Prof. Comment on Gallagher's Jenner Speech

By Walter Rothstein

Sharp and varied opinions were expressed by some members of the faculty on President Gallagher's speech of October 7, in which he criticized the "democratic procedures" of the Subcommittee on Internal Security, headed by Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.).

The address was made before 100 members of the United Church women in Atlantic City.

A moderate critic of Dr. Gallagher's statement was Prof. Y. H. Mikorian (Philosophy) who asserted that unfortunately "all of our investigating committees based on a witness' use of the fifth amendment." He added that the "house of cleaning" would be better by a faculty Committee, judging each case separately. "I did not see why Dr. Gallagher gets so enthusiastic over Jenner."

Most outspoken of Pres. Gallagher's critics was Prof. Ephraim Moss (Romance Languages) who on reading the speech expostulated, "Baioney." He further stated that "he's only doing an awkward dancing act between the two extremes. The only thing these investigations do is drive out the really fine men and leave the 'safe' ops." He also commented that despite all of Congress' gestures, it is not really touching the College. "They're letting local authorities make petty heroes of themselves."

Mr. Norman Rosenber (Government) expressed no opinion of the Inner Committee, other than that "supposed it's better since it's in the news." However he asserted that the best defense against Communist indoctrination

The Seniors Have Their Day, But:

A Bold New Program Fails

Striking with awesome speed at 9 yesterday, a clique of high official Seniors effected a bloodless coup, and took complete control of the administration of the College within fifteen minutes. Harry Pollak, leader of the Senior Day Insurrection, succeeded to the presidency after banishing Dr. Buell G. Gallagher to cruel exile in 289 Main.

Immediately upon assuming office, the new president issued a series of sweeping declarations designed to return the "ultimate in collegiatism" to the campus scene.

Six Point Plan

The salient points in the president's program included:

- A fire drill.
- Accumulation of hot air during the summer, to be put to use in wintertime, thereby saving the huge cost of fuel. (The volume of hot air produced within the College during the semester is to be stored and exported to the Arctic and net the administration a neat profit.)
- A fifty cent fee to be levied upon every student to finance President Pollak's educational tour.

Approval Given To Club Senate Reorganization

By Francine Marcus

The Club Senate plan of representation to Student Council was approved Tuesday by the Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, although it will not go into effect until reps from the Club Senate are chosen at the first meeting of the group tomorrow.

Student Council met yesterday under the interim system suggested by the SFCSA last week, with only six reps from each class, one from House Plan and one from the Tech Interfraternity Intersociety Council being seated.

One delegate for every seventy-five members of each registered club at the College will meet on Friday, October 23, in 200 Main to elect four reps and four alternates to SC. The president of the club must be one of the delegates.

Of the four reps chosen, only one may be from a Tech fraternity or society, one from a frat, athletic, service or honorary society or social and hobby club, one from a religious organization, and one from House Plan. Gerry Smetana '55 president of SC, explained that these five categories were set up for only four positions "to get the most able and interested people on SC. We want them to feel they each represent all the clubs, and not any individual group," he stated.

Besides the Senate reps, there will be four reps from each class, two elected each term for a year, and the four SC officers, bringing Council's voting membership to twenty-four.

The non-voting members will be one rep each from The Campus and the Observation Post, the president of each class, the chairman of the National Students Association and a rep from the Athletic Association.

Under the plan, half of Council will rotate each term—eight class reps and the four Senate reps. "Usually it takes a month for a new rep to get settled, and then in two months it's election time and everything is up in the air again," Smetana affirmed. "This way, we'll have at least 12 members who are familiar with the intricacies of Council."

Election Cards Due Fri.; Prompt Filing Is Urged

Mr. Robert Taylor (Registrar) announced that all Election Cards must be filed in the office of the Registrar, 115 Main, not later than Friday, Oct. 16.

Students failing to meet tomorrow's deadline will be penalized when their registration for next term's classes is delayed. Mr. Taylor urges those who have not yet submitted their cards to do so today.

Employee's Knee Broken By Student; Offer Reward

By Phyllis Prager

A ten dollar reward is being offered for the "positive identification" of the student who knocked down an aged registration employee on Wednesday, September 23.

