CAGE OPENER SATURDAY:

Five vs. Adelphi Away

By Marty Ryza

After a short month of practice, the College's basketball team will start tossing them through the hoop for keeps as the cagers meet Adelphi this Saturday night at Garden City, L. I. Coach Nat Holman, in his thirty-fifth year at the helm, is taking a skeptically cautious attitude toward his team's prospects for the season. Because of an ECAC ruling which in effect does not permit any pre-season scrimmages, Holman has not been able to gauge his players' performance under real game pressure. "Formerly we were able to get in six or seven scrimmage games," Holman said.

"But with the new ruling there's no way for me to tell how they'll do. I've only seen them play against one another."

The team's lack of experienced personnel may prove too big a handicap even for Holman. The veteran mentor also lacks capable reserves, while the height situation is doubtful. However, Holman doesn't express great concern about the overall height problem. "With George Jensen at 6'4", Bill Lewis at 6'3", and Syd Levy at 6'8" we should do okay under the boards. Meantime I'll go with Publicity Received by Clubs To Be Studied by SG Comm.

A fact-finding committee to decide whether co-curricular activities are getting adequate publicity in the College newspapers was set up last night by the Student Council Executive Committee. The seven-man committee will investigate charges made in a letter by Hillel president Doris Lang of the "glaring inadequacy of the College's student press in publishing the extra curricular life of the students."

SG to Appoint Chairman

Any recommendations arising from the study will be submitted to Executive.

The committee's chairman will be appointed by Student Government. The remainder of the group will consist of one member from Student Council, one representative each from OP and The Campus, and three other organizational representatives to be selected by Executive.

All organizations that want a representative on the committee examining the newspapers' role in co-curricular activities should notify Gloria Kingsley in writing. Deposit communications in Box A-1, 151 Finley.

In a letter to the Executive Committee explaining her reasons for resigning as Student Government secretary, Iris Goldstein '56, criticized Council's present structure and suggested some changes which "might remedy the situation."

Goldstein Cites Reasons

Miss Goldstein felt that the secretaryship, supposedly an administrative and executive position, is overburdened by a huge amount of clerical work.

In her letter, she proposed that "the position of elected secretary should be eliminated and in its place there should be an elected associate vice-president who would truly be a thinking and participating executive officer. There should be a separate secretariat . . . with

S-F Tea

The first student-faculty tea of the semester will be held tomorrow from 3 to 5 in the formal lounge of the Finley Student Center.

The affair is being sponsored by the wives of faculty members, who will be assisted in the hostessing by the sororities on campus. Prof. Mark Brunswick (Chairman, Music) will supply live music for the occasion.

Curriculum Changes Endorsed by Comm.

By Abe Habenstreit

A committee on inter-departmental teaching completed a two year study this week and submitted its report and recommendations to the faculty of The College of Liberal Arts and Science. Members of the faculty will meet and discuss the recommendations this month.

The Committee on the Self-Study Project was organized in 1953, utilizing a 15,000 dollar grant from the Ford Foundation, and under the auspices of the Curriculum Committee of the College of Liberal Arts and Science.

Purpose of Project

According to Prof. Samuel Middlebrook (English), chairman of the nine-man committee, the purpose of the project was "to compare inter-departmental teaching with that done in more traditional courses controlled by separate departments. Since intense specialization has multiplied both knowledge and power in the modern world, this study goes to the heart of much troubled thought in educational circles throughout the country today."

The committee recommended that the administration of courses in the Science Sequence be transferred to the several departments. It also advocated establishment of a coordinating committee with the responsibilities of developing common understanding of course objectives and integrating course activities.

Courses should be given coordinated departmental designations, according to the report, such as Physics 9 (Science Sequence 1) and Chemistry 9 (Science Sequence 2). This would be of advantage to students who present these courses for credit evaluation in graduate or other institutions.

More Flexible Requirements

Another recommendation of the Self-Study Committee was that the science requirements be made more flexible, with a provision that the student may substitute courses in other departments. This would enable students to skip those science courses in which they have had adequate high school preparation.

SG Posts

The Student Government Executive Committee will elect chairmen for the following posts at its next meeting on Tuesday, December 6 at 5:

- U.N. Week
- Academic Freedom Week
- Brotherhood Week
- Join-a-Club Week
- All-College Prom

Students interested in any of these posts should place their names and qualifications in Gloria Kingsley's mailbox, A-1, in 151 Finley, and attend Tuesday's executive meeting.

