Setup of Speed Reading Clinic Requested by Education Comm.

By Abe Habenstreit

The setting up of a speed reading clinic was recommended to Student Government Executive Committee last night by the Educational Practices Agency.

The Agency recommended that an incoming freshman class be proficiency. If a large enough percentage of students are found to be deficient, the Agency recommends that a compulsory course in speed reading be set up in the curriculum. President Buell G. Gallagher and the four deans have already been approached to determine which department will have iurisdiction over the program, according to Mike Kyriakox, '59, Chairman of the Educational Practices Agency.

Joel Resnick, '56, Student Government Vice President said, "I feel very encouraged by the report of the Educational Practices Agency and the action of the Student Government Executive Committee. This is another intested to determine their reading stance where Student Government has played its proper role in representing student opinion to the faculty of the College."

Kyriakox noted that the Educational Practices Agency is also working on a program to help incorporate freshmen into school life. "Freshman advisors do not seem to be doing anything for freshman," he said. "Possibly changes in the Technology curriculum are also under the consideration of the agency," Kyriakox stated. Stanley Brottman, '59, was appointed Co-Chairman of the Educational Practises Agency

Fee Committee Discloses Balance of 1500 Dollars

By Barbara Zeigler

The Student Faculty Fee Committee revealed last night that it had 1500 dollars remaining in Student Activity Funds after all final appropriations had been alloted. The balance together with the State Grant Gives 6 Million appropriated funds which has not been used by various organizations will be returned, and the entire For Teacher Ed. Program surplus will be put into unappropriated funds which will be used next semester.

By Mike Cook

Six and one-half million dollars has been appropriated to the City by New York State for assistance in teacher education in the four municipal colleges. A portion of this amount will be given to the College.

The amount that will eventual-@ ly be allocated to the College will appropriated for the operating be divided into two parts. The first part of the sum will come under the heading of general assistance and the second will be especially designated for teacher training.

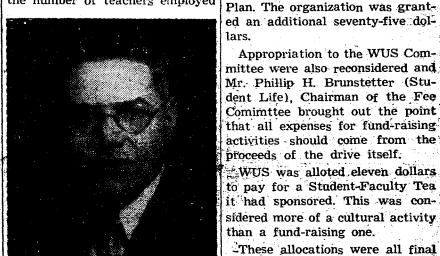

New Provisions Made

Under the teacher training allocation, provision will be made for a tuition free fifth year at the College, establishment of education clinics, classroom training, library and audio visual facilities, research, evaluation and the selection; counseling and placement of students. This amount has been approximated at 360 thousand dol-

New York State has been making annual grants for teacher education assistance since 1948. Prior to that time, the majority of the money for the programs in the four municipal colleges was supplied by the city itself.

Dean Harold Abelson (Education) explained that "the annual grant is dependent on the amount budget of the eleven upstate teachers' colleges and the ratio of the number of teachers employed in New York City to the number employed upstate.

"Good Batting Average"

"While this does not really pay for the cost of teacher education in New York City," the dean continued "the state subsidy, and in particular, the earmarking of a portion of the subsidy for the purpose of strengthening our program has enabled us to develop truly outstanding teacher education programs in the municipal colleges.

The College "boasts a very good batting average as far as students who prepare for teaching going into the profession," Dean Abelson added. -

Grossman Elected Editor of 'Campus'

Henry Grossman '57, was chosen editor-in-chief of The Campus for the spring '56 semester, at a staff election last week.

Grossman, a nineteen-year old pre-law major, was features editor last semester and succeeds Ronald Salzberg '56, who was elected associate editor.

Others elected to the managing board were: Sam Stein '57, managing editor and Morty Schwartz '57. business manager. Ed Kosner '57, was selected news editor and Eli Sadownick '57, features editor.

Completing the managing board are Abe Habenstreit '59, associate news editor; Sheldon Podolsky '56, sports editor; and copy editors Barbara Rich '59, Jack Schwartz '59, and Barbara Zeigler '58.

Dramsoc Play In Harris Aud.

As part of a program to broaden the cultural horizons of engineers, Tau Beta Pi, the honorary engineering society, is sponsoring a Dramsoc production of "Hello Out There." The one-acter by William Saroyan will be given today at five in the Townsend Harris Auditorium.