The victim, Miss Sara Dempsey, secretary to the registrar, suffered a broken knee-cap, and is recuperating at nearby Knickerbocker Hospital. The reward is being offered by Mr. Peter Prehn, also an employee in the registrar's office. "If I could," said Mr. Prehn, "I would offer a thousand dollars, instead of just ten. It wouldn't have been so bad if he had stopped to pick her up after the accident, but he just kept going."

According to Mr. Prehn, Miss Dempsey arrived for work about 9:15 that morning and went to pick up the mail.

"She had just about reached George Washington's statue when some clumsy galoot came running into her."

Miss Dempsey fell, hitting her knee on the floor. The student, apparently in a hurry to register, walked away quickly, muttering something about his "big feet."

In order for anyone to claim the reward, the student must be brought to Mr. Prehn in the registrar's office.

Halley to Address Young Liberals Today; Candidate Will Appear in 306 Main

Rudolph Halley, Liberal Party candidate for mayor, seen here teaching a class in Government last year, will speak today in 306 Main sponsored by The Young Liberals.

City Council Pres. Rudolph Halley, Liberal Party candidate for Mayor, will speak today at 12:30 in 306 Main.

Mr. Halley's talk, sponsored by the Young Liberals, will deal with the candidate's program for the city colleges and the general issues of the mayoralty campaign.

Paul Sevransky '55 announced that Dean James Peace (Student Life) will introduce the candidate. Prior to the talk, interested students may make application for work at the Halley campaign headquarters.

WAGNER HERE NEXT WEEK

It was also announced yesterday that Manhattan Borough Pres. Robert Wagner, Democratic candidate for mayor, will appear at the college next Thursday. Mr. Wagner will speak in the Townsend Harris auditorium at 12:30.

Tickets to Truman's Alumni Talk Placed on Sale for Student Body

A minimum of one hundred seats for the annual alumni dinner, at which former president Harry S. Truman will be the main speaker, are now available to students at the College.

Tickets for the affair, to be held November 10 at the Hotel Commodore, are $1.50 per person and may be purchased by mail or in person. Checks should be made payable to the Alumni Association, 280 Convent Ave., New York City 31. Tickets will also be valid for the dance scheduled to follow the dinner but do not include the dinner.

Mr. Howard Kieval '38, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, stated that tickets will be distributed strictly on a "first-come, first-served" basis.

Third of a Series:

Mr. Harold Riegelman...

By Sheldon Pedolsky

Mr. Harold Riegelman, Republican candidate for mayor, while showing general unfamiliarity with the problems of the College, went on record yesterday as opposed to any interference by the city into policies of the Board of Education and the Board of Higher Education.

He asked for further clarification on each of the six questions asked him pertaining to the College and asked further time for study on most. He refused to commit himself on any question other than the problem of allowing Communists to teach in the city school systems.

Exclude Communists

"I believe strongly in academic freedom," Mr. Riegelman stated. "The concept of such freedom rests on intellectual honesty and integrity. Communists therefore face outside applications of the principles of academic freedom. They should not be tolerated in city schools and colleges," he affirmed.

"What is the Cavallaro Committee?" he asked after a reporter introduced the question. After an explanation, he decried "the power the city has used for years to interfere with education."

Lower Student Fare

Mr. Riegelman had not considered lowering the fare for collegians. "It's up to the Transit Authority," he said. "But what's good for high school students hold for college students as well."

He expressed disapproval of the manner in which the Transit Authority was established. "Governor Dewey did not accept my plan," he emphasized. "I was for the establishment of a Transit Authority for one year until such time as a reasonable fare could be decided on. I think we should be able to make the fare two rides of Afghanistan.

A tougher registration procedure, which the president feels is needed to stimulate the intelligence and ingenuity of students.

Aptitude and intelligent tests to be given all members of the faculty by Mr. Howard Brown (Dean, Student Life), who will then evaluate the scores and offer vocational guidance.

Doubling of facilities costs and halving of the maintenance crew's salaries.