Liaison committees for three divisions of the College of Liberal Arts and Science — humanities (arts and languages), social sciences, and natural sciences—were also recommended. Their members should be invited to attend pertinent meetings of any department and they should have the duty of encouraging interdepartmental discussion and statement of related objectives, common values, and methods. It was suggested that the question of an interdepartmental sequence in the humanities be taken up by such a committee.

In regard to teaching, the com-

Classes to Be Suspended For Ceremonies, Dec. 8

All classes will be suspended between 10:30 and 2 next Thursday, Dec. 8, in order that students and faculty members may attend ceremonies officially re-dedicating seven North Campus buildings.

The building are to be renamed: Baskerville, Compton, Goethals, Harris, Klapper, Shepard and Wingate Halls.

Pres. Buell G. Gallagher will preside at the Great Hall program which will begin at 11 with a full-dress academic procession.

Among the speakers will be Dr. Joseph B. Cavallaro, chairman of the Board of Higher Education, Dean Morton Gottschall (Liberal Arts), Prof. Benjamin Harrow (Chemistry), and Prof. Rene Valliant (Rom. Lang.).

Following the Great Hall program, individual dedication ceremonies will be held at each of the seven buildings. Close relatives of each of the men for whom the buildings were named will be present.

The remaining South Campus buildings, except for Wagner and

Prof. Renee Valliant

Finley Halls, will be dedicated in March. Wagner Hall and the Center will be dedicated on Homecoming Day, Sat. May 5.

Donors Needed To Give Blood Dec. 8 and 9

Many more students will have to register for next week's blood drive if the goal of 400 pints is to be met, according to Dan Reganovich '57, chairman of the 1955 drive.

More than one thousand pints were donated last semester, but this term less than 200 students have registered so far. The volunteers from Chi Lambda and Alpha Phi Omega, who have been operating the booths, have found the majority of students to be uninformed and indifferent towards the blood bank.

The bloodmobile will be located in Knittle Lounge on Dec. 8 and 9.

On the South Campus, booths where students may register are located in the main entrance of Finley Center and in the west wing of the cafeteria. The North Campus booths are in Lincoln corridor and in the basement opposite Knittle Lounge.

Help Save a Life

Many times during the College term students are requested to make donations to needy groups. The student meets the pleas as they come, giving a nickel here, a dime there, or a dollar where he thinks it will do the most good.

Twice each year he is given the opportunity to contribute to a campaign of another sort. He is not asked to give any money but to make a donation of a more personal nature. The request is simple enough:

GIVE BLOOD NEXT THURSDAY OR FRIDAY.

Giving blood is harmless and doesn't hurt a bit. But the pint you give may help save a life. There is no need to remember here the many uses to which blood is put. The student who donates to the blood drive is taking out insurance for the time he or a member of his family may become seriously ill and need a transfusion. If this term's quota of 400 pints is not reached, only those students who have given blood will be permitted to draw from the bank.

Many students do not sign up for the blood drive simply because they are afraid to. Actually there is nothing more to giving blood than there is to getting an injection. The pretty Red Cross nurses are very kind and do their best to make each donor as comfortable as possible.

Safeguards are made so that the anemic, recently ill or physically incapable are not permitted to give. Many persons are usually surprised to find it's so easy to give—and feel so wonderful afterwards. Witness the number who have donated before and have signed up again.

Earn your red pin and wear it proudly.

Free milk and cookies are offered all donors.

Stein Fund

The Stein Fund, administered by the College's athletic association, provides money for medical treatment of injured varsity athletes. As such, it is of vital importance to the maintenance of a sound athletic program here. Beginning Monday, student members of the athletic association will start a button sale to collect money for the fund. This deserves ready support from the student body.

In addition to the button sale, the Stein Fund will be bolstered by receipts from the basketball game with Columbia to be held in the Main Gym next Thursday. It is traditional for the basketball team's first home game of the season to be in behalf of the Stein Fund. We hope to see a large ticket sale for the Columbia game.

Unless the Stein Fund coffers are well-filled it could mean that the College will not be able to meet all expenses for athletes who incur injuries in the coming year's competition.

Letters

CAFETERIA GUARDS

To the Editor:

I have been a student at this College for three years. I have exercised a lot of freedom, freedom that I was given and which I accepted because it was evidence that I had arrived at an age of maturity and responsibility. I went to the cafeteria during my free hours to see my friends and to enjoy a break from classes and there was no obligation to sit down, eat, and get out.

