Basketball Season Opens Saturday

College's Five Tall and Strong

By Herb Sternfeld

That is probably the tallest and finest outfit in the annals of Hunter College basketball history will mark on its rugged, 1953-54 campaign this Saturday night at 8:30, when Coach Dave Polansky's Hunter quintet tangles with the Hunter College hoopsters in the annual Stein Fund Game. As expected, capacity gathering will see the College send on to the court at game-time a starting five averaging 6'3" and possessing no less than three men who tip the scales at 200 pounds or over. Leading this big, but fast movement will be Ronnie Kowalski, Beavers' 6'5", 215-pound centermen Merv Shorr, a 6'3 1/2", year-old junior from the Bronx, Herb Holstrom, a 6'2" senior, the other 200-pound starters. Backing up Coach Polansky's ever "football line" will be his deadly set-shot artist — Captain Jerry Domershick, and Jack McGuire. "a fine ball-handler and an excellent shot." Domershick, high scorer of last season's team, and McGuire, a 20-year old junior, are 6'2".

Domershick, who weighs 175 pounds, is the only hoopster in the college's history to ever captain the basketball team for three successive seasons.

Of the starting five, only Holstrom and McGuire, did not participate in the 25-point triumph over the Beavers scored over Hunter last season.

Bigger — ALLAGABOO — Better

Hunter Cagers Seen Improved

Although this will be a more experienced Hunter College squad than the one which absorbed a 77-52 setback to the Beavers in last year's Stein Fund Game, the Hunterites will still be plagued by a decided lack of height.

The tallest Hunter regulars are sophomore Bob Sach, a 6'3" pivotman, and Dick Scott, another 6'3" sophomore.

Joseph Top Scorer

The chief scoring threat of Coach Mike Fleischer's hoopsters is their diminutive co-captain, Larry Joseph. Joseph, who stands but 5'11", was the leading scorer of last year's Hunter squad. He is the possessor of a fine set-shot and a good, one-hand jump shot.

Marv Shulman is Hunter's other co-captain. Shulman, a 6'2", 160-pound junior, scores most of his points with a southpaw, one-handed, push shot.

James Lepante, a 5'9" sophomore, is Hunter's chief playmaker. Lepante is an excellent ball-handler and field general.

Lack Height

Randy Nugent, a two-year letterman, and Tony Russo, a six-foot sophomore, are scheduled to see plenty of action against the Beavers. Nugent stands 6' and weighs 195 pounds.

Ed Michael, a husky 6'3" sophomore, is Hunter's first reserve cager. He owns a good hook shot, and with the Beavers enjoying a big height advantage, he may be inserted into the starting line-up.

Dr. Cavallaro, Board Evaluate City Colleges

In a panel discussion over radio station WMCA Monday night, Dr. Joseph B. Cavallaro, Chairman of the Board of Higher Education, Dr. Ordway Tead, member of the former Board Chairman, discussed the attainments and shortcomings of the four municipal colleges.

One of the main problems the colleges face, Dr. Tead commented, is that of retaining able teachers. "We don't have a level of salaries which enables us to compete with other colleges," he said. Another discouraging factor is the requirement of fifteen hours of teaching a week, which is higher than that required by most colleges. However, Dr. Tead noted that "the quality of the faculty has improved and we now have many members on the professorial level."

With regard to the BHE's investigation into communist infiltration in the municipal colleges, Cavallaro remarked that there should be no "wholesale questioning of the faculty." He expressed confidence that the committee will uncover many Communists because of the screening that has been going on through the years. "I don't think that today we are going to find many people who are subversive."

The 70,000 students attending municipal colleges create quite a space problem, but, Dr. Cavallaro commented, considerable progress has been made in providing additional facilities. However, he termed the present situation "still unsatisfactory."

Corliss Lamont Charges Nominating Petitions 'Surrender to Probers' Due on December 4

Corliss Lamont criticized college administrators for cooperating with congressional committees that have no respect for the individual's constitutional rights in a speech last Thursday in 106 Harris sponsored by the Young Progressives of America.

"If you are a teacher, you've got to look out," said Mr. Lamont, "because people are watching you." He denounced guilt by association and declared that "even if a teacher is a Communist, he shouldn't be dismissed if he doesn't teach his doctrine in the classroom."

