Abelson Delays Loyalty Board In Ed. School

Because no student in the School of Education was brought up on charges of disloyalty during the past year, Dean Harold Abelson (Education) has decided to postpone indefinitely the establishment of a loyalty review board.

Only when an actual case of possible disloyalty arises, Dean Abelson stated yesterday, will such a board be organized. Dean Abelson pointed out the need for a board. "The responsibility would be too great to leave to one man," he avowed.

The function of the board would be to thoroughly investigate the student's loyalty. Following its fact-finding, the board could make recommendations on the evidence presented to it. After acting, the board would then be automatically dissolved.

The Dean explained that the School of Education had not been using any one fixed method of determining a student's loyalty to the government. Since 1944, however, the following criteria have been employed:

1. A statement of Communist affiliation by the student himself.
2. Student evaluations periodically sent to the Dean by education instructors.
3. Publication of a student's Communist affiliations through newspapers at the College or through signatures on Communist leaflets.
4. Proven membership in a subversive organization.

According to state law, the "loyalty rating" of a student who has majored in education must be included in forms that are sent to state and city education departments. The form asks whether the applicant has "shown a proper attitude toward democratic ideals and the government of the United States." A negative loyalty rating prevents the applicant from obtaining a teaching license.

Test Next Thursday For All Ed. Majors

The Committee on Student Teacher Personnel has announced that all education students who have not already passed the Qualifying Examination in Written English should take the examination which will be given next Thursday from 12 to 2.

Applications may be obtained from any education instructor and must be filed immediately in 311 Main. Appointments for the oral English examination may also be made now.

Classified ads are accepted daily in the Campus office. Rates are four cents a word.

Election Cards

Election Cards for the Fall term of 1953 must be filed in the Registrar's Office (115 Main) on or before March 15.

All students who expect to attend the College next term are required to file these cards. Both elective and required courses should be listed.

In addition to Elective Cards, Upper Sophomores must also file Elective Concentration Cards. They may be obtained in 111 Main.

Manhattanville Repairs Slow

Army Hall classrooms, scheduled to be vacated next semester, will continue to be used since the Manhattanville facilities will not be ready for use in the Fall.

Not Ready Yet

Prof. Albert d'Andrea (Chairman, Art) reported that the rehabilitation of Manhattanville cannot be effected until the early part of 1954 and according to Mr. Walter Stalb (Business Manager), the September 1 vacating date which had been set for Army Hall will have to be extended.

At present, three South Campus buildings are being utilized; the Gate House, which is the President's residence, the gymnasium, where the women's hygiene courses are given, and the boiler room building.

Professor Johnson Reports Goodman Fund Has $5,000

Prof. Edgar Johnson (Chairman, English), Chairman of the Executive Committee of Theodore Goodman Memorial Fund announced that about five thousand dollars has been contributed to the fund. The committee's goal is fifty thousand dollars.

The fund, instituted to honor the memory of the late professor of English and narrative writing, will be used for either the establishment of an annual fellowship, or, according to Professor Johnson, "for a loan to enable a talented graduate to further a career in creative writing and to establish a memorial room or alcove in the College Library with Professor Goodman's portrait and an appropriate collection of books." The ultimate use of the fund will depend upon the amount of money received.

Contributions have come from personal friends, colleagues and former students of the late professor. Should the fund progress as is expected, the first fellowship will be awarded in a year.

NYU's Elsberg (24) scores first-half basket as Gold Dett and Shorr battle Nachamkin (38) for possible rebound in last night's game.

Theatre Workshop To Do Shaw Play

"The Devil's Disciple," by George Bernard Shaw, will be presented by Theatre Workshop on the evenings of March 13, 14 and 15 at the Pauline Edwards Theatre.

The presentation, which has been described as a "spoof on the Victorian melodrama," will conflict with the Inaugural Ball to be held in the Great Hall in honor of Pres. Buell Gallagher on March 14. Dave Silver '53, Student Council President, explained that the conflict arose because of President Gallagher's inability to attend the ball on any other night. Naomi Bergere '54, TW Business Manager, said that the Pauline Edwards Theatre is available to the Workshop players only during the March 13-15 period.

The play, which explains why the British lost the American Revolution, features Richard McKellar '54 in the role of Mr. Anderson, Tauby Heller '54 as his wife, Hal Sheiner '54 as Dick Dudgeon, who is hanged in the course of the performance, Ed Heffernan '56 as General Burgoyne, and Lois Unger '55 as Essie.

"The Devil's Disciple" is the first play by Shaw to be presented at the College in ten years. The production is under the direction of Mr. Lyle Winter (Speech). The scenery is designed by Aristides Gazetas '53.