This will be a workshop production directed by David Margulies '57 who has never directed before. New people are getting a chance to act and the College will see an interesting, experimental production. Since there is no admission, costs are being kept at a minimum and the play is being given sans sets and with very few props or technical equipment.

The cast consists of four main characters, played by Don Raynolds '56, Lieselotte Singer '57, Sam Shaet '56 and Judy Goldsmith' '57 and two minor roles played by Frank Quinlan '57 and Neil Cooper

Kingsley to Preside Over PAC Rally, January 5

Gloria Kingsley '57, Student Government' president, 'Has agreed to preside over the Political Action Committee's rally protesting membership lists. The meeting will take place on Thursday, Jan. 5, from 12:30 to 2, in 306 Shepard.

The demonstration will be officially sponsored by the FDR Young Democrats, since PAC is not an official campus organiza-

In consenting to chair the rally, Miss Kingsley said, "this rally will give the student body an opportunity to show their sentiments against the lists. I consider it a great privilege to be asked to be chairman.'

Howard Schumann '58, president of the FDR Young Democrats and chairman of PAC, was "delighted" to have as chairman of the rally "one who has worked so diligently in the best interests of all students. Her agreement to preside at the protest rally indicates Miss Kingsley's determination to continue her fine work."

Letters

Simple 'Sweenee'

To the Editor:

I am not in the habit of spending my time writing letters which probably will never be read, but the assiduous atempt by a one Mr. (David) Margolies to destroy the subtlety of T.S. Eliot as well as heaping calumny upon our school's intelligentia must not go unavenged. The platitudes which he uses to describe the New Theater Studio's play of last Saturday night resemble some of my worse Grade school compositions.

He implys that the play 'Sweenee" is really an elementary one. Sort of a See-Dick-See-Dick-Run-Run-Run kind of drama. Then he follows with the second thrust, namely that it seemed to be the "fashion" for the students at the performance to gape like so many drooling idiots. Well, Mr. Margolies, perhaps you may be mistaken as to who the drooling idiot

To sum up Eliot's message as "Life is death," is as meaningful as attributing the First World War to the assasination of the Archduke of Austria. It is a gross case of oversimplification. Perhaps this is the only thing Mr. Margolies understands. Anyway, what does "Life is Death" mean? Life is life, not 'death (see 'dictionary). But if we point this out to our critic, he would doubtless respond wittily what am I, a philosopher or something?"

I would like to humbly suggest that Mr. Margolies switch his major immediately to home economics, or some area where there are simple cause and effect relationships. Simplify, that's the motto.

Reading

In another act, the Executive Committee recommended two new members to next terms Executive Committee.

Michael Horowitz, '59, was recommended to be the member of Student Government Executive Committee responsible for student-faculty committees Martin Jacobs, '57, was recommended to be the member in charge of clubs and organizations. The recommendation will be taken up Student Council today.

The Executive Committee also decided last night that keys to officers in the Finley Student Center will be given out through the Facilities Agency, Bulletin boards in the corridors are also under the supervision of the Facilities Agency.

Ken Weissman, '57, Chairman of the Student Government Facilities ATgency, issued that Agency's financial statement to the Executive Committee last night. He reported that his agency is 198 dollars in the black.

The Three

Wise Men ·拳拳拳拳拳拳拳 By Ronald Salzberg ·泰拳拳拳拳拳拳

It was the week before Christmas and the three wise men were seated around the table. It was snowing outside and the wind was howling, but inside the three men were warm and full of good cheer (99 proof good cheer). They each had in front of them a copy of a magazine called Mercury. They had been asked by the Board of Higher Education to review the magazine.

The three had been on many review boards before and this stuff had become old hat to them, but they were facing a dilemma. They had read the issue from cover to cover and couldn't find anything objectionable. Any good review member worth his sait knew what this meant—a life-time ban from review boards.

They all sadly recalled the fate of one of their colleagues who had been on a comic review board. He had found the comic book in question "Wholesome," and even commented that his children read it. "They've got him covering weddings and bar mitzvahs now," added the first wise man.

"I really didn't want to be on this committee, but you know it adds to your reputation," said the second man. "I could have been on one investigating horror books," said the third, "but they're so easy you know. Anyone can find something wrong with them. This one is a challenge."