Mr. Lamont indicated that encroachment on civil rights has reached such a point that he would not be surprised if the Young Progressives of America were placed on the Attorney General's subversive list.

In discussing the Harry Dexter White case he called it "one of the most outrageous episodes in American history." Although he agreed with former president Harry Truman's speech on the White issue, Mr. Lamont blamed Mr. Truman for paving the way for McCarthyism through a "mild witch hunt" during his own administration which has led to the stringent persecutions of the current day.

Beer, Lollipops, Dance Among Day's Activity

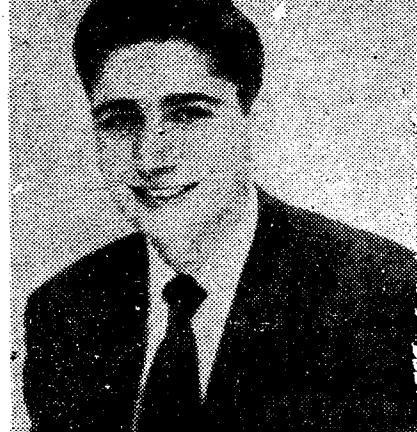

The Society of American Military Engineers is holding a beer party tonight at Werdermann's Hall, 160 Third Avenue. Admission is two dollars and all ROTC Engineers are invited.

A Thanksgiving "Turkey Trot" Dance sponsored by the Newman Club will be held at the Catholic Center, 469 West 142 St. Refreshments will be served.

Proceeds from the lollipops on sale today opposite Knittle Lounge will go to the Student Union Building Fund. Members of Sis Jaffe Temp House are selling all the 'pops for five cents.

All students interested in running for positions in Student Council and class offices should obtain nominating petitions in 20 Main, announced SC Pres. Gerry Smetana '55 yesterday.

Potential candidates must file petitions of student signatures by Friday, December 4 in order to be placed on the election ballots. The elections will take place late in December.

Gerry Smetana '55, who urged students to run for Council and class offices yesterday.

Fifty signatures are required to nominate a student for SC representative, class council representative or class officer. The students who sign his petition must be a member of the same class.

A minimum of 75 signatures is needed to nominate a student as a candidate for major Council offices. In addition, there are qualifications based on Council service and scholarship.

Urging students to consider running for office, Smetana stated, "Student government is as good as the students in it. It is vital that (Continued on Page 2)

'Beyond the Horizon'

By Fred Stockholder

Last weekend Theatre Workshop put on Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon." Mr. O'Neill, the audience and the cast were all sinners and were all much sinned against.

Mr. O'Neill's play, an early attempt at psychological drama, is the story of a sensitive New England youth who dooms himself to a spiritual and physical death. The boy sends his farmer brother on the round-the-world voyage he wanted to take so that he could marry the girl next door. It all ends unhappily. The boy dies with his wife hating him and his brother's successful life prodding him to die quickly. This is O'Neill at his worst. Rhetoric, psychology and corn mess-up what could have been something more than regional drama. Pure and simple, the choice of this play for a college group was a mistake.

Audiences often are neglected in drama reviews. This one deserves mention for its insensitive behavior. It tittered and laughed raucously in some of the most peculiar places. Not all the conversation around a deathbed is supposed to be considered humorous. The fact that people on both sides of the footlights have responsibilities was forgotten on this occasion.

Working against a bad play and a tough audience, the cast did well. George Greenfield, playing the sensitive youth, began slowly with an over-sensitive portrayal. As the play advanced, his conception of the character widened and his speech became eloquent. The best and most consistent characterization was done by Zara Anelian, who played the mother of the two boys with a command of gesture and movement rare in a young actress. Samuel Schact as the father was powerful in his delivery of parental anger, and Naomi Bergere made me hate the wife's mother very nicely. Poor characterization on the part of the author made it very difficult for Irwin Fenster as the brother, but he fought well.

In spite of these highpoints the play as a whole was choppy. The cast repeatedly stumbled over each other's parts.

To sum up the whole affair, it was a question of "not enough." Not enough play, not enough humanity on the part of the audience and not enough thought from the cast.

The following is a continued list of monies appropriated last week by the SFFC from a fund of approximately eleven thousand dollars.

Worming Their Way Through College

To park or not to park? That is the question which is proving to be a headache to many students and professors. Parking is now permitted on Convent Avenue, but nobody seems to want it.

