Holman Appeal Awaits Release of Transcript

Appeal action by Prof. Nat Holman, dismissed by the Board of Higher Education for conduct unbecoming a teacher and neglect of duty, is being held up pending the release of the stenographic transcript of last week's Board meeting which the dismissal action was instituted.

James V. Hayes, lawyer for Professor Holman said that he has not yet received the transcript and that until he receives it he will not decide whether to appeal to State Commissioner of Education Dr. Lewis Wilson, or whether to take his appeal to the State Supreme Court.

A Fair Trial

Last week, Mr. Joseph Schlossberg, a member of the BHE, said he believed Professor Holman deserved a fair trial. Mr. Schlossberg revealed that he and Gustave Rosenberg, chairman of the BHE Trial Committee, were the only Board members to vote in favor of accepting the majority report of that committee which exonerated the former basketball coach.

Commenting on the possibility of an appeal, Mr. Schlossberg said that Commissioner Wilson probably is interested primarily in whether or not Holman is a fair trial. "I voted as my conscience dictated," he said, "and the other members of the committee probably did the same."

Could Be Reinstated

It was a surprising surprise at the reversal of its own committee. Mr. Schlossberg said that Commissioner Wilson could reinstate Holman's reinstatement if the appeal was won.

He stated the belief that most of the Board members had dejected they would vote before the meeting. The minutes of the Trial Committee meetings were available to the members weeks before the special meeting and all of us had ample time to study them," he said.

Friday, the New York Times-Telegram and Sun said

Plan Academic Freedom Rally

The week of April 6 to 12 has been designated as "Academic Freedom Week" at the College. The program, endorsed by the National Students Association, will be held on a national level for the first time in order to "generate student enthusiasm and participation in a unified demand for freedom of learning and as a protest against encroachments upon it."

Larry Gorkin '54, Student Council rep and one of the College's delegates to the Inter-Collegiate Committee on Academic Freedom, announced plans for a school-wide rally to be held in the Great Hall on Thursday, April 8. Efforts are being made to secure a noted speaker to talk on academic freedom.

The Inter-Collegiate Committee, which is sponsoring a pre-Academic Freedom Week planning conference, is composed of elected representatives from NYU, Union Theological Seminary, New York School of Social Work and Bard College as well as the College.

Adjourn Meetings Temporarily Say Three SFCSA Members

Three members of the Student Faculty Committee on Student Affairs have stated that they favor postponement of further meetings of the committee until Pres. Buell Gallagher takes action on two conflicting reports which he is now considering.

Dean James S. Peace (Student Life) stated yesterday that "no useful purpose would be served if the SFCSA should meet during the current feelings of animosity and antagonism generated by the conflict over the Presidential Committee Report and the report of the General Faculty Committee on Student Affairs."

Presidential Report

The Presidential Report calls for the modification of the SFCSA into an appeals body and the extension of the powers of Student Council. The report of SFCSA, in effect rejects these proposals.

Last week, a proposal by Harry Pollak '54 to limit the powers of SFCSA was presented to that committee, which voted to table consideration of it "in order not to exert undue influence on President Gallagher."

Favors Postponement

Dean James S. Peace

Dr. Kurt Lowe (Geology) agreed with Dean Peace. "Postponing the meeting sounds like a good idea to me. It would be silly for the committee, upon whose existence President Gallagher has to decide, to take action itself on this very matter before the president does. Nothing anyone could do now would have any effect until he acts."

Pollak believes that postponing the meetings "would make it imperative for President Gallagher to act on the reports soon. This would underline the urgency for presidential action," he stated.

"No Antagonism"

Pollak said that he himself had voted to table his proposal. "I realized it wouldn't be passed at that time and I wanted to show that I was willing to listen to reason and wait until the president acts," he said.

SC President Manny Halper '54, also a member of the SFCSA, disagreed with Dean Peace's suggestion. "I see no period of antagonism now, and if SFCSA were to stop its meetings, it would be an admission that the students and faculty cannot work together. SFCSA has many things to do, and I think it would be foolish to postpone its meetings. Several clubs have applied for charters and cannot get them without SFCSA's approval."