Something just had to be done and so they thought some more. In order not to lapse into a mood of melancholia they passed around some more cheer (90 proof). It was almost twelve. They went through the issue once more.

"They've got to be concealing something somewhere," said one, "Perhaps the issue is written like a cryptogram or a code. Now, let's suppose that every B is really a D. Therefore, since the vowels always appear more . . . '

So they tried this for a few hours, but there was still nothing wrong with the issue. In fact, some of the jokes were even funnier when they used this code. "It's almost Christmas," said the third one. If we don't find anything wrong with this issue there's going to be a lot of unhappy deans and Board members." Each knew what failure meant, so they became more determined as the night wore on. The first man saw himself permanently assigned to the crossword puzzle section. The second man saw himself delivering Early-Bird editions for the rest of his life. The third manpictured himself consigned forever as Westbrook Pegler's copy-boy.

They passed the cheer around again.

The third man sat up started "I've got it. Why didn't we see this before? Look at these six pages devoted to a man who has flying reindeer and a sleigh full of toys. It's got to be a Freudian sex

"That's Santa Claus," added the second man. There was an embarrassing silence as the third man was brought back to reality. "Oh yes, I've forgotten. But I think that's our only hope. We've got to prove that it's a sex symbol."

They realized he was right. It was their only choice. They passed the cheer around again and started to figure out how to accomplish this, when suddenly they heard the sound of sleigh bells.

They went to the window and there they saw the very same little man they had been discussing. "He's passing our window," said one. "Let's see if he has any ideas himself."

So the three of them climbed onto the ledge and waited. "He's not stopping," said the first man. "Well, let's jump into the back of the sleigh as he passes," said the second man.

So as the sleigh passed, the three men leaped from the ledge . The next morning the cleaning man was very surprised when he found in one room on the top floor three copies of Mercury and one almost empty bottle of cheer (90 proof). He took the copies of Mercury and being very low on spirits, he made good use of the cheer. We can't explain what happened to the committee unless you believe in Santa Claus, which is rationless. And if you don't believe in him it only makes the situation worse.

·Moral:

1. Alcohol and review boards don't mix.

2. They're not making Mercuries like they used to. 3. Seek and ye shall find (well almost always).

Beaver Five Seeks First Win Miller Readies For Season In Game With Queens Tonight Rank Lacrossemen Highe

Still looking for its first victory of the season, the College's basketball team will take the court against Queens at the latters gym tonight.

Although they lost their fourth game, against Lafayette, Saturday night, the Beaver five performed very creditably. Paced by Ralph Schefflan's 22 points, they trailed the Leopards by only 2 points, 41-39, at the half.

Their performance was a reversal of form following their poor showing against Hunter. If they play as well tonight they should snap their losing streak against a Queens team that has won once in five outings.

Knights Led by Hill

The Knights are led by Junior Don Hill, a forward, and Soph Bob Bass who is slated to start at one of the guard positions. The 6'3" Hill has racked up 94 points so far, an average of almost 19 per game. Bass has accounted for 63 points. The other positions will be filled by team captain Leo Saldinger at the guard, George Harvey, forward, and Jim Lawler at Center. Lawler at 6'5" is the tallest of the starters.

If the Beavers take this one it will be an ideal Chirstmas gift for all concerned. Should they lose it will be the first time its happened in five tussles between the schools. Last year the Beavers overpowered the Knights by thirty-five, 95-60. The three players who provided most of the scoring power, Mery Shorr, Jack McGuire, and Herb Jacobsohn have all graduat- In 22-8 Rout ed. They poured in 72 points between them with Shorr getting 34.

Holman Surprised

Lavender coach Nat Holman was pleasantly surprised by his team's showing against Lafayette. In fact, he became so enthusiastic at one point in the game that he applauded their efforts. "They certainly pleased me," he said. "From what other coaches had told me about Lafayette I didn't hope to do so well.

The Leopards pulled out of reach in the second half when their superior experience began to tell." Our lack of experience has been hurting us and it showed up again on Saturday. Our defensive errors in the second half proved costly. That's the way its been this season—an uphill fight all the way.

Added to the defensive lapses was the troublesome zone defense that Lafayette used all night. "It we didn't have the outside shooting to crack it. Anyway, the team did very well considering how undermanned we are."