Students darting out from behind cars parked along Convent Avenue face two dangers. They might either be hit by a moving car or be trampled by other students trying to worm their way through to the curb.

What to do at all is another problem. Parking is forbidden from 11 to 2 to allow for street cleaning. This means that students and professors have to dash out, drive their cars to a free parking area (if they can find one), walk back to the College and get to classes on time. To accomplish all this in the ten-minute break between classes, the driver has to rush. Rushing leads to speeding and this results in added traffic hazards for pedestrians to face.

Drivers who violate the ruling and leave their cars illegally parked are liable to find that the cars have been taken to the city's car pound. At least fourteen cars have already been towed away.

Somebody has convinced the New York Traffic Department that it made a mistake in allowing parking on Convent Avenue and, according to Dean Leslie Engler (Administration), steps are being taken to eliminate it.

the best students are nominated order that the best students may be elected."

Smetana declared that "real leaders" are needed and not "political hacks." He named getting student dormitories, reducing transit fare, furnishing the Student Union building and establishing a College radio station as some of the goals of next term's Council.

A heated race for the SC presidency seems likely, with six candidates contemplating running. They are Allen Bard '55, Ira Klotz '55, Philip Lotter '55, Manny Harter '54, Harry Pollak '54 and Gen Smetana.

Expected to vie for the SC vice presidency are Larry Corkin '55, Harold Jones '55, Samuel Land '55, Paul Sevransky '55 and Arthur Pittman '56. Seymour Copperman '56, Kevin Lockman '55 and Harry Stern '54 are expected to run for SC treasurer. So far, Martin Goldberg '56 is the lone candidate for the race for SC secretary.

Several points on Council agenda tonight pertain to the elections. Possible referenda to be placed on the ballots will be discussed. Elections committee chairman Ernie Weber '55 said that Council will probably select December 18 as the date for the elections. Council will select five nominees for the College Human Relations Award, who will be placed on the ballots.

FINANCIAL REPORT ISSUED

In a report issued earlier this week, Dr. Cavallaro revealed that the municipal colleges spent 25 million dollars during the fiscal year ending last June 30. Of this amount, seventy-six per cent went for instruction, eleven per cent for operation of buildings and less than nine per cent for administration and general expenses. The expansion program, planned for the next few years, which includes Manhattanville, will involve some thirty million dollars.

The total receipts were thirty-two million dollars. Of this, sixty percent came from the city, twenty percent from the state and two percent from the Federal Government. Although the contribution from the state has increased greatly in the past thirteen years, Dr. Cavallaro feels that the municipal colleges' main hope for continued progress is in additional funds from the state. He said, "In the next ten or fifteen years we have got to persuade the state that we should be a part of the New York State University in order to provide for a strengthening of our schools."

Who Pays The College's Bill

The city, state and federal governments, as well as students, help the College meet its annual operating expenses. The New York City government is paying 75% of this year's 7,500,000 dollar budget. The State contributes 16%, the federal government 7% and students contribute 7% in the form of non-instructional fees. In his annual report Dr. Cavallaro stated that additional funds from New York State are needed if the municipal colleges are to continue in their educational progress.

Elections

Student Council is what you make it. It can be a vibrant representative body, commanding the respect of students and faculty members alike, or it can be a meeting place for "petty politicians." The choice is up to you. Any student can run for SC rep—or for any of the class offices: president, vice-president, treasurer, secretary. In past elections many persons have been unopposed for SC or class council posts. Other positions presented the choice of "the evil of two evils."

Make this term's election truly representative. Run for SC or class office. Five days—until next Friday—provide ample time to get fifty signatures on a nominating petition.

Sports Weekend

This holiday weekend marks the beginning of the season for one sport and the season's end for another. Friday afternoon the College's soccer team meets Queens College in a "off game" that will decide the Metropolitan Conference championship. The contest will be held at the Brooklyn College field. This will be the culmination of the efforts of the booters, who have fought back in the face of serious injury to deadlock the Knights for the championship.

On Saturday night, the 1953-54 Beaver basketball team meets Hunter College in the Main Gym with proceeds going to Stein Fund. This fund provides financial assistance for athletes injured while competing for the College.