Ah, but those wonderful days are gone now. Wonder of wonders, I was sitting in our beautiful new cafeteria on that lovely new campus, when a cute little boy in an olive drab uniform came up to me and categorically told me to turn around and eat or get out.

Now I realize that regulations are necessary. I realize that there are fire laws and such. But of what crime was I guilty in turning my chair, moving it, and talking to my friends at the next table. And for this terrible infringement of the "Law of the Cafeteria." In incurred the wrath of this eminent gentleman of the Law.

It is wonderful that those days of trust are gone. Now we need no longer take responsibility for our actions. The College in its great benevolence has hired "mature adults" to watch us. Don't worry, students, you don't have to think any more. The College's "Secret Police" will tell you what to do.

Don't you love Big Brother?

—Robert Everett Stanfield '57.

Celler Speaks

Rep. Emmanuel Celler (N.Y.), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, will speak on "Big Business in the United States Today" at 12:30 today.

The discussion will take place in 225 Wagner at a joint meeting of the Economics and Government and Law Societies.

Representative Celler will answer questions from the floor upon the conclusion of his speech.

Pres. Reports On WUS Trip

Pres. Buell G. Gallagher reported yesterday that the World University Service executive committee meeting, which he attended in Geneva over the weekend, was especially concerned with the flood situation in India and Pakistan.

President Gallagher is national president and one of the three international vice-presidents of WUS. He shared the duties of chairman for the meetings with the other vice-presidents, due to the absence of WUS president Zakar Hussain of India.

"It was a matter of profound concern to us," he said, "that there are thousands of students there who are without aid. We expect something in the neighborhood of forty or fifty thousand dollars from our present funds. In addition, there will be the money from our present campaigns."

The money will go directly to the students in the form of scholarships in order to help them pay living expenses. Floods have deprived many students of their sources of income.

The Executive Committee meets twice a year, in November and May. During the summer, the International Assembly meets to discuss its plans for the coming year.

Prof. Taffet to 'Call 'Em' At Auction this Afternoon

By Vic Ziegel

Prof. Joseph Taffett (Economics), the College's answer to F. E. Boone, will accept bids today at the annual Chi Lambda auction to be held in 217 Finley at 12.

Proceeds from the sale will go to The American Bookshelf, a division of CARE. The function of the Bookshelf program is to send sets of books to inhabitants of underprivileged countries.

Origin of Idea

The idea of sending books abroad was originated at the College in Prof. Coleman Parsons' English classes where students contributed enough money to send Nigeria, Korea and Japan each a set of books.

Among the objects of interest to be auctioned off will be a monogrammed cigarette lighter formerly owned and operated by Dean James S. Peace (Student Life). A fountain pen will be the contribution of Dr. Jeanne Noble (Student Life). The pen, with which she wrote her Master's and Doctor's theses, should be of considerable value to those students who approach their exams from a superstitious viewpoint.

Donates Best Sellers

Dean Morton Gottschall (Liberal Arts) is considering donating four top best sellers, the most popular of them being "The Year the Yankees Won the Pennant," the book from which the hit play "Damn Yankees," was adapted. Probably the most unusual article to be auctioned off will be a caricature of Joe DeMaio '57.

THE NEWLY FORMED BILU BETH YOUNG ZIONIST DISTRICT OF THE BRONX will hold its Installation of Officers at the Emanuel Synagogue and Center 1302 Elder Avenue, Corner 172 St., Bronx Sunday Evening, December 4th 7:30 P.M. Dancing and Refreshments Everyone is Welcome.

Forty Children To Assist HP In Ticket Sale

Forty children from the Schiff Public School will be on campus tomorrow between 12 and 2, in order to hand out posters advertising House Plan's Carnival and informing students that the proceeds of the dance will go to the United Nations International Children's Fund.

Class 6-2 volunteered to enter the poster contest, sponsored by House Plan. Two of the posters were chosen from all those submitted. A stencil was run off and the children have agreed to distribute the posters in front of the Finley Center.

Tickets for the Carnival are $1.50 per person. They may be obtained in the Finley Ticket Bureau or from students wearing signs indicating that they are selling tickets.

Chrysanthemum Blooms in Parade

By Ed Kosner

Dianne Isaacs, '58, made her debut as a chrysanthemum Thursday, before a standing-room-only audience estimated at two and a quarter million.

A part-time salesgirl, Dianne was among the four thousand vividly costumed Macy's employees who participated in the store's 29th Thanksgiving Day parade.