Students and Faculty Mourn Death of Professor Edwards

The death of Senior Prof. George W. Edwards (Economics) last Thursday evening has been keenly felt both by his associates on the faculty and by his former students.

Dr. Edwards, who died of heart failure after a long illness, was buried at Dobbs Ferry on Sunday. Those who knew him well agreed that Dr. Edwards' chief concern was always with the interests of the student body.

Mr. Joseph Taffet '30 (Economics) was grieved over Dr. Edwards' death: "What can you say when you've known a man for twenty-three years? His death was a great loss to the College. He always had the students in his heart."

Dean Morton Gotschall (Liberal Arts) called him an "admirable and lovable person." He said, "His ideas can not help but have a seminal influence in the years to come. He gave his students a sense of values as well as knowledge of facts."

Dr. Edwards was largely instrumental in getting the Shepard and Lewisohn families interested in House Plan. He also furnished a room in the House.

A foremost American economist and author of many books on banking and finance, Dr. Edwards probably achieved his greatest distinction when he became an Episcopalian minister in 1944.

Hundreds packed the Cathedral of St. John the Divine to see the ordainment of the renowned educator.

Dr. Edwards did research in foreign banking for the Federal Reserve Bank and taught at Columbia and NYU before he came to the College in 1927.

Here he was appointed Dean of the School of Business and Civic Administration and Chairman of the Department of Economics. He resigned as dean in 1932, but held the latter post for twenty years until 1947.

Registrar Releases Enrollment Totals

A total of 6717 students are enrolled in the Main Center Day Session this semester, announced Mr. Robert Taylor, (Registrar). Of this number, 6315 are matriculated, full-time students.

Although a slight decline occurred in registration for the Schools of Liberal Arts and Technology as compared with last semester, a relatively large increase was made in the School of Education.

Statistics show that there are 3.2 males to every female at the Main Center, with 5100 men and 1617 women enrolled.

The largest enrollment is in the School of Liberal Arts, where 233 males and 1033 females are registered.

The School of Technology ranks next, with 2313 students. The males outnumber the female engineers 148 to one, since only sixteen women are registered in this branch.

Only in the School of Education do women outnumber the men; 430 females as compared to 160 males. Forty students now at the Main Center are enrolled in the School of Business.

The average section size in Liberal Arts and in Education is 24.1 students, while in Technology the classes average 17.5 students.

Instructors in the Schools of Liberal Arts and of Technology spend approximately 15.3 hours each week at their work.

YU Challenges College to Blood Drive; Red Cross Will Be Here April 1 and 2

New York University has challenged the College as well as all colleges in the New York area to a blood donor contest. The contest will be the College having the greatest percentage of blood donors giving blood.

1075 Pint Goal

Die Diamond '56, blood drive chairman, announced a goal of 1075 pints for this term. A registration booth will be set up in the Corridor, Knittle Lounge, Hall, and Tech Crossroads week of March 15-18. The booth will be manned by members of Alpha Phi Omega and Chi Omega.

The College attains a mini-quota in the blood drive—all should be eligible to receive blood free should the need arise.

Sel Rosenthal '54, president of APO, has issued a challenge to all other campus organizations to achieve a higher percentage of eligible donors than his fraternity.

College Record

With the end of Korean hostilities, the Red Cross has announced a new policy of sending two-thirds of all blood received to the city's blood bank and one-third to the armed forces. Formerly one-half of the blood went to Korea.

Last year, the College was the only school in the New York area to receive a special Red Cross

Mar. 16 Is Deadline For Election Cards

Election cards for the fall and summer semesters must be filed by Tuesday, March 16 in the Registrar's Office in 15 Main. Since the demand recorded on these cards will determine the choice and number of sections to be opened next term, it is important that they be turned in accurately and on time.

The School of Education will accept applications from undergraduates who wish to matriculate as education majors next semester during the period March 8-April 5.

Judicious Calm

The recent suggestion that the Student Faculty Committee on Student Affairs discontinue its meetings until President Gallagher acts on the Presidential Report seems to be unwise and would perhaps prove detrimental to the welfare of the College.

We do not believe that the SFCSA should perform many of the functions which it now does—but it is clear that the committee must continue these functions until it is charged otherwise.

