Activities Aided Indirectly by Candy Machine Income

The recent allocation of vending machine profits, made this week by Pres. Buell Gallagher, has resulted in additional monies for student activities because of a corollary decision made by Dean James Peace (Student Life) yesterday.

Dean Peace disclosed that the revenue allotted to his department from the machines outside the cafeteria will be used to refund part of the 252 dollars appropriated by the Student-Faculty Committee for the Parents Reception this Sunday.

Of the appropriation, forty dollars was allotted for postage, fifteen dollars for decorations and ten dollars for refreshments. Dean Peace explained that the allotment for refreshments will have to be increased because an unexpected number of parents have pledged to attend the Great Hall Reception. "I expect expenses to amount to about 300 dollars, but plan to return as much as possible to the SFFC," he said.

Semi-Annual Affair

Although the reception has been semi-annual affair, Dean Peace said that because of the new annual graduation system, the reception henceforth will be held once a year.

In his statement on the revenue distribution, President Gallagher stated that the machines in the corridor will be removed as soon as possible, probably during the Christmas vacation, to conform to regulations of the New York Building Code. Some of the corridor machines will be moved into the cafeteria, and cigarette machines will probably be installed in the faculty lounge and in Knittle lounge.

Building Code

The following are two of the provisions in the Building Code which make the obstruction of corridors in public buildings illegal: 26-282: It shall be unlawful to construct or reduce the clear width in any manner of any doorway, hallway, passageway, stairway or other means of egress required by this article except as may be otherwise specifically herein provided.

26-289: Passageways shall be maintained the full width throughout without projections or obstructions of any kind.

Phi Sigma Sorority Sells Christmas Seals Tom'w

Phi Sigma Tau Delta Sorority will sell Christmas Seals in Lincoln Corridor and opposite Knittle lounge tomorrow and Friday. The seals will be sold for one cent each with the proceeds going to the Tuberculosis Foundation. Sis Brigg '56 will sell candy for the Polio fund on December 22. Marion Krugman '57 of Sis Jaffe announced that her house collected forty-five dollars in the sale of more than 800 pops last week.

SC to Convene At 3 to Debate Election Ballot

Student Council will convene one hour earlier than usual today in order to consider several important matters pertaining to candidates and referenda appearing on the forthcoming SC elections ballot.

The meeting will be called to order at 3. Possible points on the agenda will include reports from the Elections agency and the Judicial committee and referenda to be placed on next Friday's election ballot.

THE CAMPUS will interview candidates for major SC offices tomorrow from 12:15 to 1:30 in 15A Main. Candidates for senior class offices will be interviewed from 1:30 to 2:00. Interviews for candidates from the Class of '55 will be held from 6 to 8. All other interviews will be held Monday from 3 to 8.

Herbert Viebrock '54 and Ernie Weber '55, co-chairmen of the Elections agency, announced last night.

Gallagher Opposes Booklet Circulation From Private Donor

Pres. Buell G. Gallagher yesterday questioned a proposal endorsed by Dr. Joseph B. Cavallaro, chairman of the Board of Higher Education, to distribute anti-Communist literature to the faculty members of the municipal colleges at the expense of a private individual.

Dr. Joseph B. Cavallaro who said he expects the BHE to approve the distribution of anti-Communist literature.

The president spoke in reference to a forty-seven page pamphlet presenting arguments why Communists should not be allowed to teach in the nation's schools. It was written last March by Hamilton Long, a retired New York lawyer, and printed with funds contributed by a private donor whose name has not been disclosed. Dr. Cavallaro stated he is interested only in distributing the booklet and does not care who is supplying the money.

The BHE has not yet accepted the pamphlet, but Dr. Cavallaro said he expects it will do so at its meeting next Monday.

"I have not seen the booklet yet," commented President Gallagher, "but I oppose its distribution because of the source of the funds behind it, not the content. If some outside donor wishes every faculty member to get this material, let him use his money to send it through the mails. Where can we draw the line? If we let this book be distributed here, other groups will want the same privilege for their literature," he asserted.

