Violet Pollack Selected 'Miss Campus Queen'

By Michael Cook

Violet Pollack '59 was crowned "Miss Campus Queen" at the college's 17th Carnival, in the Great Hall, Saturday night.

Violet was selected from a group of five finalists by a panel of judges headed by Broadway star Jayne Mansfield. The crowning of the Queen climaxed an evening of Carnival merry-making.

About 1400 persons attended the three shows presented in the Great Hall and 200 more wandered through the various booths located on the first three floors of Sheppard Hall.

Admission to the over forty booths was by scrip tickets purchased at tables staffed by House planners and all the proceeds from the affair were contributed to UNICEF.

The three shows changed with each performance and were made up entirely of student talent. Larry Cohen, the "Clown Prince of the College," appeared at all of the shows and Les Block and his band provided the music. Pat Prames, Ivan Newman and Warren Kass provided the vocals. The Ukrainian Student Society presented classical folk dances.

As the last show began, a feeling of expectancy seemed to sweep the Great Hall. Most of the gentlemen canned the hall for Jayne Mansfield and most of the young ladies strained for a sight of the five contestants. After a few minutes of delay, Miss Mansfield made her appearance and was introduced on stage by Dave Reinah, '56, master of ceremonies.

After the judges were seated on stage, the finalists were introduced to the audience, being led down the aisle by members of Compton '56. Bunny Gold, last year's Queen led the procession escorted by David Daly. Miss Francesca Borgatta, "Miss City College of 1970," made her appearance escorted by Prof. Robert Borgatta (Art).

Israeli Consul Gen. Speaks Today at 5

Mr. Semah C. Hyman, Consul General of Israel, will speak today on "The Arab-Israel Crisis." The lecture will be held in the Faculty Room, (200 Shepard) at 5 this afternoon.

In 1945 Mr. Hyman was appointed a member of the Palestinian Government's Panel of Arbitrators in Industrial disputes. In 1948 he served as chairman of the Committee on Civil Service Personnel.

In 1951 he became Israel's Minister to the Union of South Africa, a post which he held until his appointment in 1955 as Consul General of Israel in New York.

The lecture is being sponsored by Tau Beta Pi, the National Honor Engineering Society, and all interested students and faculty members are invited to attend.

Violet Pollack

After the presentations of the contestants, the judges retired to deliberate and thirty minutes later, dark eyed Violet Pollack mounted the six steps to the stage to be crowned Queen.

Miss Mansfield, besieged by autograph hounds, signed happily and declared that this was "the most refreshing experience I have had since leaving college." Miss Mansfield attended the University of Texas, Southern Methodist and UCLA before embarking on her stage career.

Seminar Tomorrow Opens WUS Week at the College

By Doris Ringler

An open seminar on "The Challenge of International Problems to the World University Community" will be held tomorrow from 3 to 6 in the main lounge of the Finley Student Center.

The seminar, sponsored by the World University Service, will commence with an introduction by Mr. Robert Fairgraves, Director of the International Assistance Division of UNESCO. Following this speech will be short talks by experts on the problems in the Far East, Middle East, Europe, and Africa.

After a coffee break, the audience will divide into individual area workshops to discuss the various problems and the impetus which students could give to their solution.

The WUS program this week will also include a Maccabean Festival on Thursday in Townsend Harris auditorium sponsored by Hillel, and an Exhibit on Greek Culture sponsored by the Greek Society.

The exhibition, which will be shown in Lincoln Corridor and Finley Center, will include maps on various areas of Greece, dolls dressed in authentic Greek costumes and jewelry.

In conjunction with WUS week, Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity will

SG Leaders Express Concern Over Uncontested Major Posts

By Jack Schwartz

Student Government leaders and candidates for SG major office have voiced serious concern due to the lack of competition for Friday's Student Government elections. Nominees for important Student Government posts, including the offices of president, vice-president and treasurer are unopposed. The only post in question is that of SG secretary, contested by Stan Wissner '57 and Louise Shacknow '57.

C.E. Professor Selected Head Of S. I. College

Prof. Walter L. Willig (Civil Engineering) has been chosen as the president of the new Staten Island community college which is expected to open in September 1956.