Any action by SFCSA would place unfair and undue pressure upon Pres. Gallagher, who is now evaluating the relative roles which students and faculty assume in student activities. President Gallagher has heard the opinions of interested students and faculty members and has asked for a period of judicious calm.

It would seem wise to respect this request so that Dr. Gallagher's final decision may come after a period of careful reflection and not as the result of hasty pressured action.

It would also seem wise for all segments of the college press to maintain this judicial calm by muzzling the editorial rumble which may prove detrimental to the causes they are championing. The recent outcry of "Abolish SFCSA" may well result in a compliance with such a request and the re-institution of the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs—sans students.

We would hate then to be forced to make the fight one for the establishment of a Student Faculty Committee on Student Affairs when the full responsibility for student activity is within the reach of students.

Let us not lose the voice which we do have in student affairs in the foolish and vehement clamoring for new recommendations which are pending.

Professor Edwards

We note with sorrow the passing of the Rev. Dr. George Edwards (Economics).

His service to the College as Dean of the Baruch School, Chairman of the Economics Department and Professor of Economics at the Main Center was marked by complete devotion to his work and to the thousands of students and faculty members with whom he came in contact. His characteristics, boundless energy and zeal for meeting new challenges was evidenced when, after life-long lay service to the church, at the age of 52, he was ordained as priest of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Dr. Edwards was a senior professor of the faculty but his young and penetrating intellectual spirit will be remembered by all.

College Club Plans Model UN Program

The Collegiate Council for the United Nations, recently organized at the College, has planned an extensive program aimed at acquainting its members with the role of the United Nations as an instrument of international mediation and with the major problems confronting it.

Foremost among the group's proposed activities is attendance at the model assemblies of the UN to be held at Newark State Teacher's College on March 27 and at St. John's University in May. The College CCUN will participate by sending delegates representing the various countries to argue the same current problems as the UN General Assembly delegates. Representatives from the UN will be present.

Another large scale meeting to be held at the College in May in commemoration of Israeli Independence Day is now being planned.

Moreover, the CCUN will seek to send representatives to the National Assembly held in Washington and to an international assembly, which was last held in Paris.

The organization is also concerned with fostering better relations among students of all lands. This includes helping foreign students who are studying at the College to feel at home and to acquire a fuller understanding of American students and universities. Sending books to colleges where libraries suffered damage during the recent war is another project the group will undertake.

The CCUN, which Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt launched at the College last week, is seeking new members. As an organization it is as yet unchartered but is a unit of the Education Society. In order to receive independent status, it is felt that a minimum membership of one hundred is necessary. Prospective members can attend a reception and social to be held on Friday, March 19 at 2:30 in Knittle Lounge. Meetings are scheduled every Thursday in 222 Main.

46 Students Are Honored

Forty-six students were listed on the Dean's list, with high second year honors going to three students and forty-three others receiving "honors." No "highest honors" were awarded.

High honors went to Elaine Feldman, a science major, and Rita Goldstein, a Liberal Arts major, both residing in the Bronx and to Walter Thomas of Manhattan also a Liberal Arts major.

The students receiving honors are Regina Artman, Reuben L. Baumgarten, Melvin Carroll, Jerome Cook, Carl Costantino, Malvina Falk, Rudolph Federman, Samuel Fierro, and Dimitri Gidaspow.

Also Lorell Glatter, Goldie Harbus, Frederick Jelinek, Norman W. Jonas, Roger Jones, Edward Kiss, Shirley Kleiner, David Knee, Thomas MacKenzie, Fred Martin, Gerald Mazzella, Alan McElroy, Marcia Mellett, Deborah Michelson, James J. Moran and Arnold Ockene.

More honors went to Lenore Offenber, Harry Radzyner, David Ratkowsky, Zeldia Rudich, Harold Saltzman, Raymond Scharff, Eugene Schlig, Sheldon Schneider, Stuart Schwartz, Sylvia Schwartz, Robert Shapiro, Eva Traube, Blossom Turk, Jonas Ulenas, Gloria Watts, Thomas

The next day, both the New York Times and the New York Post reported that further investigation into the changing of the grades of the basketball players arrested in the 1951 scandal was also considered at the meeting.