The pamphlet has already been accepted by the Board of Education for distribution to the 35,000 teachers in the city's schools and will also be given to 4,000 teachers in the schools of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Brooklyn.

Mr. Long concludes the booklet by saying, "Membership in the (Communist) conspiracy, in and of itself, must be an automatic and absolute bar to holding any position as a teacher." Mr. Harry E. Schultz, a member of the BHE, has come out in favor of the pamphlet. "If it does a good job of convincing the people that this point of view is correct," he stated, "if it's a good pamphlet and does (Continued on Page 3)

'Dream Girl' To Be Given By Dramsoc

"Dream Girl," a comedy by Elmer Rice, will be presented by Dramsoc on Friday and Saturday evenings, December 18 and 19, at the Pauline Edwards Theater.

Starring Gilda Newman '55 as Georgina Allerton, a young, attractive, day-dreaming idealist and Ignacius Mercurio '54 as Clark Redfield, an egotistical but practical journalist, "Dream Girl" combines the romantic with the philosophical.

The production, directed by Bernard Landou '54 has been in rehearsal for the past two weeks.

Tickets in 120 Main

Tickets are on sale in 120 Main and are priced at ninety cents and $1.20.

"Dream Girl" has had marked success on Broadway. It was originally written for and starred Betty Field, the author's wife. Later productions featured Lucille Ball and Judy Holliday.

To Present Scenes

Dramsoc will present scenes from "Summer and Smoke" by Tennessee Williams tomorrow at a meeting of the group in 308 Main at 12:30. All are invited.

The history of Dramsoc, which was founded in 1887, is currently on exhibit in Lincoln Corridor. The exhibit includes show photos, workable scripts with complete technical direction and rewrites, and a general description of this term's production, "Dream Girl" and its author, Elmer Rice.

Pres., Faculty Aid NAACP In Preparing Federal Case

By Judson Yalkut

Pres. Buell G. Gallagher, Prof. Kenneth Clark (Psychology) and Prof. John A. Davis (Government) of the College were among experts who aided the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in the presentation of the public school segregation cases which opened in the Supreme Court on Monday.

In collaboration with other social scientists and historians throughout the country, President Gallagher and the professors worked on the preparation of a 240-page brief for the NAACP court case of the problem of "whether the states have the constitutional power to segregate white and Negro students in the elementary and secondary school levels." These cases had first been heard by the court last June 8 and are being reargued.

The president, for many years a member of the NAACP Board of Directors, conferred with the lawyers who prepared the case and was invited to criticize the work done by the large panel of consultants. President Gallagher stated that "these cases are fraught with almost incalculable importance—no matter which way the court decides. For my part," continued Dr. Gallagher, "I do not see how it is possible for the Court to rule except against segregation. This is the first time that the issue of the constitutionality of segregation in education has been presented to the Court." He added that this is also "the first time that social scientists have had an active part in the actual submission for reargument of a Supreme Court Case."

Professor Davis served as director of the Nonlegal Research Board for the NAACP, which was one of the main coordinating bodies in the preparation of the project. He cites the segregation case as one of the most important cases in the court history "since the Dred Scott Decision," since it is significant both in the "fight against segregation and in the study of the intent of the original joint House-Senate committee on Reconstruction which framed the Fourteenth Amendment. The Davis group took charge of requesting and documenting monographs by outside experts on relevant topics in the case such as the "Collapse of the Reconstruction" and "Educational Practices in the South."

Professors Clark and Davis are currently in Washington in connection with the case.

Juniors to Sponsor Dance Sat. Night

Profits from the Class of '55 Variety Dance, to be held this Saturday evening at 8:30, will be used to defray the costs of next year's senior prom and may reduce the price of tickets for the latter affair, Ira Klosk '55, class president has announced.

Entertainment at the Variety Dance will be provided by the New Theatre Studio and will feature skits, dance acts and vocalists. A five piece band will provide music for the affair to be held in the House Plan Rumpus Room, Convent Ave. and 141 Street.

Tickets, at $2 per couple, can be purchased at the Theatre Ticket Bureau, 120 Main, 20 Main and from any member of the '55 Class Council.

