, Prof. Murphy Maintains

By Edward Swietnicki

"War is not inevitable," Prof. Gardner Murphy (Psychology) maintained as he analyzed the psychological causes of war at the opening panel of the Causes of War symposium, held yesterday at 12:30 in 306 Main.

Obstacles in the path of man's needs, rather than any inborn instinct, lead men to war. Professor Murphy called this a "frustration-aggression complex."

Professor Murphy termed business, political, military and middle class groups, as specific groups which have, and can lead us to war. By studying the motives and desires of these "war-causing pressure groups" we can do much to help prevent wars, he said.

war when one group tries to have its ideas predominate." He said the cold war today is an example of this competition for dominance of ideas.

He cited the love of military uniforms some people have as an example of the wrong idea about the "glory and importance" of war.

Prof. Otto Klineburg, guest speaker from Columbia University, concluded the symposium. He said that the best way to prepare people for peace is to rid their minds of distortions they have about other people and other nations.

Prof. Kenneth Clark

Prof. Kenneth Clark (Psychology), second speaker at the symposium, said that selfish and infantile motives also cause wars. "Nations," he said, "stumble into

Prof. Schultz is Paid Homage in Great Hall

More than five hundred students and faculty members attended Great Hall services yesterday at 11:40 for Professor Gustav F. Schultz, chairman of the Speech Department. Professor Schultz died of coronary thrombosis at 1:15 Monday afternoon in the Great Hall.

At the services were Professor Schultz's wife and son and all the members of the Speech Department. Eulogies were spoken by President Harry N. Wright and Dr. William L. Finkel (Public Speaking).

TW To Show 'Teeth' Tonite; Benefit Sunday

The initial performance of "Skin of Our Teeth," this year's first Theatre Workshop presentation, will be given tonight at the Pauline Edwards Theatre. The Thornton Wilder comedy dealing with the trials and tribulations of the Antrobus family will run through Sunday night. The proceeds of Sunday night's performance will go to the World Student Service Fund.

Tickets for the two regular performances are one dollar and may be obtained in the cafeteria or 220A Main. The benefit tickets are available in 20 and 120 Main. They are eighty five cents.

Mr. Gerald Aksen, production manager for TW, said that the sales for the WSSF benefit show were "going fairly well." Tomorrow night's showing is nearly all

Language Study Revised

By Hartley Chazen

The Department of Romance Languages has revised its courses and textbooks, according to Prof. William E. Colford (Chairman). These changes were based on two years of experimentation.

Institutes Changes

Prof. William Colford

Improvements*

Professor Colford stated that the revised courses will "attempt to use all the modern developments and improvements in language teaching, including the use of cultural films, slides, and sound equipment."

The objective of the department is not only to teach a language, but also to introduce students to the literature, geography, history, and culture of the country under study. The revisions which have

Courses 5 and 6, long dormant, will be revived as electives for science and social-science students. Course 2 will be broken up into separate sections. Those freshman who do not have a firm grasp of the fundamental aspects of a language will be drilled in a review of grammar and articulation, while fourth team college students will stress reading, writing, and speaking.

Texts Dropped

Four texts by Prof. William E. Knickerbocker (Romance Languages) will be "discontinued for the good of the service," as the Army phrases it and are in no sense personal reflections upon the professors mentioned," Professor Colford said.

In a petition sent this week to every member of the BHE, the professors maintained that Dean Gottschall will fulfill the needs of the College better than any other individual.

The petition pointed out the problems and needs of the College and the specific qualifications of Dean Gottschall.

Commenting on the petition, Dean Gottschall stated, "It is heartwarming to learn that so many of my colleagues hold me in such high esteem. Since my boyhood days City College has been the very center of my life, and the obligation I owe to the College can never be fully repaid . . . It is in this spirit of humble devotion that I shall respond . . . to any call that serves the cause of free public higher education."

Faculty members queried were quick to deny that the letter was sent in opposition to any other candidate for the presidency. The petition itself stated, "Some of the undersigned would go so far as to say that there is no one else at all of whom we know . . . who is so likely, on the evidence, to guarantee us success."

Many of the signers felt that while an outsider could become acquainted with the College's problems after a number of years, it would be unfortunate to waste the time. Dr. Ralph Bunche, U.N. Trustee head, is also being considered for the presidency.