Mrs. Maude Stewart, BHE Public Relations Director, denied that any such action had been discussed. Informed persons, however, have interpreted the Board's reluctance to give out the transcript of the meeting as a sign that such considerations were indeed brought up.

Kronenberger's Latest Book Calls Americans Unrealistic

By Louise Gross

The charge that "Americans are at such extremes of materialism that they never see anything in a realistic way" is the theme of Dr. Louis Kronenberger's (English) book "Company Manners: A Cultural Inquiry Into American Life," published last week by Bobbs-Merrill.

One reviewer said that "though the manner of 'Company Manners' is suave, its matter is bluntly controversial." Commenting on this, Dr. Kronenberger said "I purposely put myself in a position of being answered back. I would feel that I hadn't succeeded if what I had written had been taken lying down."

This is the third book which the professor has written, although he has edited twelve others, and is presently planning a collection of essays. Besides his professorial chores—he teaches one course at the College and another at Brandeis University—and his writing and compiling of books, Dr. Kronenberger is also drama critic of Time magazine, a position which he has held since 1938.

Recently, a play which he translated from the French, "Mademoiselle Colombe," starring Julie Harris, was presented on Broadway. The general opinion of the critics was that it was "too highbrow" for the American public, which seems to bear out Dr. Kronenberger's contention that the cultural level of America is currently at an ebb.

What he has to say about culture on the national scene is not applicable to the students at the College, Dr. Kronenberger said. "I love City College," he declared. "It's a hell of a nice place." Compared to Brandeis

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

I want to express my deep appreciation for the support I received from the student body. It has been most gratifying to see how accurately you have praised the incredible decision of the Board of Higher Education. In my opinion the student organizations have properly expressed the indignation of all who are interested in fair play in this matter. Please convey my thanks all for their faith in my integrity and my loyalty to City College.

Funeral Services for Student Today

Funeral services for Allen Smolin '56, eighteen-year-old pre-student who died at his home early yesterday morning, will be held at 11:30 this morning at the Riverside Memorial Chapel, 1000 North Street and Amsterdam Avenue.

Although he had suffered from tuberculosis for several years, Smolin's death was listed as being due to "natural causes" according to information given to Miss Benzing (Student Life).

Former president of Wiley '56, the popular Smolin was a member of several College organizations. He had belonged to Alpha Phi Omega, the Debating Society, the Government and Law Society, Hillel and had been a member of The Campus business.

Wyn Rosenthal '54, president of Wiley '56, stated that he was so proud of Allen that he didn't know what to do. He seemed so full of life that none of us dreamed that he would die like this could possibly happen. We all have a great feeling of loss."

What-a-Politician Martin Gruberg Joins Committees by the Dozen

Although biting the dust in last term's Student Council election, Martin Gruberg '56, a member of seventy-seven college committees, has announced his candidacy for SC vice-president.

Gruberg, a bespectacled nineteen year old Government major, lost by 279 votes for SC secretary. A tireless critic of Council, he campaigned on the issue of "the irresponsibility and immaturity of SC." Gruberg referred to it as "an association of petty politicians."

When Gruberg is not levelling broadsides at SC, his chief claim to fame is membership in his host of activities. Martin adds quickly; "These are only the activities I can remember off-hand."

They include the Student Council Committee to Investigate Charges of Russian Anti-Semitism Class of '56 Square Dance Committee, SC European Tour Committee, president of the Young Republicans and vice-president of the Young Liberals. Martin admits it is difficult to be a member of two opposite political organizations but "since I was impeached by the Young Republicans for my liberal views, I did the next best thing and joined the opposition."

Martin Gruberg

During the election campaign, Martin's friends originated the

"Go, Gruberg" grunt. He maintains that this cheer "is the rallying point for all those dissatisfied with the way Council has been run."

Hell or high water—the Gruberg yell will sound and it's better than even money that if there's work or talk to be done, Martin Gruberg will be on hand.

5,000 Grant Aids Needy Students Here

A 15,000 dollar grant to be used to aid needy students was voted to the College last Friday.