Composition by Student To Be Heard Saturday

By Louise Gross

Roger Verdesi '54, a chemistry major who switched to music, is the first student in the history of the College to have an original composition performed at the College's semi-annual concert. The concert will be presented this Saturday at 8:30 in the Great Hall.

The composition, a prelude and fugue, is the first piece Verdesi has ever written for orchestra. It was originally assigned as a term project for a course in musical composition. The instructor, Prof. Mark Brunswick (Chairman, Music) found the piece to be not only good from a musical standpoint, but also appropriate for presentation at the concert.

Satisfaction in Expression

"It was difficult to write," Verdesi admits, "but I enjoyed every minute of it. I try to express myself in music and the greatest reward I receive is when the composition succeeds in expressing what I wanted to say. Of course, it's nice to know that other people like it, too, and even nicer this composition is being presented at the concert," he smiled.

Verdesi plans to become a music teacher after he receives his master's degree, and after he completes a stint in the Army he hopes to do some composing on the side. "While I was in high school, all I was interested in was, believe it or not, chemistry. Suddenly, all most overnight, I decided that I wanted to be a musician. I can't explain it; it was just a sudden urge, but I've never regretted changing my mind. I don't think I could live without music now.

Lauds Music Dept.

"The Music Department at the College has not been given enough publicity," he stated. "The whole department is tremendous. I don't think that enough people who are interested in music are aware of all that it has to offer. All the musical training I've received, outside of piano lessons, has been from the College."

Verdesi's prelude and fugue is composed for string section with tympani and cymbal. It is to be presented at the concert along with compositions by such masters as Schumann, Schubert and Beethoven. "I'm very grateful to everyone in the Music Department for giving me this opportunity," he said.

The performance will feature Mr. Asadata Dafora and his troupe of African dancers who have recently completed a sixteen month run on Broadway.

The group has also given a recital at Carnegie Hall and has completed a motion picture depicting their native dances. The program will include three dances and one short drama.

Academic Freedom Week Scheduled for Next Term

An outline for an "Academic Freedom Week," to be held at the College next semester, was formulated by the Student Council Civil Liberties Committee at an open hearing last week.

The proposals which were submitted to Student Council for approval were:

A large group discussion on a Tuesday to which a number of guests would be invited to speak on the subject of academic freedom.

A production by one of the college's dramatic groups;

A Saturday night social;

Workshops where such issues as the place of the Fifth Amendment, the Feinberg Law and Section of the New York City Charter could be discussed.

Alan Flink '55, chairman of the committee, pointed out that though notices were sent to club presidents informing them of the hearing, and an article about it appeared in The Campus, seven students were present at most of the meeting, and only clubs were represented. It was agreed that one of the most important tasks confronting the committee was "to generate interest among the student body and organizations on campus."

It was suggested that the workshops be held on Sunday afternoon, while agreeing it was a good idea, Flink expressed doubt about the number of students who would be willing to attend such a discussion on a day on which no classes were scheduled.

Clubs Must Apply For 'Mike' Pictures

All members and organizations who wish to have their picture in the 1954 edition of "Microcosm," the Senior Yearbook, are advised to see Phyllis Prager '55 in the Senior Office (A109) or The Campus office (15A Main). Pictures will be taken tomorrow and next Thursday in the Great Hall.

A full page containing the picture of the group, names of those belonging to it, and something about the body's function, costs thirty dollars. Half a page is fifteen dollars.

Daily Newspaper

A daily newspaper can be reality in February. It can be effected if the student body passes a referendum at election next Friday favoring the creation of this daily newspaper and if Student Council then takes appropriate action to bring the paper into being.

This term a decision favoring a daily newspaper can be effected because Council raised the Activities Fee by fifty cents providing for the first time sufficient funds to implement such a daily.

A daily is desirable. A daily newspaper will provide am-coverage for all the clubs and organizations which now barely mentioned—or not even able to be mentioned—in Club News section. And with the Student Union Center scheduled to open next September, clubs will be meeting ev-day, not only on Thursdays between 12 and 2.

The newspaper can become a binding, cohesive force at College, a force that is not present now. It's up to Stu-ent Council to include a referendum calling for a daily news-er on the election ballot. It's up to you, the student body, vote it into effect.

