Keynote AF Talks Note Role of Individual; 'Value Development' Is Theme of Conference

Classes to Be Suspended Wednesday For Second All-College Conference; Plan Six Panel Discussion Topics

By Ed Kosner

The theme of the second All-College Conference which will be held next Wednesday, April 27, is: "What are the Responsibilities of the City College for Developing Values in Thought and Action?" Six panel discussions on topics related to this theme are scheduled for noon.

All classes will be suspended between 11:30 and 3 on Wednesday in order that students and faculty members may participate in and attend the Conference.

"Should Teachers Inculcate?"

Prof. Louis Snyder (History) will discuss the question: "Shall the classroom teacher inculcate values?" in the Townsend Harris Auditorium.

Panel 2, on the topic: "What active role can and should the student play in inculcating values?" presided over by Prof. Joseph Pistrang (Chemical Engineering) will meet in 105 Main at 12.

Student Government's Role

The third panel: "What contribution can Student Government make in the development of values?" will convene in 126 Main. Prof. Abraham Edel (Philosophy) will moderate the discussion (Psychology) in 306 Main.

"What contribution can other student groups make to the enrichment of values?" is the topic of discussion of the fourth panel, chaired by Prof. Joseph Woodruff (Psychology).

'Desirable Values'

Panel 5, under the chairmanship of Prof. Harold Wolf (Electrical Engineering) will discuss the question: "What are the desirable student-faculty relationships in reference to values?" Thirteen students and faculty members are due to participate in the discussion which will take place in 315 Main.

The sixth panel, on the topic: "What is the source and nature of the values secured by engineering students?" will meet in Foreman Hall, Chemistry Building. Prof. Henry Wasser (English) will moderate the discussion.

To Air Recorded Readings by Poets

Recorded selections of W. H. Auden, Edgar Lee Masters, Robinson Jeffers, Marianne Moore and Arthur Guiterman '91, reading their own poetry, may be heard next Thursday at 12:30 in the Faculty Room (200M). The recordings are part of the collection that forms "The City College Phonographic Library of Contemporary Poets."

Established to "preserve in permanent form the voices of outstanding American poets reading from their own works," the library works according to the concept that "oral expression gives life to a poem."

Great Hall Addresses by Elmer Rice and James T. Farrell Open College's Academic Freedom Week Program; Tendency to 'Sound Off' on AF Noted by Rice

By Eli Sadownick

Academic Freedom Week at the College was ushered in yesterday in the Great Hall with speeches by Elmer Rice and James T. Farrell who agreed that the future of our fundamental institutions depends on the day-to-day actions of the individual and his attitude toward life. A scheduled third speaker, Dr. H. H. Wilson, professor of political science at Princeton University and member of the American Civil Liberties Union, did not appear.

Mr. Rice, a Pulitzer Prize novelist and member of the ACLU Board of Directors, noted that there has been "too much of a tendency to sound off on the subject of academic freedom."

"While there have been about fifty or sixty cases, we must discount the idea that there has been any wholesale attack on college professors," he continued.

Mr. Rice then discussed some of the sociological and psychological factors contributing to apparent political and intellectual apathy on campuses.

Community Pressures

He contended that instructors are influenced by community pressures. It is easy for them to avoid controversial issues, he claimed. "Usually a professor makes the choice subconsciously," he said.

A humorous note was injected when Mr. Rice pointed to the sparsely-filled Great Hall (approximately 220 students attended the opening program) and conjectured about the absent students.

A few, he thought, might have been influenced by fear and some might have had "other things to do," but many might feel "academic freedom is an academic subject."

"We are living in a time of anti-intellectualism," he declared. "If a man quotes from the classics or uses words of more than two syllables, he is called an egg-head."

Offers Advice

"Any force which questions the status quo is suspect. A premium is put on conformity."

Mr. Rice offered this advice: "Feel free to speak firmly and courageously and honestly. It is only this way that the climate can be changed."