A ceremony in the Great Hall, Mrs. Joseph B. Thomas presented a check for the amount of the grant on behalf of the Good Neighbor Federation, a philanthropic organization. This is the first time the organization has donated money to a public institution. Mr. James Peace (Student Council) announced that about $5,000, the yearly interest on the grant, would be available to deserving students as the first interest payment is made. He said it is also possible that loans based on the principal will be made in the future.

Swimmers Cop Met Crown

Schloemer Breaks Mark In 220 As Lavender Ends Violets' Reign

By Martin Ryza

Having swept through dual meet competition, the College's swimming team capped a great season by taking the Metropolitan Intercollegiate championships at N.Y.U.'s pool Saturday night.

The Beavers tallied 74 points. N.Y.U. and King's Point tied for second with 59 points. By winning their first Met championship in six years, the swimmers broke through N.Y.U.'s supremacy. The Violets had won the meet for the last three years in a row.

The natators took three first places, two by Howie Schloemer. Repeating his triumphs of last year, Schloemer won the 220 and 440 yard freestyle events. He set the lone record of the evening in the 220 with a 2:17.9 clocking, bettering his own mark of 2:18.5 set last year. Schloemer beat out Jerry Tiernan of Brooklyn in both events.

Vic Fulladosa grabbed the other first place in the 200 yard breaststroke. He was clocked at 2:36.1.

Schloemer and Dan Matejka of N.Y.U. were the outstanding performers. Matejka won the 150 yard individual medley, the 200 yard backstroke, and anchored the Violet's winning 400 yard freestyle relay team.

Here's how the other points were garnered by the champs:

Steve Keston placed third in both the 220 and 440 yard freestyle.

Bob Kellogg, Vic Fulladosa, and Norm Moscovitz finished fourth, fifth, and sixth in the 150 yard individual medley.

Lou Ruffino, finished second to the N.Y.U.'s Bob Lewis in the 1 meter dive.

Kellogg followed Fulladosa to the finish line in the 200 yard breaststroke.

Ben Trasen took second in the 100 yard freestyle back of Roger Ryan of King's Point.

Tony Sousa and Arnold Farber came in fourth and fifth respectively in the 200 yard backstroke.

The Beavers finished second in the 300 yard medley and the 400 yard free style relay.

The only event in which they failed to score was the 50 yard freestyle.

Coach Jack Rider calls this team better than the squad that won the Lavender's last swimming crown in 1948. "The competition is stronger now," he said. "Most records have been lowered since then.

"Howie Schloemer is the best distance freestyler we've ever had. Vic Fulladosa is the fastest breaststroker. Bob Kellogg is as good as most we've had in that event. Steve Keston is an outstanding distance freestyler and Lou Ruffino is as fine a diver as we've ever had."

The coach will send these men along with Tony Sousa and Ben Trasen to the Eastern College Swimming Association championship this Friday. Schloemer won both his specialties in last year's ECSA meet. He set a record in the 440 at 5:00.7.

Schloemer will be pointing for this meet where he will face much stronger competition. The E.C.S.A. will be held at the Lehigh Pool.

The Beavers finished a very successful season with an 8-1 record. Their lone loss of the season was suffered at the hands of Columbia.

Boxers Bow To Syracuse

The College's boxing team ended its regular season's competition, bowing to a powerful Syracuse University squad, 8-0, Saturday at the winner's gym. The defeat gave the Beavers an overall record of 1-2.

It was evident after the four men had been stopped via the referee's decision in the second round of each bout that the up-staters were just too strong. It should be pointed out, however, that most of the men on the Syracuse squad are competing on boxing scholarships.

Coach Yustin Sirutis is looking forward to a much better season next year. "Although the team will be losing the services of our co-captains, Arnie Slomowitz and Richie Evans," the mentor stated, "the men who were newcomers this year, will have the advantage of the experience they've gained."

The coach announced that Normie Levitan and Austin Hurd, both middleweights, had been elected co-captains for next season.

looked by the Basketball Writers Association, who announced the team.