Vending Machines

The manner in which the vending machine situation has been treated shows that there was much confusion among the college's administrative officials as to the legal and moral aspects concerning the handling of the machines and the monies obtained from them.

The vending machines were installed in the College in 1956. Those that were put in the corridors violated a fire regulation—they constituted a fire hazard. Last year this situation was pointed out to Mr. Petross, the head of the Department of Buildings and Grounds. He chose to ignore the regulation. So did Dean Leslie Engler (Administration).

The question, previously legal, turns into a moral issue. Mr. Petross thought the regulation was poor, should he ignore it? We think not, primarily because of the precedent it sets, let alone the issue whether Mr. Petross is a more qualified judge than the persons who proposed and passed the legislation.

We further think that Dr. Gallagher did not act wisely when he allocated all profits from the cafeteria machines to the cafeteria and the profits from the hall machines to the Department of Student Life. (Dean Peace acted well when he said yesterday that he would return to Student Council money that was granted by SC to the Department of Student Life previously this term.) These profits come directly from the students who put nickels and quarters in the machines. We think that most, if not all, the monies from vending machines in the cafeteria should have been returned directly to the students by being allocated for student organizations. We hope Dr. Gallagher will reconsider his position.

Profs, Grads, Students Win Many Awards

Eighty-four scholarships, fellowships and jobs as assistants have been won by students, faculty members and recent graduates of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences during the past year, according to Dean Morton Gottschall (Liberal Arts).

The awards will permit the winners to pursue graduate study, research and teaching activities at some forty educational institutions both here and abroad. Universities at which they will study include Cornell, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Ohio State University, Princeton, Yale, the London School of Economics, the University of Edinburgh and the University of Paris.

Students Wins $5,000

One of the largest prize winners was Stanley Wolpert '53, a history major who was granted a 2500 dollar fellowship by the Ford Foundation. He will study Indian History in the Department of South Asian Regional Studies at the University of Pennsylvania. Wolpert also won a full tuition scholarship to the University and received 2500 dollars as first prize in an essay contest sponsored by the National Council of Jewish Women. His essay, entitled "The meaning of Academic Freedom," appeared in part in The Campus last semester.

College Leads in Awards

Graduates of the College received more doctorates, fellowships, government awards or grants-in-aid for work and study in the field of psychology between 1948 and 1951 than graduates of any other college in the country, according to a report which appeared in a recent issue of the "American Psychologist."

Awards and grants won by students, faculty members and alumni of the School of Education and the School of Technology were not included in this list since details concerning them are not available at present.

an effective job, then it is worthwhile."

Dr. Samuel F. Thomas, chairman of the BHE Faculty Committee on Faculty and Staff Welfare, said that "as a general rule, I would rather see the students get it."

However, the booklet has been seriously criticized by Mrs. Rose V. Russell, legislative representative of the Teachers Union. "The pamphlet affronts reason and scholarship," she declared. "It violates the most elementary canons of scientific research and objectivity and, while parading under the loose and easy banner of anti-Communism, it is in fact anti-democratic... primitive in conception and dishonest in execution."

So now vending machines are illegal. The corridors must be free of obstructions, say the authorities. This should not really surprise us in these days of high-pressure investigations, however. One is led to wonder if forces higher than the College administration might not have had more than just a little to do with all this. After all, let us examine the contents of these machines.

According to a friendly young man named Lenny—he services the machines and he asked us not to reveal his full name—a confection known as "Dairy Maid" is one of the leading best-sellers among the soft-tooth set. With the Jelke trial only a year behind us, perhaps District Attorney Frank Hogan envisioned another coup and has clamped down on the sale of "Dairy Maids." No soliciting in this school. No sir.

And of course, there is always that delightful bit of goodness known as "Joyva Halvah." Now everyone knows that Halvah is enjoyed by many of the same people who are entranced by the taste of borscht and sour cream. Come, come Senator McCarthy. Let us not dally when there's serious business at hand.