Already this season, the Fund has been called upon to soothe soccer stars Johnny Koutsantanou and Bill Saites: both suffered broken bones while playing against Kings Point. During the past few weeks attendance has been fair at soccer games. Let's really get behind the basketball team.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

AN OPEN LETTER: CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR FACULTY

I would like at this time to extend our heartfelt thanks to each and everyone of the members of the faculty. Your interest, your enthusiasm, and your support of the Student Union Ball this past Friday night was something that gave a warm feeling to each of the students present. This, however, should not surprise us, as this was typical of your usual attitude and has come to be what we expect of you. Out of the five of you in your ranks, one, yes one of you, had the interest and the initiative to attend this important meeting that this is your college just as much as it is ours and that it is in a large part up to you to make it something of which we can all be proud. There are some of you who may say that the students themselves show no interest and are indifferent to the College. But how can we expect enthusiasm from a student whose first impressions and future outlook are to a large extent shaped by the attitude they see in you.

We speak for the student body as a whole in saying that we are ashamed of you, deeply ashamed of each and everyone of you. You must accept this mutely, for there is no reply; without anger, for you are not justified. And perhaps just a few of you will accept this as it was meant, as a plea for actions that will let us know, and become a small part of you, as we would so much like to be.

'Will Regain China' Says UN Delegate

By Barbara Widom

"The Communist Government of China is only temporary," said Dr. Tingu F. Tsiang, in a speech last Thursday. The chairman of the Chinese delegation to the United Nations asserted that the Nationalists not only hope to be able to recapture the Chinese mainland, but expect that "the now disillusioned Chinese will rally to their support." He stated also that if the United States had aided China as it did Western Europe after World War II, China might not be a Russian satellite.

Yalta Agreements Unjust

Dr. Tsiang said the Russian aid at the beginning of World War II superseded the aid of the United States. He called the Yalta Agreements unjust, and said they were made without the consent of the Chinese people.

After the half hour speech, the discussion was thrown open to the students. Dr. Tsiang was called upon to defend his position as spokesman for the Chinese in the United Nations, when actually the Nationalists no longer have any control over the mainland.

Legally Elected Government

"We are the legally elected government of China," he declared. "Soon we hope that we shall be able to return to the Chinese the government of their choice. We do not ask either military or monetary aid from the United Nations. However we do ask that they do not provide obstacles in the way of our goal by recognizing the Red Government of the mainland."

Dr. Tsiang stated, "a war to recapture the mainland would be between Chinese and Chinese and it would not launch a full scale war."

Soccer Playoff Game On Friday

Contest With Queens Listed For Brooklyn College Field

By Aaron Schindler

Two teams with a single objective will take to the neutral Brooklyn College Field this Friday at 1, when the Beavers and the Queens College Knights play to decide the championship of the Metropolitan Soccer Conference.

Both squads won their final regular season contests last Saturday, the Lavender blanking non-conference Stevens Tech, 3-0, and the Queensmen edging celler-dwelling Pratt, 2-1. The Knights victory brought their league record to four and one, thus necessitating the playoff with the Beavers. Queens' overall mark is an impressive 9-1-1, as opposed to the College's record of six and two.

The indication is that the Beavers, who administered the Knights lone setback, 1-0, last month, will be at full strength for the first time since mid-October. Bill Saites, who injured his wrist in the second game of the season, will be ready. Saites returned to action in the fourth quarter of Saturday's encounter, and played a full eighteen minutes despite a still heavily taped wrist.

Travel Directions

To get to Brooklyn College by train take the Seventh Avenue IRT to Flatbush Ave. If you live in Brooklyn, take the Nostrand Avenue Bus to Flatbush Avenue or the Flatbush Avenue bus to Avenue H.

There is a strong possibility that Johnny Koutsantonou, the booters' outstanding scorer, out of action since October 17 with a fractured collarbone, will be used against Queens, although Coach George Wolfe will have to wait until gametime to be sure Koutsy is ready.

In the Steven's game, Coach Wolfe cleared his bench, playing the entire seventeen man squad, eleven of whom will be participating in their final game this Friday. These include co-captains Tommy Holm and Lucien Daouphars, Hal "Punchy" Friedland, Saites, Mike Yessis, Madegbuna Unobagha, Okagbue Anyaegbunam, Eric Lee, Al Winter, Bryan Cockshutt, and Phil Lotter. It was Lotter's goal, the only one of his career, which beat Queens.