The brown-haired Physics major and about twenty other co-workers were stationed mid-way along the mile-long procession, with the Mistress Mary float.

Although the girls were supposed to be Mistress Mary's garden, Dianne is dubious about the general impression they evoked from among the spectators. "We wore padded, yellow outfits with green spangles, green masks and we carried green parasols, but we didn't look much like chrysanthemums," she admitted.

At 7, Thursday morning, as the first spectator's staked claims on choice locations along the route of march, Dianne and the other marchers reported to Macy's Herald Square store.

There they squeezed into costumes rented from the Pollack Brothers Circus, and were made up by employees from the cosmetics department. They then hurried to take seats in special busses which carried them to 77th Street and Central Park West, where the parade formed.

When the Mistress Mary float swung into line, Dianne and the other chrysanthemums took their places and soon were on their way down Central Park West to Columbus Circle and then down Broadway to 34th Street.

"It seemed like we had just started when I looked up and saw we were in Herald Square," she said. "It's that way every year," she added. Dianne is a veteran of three Macy parades. Last year she was a Christmas tree and the year before that, a Spanish dancer.

As a veteran parader, although a novice chrysanthemum, Dianne was unfazed by the crowds which lined the route. "It's the fathers who make all the noise," she revealed. "The kids don't say too much—maybe they're bored."

In addition to the hot coffee and donuts, which Macy's served to all the participants, and her pay for the day, Dianne also got to meet two celebrities who appeared in the procession. "I was introduced to Hopalong Cassidy and shook hands with Rin Tin Tin," she reported with a shrug.

Dianne plans to march again next Thanksgiving and has only one complaint about her role as a chrysanthemum this year. "They put Mistress Mary's garden right behind the cavalry," she explained.

mittee recommended that sequence courses should be taught only by experienced men who volunteer. No teacher should be drafted into a sequence program against his will. Also, in order to achieve a greater stability of staff, it was felt that a majority of sequence classes should be taught by teachers with tenure.

Power to initiate change in the curriculum resides in the faculty itself, voting in the Faculty Council, upon recommendations presented by its Curriculum Committee. If passed, these recommendations then go to the Board of Higher Education.

Freshmen Five Plays Panthers In Preliminary Game Saturday

The 1955-56 edition of the frosh basketball team will usher in the new hoop season on Saturday when they meet Adelphi on the Panthers' court in Garden City, in the preliminary to the varsity contest.

Coach Dave Polansky, who has had trouble choosing from his squad of thirty hoopsters because of the even caliber of the players knows only two definite starters, Julio Delatorrie and Steve Morris. Others who have shown well since practice began early in November are Tony Breaux, Alex Delia and Johnny Pardo. Chances are good that their names will appear in the starting lineup.

The frosh will attempt to utilize their speed to their advantage and will probably use the fast break extensively.

The team that coach Polansky will start should average about six feet, which is considered medium height in the college ranks for a freshman squad.

In facing Adelphi, the frosh cagers will be trying to better the record of last year's freshman team of nine wins and six losses.

Dave Polansky

It was the best record a frosh squad has compiled in the past six seasons. —Goldman

Travel to Adelphi

For those interested in going to Garden City for the opening game against Adelphi: By train: Long Island Railroad, Hempstead Div., to Nassau Blvd. Station. By car: Grand Central Parkway to Cross Island Parkway. Cross Island to Route 25 till Nassau Blvd. Right turn at Nassau Blvd. Signs should indicate where Adelphi is.

Riflemen in Triangular Meet Tomorrow Night at College

The College rifle team will put a .500 record on the line tomorrow night when they take on Seton Hall and Fort Schuyler on the Lavender range. The Beavers have a 2-2 record.

The riflemen have split two matches against tough foes and figure to beat the Mariners and the Pirates who have identical records of 2-2. Beaver gunners have been averaging about 1350 per match while Seton Hall has shot in the low 1300's and Fort Schuyler has been hitting the bullseyes in the 1290's.

The deadly one-two punch of veterans Sal Sorbera and John Marsyniak are expected to carry the load for the Beaver riflemen in the coming fray. Both Marsyniak and Sobera have displayed almost professional accuracy in their previous appearances this season, averaging well in the 280's.

One of the main reasons behind the losses to Hofstra and St. John's has been the lack of depth to support the frontline strength. However Sergeant First Class Arthur Carriddi, Beaver mentor, felt that if the marksmanship holds up in actual play as well as it has in practice the Lavender dead-eyes will be tough to beat.

