'Campus' Survey Indicates Three Out of Four Students Participate in Club Activities

By Mel Copeland

If you are an average student at the College, the chances are almost three to one that you belong to at least one club. You, the average student, belong to 1.41 clubs and spend three hours, five minutes, and fifty-five seconds in extra curricular activities. These statistics are based upon a poll on student activities conducted by The Campus.

Out of 195 students questioned in the poll, only fifty indicated that they were not members of any student organization.

Students aiming for the Bachelor of Science degree are the most active, according to the survey. They belong to an average of 1.51 clubs and spend 3.16 hours per week in club activities.

The average Liberal Arts student is a member of 1.37 clubs and spends 3.05 hours per week in extra-curricular activities. Tech students trail slightly behind with membership in 1.06 clubs and 3.04 hours of club activities.

The poll indicated that co-eds belong to more clubs but spend less time participating than males. Each girl on the average is a member of 1.48 clubs which requires 2.87 hours of her time. Each male spends 3.24 hours per week in 1.37 clubs.

Science and Tech majors are members of more professional organizations than Liberal Arts students. The professional clubs derive most of their membership from upperclassmen. Membership in professional clubs runs as high as 72.8 percent of male seniors majoring in science.

Students gave lack of time, lack of interest and work after school as the chief reasons for non-participation in club activities.

One Tech major said engineers have no time for extra-curricular activities. However, the survey contradicted his observations.

Speech Dept. To Use Aids

Tape recordings of model phonetic exercises and speeches are being planned to aid those students taking corrective speech courses, according to Prof. William Finkel (Chairman, Speech).

Permanent recordings which students who have speech deficiencies could take home, are also being considered. The records would deal with common speech difficulties, especially those stemming from foreign intonations. "They would be available to all College students at cost," Professor Finkel said.

He feels that the speech department has an obligation to bring speech therapy to the home, where environment would not ordinarily be conducive to improvement.

Gallagher Favors Equal SU Board Representation

Students of Four Councils Would Join With Administration, Faculty, Alumni Members on Board of Governors

By Sheldon Scherr

A proposal for equal representation of students and non-students on the Student Union Board of Governors was made by Pres. Buell G. Gallagher last Friday night.

The proposal was made at a meeting of the special Committee of Four appointed by the president to establish an administrative body for the Union. Representatives of the entire College community were invited and allowed to express their views.

Dr. Gallagher's plan calls for seven students, consisting of three Main Center Day and two Main Center Evening session representatives, and one each from the Baruch Center Day and Evening sessions. Four administration and faculty representatives, and three alumni would complete the committee.

Based on Use

The plan, explained the president, was based upon the amount of use that each group will get out of the SU Building.

Student Council President Ira Klosk '55, remarked, "I feel that Pres. Gallagher's plan is a very desirable one, and confirms the Student self-government concept which has been built up over a period of fifty years."

An alternate proposal was made by Mr. Dave Newton (Director, House Plan), who suggested that a body of eighteen be set up.

To Include Pres.

The group would consist of the President of the College, the Dean of Students, four faculty members, four alumni, two members of the "Metropolitan community at large," six students consisting of one representative of each of the College's divisions, an interim delegate from the Technology Inter-fraternity Intersociety Council or House Plan, and a member of the Student Union Managing Board.

The SU Managing Board would be an administrative body of students and SU personnel carrying out the workings of the Union according to the policies laid down by the Board of Governors.

Entry Deadline Today For Deferment Exam.

Today is the deadline for students to submit applications for the December 9 Selective Service College Qualification Test, according to Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service. Applications postmarked after midnight tonight cannot be considered.

Application blanks and information bulletins, with sample questions, may be obtained from the nearest local board.

525 Students Ask Censure

Five hundred and twenty-five students at the College last week signed petitions calling for the Senate censure of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R.-Wis.).

The petitions were sponsored by Students for Democratic Action as a "culmination of the green feather campaign on campus." They are being sent to Sen. Ralph Flanders (R.-Vt.) as a gesture of support for the censure motion which he made in the Senate last summer.

"Several hundred students admitted they were in agreement with us but said they were afraid to sign anything of this nature" said SDA President Gil Robinov '55. "The Sirota incident hurt us somewhat, but the general feeling of fear was too great to have its sole basis in that affair."