Mr. Farrell, noted novelist and news reporter and chairman of the American Committee on Cultural Freedom, declared it was "shameless" on the part of community leaders to attack teachers while innocent of the charges they are making.

"The constant effort to intimidate them is one of the subtle dangers of academic freedom."

He indicated he was pleased with the "liberal spirit" he found prevailing throughout universities across the country.

Mr. Farrell concluded with these words:

"Any society which does not develop people who will work for freedom does not deserve its freedom."

Blood Pledges Far Off Quota

Going into the final day of registration, the Main Center is still far below its quota of blood donation pledges and will lose Red Cross privileges unless there is a large increase in the number of students who sign up to give blood.

Although registration booths opposite Knittle Lounge, in Lincoln Corridor and in Army Hall have been staffed all week, according to Malcolm Hayes '56 and Jesse Benjamin '56, co-chairmen of the Blood Bank Committee, registration thus far has lagged far behind that of last semester.

Not only does the Main Center stand to lose the challenge extended by the Baruch Center, but the policy of giving free blood to all students, faculty, and ad-

GFCSA Votes to Reject Appeal On Compulsory Membership Lists

The General Faculty Committee on Student Affairs yesterday voted unanimously to deny the appeal made by three political clubs against the general membership list ruling of the Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs.

Barney McCaffrey

The Committee also substituted the using of two separate master lists for political and religious clubs for the section of the ruling requiring one master list for both.

Student Government Pres. Barney McCaffrey '55, approved of the ruling, although he stated that he "disagrees with the method. "I may still introduce my proposed changes at the next SFCSA meeting," he said.

McCaffrey's changes involve the system of retention of those lists submitted. Under the present setup, the membership compilations handed in by political or religious clubs are destroyed after being transferred to the master list at the end of each semester. His proposal, which was tabled at the last meeting of SFCSA, would keep the record of membership on file for the duration of the student's College career.

Dissatisfaction with the GFCSA ruling was expressed by SG Vice-President Mattin Gruberg '55. Gruberg, who is a member of the Young Liberals, announced that he would propose at the next meeting of his political club that they no longer submit lists.

Backers of the ruling have maintained that students at the College "should not be afraid to stand up and be counted" and that lists "are of great value in clerical duties."

Those opposed to lists have argued that the political clubs would be driven off campus by the ruling, which they claim is "an abridgement of academic freedom."

To Distribute Booklet Of Candidates' Views

An elections booklet will be distributed containing statements of no more than seventy-five words by each candidate for major and minor offices this semester.

Statements should be submitted to the Elections Agency with the candidate's petition and qualifications. Petitions deadline is next Friday at 5.

They will be accepted in 20 Main at the following hours:

Monday, 12-1; Tuesday, 11-12, 1-2; Wednesday, 12-1, 3-4; Thursday, 11-1; Friday, 12-2, 3-5.

The Conference

By Prof. Harold J. Carter (Education)

The following is a statement of the purposes of next Wednesday's All-College Conference. The author is chairman of the Student-Faculty All-College Conference Steering Committee.

The All-College Conference has been established to contribute to the clarification of issues and problems identified as significant by both the students and the faculty. It is planned, should interest warrant it, to hold similar conferences periodically. Consequently, the planning group, composed of representatives of both the student body and of the faculty, are striving to achieve a high degree of quality, continuity, and possible implementation of the contributions produced by the Conference. It is the desire of the planning group to make possible study and discussion groups, to be held between conferences, to further define and explore a number of issues considered at each Conference.

The theme for the second All-College Conference is "What Are The Responsibilities of The City College for Developing Values in Thought and in Action?" The choice of the theme and the wording of the theme represents the unanimous judgment of the planning group. It is deemed desirable to elaborate and define the basic concepts which underlie the functions of the College before considering issues of a more specific nature which, in turn, are related to and stem from these basic concepts. To insure to all participants the maximum freedom of exploration and formulation of points of view, the planning group deliberately did not define terms.