The latest candy bar to be installed in the machines, a "milk chocolate crunch" it says on the label, is known as "Royal Flush." If Estes Kefauver has held any aspirations toward the '56 presidential campaign, what better opportunity could he have had to regain some of the old glory than by sweeping this hunk of gambling lure off the public stands?

This is no laughing matter, this illegality of vending machines. Benches may be next. Imagine, if you will, the drastic changes in the lives of our campus lovebirds. Once benches are removed from the corridors, the young swain must turn to the cafeteria to hold hands with his lady friend. The cafeteria, as is well-known, is not the ideal trysting place for anyone. To further complicate matters, the administration has seen fit to promote a "Courtesy Campaign." During what the authorities call "the crucial hours," no student may deprive another student of a seat if the seated student is not eating. Pity the poor young lover! He will be forced to whisper sweet words into the petal-like ear he adores while slugging a bowl of Puree of Mongol soup. Tragic. Tragic indeed.

Dave Newton Acclaims Carnival As Biggest, Happiest Ever Held

"In spite of all the problems House Plan had to face, 'Knickerbockerama' was the biggest and happiest Carnival ever held," Mr. Dave Newton (Director, HP) said Monday.

Carnival, held last Saturday night, netted over 2,000 dollars and drew a crowd of about 3,000 people. "We feel that the coverage The Campus gave us was one of the main reasons for our phenomenal success," said Mr. Newton.

Most of the profit was made on the sale of scrip tickets. Close to 40,000 tickets, which is twice the amount usually sold, were sold at 5 cents apiece. The 2,000 dollars will help to support House Plan until the Student Center is completed in September 1954.

"It will take 15,000 dollars to keep House Plan functioning, and until that date," continued Mr. Newton, "This will lessen the burden of supporting HP."

"I want to thank all the students who attended," he said. "It was a wonderful christening for the new building."

Hoopsters Meet Queens Five Today

Jack McGuire Ready To Play Against Old Coach and Mates

By Aaron Schindler

Queens College, which occasionally comes up with good soccer teams, but rarely with a good basketball team, appears to be running true-to-form.

The Knights, who play host to the Beavers at their gym this afternoon at 4, are currently undefeated, having beaten Towson State Teachers (who?) in their first game, and then edged a weak Pratt five, 73-71 last Friday. But then Pratt isn't Kentucky.

In its previous encounters with the College, Queens has yet to win, while dropping two decisions, the most recent of which was by a 61-53 count in 1950.

Leading the Queens attack is George Wilund, who doubles in soccer, and was one of the big reasons for the Knights' success this past season in that sport.

Wilund, along with forward Ed Greeley, are the only returning lettermen on the Queens squad. This lack of experience, coupled with the need for a big man under the boards, seems to indicate that the Knights may be in for a rough afternoon against the Beavers.

The Queens game will be a sort of homecoming affair for the Lavender's Jack McGuire. Until last year, "slat" Jack had been the Knights' outstanding performer, averaging fifteen points per game. In January, the 6'2" forward transferred to the College because of the four year engineering facilities offered here. But, due to the NCAA edict prohibiting a man from playing for two colleges during the same season, McGuire was forced to wait until this season to compete again.

Commenting on the prospect of playing against his former team, Jack said, "Their coach, Bob Salmons, is a great guy, and he helped me a lot in sharpening my defensive game, but, when I take the floor against them, I'll be giving it everything I've got to beat them."

The Beavers' lone casualty is Charlie Rowe. Rowe, who missed the Adelphi game due to a leg injury, will probably be withheld from the Queens game

Bruce Gets Gift

Last Wednesday, track and cross-country coach Harold Anson Bruce received a gift from his cross country runners in appreciation of his fine work with the team. The gift, a Waterman's pen and pencil set, was presented to the coach by manager Gene Forsythe in the presence of the entire team.

Tix Going Fast For Bus Trip

"Lafayette, we are here!" has become the rallying battlecry of all die-hard Beaver rooters.

No, the College is not sending an expeditionary force to France, but come this Saturday afternoon it will be sending a bus-load of loyal Lavender followers to Easton, Pennsylvania, where the College's hoopsters will meet the Lafayette College cagers.

The bus will leave from the Quadrangle at 4.