Noting that Harvard and Yale have long recognized the wisdom of appointing "those from within a college," the petition pointed out that Dean Gottschall is intimately acquainted with the special problems facing the College.

The letter was signed by the chairman of eight departments, as well as by Dean James Peace (Student Life), Dean Egbert Turner (School of Education), and Professor Oscar Janowsky, Director of Graduate Studies. Some of the others signing include: Professors Hans Kohn, Louis Snyder, and Oscar Zeichner (History); Henry Leffert and Theodore Goodman (English); Oscar Buckvar and Samuel Hendel (Government).

Teacher Placement Bureau Offers Aid

Students and graduates of the College seeking aid in securing teaching positions can do so now in the College office of Teacher Placement in 113 Main.

Eligible for help are those who are either candidates for an M.S. in Education or an M.A. Degree with a major in teacher education, or who are currently taking a student teaching course.

Under the direction of Professor Thomas A. Spitz (Education), the placement office is now affiliated with similar offices of the four municipal colleges.

Other People's Money

The charges brought against the administration by Student Council's executive committee are serious ones. Any accusation containing the words "immoral, unethical, circumvention, etc." deserves the utmost inspection before we can accept it. We believe that basically the executive committee is right in its approach to the use of fee money appropriated from students. At the same time though, the caustic nature of the letter to Dr. Ordway Tead, coupled with a slight misunderstanding between the Dear of Administration and the President of Student Council, has caused the forest to be mistaken for the trees. Students have been given the impression, quite unintentionally by the executive committee, that it is Student Activity fees which are being used to pay members of the College Staff.

In actuality, a separate source of income has been used—the Non-Instructional Fee fund. The NIF fund, is derived from student lab fees, library fees, etc. According to by-law 17 of the BHE the administration was not only acting legally and ethically in its action, but was fulfilling the letter of the law.

The members of Student Council and the student body have an excellent basis if they wish to complain about the use of student money for activities which theoretically should be supported by tax-levy appropriations. On this score we are in complete accord. But in no case, as long as the present BHE by-law is in effect, can we accuse the administration for committing either immoral, unethical, or unwarranted acts.

Faculty and Freedom

It is sad commentary indeed on the trend of our times, that a faculty group must be publicly complimented for attempting to preserve the minimum essentials of academic freedom. Nevertheless, we believe the faculty of this institution, represented by the City College Faculty Staff Organization, are to be commended in no uncertain terms for their recent unequivocal stand in defense of freedom on the campus of Ohio State University.

In too many colleges throughout the nation faculty groups have shown a surprising apathy in the face of the adversities of abridgment of academic freedom. In most instances, it is only when self-interest has been involved that the professors have been galvanized into action. The Staff Organization is to be commended that, unlike so many of their conferees, the faculty here have not "wrapped their minds in cotton-wool" to insulate themselves from the ravages of the would-be suppression of freedom on the campus.

Wanna Be a Brother?

For too many years "Big Brother" has sounded like an over-grown and overworked phrase for which no fate would be as suitable as relegation to oblivion. However, Student Council, the freshman advisory committee, and SC President Gerald Walpin have taken steps during the past week to institute a real "big brother" relationship at the College between upper classmen and the future entering freshman. Walpin's plan is to provide one upper class "adviser" for each eight or ten frosh, to help them overcome a number of the problems which confront the entering student. The idea is a promising one, and the beginning has been hopeful.

Five Beauties Compete for Crown

By Avrum Hyman

Preparations for House Plan's 1951 Carnival, to be held Saturday, December 1, were officially launched last Saturday night at the Carnival Queen Dance, when five finalists were chosen to compete for the Carnival Queen crown.

The five girls, picked by a jury of five, are: Laurie Abrahams '55, Miriam Birnbaum '54, Madeline Landau, Evening Session, Marcia Olchak '55, and Lois Unger '55.

The winners will now embark upon a month of whirlwind activities during which they will take a course in beauty make-up at Richard Hudnut's Beauty Salon and will receive many gifts from various women's accessory companies.