At the request of the Board of Higher Education, Professor Willig and Arleigh B. Williamson, Staten Island member of the Board, surveyed the needs and desires of high school graduates in the Borough of Richmond for post-high school training.

Professor Willig is a member of various professional societies, including the American Society of Civil Engineers, the New York State Society of Professional Engineers, the American Society for Engineering Education and the national honor association, Tau Beta Pi.

Since 1950 Professor Willig has had administrative charge of the graduate program of the School of Technology and of its coordination with the other graduate programs under the Board of Higher Education.

Wilson to Talk At PAC Rally

By Fred Jerome

H. H. Wilson, Professor of Political Science at Princeton University, has agreed to address the Political Action Committee's rally protesting membership lists. The rally will be held in 206 Shepard, Thursday, Jan. 5, from 12:30 to 2.

In a letter to Howard Schumann '57, chairman of PAC, Professor Wilson said:

"I share your dismay at the implications of this administrative action of compulsory membership lists, and congratulate you and your fellow students for taking the initiative in bringing this issue before the student body.

"As a teacher I have a deep conviction that it is a proper and essential aspect of my function to defend the rights of students wherever they may be threatened."

Commenting on the letter, Schumann stated, "PAC is indeed gratified that Professor Wilson has been so eloquently responsive to our ideals and to our plans. He has taken a forthright stand on behalf of the right which should belong to every individual in a free society:

"The liberty to keep his religious and political opinions is a matter for his own conscience and his own heart, and not for any outside authority." We are positive that Professor Wilson's address will encourage many others to join us in our fight to secure this right."

PAC is appealing to non-political students to attend.

It is unfortunate," said SG President Gloria Kingsley '57, "that there were not more people competing. I'm afraid that there just weren't enough people who felt they were qualified to run, but I think that next term, more qualified people will be available."

Competition Keener

Competition is somewhat keener in class office elections, but there are unopposed class office posts as well. "Though there are no campaign worries," said Jared Jussin '56, lone candidate for SG president, "I do not like the idea of running unopposed.

"It is bad for SG to have anyone taking over one of its major posts without opposition. It is bad for the candidate since he does not know whether the students have any confidence in him or not, and it is bad for the students since they have little choice in accepting or rejecting the candidate."

'Few Eligible'

Joel Resnick '56, SG vice-president, thought that the absence of competition for SG posts was due to the fact that relatively few people were eligible to run for major office.

He further felt that the senior and junior classes were deficient in a strong number of capable leaders willing to hold office, as could be evidenced by the performances of their class councils.

"This has also spread the feeling of inertia in the class of '58 as far as SG positions for secretary and treasurer are concerned," pointed out Resnick, "since sophomores eligible for major office this term do not feel it necessary to run for a contested position in order to gain experience, when they are assured virtually no opposition in following terms."

Concert to Feature Opus by Brunswick

The second program of the Music Department's 1955 Winter Concert Series will be given in the Finley Center Auditorium this Thursday at 12:30.

Highlighting the program will be the first performance of "Seven Trios For String Quartet," a new composition by Prof. Mark Brunswick (Chairman, Music).

Also to be presented are Mozart's "Trio For Clarinet, Viola, and Piano, K. 498" and "Trio For Horn, Violin, and Piano, Opus 40" by Brahms.

On the following Thursday, Dec. 22, the third in this series, featuring compositions by Bach and Britten, will be presented.

Pearl Schenkler

again sponsor a "Miss World" contest. Pearl Schenkler '57 is The Campus' entrant in the contest.

Friday night WUS will sponsor a dance in the Grand Ballroom of Finley Center in honor of all the foreign students at the College. Betty Green '56 will provide a program of folk songs of many lands. Vivian Best '57 and her partner, winners of a dance contest on the television program "Step This Way" will also be in the program.

A Look at the Issues

The student body will be confronted by a myriad of statements and opinions by Student Government candidates in Thursday's newspapers. It is vital that the rhetoric be hacked away by voters, for if candidates fail to face the issues, they do not deserve office.

Since Thursday's paper will be devoted primarily to the individuals involved in the elections, we will use this space to outline the issues themselves.