A petition protesting the censure motion is being circulated at the College this week by the newly formed Students for Americanism. Upon conclusion of the soliciting, the petitions will be sent to Vice-President Richard Nixon.

Egg Roll, Franks Sold at Snack Bar

When the steam table stops steaming in the cafeteria, the griddle takes over. The franks and egg rolls have been rolling so fast that an extra griddle has been set up at the snack bar.

George Chester, cafeteria manager, said, "The griddle has been such a success that in the future grilled cheese sandwiches and knishes will be sold." He also noted that the sale of Kosher sandwiches had dropped 75 per cent after the first week.

Recently, stainless steel equipment has been installed enabling the snack bar to make its own coffee.

Auction Planned for Dec. 2 To Raise Money for WUS

Need a pair of slightly used gold cuff-links? A couple of snappy bow ties? A one-pound box of candy?

These and other articles will be auctioned off on Dec. 2 to help the World University Service, an organization whose program enables needy students all over the world to attend college. Chi Lambda is sponsoring the auction.

Mr. Joseph Taffet (Economics), who will be auctioneer, will try to sell gold cuff-links and bow ties, donated by Dean James S. Peace (Student Life), a personal article of President Gallagher's, as yet unspecified, Prof. Gettel's (Music) pipe, paper-mate pens, and paper-backed books.

Other articles to be offered are box lunches, prepared by Chi Lambda, European pins and jewelry donated by Miss Cynthia Benzinger (Student Life), and a one-pound box of candy.

"We would like many more faculty members to donate personal articles to the auction and we hope that many students will attend and buy. It's all for a very worthy cause," said Doris Ringler '57, of Chi Lambda.

Many of the articles to be auctioned will be displayed in one of the showcases in Lincoln Corridor until the auction.

Mr. Joseph Taffet

Second Richter Movie Scheduled Tomorrow

"Thirty Years of Experimentation," filmed by Prof. Hans Richter (Director, Films Institute), will be presented tomorrow at 3 in the Townsend Harris Auditorium by the Social Functions Agency of Student Council.

In addition, "Rhapsody in Blue," based on the life of George Gershwin, and starring Robert Alda, is being shown today in 126 Main at 3.

All the Facts

The most reasonable and fair plan presented to date for governing the Student Union was suggested last week by Pres. Buell Gallagher, who proposed that seven students and seven non-students comprise the membership of the SU Board of Governors.

There is no reason why students should not have equal representation on this committee, as they do on other student-faculty groups. However, the SU Board differs from these other committees in that a third element—the alumni—which has contributed years of work and thousands of dollars to the Student Union, deserves representation. President Gallagher's plan adequately provides this representation by proposing that three of the non-student positions be filled by the alumni and four by the faculty.

Another selling-point of the president's plan is that students from the Main Center Day Session, who will make greatest use of the SU facilities, will also have the greatest number of delegates on the committee.

That President Gallagher's proposal provides for equal student representation should allay the groundless fears of those who unjustifiably claim that students and faculty are naturally antagonistic, and that the faculty plans to "play politics" with the Student Union.

After the governing body of the Student Union is decided upon, still one more obstacle has to be overcome—money. Certainly it would be unfortunate if, after all the planning, the Student Union could not open because of insufficient funds. Although the alumni have pledged 70,000 dollars for the first three years, and the city will add its limited share, there will still be a deficit of 90,000 dollars. This deficit can be met in only one way—through a student fee.

It has been proposed that the fee be imposed arbitrarily for fear that, if asked, students would reject any fee increase. We believe the only democratic procedure would be to let the students decide for themselves through a referendum. The advantages of a Student Union are so numerous and self-evident that we are sure that, given all the facts about the SU and encouraged to help in planning its facilities, students then will be willing to support it financially.

Intensive planning has been underway for at least a year but, so far, most students have considered the opening of the SU to be so far in the future that it was not worthy of their interest in the present. Now, however, the opening is but a few months away, and it is up to the newspapers, the clubs, and the students themselves, with the cooperation of the SU authorities, to make it their business to get all the facts so that, when the referendum is presented, students may vote intelligently.