Tickets for "The Devil's Disciple" are now on sale in 120 Main. Prices are 75 cents for the Friday and Sunday performances and a dollar for the Saturday evening presentation. Edward Trautman

D'mrshick Sets Shooting Mark Shorr Nets 20

By Ken Rosenberg

NYU set out to prove last night that they weren't a one-man team, but a determined fourth period rally by the Beavers-forced the Violets to "feed it to Boris" and the Lavenders went down to defeat, 82 to 68 before a crowd of 1,000.

Jerry Domershick completely outshone Boris Nachamkin, who was his high school teammate at Thomas Jefferson High School, and wound up as high man for the evening with 27 points.

Shorr Stars

The Beavers started to come at the outset of the last period, when two fouls by Artie Dlott, a layup by Merv Shorr who tallied twenty and a three pointer by Domershick cut the lead to five points. The teams matched baskets until the three minute mark when the parade from the foul line began.

Nachamkin canned six free

Violets Lead

The Violets jumped out to a quick eight point lead in the first quarter as only Shorr was able to tally for the Beavers before the six minute mark. Domershick dropped a long set to break the spell. Shorr, Ronnie Kowalski and Artie Dlott began to control both boards as the Beavers closed the gap to three points early in the second session, but Doherty's jump shooting moved the Hall of Famers out to an eight point half time lead.

Big Nachamkin, who has been averaging about twenty points per game, did not move into the pivot until early in the third period. Playing on the outside, he managed to notch only one foul point. Domershick's twenty points

Howdy Doody

The menace of the television screen has shown itself in the homes of millions of Americans in the last few years. Because of its novelty and convenience, it has attracted an enthusiastic following of people who dote on anything that is put on the air. Nevertheless, the public has gotten tired of such lack-lustre entertainers as Milton Berle, Howdy Doody, and "The Continental."

When representatives of fifteen Metropolitan Colleges offered New York State, the use of their facilities free of charge for the establishment of a network of educational television stations, we thought that the economy minded Dewey administration would jump at the chance to put a modern university in the living room of every resident of the State. But, it now is clear that Tom Dewey is penny wise and dollar foolish. Such a network would in a few years contribute its cost, ten times over, back to the state in cultural and technological advances stemming from the widening of educational opportunities and educational standards. It would open the door to millions who could not afford to go to college but would have time to learn in the comfort of their own living room.

AN OPEN LETTER

March 5, 1953

To all Club officers and their rather loud voices:

DEAR STUDENTS:

In an optimistic journalistic vein, we attempted last week to put together a four page club supplement. We thought the clubs would be glad to co-operate with us. Our instructions were simple—a one-hundred word typewritten publicity statement of the organization.

And then we awaited the deluge from the 200 clubs, organizations and fraternities that we were sure would respond. The deluge turned out to be a trickle as only ten clubs responded—on time—and according to our directions.

The club supplement appeared. The clubs that weren't represented appeared to blame and accuse the paper of negligence, and inefficiency, and etc.

Which all goes to prove that the clubs at the College had better start re-evaluating themselves.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

1—Clubs at the College generally don't do anything of significance to attract anyone else except their position mad devotees. There was a political club here last term formed by the direct aid of this newspaper's publicity. Throughout the term it had no interesting program. Now it has no members to boast of. Meanwhile, it threw itself a miniature Republican Party demanding all the space it would normally get in a Republican Party press release. The Young Pidookies of America, too, drew student fees from many to the satisfaction of their one or two members.

2—Instead of doing something of interest in their club, the club officers spend time heaping their own inadequacies on their scapegoats—the newspapers. THE CAMPUS office is besieged with club officers who want to know why their club news isn't printed. The editors, bleary-eyed from all night reading of their scrawled club news messages on crinkled paper, do their best to keep from blowing their journalistic tops. We have a right to do so. Only a few clubs gave a care to help us with their club news by common standards of neatness, promptness and accuracy.

THE MANAGING BOARD

P.S.—We hope that a few faculty members at the College who get their salaries because of these clubs stop trying to make the papers here a "glorified club news billboard." They forget one thing. Only 15 per cent of the student body is interested enough in the 200 clubs, societies and frats that are all over the campus. This 15 per cent includes many of the type who "claim" membership in groups when they run for SC office. The actual number of active club members is ridiculously lower. Students aren't interested in what clubs here have to offer them. Ask any of the students in the cafeteria today from 12 to 2. Or those scurrying home on the subways at 12. Or those coming to school at 2 today. Something's wrong with the clubs.

Revisions In Hygiene Courses Under Consideration By Comm.

Revisions in the required men's hygiene courses (Hygiene 1-4) are now being considered.

A departmental committee under the supervision of Prof. Hyman Krakower has been studying possible changes for the past three months. Its recommendations will be based for the most part on the results obtained from work done in three experimental classes, two of them in the Hygiene 2 course and the other in Hygiene 1.