The importance of values—definable in a variety of ways—is basic to the American democratic way. Part of this way of life is the utilization of the best mass judgment in defining, exploring and resolving common problems. The College community has the responsibility of clarifying and making known its thinking in reference to values. This clarification can then be considered as the framework and succeeding conferences will be in a position to complete the picture.

The Second All-College Conference will be conducted in the following manner:

1. Each panel, composed of a faculty chairman, two students, and two faculty members, will devote approximately fifty minutes to presenting some approach or approaches to the problem at hand.
2. The audience will be given approximately an hour and a half to react to the point of view presented and to present and discuss other points of view.
3. The chairman of each panel will summarize the conclusions.
4. The planning group will then prepare an abstract of the results of the Conference for presentation at the Charter Day ceremonies.
5. Suggestions dealing with implementation of ideas and concepts will be referred to existing student groups and student-faculty groups for appropriate action.

The All College Conference Committee is convinced that the holding of joint conferences at which both students and faculty viewpoints are presented is of strategic importance since it provides the machinery whereby the thinking of the College family can be utilized most effectively in enabling all people concerned to share in the formulation of goals and then in the actual implementation of those goals. Through the medium of the interactive process, the clarification of issues and the examination of problems can take place in the best of possible environments.

Prof. Harold J. Carter

Correction
In Wednesday's Academic Freedom Issue, we stated, "Although opposition to the membership lists persisted for a while, one by one the political clubs complied with the ruling." This statement should have been qualified to make clear that the clubs complied in order to be recognized for the purpose of appealing the ruling to the General Faculty Committee on Student Affairs.

Frosh Class To Require 300 Aides

Do you speak well? Know your way around the College? Are you poised? If so you are eligible to become a freshman advisor.

The entering freshmen class of September, 1955, will be the largest in the history of the College. Over two thousand students are expected. At least 300 advisors are needed to help the freshmen through the rigors of registration, and their first week at the College.

Positions Listed

One hundred positions are open for liberal arts advisors. The remaining posts are in the tech department.

All students in and above the third semester are eligible, with the exception of upper seniors.

"A large number of capable people are needed by the Student Government to maintain its program of helping to smooth over the freshmen's first difficult period of adjustment to college," stated Dean James S. Peace (Student Life). "It is the freshman advisor's purpose to become a personal friend to whom the freshman can turn for help," he added.

'Friendly' Relations

Rheta Laska '55, co-chairman of Student Advisory Agency, explained that, "The advisor establishes a friend to friend relationship with the freshmen rather than a teacher-student arrangement."

Applications are available in 20 and 120 Main, and 161 Army Hall. Dates for the interviews will be posted on the bulletin board outside 20 Main beginning April 25. There will be at least one training or orientation period this semester.

Denmark's UN Envoy To Speak at CCUN

Mr. William Borberg, permanent Danish delegate to the United Nations, will keynote the model Security Council meeting to be held at the College tomorrow.

Mr. Borberg, who chaired last December's meetings of the Security Council will address the body before the second half of the all-day program.

The Council meeting is being sponsored by the New York-Hudson Valley Area Association of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations. Under debate will be the issue of "admissions" to the world peace organization of such countries as Communist China, Spain and Italy.

Students from over fifteen colleges in the metropolitan area will take the roles of UN delegates and representatives of the countries seeking admission.

"We hope to have a great many student and faculty observers present," stated Sherwin Kaplan '56, chairman of the College CCUN division.

Registration will take place 9:30 in Knittle Lounge. Those wishing to stay for the luncheon in the Faculty Cafeteria must pay one dollar and fifty cents at that time.

Blood

ministration in need of it may be discontinued by the Red Cross.

Should donations not increase only those students who give blood will be able to receive unlimited quantities for themselves or their immediate families. Others will be charged at the rate of forty dollars a pint and must replace each borrowed pint with two additional pints.

One bright note was voiced by Tau Alpha Omega fraternity which pledged a 100 per cent contribution from its eligible donors.

Party in Knittle Lounge For Exchange Students

An international party will be held on Saturday evening, at 8, in Knittle Lounge, in conjunction with Academic Freedom Week.