The finalists not only are beautiful but have talent to match. Diminutive Lois Unger, 5'2" tall, who is aiming for a B.S.S. degree, is interested in acting, and is currently appearing in Theatre Workshop's "Skin of Our Teeth." Laurie Abrahams, a damsel who measures 5'6", is trying for a B.S. degree, majoring in Math. She wants to be a statistician. In addition, Laurie is a sports enthusiast and is trying out for the women's basketball varsity team. Listening to classical records and reading historical novels are the special interests of Marcia Olchak.

Miriam Birnbaum, majors in Education, and enjoys playing the piano and tennis. Madeline Landau, is an Education major in Evening Session.

Only Twenty Buy AA Cards; Four Students Give Reasons

This story concerns itself with four people out of twenty, and in turn, with twenty out of thousands. The twenty are those who purchased Athletic Association membership cards this term in order to see the College's basketball games. Four of them are interviewed below. They were interviewed so that the remaining thousands might know why one buys an AA card.

The First Man

Card number 0010 belongs to Sid Bernstein '53. He has bought an AA card every term that he has been here. He attends few games, but Sid buys them anyway. He sort of feels that he ought to.

Manny Halper '54, has card number 0011. Manny is a member of Student Council. He explained that he got his card to help finance athletics at the College. In addition, he knows some of the guys on the basketball team and wants to see them play.

Card number 0020 was purchased by Morton Weiser '52, on the staff of the Campus. Morton never had an AA card before, because he never could afford one. This term he is working in the Cafeteria and intends to buy tickets to attend as many of the basketball games as he can.

The Fourth Man

As for the fourth person, he's a person named Al Fiering '53. His own reasons are a bit muddled. He wasn't even sure what they are. He just has one sure reason. He's ashamed that only twenty of the student body saw it fit to buy AA cards.

Faculty Staff Group Attacks Ohio Bans

The College Faculty Staff Organization has issued a statement supporting the Ohio State Faculty in its stand against the Board of Trustees. The trustees had maintained that the college president had the right to bar any speaker.

The statement reads:

"... We believe that this rule implicitly reveals an unwarranted distrust of the capacity of students to think for themselves and proceeds on the assumption that young people can be trained to the duties of citizenship by wrapping it in 'cotton wool.' Furthermore, it would be just as logical and just, as undesirable in our point of view, to bar the writings of radicals and revolutionaries from the libraries.

"We believe, further, that this rule has dangers not only in its effect upon extremists but also upon others who, in one regard or another, dissent from prevailing opinion."

Unbeaten Titans Clash Tomorrow

Booters Battle Kingsmen for Metropolitan Conference Title

By Herb Sternfeld

With the Met championship hinging on its outcome, the College's soccer team faces powerful Brooklyn College tomorrow in Lewisohn Stadium, in what should be the "game of the year" in Eastern soccer.

Brooklyn, the defending titleholder, has recorded 24 successive triumphs in five years of conference competition.

The kick-off is scheduled for 2, and there will be no admission charge to this sixth renewal of the hotly-contested rivalry between the Beavers and Kingsmen. This year are both perched atop the Met. loop with 3-0 records.

With each squad scheduled to conclude its league schedule next week against second-division opposition (the Beavers meet cellar-dwelling Pratt and Brooklyn meeting fourth-place Long Island), tomorrow's victor should be a "sure thing" to annex the championship. And, if that doesn't happen, tomorrow's winner will be assured of at least a tie for the No. 1 slot.

Although this year's Beaver soccer team is one of the finest to represent the College in many a year, it will be a decided underdog as it attempts to break a four-year victory drought in the series with Brooklyn. The Kingsmen hold a 3-1-1 bulge over the Lavender.

Acknowledged by most coaches to be Pa Knickerbocker's top collegiate booting outfit, and the power of the east, the Kingsmen will send a star-studded '11,' which boasts two All-American and six All-City booters, into action against the Beavers.

In Catania, the Beavers will be facing a net-minder who has not yielded a single tally this season. He whitewashed Kings Point, 2-0; Pratt, 3-0; and Queens, 1-0.

The Kingsmen's last defeat came at the outset of the 1950 campaign when they bowed to Army, 2-0. Since then, they've won nine straight.

In addition, they've retained the Met. Championship for the past two years. In '48 they shared the crown with the Beavers, who took it the previous season.