The purpose of the study is to determine whether greater stress should be given to competitive athletics rather than non-competitive gymnastics. There is also a possibility that students may be allowed to select their own activities in the required hygiene courses.

"We are trying to formulate a program that will meet both the basic physiological requirements of the courses and at the same time give the students satisfaction," said Professor Krakower.

"We won't know just what changes can be instituted until a great deal of further study is made," he continued. "There are many factors to be considered, such as the size of each class and the gym space that can be utilized."

Definite program revisions will be formulated when the results of the three experimental classes are recorded at the end of this semester.

The Brady Library will become an Arts building when the $4,000,000 new edifice is completed.

All student clubs and activities, concessions and a cafeteria will be located in the Academy Building.

President Gives GFCIA Power On SAA Const.

Pres. Buell G. Callagher stated yesterday that any change in the constitution of the Student Athletic Association must be ratified by the General Faculty Committee on Inter-Collegiate Athletics.

Speaks at Forum

The President spoke at a forum which was called to discuss the SAA's constitution which has been a controversial issue since its formulation in November, 1952.

The Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, the General Faculty Committee on Student Affairs and the GFCIA had claimed ratification power. Representatives from the Day and Evening Sessions of the Main and Commerce Center Students Councils, the College newspapers and the SAA debated the issue at the forum.

SCs Disagree

Main Center Day Session's SC believed that they had the power of ratification, while the representatives of the other three SCs thought that problems of team scheduling, budgeting and eligibility should be dealt with by the committee with the greatest knowledge of the facts.

Tech Topics

The Chem E faculty and students are taking the first concrete step to follow through on the results of the All-College Conference.

On Thursday, March 26 at 12:30, there will be a Student-Faculty Conference. This Conference will attempt to iron out existing difficulties in the curriculum, student-faculty relations and similar problems. Professor Schmidt, faculty advisor to AICHe, was instrumental in arranging the Conference.

Eugene Fehskens, Robert Ciocchetti and Arnold Benson were elected by AICHe to be the student representatives at the seminar.

 brought his average for the season up to 17.6 points per game, which set a new record for a ball player at the College. Ed Roman held the previous high with 17.5 back in the 1949-1950 season.

Dave Polansky, who completed his first season at the helm of the Beavers with a ten and six record, commented afterwards, "I thought we had them, but they just pulled away."

In a pre-game incident, NYU students rushed on to the court of their new Alumni Gym to smash a cardboard coffin carried by the College's Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity. Cooler heads in the partisan Beaver crowd stopped the flare-up when both groups started swing- ing.

The game marked the end of the collegiate careers for three Laver- der regulars. Diott, Jack Chudnoff and Jerry Gold all graduate in June.

The Beaverettes were handed their third loss of the season Tues- day night at Manhattanville. They were defeated, 45 to 29, by Rider College, of Trenton, N. J.

Barbara Dette, co-captain of the team, was high scorer, tallying 17 points. Judy Levin chipped in with 10.

Coach Marguerite Wulfers' squad plays host to Adelphi College this Monday at 5:30 in Manhattan- ville. The girls will be looking for their sixth victory of the year. Admission is free and all students are invited.

Riflers Eye Queens; Lose to B'klyn Poly

The College's rifle team will seek its eighth victory of the year tomorrow, meeting Queens in the Stadium at 3:30.

Last Thursday, the Beavers were defeated by Brooklyn Poly Tech (Evening), 1370 to 1365.

Schloemer Cracks Record In Met Championship Trials

The College's swimming team qualified in eight of ten events at the Met Championship trials held last night at New York Univer- sity's Quigley Memorial Pool. Howie Schloemer came in first in two events.

Schloemer, the Beavers' great free-styler, won both events in which he competed. He swam the 220 yards free-style in 2:19, crack- ing his own record of 2:19.5 set last year, and did the 440 free-style in 5:03.8.

The Met Championships will be held tomorrow night, also at NYU. The Violets qualified the most men, eleven, and are favored to repeat their 1952 triumph.

Both Vic Fulladosa and Tony Sousa qualified in the 150 yard individual medley, the former finish- ing third in the 200 yard breast stroke, and the latter winning the 200 yard back stroke eliminations. Bob Kellogg also qualified in the breast stroke, while Norm Klein qualified in the back stroke.

In the relays, the Ridemen capture fourth in the 300 yard med- ley, and fifth in the 400 yard free- style. The 200 yard freshman re- lay team took first place with a clocking of 146.5. The winning Frosh team consisted of Jim Po- pino, Hank Kyhl, Ben Trasenk, and Steve Kesten.

Weightlifters . . .

Seven Eastern colleges will enter representatives in an in- tercollegiate weightlifting and physique contest, sponsored by the College's Bar Bell Club, to be held in the Tech Gym tomor- row night at 7:30. The meet will be held under AAU auspices. Entrants are from MIT, Spring- field, Maryland, Brooklyn, Hunt- er, Columbia, and the College.