The performance of Queens throughout the season has mystified most observers. A team with apparently little offensive punch, the Knights have possessed the top defensive unit in the Met Conference. Goalie Ira Birnbaum and backs Jack Nugent and George Wilund have sparked the Queens defense.

Harriers Close Campaign Losing to Rutgers 21-36

The time seemed ripe for a Beaver victory last Saturday at Van Cortlandt Park. Pres. Buell G. Gallagher, a former track man himself, was on hand to witness the proceedings. The President's last appearance at a track meet was at last season's N.Y.U. meet in which the Lavender defeated the Violets for the first time in 26 years.

The Beavers' opponents were the harriers from Rutgers University, another team which the Lavender had never beaten. However, these factors failed to affect the Rutgers team as they handed the Lavender a 21-36 defeat.

Both teams performed considerably below expectations and there was no need for Bob Serko to "Die for dear old Rutgers" as he won easily in 26:58. Following him were teammates Bob Wear and John Dawson.

Running below their average time, Tom O'Brien, 28:35, Gene Forsythe 28:48, and Paul Pavlides 28:57 gained the fourth, fifth and sixth positions.

Tom O'Brien

The last Beaver hope for victory was crushed as the Rutgers runners took the deciding seventh and eighth positions.

It was a sad finale for both O'Brien and Pavlides who were running in their last cross country meet.

It was a bitter disappointment for the Lavender who had been pointing for this race. The defeat gave the Beavers a final record of four victories and three defeats.

Jack McGuire Looking Ahead To Queens Title

By Nelsen Stein

When Jack McGuire of the varsity basketball team takes court against Queens College Dec. 9, he will be trying his best to defeat the team which he led in scoring last year.

This unusual situation is due to the fact that the other municipal colleges only offer a two year course, thus requiring an engineering major to come here after sophomore year. Because of the NCAA rule prohibiting a man from playing for two colleges during the same season, McGuire, who entered the College in January, was forced to wait until this term before joining the hoopsters.

"I just can't wait" was Jack's reply when asked how he felt about facing his old teammate. Even though Bob Salmons, co-captain of the Queens five, greatly admired McGuire's defensive game, he isn't going to mind using his newly acquired skill to try to defeat the Knights.

The slim 6'2" forward averaged fifteen points a game for Queens last year, but never faced the Beavers because the series lapsed temporarily. Coach Dave Polansky has already named McGuire to start against Hunter College the opener on Nov. 28.

Jack, who sports a crew cut, was unable to play any high school basketball because of the coaches' strict

BOXING PREVIEW

Boxing coach Yustin Sirutis is currently preparing his charges for their opening encounter against the U. S. Military Academy at West Point on Jan. 9.

The Lavender boxers will depend mainly on three returnees from last year's squad, Arnold Slomowitz 178 lbs. Richard Evans 125 lbs. and William Stein 155 lbs. Slomowitz was the only American to win a boxing title at the Maccabiah games in Israel last summer.

Lack Heavyweights

The team will sorely miss Frank Quinlan, its heavyweight, who was inducted into the army last term. This is the only division in which Coach Sirutis feels his squad is lacking.

Schedule Tough

The boxers will make the longest trip of any varsity team when they journey to Washington D. C. to meet Catholic University in February. Discussing the schedule which also includes Syracuse and Howard Universities, Coach Sirutis said that "we haven't got an easy match among them." Syracuse has one of the best teams in the country. Last year was the first time that the Beavers had ever defeated Catholic-U.

Donald Gabay, 139 lb; Norm Levitan, 165 lb; Jerome Strizer, 125 lb. three newcomers, are also being counted on to bolster out the team.

In the Spotlight

Starting his second season as head hoop coach, Dave Polansky will attempt to continue the basketball rebuilding program here at the College, a program he began so successfully last year, when he guided the Beavers to a 10-6 record.

A basketball and track star in his undergraduate days, Polansky played under coach Nat Holman for two seasons. He also won the class of 1913 prize, given annually to the college's most outstanding athlete. In track, he won national renown, capturing the Metropolitan AAU half-mile title in 1941 and the National Junior AAU crown the following year.

After his discharge from the Air Corps, he returned to the College's Hygiene department where he taught, and coached the basketball team at the School of Business. Last season—he took over the reigns of the varsity and thus became the fourth coach in the forty-nine year court-history of the school.—B.W.