Soph Calls Score; Wins Hoop Tickets

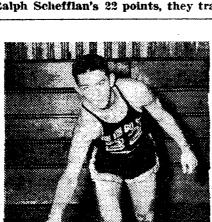

Stephen Spyer '58, an engineering major has won the second Campus Guess Meter contest. The victorious soph credits his success to his Tau Delta Phi fraternity brothers

"I couldn't have done it without them," he said.

Spyer picked a score of 79-68, four off the correct Lafayette score and only three off the Beaver total. He chose Ralph Schefflan as high scorer and was only three points off the Beaver guard's total output. He wins two ducats for the Lavender-Rutgers game on Jan. 7.

Entries should contain the score prediction, the Beaver high scorer, and his points. They must be sent to The Campus office, 327 Finley by Friday, January 6 at 5.

The winner will receive two tickets to the Beaver-Wagner home tilt, Saturday, Jan. 28.

Lafayette Pins Wrestling Team

Facing the team that Coach Joe Sapora considered their "toughest opponent" of the season, the College's wrestlers were defeated by Lafayette College, 22-8, in the Tech gym, last Saturday.

The College's Sal Sorbera opened the afternoon's activity by outpointing Garth Heivly in the 123 lb. event. Al Taylor extended the Beaver lead to 8-0 when he pinned the Leonards' Lee Schleikorn in the 130 lb. event, but Lafayette came back strong in the heavier contests to take the next six matches for its victory.

Three straight decisions by the Leopards put the visitors ahead, 9-8. They iced their victory in the 167 lb. match, when Bernie Stolls put up a good battle only to be pinned by Lafayette's Bob Stern.

Despite the lopsided loss, Coach Sapora was more than satisfied with the team's showing He fee. was a tight zone all the way and that the score was not indicative of the way the grapplers fought. "Since Lafayette was our toughest opponent," the coach commented, "I believe we will do better as the season progresses."

> Sapora, who was impressed with the work of all the matmen, singled out the work of Sorbera. Taylor, and Stolls. "Stolls," the coach said, "fought the best match of the day even though he was pinned.

> The next time the wrestlers compete will be on January 7, when they face Wilkes College, in the Tech gym.

Scoreboard

The new electric scoreboard in the Wingate Gym was in operation for the first time during the Lafayette game last Saturday.

College fans were very happy to see the premiere of the board that features an electric clock that ticks the seconds off one by one. Wiring difficulties forced the postponement of the board's operations scheduled to begin with the opening home game against Columbia.

Tickets

Tickets are still available for the Brooklyn basketball game on Wednesday, December 28, at a cost of fifty cents for Athletic Association members and one dollar for non-members. They are available in 02, Lewisohn Stadium.

Although the lacrosse season is five months away, coach I "Chief" Miller is ready to accept candidates for the squad. The "Chie starting his twenty-sixth season at the College, is expecting a g showing in the coming competition.

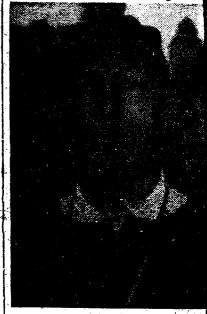

Since last season the College has been elevated in the nation ranking from 37th to 22nd and Miller wants to assure his standi by fielding a good team, not lacking in bench strength. The veteran coach, therefore, wants to allay any of the fears some prospective candidates may have concerning injuries and their frequency.

Lacrosse, a contact sport, has, in actuality, less injuries than the non-contact sport of basketball. For those who saw last year's Ohio State game and saw Ronnie Rifler injured, the coach explains, 'what happened was Ronnie's own fault. He was not injured by the perfectly legal clubbing he got while lying on the ball. Ronnie hurt himself when he fell on the ball and landed on his shoulder. He should have rolled off the ball and cleared it."

All the boys who come out will get into some sort of competition. "If they are good enough it will be on the varsity, if they are just learning then they will play for the JV, but they all will play," Miller concluded.

Miller has lost a good portion of his starting team including Ralph Kelley, Milt Perlow, Stuey Namm, Johnny Pirro and Mel Schnoll, but Rifler will be returning along with Stan Speilman,