Intramural Roundup

It happened Thursday, Nov. 18: The Tech gym was silent as referee Dave Polansky, Coach of the freshman basketball team, was ready to throw the ball up in the jump that started play in the battle of titans in intramural basketball. Schiff '58 with a perfect slate of 5-0 was pitted against the on-rushing Peglegs whose season's activities were unmarred as they ran up four straight victories.

With big Herb Meyer '58 playing a great game in the bucket and Howie Marcus '58 and Bill

Wang '58 popping from the outside the Peglegs were deadlocked with Schiff. It finally took two overtimes for the Peglegs to stumble off the court with a 30-25 victory.

Going into the last half of season's play the intramural basketball race has the appearance of the tightest scramble in many years. Two teams, the Gadees and the Peglegs, are tied for the lead and Schiff '58 is breathing down their necks.

—Lefkowitz.

Soccer Meeting

The soccer team will hold an important meeting today at 12 in the team locker room. Co-captains Wolfgang Wostl and Bob Lemestre urge that all members attend.

Basketball

these three up front and Lou Berson, my captain, and Ralph Scheflan in backcourt."

Adelphi should provide a rugged opening night assignment for the Beaver hoopsters. No one knows this better than Holman who remembers last year's massacre against the Panthers. The score was 107-78 on the Lavender's home court and this time they'll be away from home.

Adelphi coach George Faherty hasn't named his starting five yet. His choice will be made from veterans Gil Scott, Marty Funk, Bernie Ehrlich, Karl Soderstrom, Harvey Halfond, and Larry McDonough, and Bill Wellens, a good shotmake up from last year's frosh. Ehrlich, the team's biggest at 6'6", scored 20 against the Beavers last time out.

Both teams will be without their high scorer of last season. Don Payne, who racked up 33 points against the Lavender in last year's rout, and Merv Shorr, the College's all-time individual scorer who hit for 28 in that game, have both been graduated.

Of course, Holman is well aware that his team is thin on experience and he has been working his players extra hard to try and make up in part for that handicap.

"They make most of their errors on defense," the coach went on. "Their offensive ball handling is good, maybe better than last year. As we stand right now we could surprise a few of the more experienced clubs we play. Depends on how fast the boys learn during regular season competition."

Hoop Managers

Student managers are needed for the varsity basketball squad, announced Prof. Nat Holman, basketball coach.

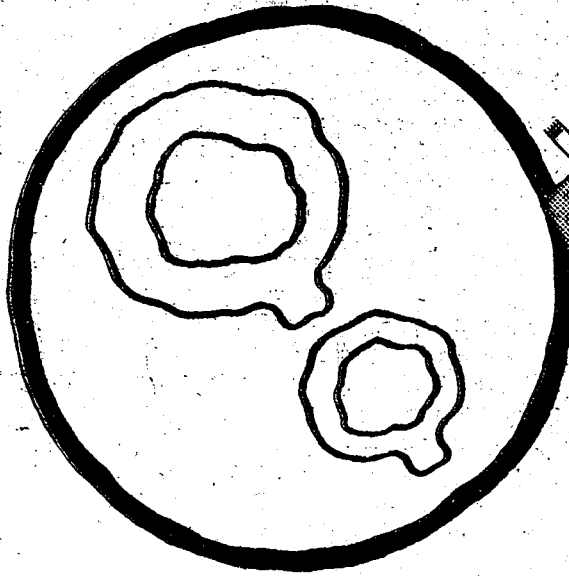

Interested students may see Professor Holman at the Main Gym any day from 4 to 6 during basketball practice.

At present the squad has two managers, but according to the coach, at least three more will be needed.

HI! JOIN ME FOR A LUCKY DROODLE?

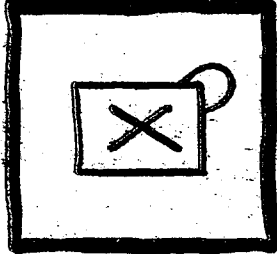

WHAT'S THIS?

For solution, see paragraph below.

HERE'S A DROODLE THAT PACKS A PUNCH. It's titled: Lucky smoke rings blown by prizefighter with tooth missing. It packs a moral, too: Why knock yourself out looking for a better-tasting cigarette when all you have to do is light up a Lucky? Luckies taste better, first, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is TOASTED to taste better. So light up a Lucky. It's the winner — and still champion — for better taste!