The faculty advisor of the Beaver musclemen, who defeat- ed MIT, Springfield, and State Tech this season, is Joe Men- delis, well known for his ability to encourage the growth of vir- tility. Joe Incoronato is president of the club.

Fencers Score Initial Triumph

In a contest in which the out- come was not determined until the last touch of the final match, the College's fencing team came from behind last night to regis- ter its first victory of the season after six defeats, beating Yeshiva University 14-13 in the loser's gym.

With the Beavers trailing 13-12 and two matches to go, Laver- der epee men Murray Reich and Har- vey Miller came through with clutch performances, each winning 3-2. In the final match, with the score deadlocked, Miller defeated Yeshiva's Fred Klein to record his third win of the evening. Reich won two out of his three matches.

Other fine efforts were turned in by Aubrey Seeman, whose three straight triumphs paced the foil- men to a 5-4 edge over the Blue and White, and Dick Susco, who recorded three of the Beaver's four victories in the saber competition.

'Big Brother' Aids Chi Lambda's Gals

By Gerhart Hirsch

You'd think that when thirty-six young ladies get together for a private meeting each week, the last person in the world they'd want hanging around is a man. This however, is not the case with Chi Lambda, the College's co-ed service sorority, which picked for its faculty advisor Dean Alton Lewis (Student Life).

"The girls are very proud of their advisor," revealed Chi Lambda's corresponding secretary, Eileen Newman '55, who explained that "they feel it adds a certain air of distinction to the group which no other sorority has."

Likes the Work

As for the dean himself, his first comment when questioned about the job was an exuberant "I like it!"

He pointed out that his attendance record at meetings has been one-hundred percent. "I'm not one of those faculty advisors who never attends meetings," he declared.

According to Miss Newman, Dean Lewis has proven very useful to Chi Lambda, and not just in the matter of helping them plan their assorted projects, such as the Student Activities Fair which they put on last semester.

She recalled an incident which occurred some weeks ago when one of the maintenance men tried to evict the girls from their meeting place in Army Hall.

Saves Club's Meeting

"Our meetings are held on Wednesday night," said Miss Newman, "and this maintenance man wanted us out so that he could clean and lock up the room for the night."

Dean Lewis came to the rescue and convinced the man to allow the girls to conclude their meeting. "It was then that we decided it was nice to have a man around the house," stated Miss Newman.

Dean Lewis, who in the past has been advisor to all-male and mixed groups, finds no difference in handling the three types of organizations, but he admits that "the girls are more reserved in my presence than the other groups."

"Amazing variety and practical wisdom"

says DR. ANDREW W. BLACKWOOD
Temple University, Philadelphia, Penna.

"The Reader's Digest helps a busy man to understand life in these United States, in the United Nations, and even in Soviet lands. With amazing variety, and a world of practical wisdom, each monthly issue helps the reader to interpret life on earth today, with more than a few glimpses of tomorrow."

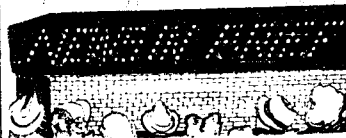

Each month, Reader's Digest editors comb through more publications than any one person could read in two years, and select whatever seems of outstanding interest.

Each article is carefully condensed to preserve both its content and flavor. The wide range of subjects stimulates new interests, encourages a further search for knowledge.

In a real way, Reader's Digest helps continue the education of millions of readers in America and all over the world.

College Lags Behind In Civilian Defense

A recent survey by THE CAMPUS concerning Civil Defense arrangements made at the four municipal colleges reveals that the College continues to lag behind the other schools.

The College compares favorably in shelter areas and intra-school communications with other schools, but falls behind on the matter of adequate medical supplies.

Prof. Jahrling

Hunter, Queens and Brooklyn Colleges have all acquired medical supplies through college funds which are kept for just such an emergency.

As yet, the College has been unable to follow suit. Dean Leslie Engler (Administration) agreed that the supplies are sadly lacking but added that the College cannot afford them at the present time.

The Committee on Civil Defense, headed by Prof. Robert Jahrling (Education), requested medical supplies from the City Office of Civil Defense but was informed that they would have to be appropriated by the College.

Dean Engler revealed that the matter has been discussed but that no final decision could be reached until the money was at hand. He did admit, however, that he has not made any attempt to place the request for these extra funds before the Board of Estimate. "The Fees, where there is already a only place where the money can come from is the Non-Instructional deficit," the dean explained.

Professor Jahrling also revealed that all outgoing and incoming telephone calls at the College will be suspended during air raid drills. The entire system will be used for intra-school communications. "In this way we can keep in touch with any part of the school as long as the lines are up." —Walt