The most pressing problem that SG will have to deal with is the question of an adequate apportionment of fees to student activities. At present, there aren't enough funds for a healthy activities program. A 25 cent SG fee has been proposed, but there is little possibility of its going into effect next semester, even if the referendum is approved. Other sources of money will have to be found unless a serious and extensive evaluation is undertaken of the services which organizations on campus perform. Fees could then be allotted accordingly. The candidate who claims that activities are thriving with present funds is either being naive or is refusing to face facts.

Membership lists remain a source of controversy on campus. The administration is doubtless keeping its fingers crossed, but there are too many students opposed to the ruling to allow the issue to die. Our views against the lists have been aired more than once. In this analysis, we will only state that no platform is complete without a stand on membership lists.

The Student Faculty Committee on Student Affairs initiated the membership ruling, and the referendum concerning the body's role will be put before the students Friday. According to the proposal, SFCSA would be barred from passing legislation affecting student activities. With SFCSA solely as a review body, Student Council would have to expand its legislative duties. The whole question hinges on the degree of maturity and ability of SG's representatives, who would have to assume a larger responsibility.

With the expansion of the College, the role of SG has been placed in a different perspective. Opinion varies from those who are urging the growth of Student Government into all areas of College activity to those who feel that the present agency system should be tightened before expansion is undertaken. The former group feels that the expanding role is an absolute essential if Council is to keep pace with the growth of the College. The other group feels that too much unfinished work remains and that there is an urgent need for better organization of the existing committees. If Council expands its scope without bringing its agencies under an effective span of control, they feel it will dissipate and lose its effectiveness.

The candidates ideas on this issue will be of vital concern, for upon them will depend the effectiveness of SG. Watch out for lofty generalizations—they look nice on paper but they are hard to practice in office.

Another point of contention lies in the area of the government of the Student Center. The issue revolves mainly on how much control the students will have in the Center. At present, the students' share of control in the Center is represented by the Board of Managers (composed entirely of students), and the Board of Directors (composed of students, faculty and alumni).

The Board of Managers is responsible for the day-to-day operation of the Center, while the Directors are responsible for over-all policy. Articles have appeared in the papers concerning the issue of student control. Some students have been content to merely talk, while others have tried to act and many times have succeeded. No candidate is going to oppose student control in the Center, but an attempt should be made to ferret out the realistic aims from the usual barrage of campaign fodder.

Thursday's issue of The Campus, will deal with the individuals running for office. It would be a shame if, as so often happened in the past, those candidates more popular than others, or those with alliterative names, or those with any other qualities save ability were elected. Unopposed candidates must also be judged by the student body. The size of the vote for these candidates should indicate how well they met the issues. Elections become a farce, however, when stub-holders vote capriciously.

BLOODIED BUT UNBOWED:

Mercury Out Tomorrow

By Barbara Ziegler

Bloodied but unbowed, Mercury, the College's humor magazine, will go on sale tomorrow, Thursday and Friday at the price of a quarter.

Ronald Rower '56, editor-in-chief of the magazine, said that "despite the fact that a committee has been instituted for the purpose of reviewing Mercury, this issue is exactly the same as previous ones."

According to Rower, both the town and downtown faculty advisers, Prof. Coleman O. Parsons (English) and Prof. William T. Givvy (English), "have read and approved the magazine in its entirety. In fact," he added with faces of astonishment, "they even raised some portions of it."

Rower said that he was not expecting any trouble with the Publications Committee over anything in the new issue, but then added, of course, in the past we never expected to have any trouble either."

In the event that Mercury would refuse to cooperate, the committee will file a report with the Board of Higher Education. Featured in the latest edition of Mercury are a Christmas story, an article on girls playing field hockey on the campus and a short satire entitled "How to be Your Own Review Board."

In addition, there is a story called "Love Without Fear," or "The Bed," which shows the superiority of liberal arts students over tech students in ability to court girls.

Technology Training Program Initiated with Foreign Nations

By Joe Spadaro

An exchange program for summer training in foreign countries for technology students has been initiated at the College.

It is designed to create an opportunity for undergraduate students to develop critical faculties observing abroad new technical and intellectual methods by one-job technical training.