Four Receive Alumni Assoc.
 Harris Medals

Four alumni, including the designer of the nation's first atomic artillery shell, have been named to receive the College's 1954 Townsend Harris Medals, according to Dr. Joseph J. Klein (President, Alumni Association).

The awards, made annually for distinguished post-graduate achievement, will be presented at the association's seventy-fourth annual dinner on December 2.

The medal winners are:

Robert M. Schwartz '41, an engineer who received the Army's Exceptional Civilian Service Medal for "providing the Army a new weapon of critical importance" in his work on the atomic shell.

Edwin M. Otterbourg '04, attorney and former president of the New York County Lawyers Association.

Dr. Joseph G. Cohen '08, educator, author, and lecturer.

Jerome I. Udell '18, business executive, philanthropist, and leader in civic and community affairs.

Dr. Klein also announced that a City College Centennial Medal will be presented as a special award for outstanding service to the College to Harry D. Spielberg '19,

EXPLAINS WITHDRAWAL

To the Editor

Last Thursday, the Ukrainian Students Society voted unapologetically to withdraw its representation and support from the United Clubs Against Totalitarianism (UCAT), of which it was one of the original members. The reasons for this decision follow:

1. The participating organizations in UCAT have not lived up to the original purpose of that body, namely to fight communism and other totalitarian ideologies or movements, but have indulged in factional struggle beyond the needs and every rationale.

Needlessly Involved

2. The attempts and efforts of the Ukrainian Students Society to bring the divided factions to cooperation and common undertaking have met with failure, and instead the Society has found itself needlessly involved in the internal factional and petty quarrel between two somewhat artificially formed blocks, "the right" and "the left," who were becoming more and more oblivious to the original purpose of UCAT.

3. No evidence, as yet, has come forward that all the participating clubs in UCAT would conscientiously undertake the fight against Communism.

Ask Vigilance

We, however, wish to assure everyone that The Ukrainian Society's participation in UCAT or any other body with the same purpose will be renewed when there will be a demonstrated and genuine effort on the part of the participants to live up to its originally declared purpose, and that the Society's decision was taken by no means to the comfort of the Marxists or their affiliates at this College.

Since most of our members are former residents of the Soviet Union, it is by the virtue of this experience that we also wish to call upon the students of this College to be vigilant against the pernicious ideology of Communism, and not become moral simpletons who fall into every trap no matter how simple, set up by those who profess it.

Queen To Hail From Bronx

By Eli Sadownick

Carnival Queen of 1955 hail from the Bronx, be a dancer, have a sparkling personality and sport a perfect pear-perfect figure.

From these attributes, the contestants chosen at the Dance Nov. 10, have little in common.

Youngest of the finalists is a teen-and-a-half year old, named, Lois (Bunny) Gold '58, a major at the Baruch College. Bunny, a member of Harvard, has brown hair and is a proportioned 5 foot 5 at 34.

Won Three Contests

The fifth prospective Queen is Catherine Tampone '56. A twenty-year-old elementary education major, Cathy has brown eyes and brown hair. Her 5 foot 5 inch frame runs into curves at 34-24-34.

Goes for 'Casanovas'

Catherine is a member of Sigma Alpha and the Freshman Advisory Committee. She enjoys bowling and working with arts and crafts, and says she likes "men who've been around."

Catherine jokes that she has been developing an inferiority complex since becoming a finalist, because some people have been kidding her about her looks. Admirers agree she needn't worry.

The Queen will be chosen at the Carnival which will be held in the Main Building Dec. 11. The crowning of the winner in the Great Hall will be the highlight of the evening.

The finalists were chosen by Prof. Albert D'Andrea (Chairman, Art), Prof. Victor Axelroad (Alumni Association), Mrs. Buell Gallagher, Mrs. Jerry Gold and Mrs. Dave Newton.

Swimmers Set Sights On Undefeated Season

By Hank Grossman

If quantity was any measure of a swimming team's effectiveness, the Lavender mermen would be a sure bet to drop every meet this season. The natators have the smallest varsity in years, but what the riders lack numerically they make up in quality and in the opinion of many have a good chance of going through their schedule without a setback.

The top man as usual in coach Jack Rider's plans is co-captain Howie Schloemer. In practice, the red-headed free-styler has been hitting his best times of last season, and that's plenty fast. Schloemer holds two College records: the 220 and 440 yard free-style events and anchored the 400-yard relay team to a College record.