A. A. Cards

A.A. cards will go on sale for the last time, next Thursday November 15. If you wish to purchase basketball tickets at reduced rates you must have an A.A. card. The price is two dollars. Cards will be sold in front of the Army Hall Canteen between 12 and 3.

Grapplers Whip Into Shape; Opener Three Weeks Away

By Joe Lev

With the season's opener just three weeks away, Coach Joe Sapora is sending his wrestling team through rugged drills in an attempt to "work" them into tip-top condition.

When asked to hazard a guess concerning the coming campaign, Sapora replied, "No comment." But the veteran mentor did say that barring injuries the grapplers will field a strong squad.

Frosh Look Good

This year, with freshmen able to participate in varsity competition, Sapora hopes to make good use of two promising frosh. They are Morty Schlein and Norm Ba-

Both of them have had previous experience at the New York Institute for the Blind.

The squad is faced with the unusual situation of having its co-captains, Vito Pizzuro and Joe Cortuzzola, fighting for starting berths. There is a bitter battle for the 137 pound spot between Martin Saunders and Cortuzzola. Bernie Lloyd is competing with Vito Pizzuro for the starting berth in the heavyweight division.

Rivals Steinberg

Sophomore, Steve Levin, who wrestles in the 133-pound class has the possibilities, according to Sapora, to do as well as Jerry Steinberg, former Junior, Senior and N. Y. State A.A.U. champ. Steve is a better wrestler now than Jerry was as a Sophomore, said Sapora.

As yet, the team is not in good condition, but their rugged practices and scrimmages are sure to put them in fighting trim for their first match with Newark College on December 1. There will be a practice scrimmage at 8:00 tonight at the West Side YMCA. This will test the relative strength of the team and determine who will face Newark.

Army Inducts Holmstrom; Holman Starts Rebuilding

Stock in the College's basketball team took a decided plunge yesterday when Herb Holmstrom, one of its outstanding members, was inducted into the Army. Holmstrom, a 6'2" senior who was elected co-captain of the squad, had appealed to Albany for a deferment until January 23, but the appeal was denied.

This leaves Nat Holman, starting his thirty-third year

Ushers, Hosts Needed For Cage Contests

The Student Athletic Association requests that all students interested in serving as ushers at home basketball games please contact Tom Reilly in the A.A. office.

November 24 has been designated as Homecoming Night. Ushers and hosts are needed for the Stein Fund Basketball Game and for the other athletic activities that will be held that evening.

You can select other games you'd be interested in ushering by naming them on the blanks provided by the A.A. office.

Neal Deoul, President of the Student Athletic Association, will contact all interested students at least two weeks prior to the game he or she will usher.

at the College, with the biggest rebuilding job he has ever come up against. The Beavers are inexperienced, lack height, are weak in reserves, and, as their coach puts it, "are not impressive."

"We're putting a team together that lacks competitive experience," stated Holman. "The sophomores on the squad are moving into spots they wouldn't normally hold until their junior or senior years. It takes time to mold a workable team and we just have not got that time."

Reserves Lacking

"We haven't much reserve strength either," disclosed Holman. "Ray Schwartz and Sy Levitch have been drafted and Jerry Gold is recovering from an appendicitis operation, so he hasn't been able to work out."

In addition we have no big men like other teams so it is not hard to see why I can only pray that no one injures themselves or gets sick.

"I hope the students don't expect too much," continued Holman. Then he said, "The boys are really eager to play, however, and they are a wonderfully spirited club. They realize that there are no All-Americans on the squad and they play a team game."

"Arnie Smith and Jerry Domerschick have been looking fine," stated the coach. "Domerschick, who is only a sophomore, looks very good and Smith is just grand. He should make the All-Met team."

Smith Impresses

Holman's claims regarding Smith, who is co-captain of the team, seem to bear merit as evidenced by the Beavers' scrimmage against Pratt last Monday. The 6'1" senior combined fine set-shooting ability with dazzling speed to top the scorers. He fits in perfectly with the type of play Holman plans to use this season—the run, run, run style used by Beaver hoop teams of the past.

Holmstrom's departure leaves Holman with Smith, Domerschick, Ed Chenetz and Bob Logan as his top four men. Moe Bragin, who was sixth man for the Pratt scrimmage, is the likely candidate to move into the starting five.