According to Prof. Lawrence W. Hem (ME), the College's consultant for the association, it is not a scholarship, but a technical training program in which the trainee will receive a weekly wage, sufficient to cover his maintenance while actually employed.

In order to be eligible a student must have completed his third year of engineering study, be willing and able to pay for his own transportation to and from the country which he will be training, have practical technical experience in his own country and must be endorsed by a school official.

The program is sponsored by the International Association for the Exchange of Students for Technical Experience, a non-profit, non-governmental organization.

The United States first participated last summer. Finland, Germany, India, Israel, Turkey, and Yugoslavia are among the twenty one countries in the association. More than 2,500 companies registered, made available over 5,000 jobs for undergraduate students of all nations last summer.

Students who would like applications or further information can receive it from Professor Hem, 105 Goethals Hall. Professor Hem urges all students interested in the program to look into it immediately for applications must be filed no later than mid-December.

The Institute of International Education will assume responsibility for the administrative arrangements which include visas, international travel, and related formalities.

an opponent in the 147 pound class. Gugino drew a point and started to wrestle defensively. Goffa got the point back by reaching a neutral position and then Goffa went into a defensive act refusing to take the initiative. Gugino won on a time advantage 2-1.

Ira Zingmond got back the three points as he easily defeated Steve Schiller. Bernie Stoll, "a greatly improved wrestler" according to Sapora, completed the Beaver scoring when he decided Ed Henn in the 167 pound bracket.

Bob Siegel was defeated by the Farmer's John O'Hara, and Jim Zoubandis, giving away at least thirty pounds, was pinned in 8:51 by Aggie Fred Hinch.

The Beaver J. V. defeated the Aggie Juniors 28-8 as Mike Steurman, Fred Starita and Al Work registered five points each on falls.

Riflemen Lose to Fordham; Sorbera Is Leading Scorer

The Beaver rifle team, which defeated Seton Hall and New York State Maritime Academy in a triangular meet last week, was not able to keep on its winning way as it went down to defeat before a strong Fordham squad at Rose Hill, last Friday night.

The Lavender, who were outpointed 1405-1381, dropped 12 points from last week's season high of 1393.

Mermen Win

Newcomer Joe Weissman provided a delightful surprise to Beaver boosters by winning the diving competition handily. In the 50 yd. freestyle struggle Richie Silverstein completely outdistanced the rest of the pack. The 200 yd. Individual Medley saw Jerry Lopatin, Sol Stern, Shelly Manspeizer and Al Warshower form a winning team.

For Manhattan the only bright spot in the meet was the fine work turned in consistently by Red Bowles and Dave Nichols.

Summary

300 yard Medley Relay—Won by CCNY (Sol Stern Sheldon Manspeizer, Al Warshower). Time 3:19.
220 yard Free Style 1, Jim Johnson, CCNY; Red Bowles, Manhattan. Time 2:27.

200 yard Breaststroke—Won by CCNY—1, Manspeizer; 2, Mike Grossman, CCNY. Time 2:46.
400 yard Free Style Relay—Won by Manhattan—1, Red, Bowles, Man. 2, Dave Nichols; Man. Time 4:10.3.

Sorbera, Marsyniak, Lead

The nimrods were paced once again by their one-two punch of Sal Sorbera and John Marsyniak, who hit scores of 285 and 277 respectively. This was not enough to offset two Ram sharpshooters who scored 287 and another who tallied 284.

Sergeant First Class Arthur Cariddi, who coaches the riflers, was not displeased with his team's showing despite their loss. "We shot well but they had three men in the 280's" he commented. "We have been firing good scores and losing close matches."

Six Over 270

Sergeant Cariddi, who was displeased about the poor system of the Fordham range in which there was much interference, noted that six Beavers hit scores of over 270.

The nimrods, who now sport a 4-3 record, will try to improve on it when they meet Rutgers this Friday.

Hunter Tops Five, 67-62, For Beavers' Third Defeat

By Larry Levin

The Hawk proved to be as tough as the Lion. After last Thursday's defeat at the hands of Columbia, the College's basketball team lost its third consecutive game this year dropping a 67-62 squeaker to Hunter in the Wingate Gym, Saturday night.