Commenting on this last recommendation, the president declared, "The money gained by this procedure will make it possible to beautify the campus by erecting two solid gold statues to the memory of Milt Luchan and Arthur Selikoff."

Fire Drill Fails

As the day progressed, it became apparent that the new administration was to be stymied on the first point in its program, for the only person in the College with the power to sound the fire drill alarm bells was the deposed former head of Buildings and Grounds, Mr. Robert Petross, who was replaced by Larry Gorkin.

When informed that the project would have to be scrapped, the president managed a dispirited, "Aw, fiddlesticks."

By four in the afternoon, the strain upon new government became too great and, somewhat fully, the reins of power were for twenty-five cents," he declared. While the candidate was uncertain as to whether the College was getting enough money, he said that "if the need were great, I would see to it that the school got more funds."

Chamber Music Concert Today

Chamber music recitals are now being presented every Thursday at 12:15 in 310 Harris.

The concerts are given in a rather informal manner with the listeners peering over the shoulders of the performers in order to follow the music. Last week a piano was added to the group in a performance of a Schumann piano quintet.

The October 22 concert will be held in the Great Hall. Mr. Hector Zeoli will give an organ recital.

Beginning November 5, the concerts will be shifted to Townsend Harris Auditorium. Several of the performances will feature choral works and solo vocalists.

On December 19 at 8:30, Professor Fritz Jahoda (Music) will conduct the College orchestra and chorus in a concert which will include a composition by Roger Verdesi '54. The price of admission will be 75 cents.

With the formation of a string quartet made up entirely of members of the Music department faculty, the College has entered the field of "longhaired music."

According to Professor Mark Brunswick (Chairman, Music), "This makes Queens College and ourselves the only schools in the metropolitan area that have a string quartet made up entirely of members in residence. This is the first time it has happened, and we feel happy because it gives the College a little extra polish—if you know what I mean."

The quartet is composed of Prof. Jack Shapiro, first violinist; Miss Lucile Wolff, second violinist; Mr. Melvin Berger, violist, and Prof. Otto Deri, cellist.

Brand-new national survey

shows college students prefer Luckies

Last year a survey was made in leading colleges throughout the country which showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette. This year another nation-wide survey was made—a representative survey of all students in regular colleges coast to coast. Based on thousands of actual student interviews—this survey shows that, as last year, Luckies lead again—lead over all other brands, regular or king-size—and by a wide margin! The reason: Luckies taste better.

SFCSA

SFCSA's approval of the Club Senate referendum ends two weeks of confusion and distortion concerning the role of both students and faculty in student affairs.

Under the College's by-laws SFCSA's action in ruling on the structure of Student Council was neither rash nor radical, despite the fact that certain factions would have us believe otherwise. SFCSA is empowered to deal with student affairs and action on the SC amendment was within the province of the student-faculty committee.

We must recognize SFCSA's powers and duties whether we approve or disapprove. We believe that students should assume responsibility for their own affairs. We also believe that the faculty should continue to exercise a sobering influence on what may sometimes be an overzealous student body.

One Less Allagaroo?

The time honored basketball rivalry between the College and New York University may be terminated at any moment. The reason is simple. Despite the fact that Beaver teams have visited the Violets for the last two years, the Hall Famers' authorities have so far refused to permit their squad to come to the College this season, presumably because the small court in the Main Gym.

We feel that it is time for the Violets to come and that a compromise should be made. If NYU maintains its present attitude, then the game must be cancelled.

Senior Day

Yesterday's Senior Class day is over. Senior Class President Harry Pollak is once again an "official" student, with the memory of the day he replaced President Galther. The faculty and students have left opposite sides of a basketball court to face opposite sides of a classroom. The College is back to normal.

But the Senior Class, under the guiding hand of its new president, is still planning events to fill out the remainder of the senior year. A prom is scheduled for December. Teas, dances, hay rides—are but a few of the socials the class will have. Perhaps the Class of '54 has not had the advantage of watching former efficient senior classes in action but it is setting a pretty good example for other senior classes to follow.

Community Service Dept. Helps to Curb Kid Gangs

A summer program, designed to enable neighborhood children to make use of the College's recreational facilities and to give them an opportunity to establish a satisfying relationship with an adult, while at the same time decreasing the amount of vandalism at the College, has proven highly successful.