Bruce Sees Victory In Queens Contest

Enthusied by the harriers performance in their last dual-meet, against Fordham, Coach Harlod Anson Bruce is confident of victory when the Beavers face Queens College at Van Cortlandt Park tomorrow.

The Queens squad has the unique experience of being coached by the school's president John Theobald. Theobald is assisted by Bill Schnitzer.

The Knights have had only one meet this season. They trimmed Farleigh Dickinson last Saturday, running in mild hurricane. Captain George Marinelli romped home first in 30:31. Close behind were team mates Bob Stern, Neil Griffith and Claus Kallman.

If last week's performance is any indication of the relative strength of the two teams, coach Bruce is fully justified in expecting a victory. None of the Queensmen figure in the class of Lou Cascino, Gene Rocks and Joe Grevious, all of whom have broken thirty minutes this season. Cascino turned in his best time on Tuesday in the Met. Championships, running the five mile course in 28:10.

Participating in their third meet in eight days the harriers finished sixth in the Mets. Manhattan College took the championship for the fifth consecutive year, placing five men in the top ten. Bill Lucas, Jaspers' star romped home the winner in 26:40.7. St. John's finished second, followed by N.Y.U., Fordham and Columbia.

Last Saturday at Van Cortlandt, running in a driving rainstorm, the Beavers were defeated by Fordham 24 to 32. Lou Cascino finished second in 28:42, an amazing time considering the weather. This meet brought their dual-meet record even at 2-2.

Next on the Beavers' schedule, after Queens is Rutgers U. The Scarlet boast a powerful array of runners but if the Lavender's weekly improvement continues an upset is highly possible.

'Musca's' World of Sports and Violins Increases by One More Event—a Wife

By Sheldon Podolsky
Marriage has wrought a big change in "Muska's" disposition and outlook on life.

Moshe Mosston '52, the husky Israeli with the conspicuous elongated red moustache, became the first transfer student in the College to marry. He took Leora Kohn '53, for his wife, Sunday, October 14th.

The happy event took place in Leora's Bronx home. They had been going together for a year before the inevitable happened. "I'm a quiet man now," he admits. "I have a lot of studies and I have to practice the violin."

The violin, incidentally, plays a big part in the athlete's life. He has been a student of the violin for sixteen years. Currently, the Haifa-born Physical Education student is auditioning for Ted Mack's "Amateur Hour." Mack stumbled on him through a story in the "Herald Tribune," telling of his athletic and violin prowess.

Muska was a familiar sight in athletic circles last year, being a member of both the soccer and track and field squads. He is not on the soccer team this season because "I wanted to play football," but, unfortunately, there is no football team.

Nevertheless, when the track and field season opens, Muska will be out seeking the elusive metropolitan javelin championship once again. He has yet to reach his Israeli mark of 175 feet. The best he has done to date in dual meets is 160 feet.

After graduation in June, Muska intends to go for his Masters at the University of California. He will receive his second degree at the same time his wife graduates. They are slated to return to Israel where he will teach Physical Education and she will teach languages.

Muska expressed a wish to apologize for a former article, printed in The Campus, in which he professed to be an expert on womanhood.

Revised Freshman Program Requests Undergraduate Help

A completely revised Freshman Advisory Program was formed at a meeting called by Gerald Walpin '52, Student Council President, on Wednesday.

Representatives from all service organizations at the College formulated plans for a more "direct and effective" advisory system to rectify the inadequacies of the present Freshman Advisory Committee.

Hoping to recruit 100 capable freshman advisors from the college's service organizations, the newly formed committee will have applications available Tuesday, November 13, in 20 Main.

The new program includes assigning an advisor to work with from 10 to 15 incoming freshman throughout the term, in an effort to establish the "feeling of belonging" as well as to give curricula guidance. Committees already established will:

1. Formulate the training program of freshman advisors.
2. Review individual applications for the student's willingness to serve the College, his free hours, and his general knowledge of school activities and curriculum
3. View the possibility of hiring a camp for a Freshman orientation weekend.

With one side "for" and one "against,"
Debaters can't agree,
But one point is unanimous...
It's L.S./M.F.T.

"The time has come," the Walrus said,
"To talk of many things—
Of better-tasting Lucky Strikes,
The cigarette for kings."