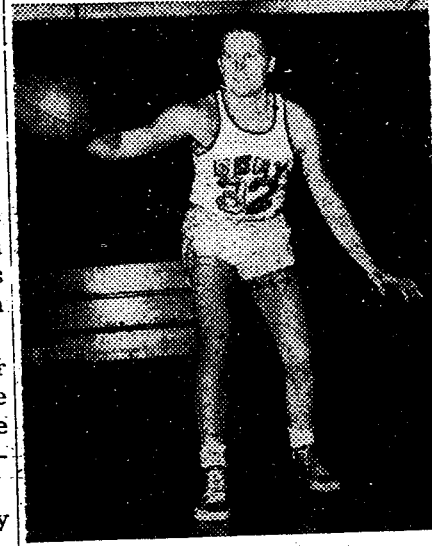

Shorr has been a consistent scorer for the Beavers as well as a strong rebounder throughout the season. He set a new individual scoring record against Montclair State Teachers, scoring 36 points.

Cagers Rip B'klyn 93-56 In Finale

56, Saturday night at the Main Gym. The College finished the season with a 10-8 record.

The victory for the Lavender was their nineteenth straight over the Brooklynites since the series was initiated in 1935. The contest also marked the final College appearance for Captain Jerry Domershick, Herb Holmstrom, Marty Gurkin, Domershick will compete later this month in the annual East-West all-star game at the Garden.

The issue was never in doubt as the Beavers piled up an easy margin, and led by 24-12 at the quarter. They continued to pile it on in the second period, taking a commanding 48-23 lead at half-time.

In the second half, Coach Dan Polansky began removing seniors one by one. As they left the floor, each in turn received the plaudits of the crowd—the greatest acclaim being accorded Domershick, who was given a two minute ovation. Jerry, the only athlete in the College's history to captain the cagers three years in a row, tallied two points.

The key factor in the Beavers' easy victory was their complete domination of both backboards. The Brooklynites had no means capable of competing with Marty Shorr, Gurkin, and Herb Jacobsohn. Jacobsohn, whose 13 points was second only to Shorr's 17, played his finest game of the year, scoring three sensational tap-ins.

Swordsmen Beaten, 19-8, End Season With 3-5 Mark

Looking to wind up its season with an even-up record, the College's fencing team played host to a strong Princeton squad in the Main Gym Saturday afternoon. The Lavender was unable to do it, bowing 19-8 to the Tigers, thus ending its campaign with a 3-5 mark.

The Jerseyites captured all three classes of competition, taking the foils and epee by 7-2 scores, and the sabre by a 5-4 count.

In the sabre competition, the Beavers' came up with two double winners. Dick Susco defeated Fleet Johnston, 5-2, and Arnie Kroll, 5-3. Susco's teammate, Dick Sugin topped Kroll, 5-1 and Bob MacFarland, 5-1.

The two Lavender victories in the epee events were garnered by Ancile Malden, as he defeated Sam Stewart, 3-1, and Jonas Ulenas, who also downed Stewart, this time by a 3-2 margin.

In the foils play, only Aubrey Seeman and Morty Wertlieb were able to win for the College. Seeman took the measure of Hank Kolowrat, 5-4, and Wertlieb scored over the Tigers' John Smith, 5-3.

The two outstanding performances for the Tigers were turned in by epeemen Al Hoffman and Kimmont Hoitsma, each of whom sweep, while Hoitsma won even more impressively, losing only one touch in his three matches, winning 3-0 from both Miller and Ulenas, and 3-1 over Malden.

After dropping their first four decisions this season, the fencers went on to take three of the last four encounters, thus improving over last year's poor 1-7 record. On the whole, Coach Ed Lucia's first season at the helm of the swordsmen must be regarded as a successful one.

Domershick Picked On All-Met Squad

Jerry Domershick, captain of the College's basketball team for the past three years, has been named to the first team of the All-Metropolitan five.

Domershick, who compiled a 15.2 average over the 19 game campaign, had made honorable mention last season when he set a Beaver record of 17.7 per game.

Hank Daubenschmidt and Frank Denticio of St. Francis, Fordham's Ed Conlin and Iona's Richie Guerin round out the first quintet.

looked by the Basketball Writers Association, who announced the team.

Shorr has been a consistent scorer for the Beavers as well as a strong rebounder throughout the season. He set a new individual scoring record against Montclair State Teachers, scoring 36 points.