This was the Hawks third straight victory of the season and the first time they have beaten the Beavers in the four year competition between the two schools.

Milan Stars

Led by Ed "Lefty" Milan, who scored a total of 16 points, the Hawks came from a seven point deficit 50-43 late in the second half to upset the Lavender.

What is most surprising about Hunter's triumph is that they played the entire second half without the services of their high scorer Ira Schwartz.

Schwartz had 14 points for the first half but was ejected from the game with less than a minute to go in the half, for intentionally pushing Arnie Weinstein as he drove down court for a layup.

Weinstein was unable to take the two free throws awarded him and saw no further action for the night.

With the half-time score at 36-35, in favor of the College, the absence of Schwartz added to the probability of a Beaver victory, but Syd Levy, the College's 6'8" center had four personals and Ralph Schefflan had three.

Levy Fouls Out

In five minutes of the second half, Levy fouled out and with him went a large portion of the College's rebounding. Syd had also scored eight points.

Both teams exchanged the lead in the last half, though the Beavers held it most of the time. With Bill Lewis hitting 10 of his 12 points this half, the Lavender held a 60-59 margin with less than three minutes to go.

However, Coach Mike Fleischer's Hawks were not to be counted out, as Dick Scott hit on a drive and George Farlekas pumped in a jump shot to leave the Beavers one behind. Captain Lou Berson retaliated with a jumper from the foul line to give the Lavender a 62-61 lead with about 50 seconds to go.

This time the Hawks worked the

Grapplers Win Opener, 16-13; Aggies Losers

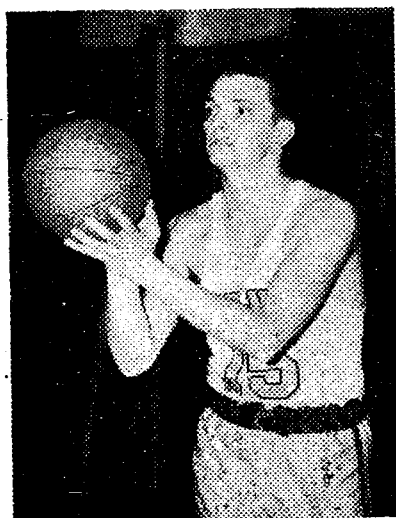

The College's wrestling team got the new season off to a quick start by defeating the Long Island Aggies 16-13 in the Tech Gym, Saturday.

Although only three points separated the teams at the end of the match, the Beaver grapplers had things sewed up before the last two bouts. The lightweights and middleweights, as coach Joe Sapora had expected, were the point getters, picking up the total of 16.

Sal Sobera, in the 123 pound class, was wrestled to a 2-2 tie by Curt Schmitt, but Al Taylor came through with a fall at 3:25 of his bout against Don Beyer. Vince Norman defeated Ed Vohringer on a time advantage, giving the grapplers a 10-2 lead.

The next bout was easily the most frustrating one for the Lavender. Sonny Golia, one of Sapora's newcomers, drew Jack Gugino for ball slowly and Farlekas hit on another jump shot, followed by Bob Sack's basket to sew up the victory.

Mermen Win Initial Meet Swim By Jaspers, 62-22

The Beaver swimmers maintained their customary form as they racked up their sixteenth consecutive league victory by trouncing the Manhattan College mermen by a lopsided score of 62-22, Friday night. The season's opener took place at the Wingate pool before an unusually large group of onlookers.

Coach Jack Rider

Elect Swim Capt.

Jimmy Johnson, a junior, has been named captain of the swimming team, Coach Jack Rider announced last week. Johnson is a free-styler who has already bettered, in practice, several College records.

Led by Captain Jimmy Johnson, who captured three events, the natators again rated the accolades that they garnered as they won the Metropolitan Swimming Conference championship the past two years.

Completely reversing the dire pre-season prediction of Coach Jack Rider, the Lavender merman might have made a complete sweep of the night's action if they hadn't been disqualified in the last event.

The top free-stylist Jimmy Johnson proved his mettle by winning the 220 yd., 100 yd., and 440 yd. free-style events. His 2:27 in the 220 was one of the best times turned in during the entire evening.