The College's twenty-five exchange students will be honored at the party. Greece, Israel, India, Iran, and China are some of the countries represented by these students.

"Admission is free, and all students are invited to attend," said Annette Fishbein '57, chairman of Student Council's International Agency.

"This program is geared to stimulate student and faculty interest in international relations," Miss Fishbein added.

Folk dancing, folk singing, and social dancing are scheduled. Food representatives of all nations will be served.

From the Daily Nebraskan come these suggestions on what you do if you should fall on the dance floor during a fast number:

1. Just lie there—they'll think you've fainted.
2. Start singing—they'll think you're part of the act.
3. Start mopping the floor with your handkerchief—they'll think you work there.

University of Texas

Everything in Texas is big, even the bass drums. According to Daily Texan the world's largest bass drum belongs to the University. Purchased for the University Band by a prominent Dallas man, "Big Bertha" is eight feet high and almost four feet wide. The drum requires four men to transport it, besides the one trying it.

State Teachers College at Albany

Dormitory dwellers received a shock when they awoke a recent day morning to see three granite sentinels tottering at attention on the campus. Some enterprising nighthawks had snatched up three antiquated gravestones of mid-eighteenth century vintage and planted them in the college's quadrangle during the night.

Nobody seems to know who was responsible for the prank, or where the stone slabs came from... This is indeed a grave problem!

Louisiana State University

At least one student here has some ingenuity. After searching vainly for a place to park, this sharpster pulled into a restricted area, whipped out an old parking ticket, shoved it under his wiper, and went on his way.

He must be living right, because he got away with it.

University of Wisconsin

Wolves, human male type, are in trouble here. The Daily Cardinal reports that the state legislature is passing on a bill which reads, in part, as follows: "any person who shall independently assault and take improper liberties with the person of any female of the age of 18, WITH OR WITHOUT CONSENT, shall be imprisoned not more than three years and fined not more than $500 both."

Colorado University

The Board of Regents approved a ban on freshmen bringing their automobiles to college. A recent study showed that more freshmen cars are on academic probation than first year students who are on their feet for transportation.

The move may also relieve the school's traffic problem. There are more than 4,400 student automobiles now registered with the university. Not all schools, it seems, are fortunate enough to have a subway system.

Madonna College

The Bucknellian reports that a classroom blackboard sported the following poem:

"Now I lay me down to sleep,
The course is long; the subject deep.
If the bell rings before I wake,
Someone give me a gentle shake."

ACS Meeting Due April 30

Students of fourteen colleges and universities will be guests of the College on Saturday, April 30, in connection with a program sponsored by the American Chemical Society.

The program will begin with presentations of student research papers including works by Robert Amster '55, Jack Cazes '55 and Jonas Weiss '55. A prize will be awarded for the best paper in each of three divisions. The papers will be read in 105, 300 and 315 Main.

A luncheon in the faculty dining room will follow the readings. The awards to the three winners will be presented at the dinner.

Following the dinner Dr. Irwin B. Wilson of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University will discuss "Nerve gases, Nerves and Enzymes." A social in the faculty lounge will conclude the program.

Cancer Fund

Caduceus, the College's pre-medical society, has announced a contribution of one hundred and eighty-seven dollars and four cents to the American Cancer Society.

The money was collected in donations from students at the College.

Last semester, Caduceus conducted a similar drive for an organization which aids mentally retarded children. The drive netted a total of ninety-six dollars.

Redmen League Lead

Unbeaten Netmen To Meet Hunter

The College's netmen will be out to capture their fourth straight victory when they tangle with Hunter tomorrow afternoon. The match will be held at the Hunter court.

The Beavers, undefeated this season, have beaten Adelphi, 8-1, Queens, 5-4, and Hofstra, 5½-1½. Beaver Coach Harry Karlin is confident that his squad can handle the Hunter men. "We should not have any trouble beating Hunter," he said. "Our boys are in top condition. After this match we'll really have our work cut out for us," referring to next week's contests with Fordham and NYU.