Another swimmer who has shown very well in practice is sophomore Jim Johnson. Although a newcomer to the team, Johnson has been coming up with times lower than most of the veterans.

The other members of the free-style foursome are Steve Kesten and Ben Trasen. Both swam a leg in the record-breaking 400-yard relay, while Trasen also participated in the setting of the 300-yard medley relay standard.

The only other soph is Sol Stern. He will team up with Tony Sousa and Arnie Farber who are both trying for the 200 yard back-stroke record.

The top breaststroker is Bob Kellogg. Last season, using the now prohibited butterfly stroke, Kellogg broke the College's 200 yard standard. However, during the winter, the rules committee decided that the breast would be the only accepted racing stroke. As a result, Kellogg was forced to change his style completely. The remarkable thing is that instead of hurting his time, Bob is now hitting national clockings.

The team's manpower shortage

Matmen Bow To McBurney

The College's wrestling team, including a number of freshmen, lost to the McBurney Y by a 20-16 score last Friday night.

Five of the matches were won by pins, four being registered by McBurney men. The exception was accounted for by Beaver co-captain Norm Balot. The 157 pounder dropped his opponent, Al Stoeker, in 4:52.

McBurney's Chris Soukas, 167, registered twice via the pin route, taking Ira Zigmund at 4:55 and Marv Leiner at 3:15.

Other wins by the Lavender saw Steve Karides, 147, beat Frank Herb, 7-0; Sal Sorbera, 130, defeated Gil Penna, 3-1, and Sonny Galia, a 147 pound freshman, won over Sedley Bloomfield, 4-0.

Sapora Will Select His Starting Team By This Weekend

With the opening match of the season only a few weeks off, the College's wrestling team will engage in an exhibition with Columbia today which could be a tell-tale clue to the starting team.

The tryouts for final berths will be complete at the end of this week at which time Coach Joe Sapora will select his varsity.

Several of the positions are wide open, particularly in the 167 lb. class which includes three topflight contenders in Jack Horowitz, Ezra Kulko and Bernie Stohls.

In a real do-or-die tussle for the 147 lb. position between Steve Karidis and Spencer Nussbaum, Sapora has decided on Karidis.

The only other questionable berth is in the Heavyweight division. Previous to opening practice, there was little doubt that nobody could beat out Jim Zoubandis for this class. However, Jim has sustained a pulled shoulder muscle resulting in infrequent activity. This has provided Jim Michaels with his opportunity to make the varsity.

Coach Jack Rider

is most strikingly illustrated by the diving situation. The Beavers have only one competent diver, Lou Ruffino. Last year Lou was a consistent winner, but he has only one more semester of eligibility left.

Sports Always In Season For Rifle Ace Sal Sorbera

It would seem that being connected with four athletic in addition to carrying a full schedule might keep a person Yet, Sal Sorbera, '57, manages to participate in rifle, cross-country track and wrestling in some capacity. As a top shooter of the team, Sal has paced the Nimrods so far this season, averaging 257.

In addition, he is manager of the squad and as such plays an important part in its functioning.

Last February, Sal joined the wrestling squad in the 130 pound weight class. In the matches that he participated in, he posted a 3-1 record, and this season hopes to improve on it. According to him, "Coach Sapora was very helpful throughout the season and as a result my wrestling has improved."

As for his other activities, he managed the track and field team last season, and this season managed the cross-country squad. However, his main activity this year is participating in the rifle matches.

A weapon instructor while in the Marines, he was the mainstay of last season's squad, and this season has shot a few points higher per match.

Sal, who is not lax to credit where credit is due, attributes his shooting ability to the fine tutelage of Sgt. Hooper, squad coach, who developed him as the season progressed. Last season, he is shooting for mythical Metropolitan Rifle composed of the ten top shooters in the area. Last season, an age of 280 or better was necessary to join that elite squad.

Sal, who was 22 on Nov. 1, is majoring in Physical Education at the College.

Top Favored Red Rifle Team's Next Match

The rifle team, which has a 3-1 record to date, will meet its next match on Dec. 1 against St. John's. The Red Rifle men are favored to win the Met Rifle Association championship.