According to Herb Sternfeld '54 and Herb Poperno '54, Big Beavers of the Allagarooters, "There are still some tickets available for this, the most ultra-collegiate excursion ever undertaken by mere mortals."

Tickets are four dollars, and they may be purchased in room 15A Main. The four dollar price includes a round-trip to Easton, a reserved seat at the game, and free admission to the gala victory celebration which will be held in Easton's town hall.

A telegram was sent by Sternfeld yesterday to the mayor of Easton, warning him to evacuate all residents on the night of the game. "These poor, timid, unsuspecting souls may not be ready for the collegiate extravaganza we are planning to hold after the game. Therefore, it would be better if they all cleared out for the night," said Sternfeld.

ers over Adelphi by a 76 to 71 margin. She also predicted that Jerry Domershick would lead the scoring parade with 27 points. Domershick hit for 26 points in the Lavender's 77 to 76 triumph.

Sue became the first entrant in the second contest by predicting that Domershick and Co. would toy with Queens, and end up on top by 79 to 64. She stated that Jerry would once again pace the scorers with 24 markers this afternoon. The contest, which closes at 4 today is open to all students and members of the faculty. Enter early and often.

Agreement Seen to Hold NYU Game at Fordham

NYU Athletic Director James V. Gilloon will probably announce in a few days his approval of the contract for the Beaver-NYU basketball game on March 4 to be played at the Fordham Gym.

The probable signing will bring to an end negotiations which had been carried on since late July. Two weeks ago the Faculty Student Committee resolved that the game would be played at the Main Gym here at the College only. They reversed their decision after Gilloon pointed out that no home and home agreement existed between the Beavers and Fordham. Next Wednesday the Lavender forces will meet the Rams at the Rose Hill gym for the third consecutive year.

Fordham Tickets

Tickets for next Wednesday's basketball game with Fordham go on sale tomorrow at noon in the A.A. office. Students with A.A. cards can purchase one ticket for the reduced rate of $.50, while general admission is $2.00. Student A.A. cards will not be honored on the night of the game.

In reversing its decision, the FSCIA ruled that all future games must be booked on a home and home basis or at a neutral court. For the past two years the games have been played at University Heights.

If the agreement is signed, the Violets will share in the profit or loss resulting from the game this year. In the past, the home team has been responsible for the profit or deficit.

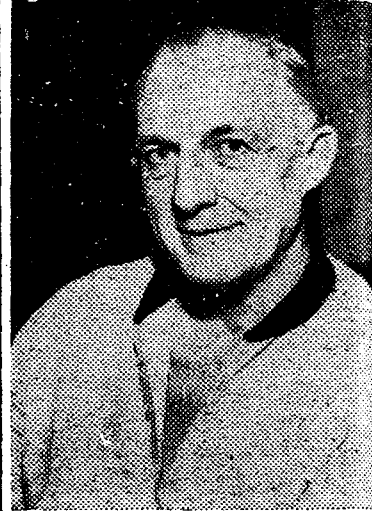

Harriers Preparing For Indoor Opener

Coach Harold Anson Bruce has his harriers practicing in Lewisohn Stadium for the opening of the indoor track season sometime in January.

With very few returnees from last year, Coach Bruce does not look forward to this season with much optimism. Unless he comes up with some good runners, weight and javelin men within the next month, the coach sees this year as being a "bad" one.

Leading the returnees are Tom O'Brien, Paul Pavlides, and Bob Armstrong.

In the Spotlight

Coach Jack Rider

With 31 years of coaching at Queens College, Jack Rider ranks as senior coach in point of service. Assistant swimming coach for 12 years, Rider was appointed to the varsity in 1946 and has held that position ever since.

His recognition in the swimming world has been reflected in his serving as president of the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association and as Secretary-Treasurer of Metropolitan Swimming Association.

When you know your beer ...IT'S BOUND TO BE BUD

Ever notice how so many people call for Budweiser? Its matchless flavor makes good food and good fellowship more enjoyable. Produced by the costliest brewing process known, the distinctive taste of Budweiser has pleased more people by far, than any other beer in history.