The project went into operation in late June when members of the Social Research Laboratory and the Community Service, Division made contact with the children as they approached the College grounds.

Staff members approached the youngsters and asked whether their entertainment interests might be met by College facilities, such as the Jasper Oval playground. They responded hesitantly to the suggestion since they felt that the Oval was meant for the use of older children.

A play area was set up in Jasper Oval in which games were played and story-telling and gab sessions were held.

It was discovered that the children regard the College grounds as a vacation area in which they might relax and enjoy themselves.

is to strengthen our own political and moral position. He said that indoctrination is defensible if it does not distort a course's subject matter.

Representative of those who endorse Pres. Gallagher's view is Prof. Oscar Buckvar (Government) who took the position that the power to investigate is a necessary part of the democratic procedure; committees must not infringe on democratic rights; Jenner, on the whole, has been responsible; but that, ideally education should police itself, though heretofore it has been capable of such.

"Bargain in the Basement"

If the Army Hall Men's Shop were located in any place other than the basement of Army Hall, Manufacturers such as McGregor, Manhattan, Van Heusen and others would not permit the store to sell its merchandise.

This shocking rebuttal to "free enterprise" is so because the student mark-down on these items would cause business chaos in ordinary competition.

The Men's Shop needs all the business the students can bring to it. In return, the shop's prices are scaled to a student's purse... but most important, nationally advertised name brand merchandise is stocked to keep our students on the style and dress level of the "Dough to Know" schools such as Columbia, NYU, Manhattan etc.

Because the Mens Shop needs this volume business, the necessary space to "show the goods" has been prepared. You can come down, browse around without the eager, hot breath of a super salesman on your neck, and if you see something you like, such as a British Tweed Jacket, a suede outer jacket, slacks, shirts, socks or even cuff links, there's a pretty square fellow down there who would give you the shirt off his back if he didn't have it promised away to one of the pros.

The biggest problem the store faces, believe it or not, is the fact that the students are not aware of the low prices... Oh, the smart shoppers, the "fancy duds" boys and even the hep girls take advantage of the low score but the student body as a whole still has to discover what the word "bargain" means in terms of their own basement.

We're not the betting type, but we'll lay a dozen ties to a rusty zipper that once you see the Men's Shop, and compare the prices, you'll be carting the whole family down to the Alma Mater to get in on the good deal.

So the next time you feel like cutting, don't make it a total loss. Drop in at the Army Hall Men's Shop and you'll find out what Dad means when he talks about the prices in "the good ol' days."

Booters to Open Conf. Play

Oppose Powerful Kings Point; Victor Likely League Champion

By Shelly Podolsky

Two mighty titans of the Metropolitan Collegiate Soccer Conference will clash Saturday when the College's booters journey to Kings Point, Long Island, to meet the Merchant Marine Academy.

It's only the conference opener for the Beavers, but the title could very well be decided right then and there. Pre-season dope labeled the Beavers the team to beat and Kings Point the most likely to do it.

With Brooklyn College out of the contender class for the first time in the last five years, Kings Point has captured that enviable spot. According to Coach Joseph Feld, the Mariners are loaded.

"We have plenty of veterans," reported the coach, "and they play very well together. We'll score more than our share of goals and the defense should hold the opposition at bay."

Feld is relying on two vets, Frank Shaughnessy and Eric Heeley, to spark his attack. Both impressed in the season's opener against the Newark Engineers. Shaughnessy poured in three goals in the 7 to 1 victory and Heeley's adroit passing helped set them up.

Goalie Richard Steubben is the Mariner hope to stop the Lavender's goalward marches. The Mariner defense was good enough to hold the Engineers to one goal, that being scored off second stringers, and shut out Pratt 1 to 0 Saturday.

Kings Point had the Beavers' opener against Brandeis scouted on the same day. The scout undoubtedly came back with a glowing report of the Beavers as a whole and All-American Johnny Koutsantanou in particular. In the process of racking up a 6 to 2 victory over Brandeis, Kouty deposited half the goals.