Coach Morton Thompson's Hunter squad has had only one match this season, a 7-2 triumph over Fort Schuyler. The Bronxites will be out to avenge last season's 8-1 defeat at the hands of the Beavers.

Joe Galletta

Bud Heerlein. DeStefano has been relying heavily on Hank Guckert (beat Hofstra 6-1), Leo Casagrande (stopped Brooklyn in relief), and Fred Walker (whipped St. Peter's 6-3) to take up the slack.

The Redmen hitting attack is led by All Met selection Marty Satalino. He will bat fourth and play left field. The rest of the outer garden will consist of Bob Bohner, in center, and Ricigliano.

Captain Pat Kerrigan, a two year vet will be behind the plate, while Guckert is the leading candidate to pitch. The Johnnies infield has Gil Brady at first, Charley Lehman, at second, Walt Brady, at the hot corner, and Marty D'Amico, shortstop.

The game may be a tip-off to the eventual league champion. Dr. John LaPlace, Beaver mentor is as yet still undecided as to his starting lineup. However, if Joe Galletta, who beat Brooklyn, is in good shape, he may get the nod to start. The Lavender hitting, which has been rather weak all season began to explode against the Kingsmen. Particularly John Ryan and Vince Ciccone, who got two and three hits respectively.

Lavender to Meet Stevens' Stickmen In Home Contest

With its undefeated record on the line, the Beaver lacrosse team will take on a powerful Stevens Tech squad tomorrow afternoon at 2 in Lewisohn Stadium.

Last season, the stickmen took an 11-3 shellacking from the New Jersey team, but this year things may be different.

Thus far this season the Beavers have gained triumphs over Ohio State, Adelphi, and the Alumni. In compiling the victories the team has scored a total of thirty-four points against the opposition's nine. These facts have given Coach Leon "Chief" Miller good cause to be optimistic for tomorrow's game.

"Tomorrow's game is crucial," according to Chief, "because the results will tell just how good the boys are. It could foretell the results of the remaining games, since the rougher teams are yet to come. The game is going to be rough, but if the squad plays as well as it has, and continues to improve, we have a good chance of beating Stevens."

Tomorrow's contest may see the return to service of midfielder Freddy Hannahan, who has been sidelined by a foot injury.

Beaver Runners to Enter Queens-Iona Relays, Tom

By Herschel Nissenson

Sporting a fancy 2-0 record this young season, the College's track and field team will enter two relay teams and seven individuals in the first annual Queens-Iona Relays to be held tomorrow afternoon at Downing (Triborough) Stadium.

The Queens-Iona affair fills the spot on the spring track schedule formerly occupied by the Seton Hall and then the Collegiate Track Conference Relays. Howard Bulger, Iona track coach, reports an entry of twenty-five colleges, including Morgan State, Villanova, Syracuse and Seton Hall from out of town, "and ninety-five high schools. The school events will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock; the college events tomorrow at 1 o'clock.

Coach Harold Anson Bruce has entered the team of Bob Marsh, Abe Blum, Joe Gold and Jim Spencer in the 880-yard relay, while Marsh, Spencer, Gold and Jim Teahan will run in the Collegiate Track Conference mile relay.

There are five other teams entered in the 880-yard relay—Morgan State, St. John's, Villanova, Manhattan and NYU. St. John's will probably be the favorite with Jim O'Connor, Wilbur C. Ningham, Grover Nulty and Lloyd Henry scheduled to toe the mark for Bill Ward's Redmen.

The CTC mile relay figure will be a battle between the Beavers and Adelphi College, anchored by the speedy John Terranova.

In addition, Coach Bruce entered Jack Kushner, Irv S. and Hal Malament in the pole vault, Joe Werfel in the pole vault and Gold, Marsh and Claude Monier in the running broad jump.

Kushner, the only fifty-foot shot putter in the College's history, figures to be among the top five in his event, while Werfel will probably set a new Lavender outdoor record in the vault. The current mark is 12 feet, 2¼ inches, set by Bert Yokel in 1929.