Gus Naclerio, who was feared lost for the campaign, also showed to advantage. The little Italian produced an unassisted marker in the second period and came through on an assist by Tommy Holm in the third quarter.

Grappler Hurt

The Beaver grapplers will meet the 92 Street YMCA in a pre-season match tomorrow night at 8 in the Tech Gym. The team will be without the services of Sid Schlanger, its 123 pound mainstay who suffered a broken rib in practice last Friday. The injury will end his Collegiate career.

Forsythe Sparkles As Harriers Cop Opener

By Bill Wanek

The Beaver harriers couldn't have used a better script writer if Horatio Alger himself had volunteered to pen the doings at Van Cortlandt Park last Saturday. For one Gene Forsythe, rose from the ranks of team manager to star, winning individual honors in the time of 25:21.5.

Forsythe, who catapulted himself into one of the top berths on the squad, surprised all as he passed Tommy O'Brien in the stretch to become the first Lavender runner to break the tape since the reign of Lou Cascino began back in 1951.

Distance Hampers O'Brien

Captain O'Brien, the pre-race favorite, conceivably might have done better had the meet been run over the usual five mile course, but the reduction of a mile seemed to upset the long-striding Irishman.

Although the opposition, in Upsala, was not by any means first class, the victory was meaningful and showed the Beavers to be better off than they were three weeks ago at the beginning of training.

Brogan Third Beaver

With the showing of Forsythe and O'Brien, the Beavers captured seven out of the first ten places. Joe Brogan, a sophomore, who also didn't figure in the pre-meet ratings, placed sixth with a time of 27:00. He was followed by Bob Armstrong, a quarter miler in the outdoor season, who figures to do better, and Dave Nourok who was clocked in 27:30.

Pavrides Shows Well

Paul Pavrides, running his first cross country race of his college career, tired noticeably near the finish but still managed to scamper home in 27:57. The running of Pounding Paul was also one of the happier notes of a very enjoyable autumn afternoon for Harold Anson Bruce and the sturdy sons of City College.

Hoopsters May Drop NYU In Battle Over Game Site

Unless New York University agrees to play the College's basketball team in the Main Gym and not on the Violets' home court, basketball relations between the Beavers and the University Heights hoopsters may be terminated this season.

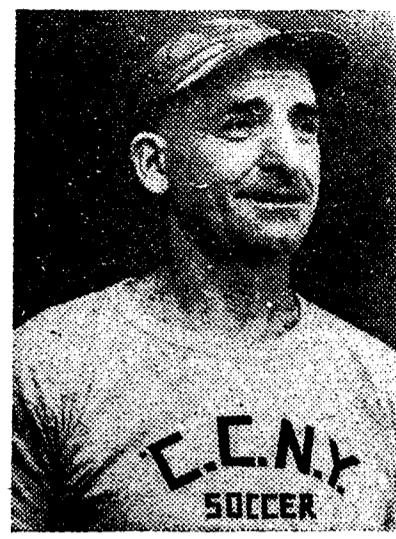

The College's General Faculty Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics is scheduled to meet this afternoon to discuss the NYU muddle.

In all probability, it will be decided to have Dr. Arthur Des-Gray, Faculty Manager of Athletics, send a letter to NYU, asking them to reconsider the situation and to play the College here.

For the past two seasons, the Beavers have journeyed up to NYU to encounter the Violets. This season, it was assumed that the Lavender would play host to the Violets in the Main Gym. As of now, however, NYU has steadfastly refused to meet the Beavers here.

Last Thursday the College's Student Faculty Athletic Committee agreed that the tilt with NYU should be played right here and definitely not at NYU.

In the Spotlight

Coach George "Red" Wolfe

A busy man this fall will be George "Red" Wolfe, who doubles as Beaver soccer and frosh basketball coach. An astute student of basketball from a way back in the "peach basket" days of the game, George played pro ball after graduation from NYU where he received his Masters in 1934.

During World War II, Wolfe was head man of the Blackbirds of Long Island University, replacing Clair Bee who was serving in the Navy.

Although this is his first crack at coaching the game of soccer, he played the sport at DeWitt Clinton High and at NYU.
