Personalities Featured On First WVCC Show

By Ed Kosner

A ten year dream became a reality yesterday at noon WVCC, the College's radio station, went on the air for the first time.

WVCC, "The Voice of the City College," operated by the Beaver Broadcasters, transmits on a frequency of 550 cycles on a closed circuit in the Main Building.

Equipment for the station was constructed from spare radio parts by Bob Lifton '58 and Kay Am '58.

Among the personalities who appeared on the first, hour long program were Pres. Buell G. Gallagher, who made the introductory speech, and television informers Steve Allen and Ernie Kovacs.

Allen, in a taped interview, called his start in radio on an undergraduate station at Drake University. He advised students interested in radio or television work to seek jobs out of the metropolitan area where competition is less intense.

The Kovacs interview was on a more informal plane. The DuPont television star suggested commercials for the College station. As an example he cited a simple advertisement for exam sweater-bearing shirt cuffs. At the close of the interview he reminded the interviewers that their tape recorder was unconnected and screamed "Bring in the bottle," as the tape ended.

WVCC plans to continue the present series of test broadcasts from 12 to 1 on Wednesday and Thursday between 12 and 2. The station will expand operations next week when programs are set from 12 to 1 every day, with a two hour program on Thursday from 12 to 2.

Vets

Dr. Arthur Taft, Director of Veterans' Affairs, advises all veterans, entitled to educational allowances under Public Law 550, to sign the monthly certifications and turn in their March attendance reports immediately following their last class at the end of this month, if they want to receive their subsistence checks on time.

Prompt action on the part of veterans is necessary because of the annual calendar situation and the up-coming Easter recess.

'Family Life' Return Urged By Liebowitz

By Sheldon Scherr

Judge Samuel S. Liebowitz, last Friday called for a "return to family life and religion" to fight the "juvenile delinquency problem which exists today."

"Speaking before an audience of over one hundred and thirty people in 200 Main, the Judge stated that "home life" as we know it no longer exists. One out of every three marriages today results in divorce. Children are no longer brought up to know what the home means.

"We had no playgrounds, no groups sending kids to country camps in the summer when I was a kid," said Judge Liebowitz. "But we respected our father, whether he was a drunkard or a distinguished citizen."

"There are no neighborhoods in the city today having real community life as they did when I was young," continued the Judge. "Chinatown is the only real community, and it has the lowest rate of juvenile delinquency."

The judge went on to criticize the newspapers and movies as "dispensars of sewage feeding filth to our kids." He commented

Conflict in Views Delays Tour Plan Of Russian Editors

By Ben Patrusky

The visit of eleven Russian editors to the College still remains a possibility although negotiations between the Institute for International Education and the Soviet Embassy in Washington were temporarily delayed, according to Bob Colten, Evening Session NSA delegate, who is maintaining contact with the Institute.

Colten explained that Mr. Arthur C. Nagle, Director of Special Programs at the Institute which will handle the tour, had conferred with the Soviet Embassy last week to select the colleges which would be included as possible hosts to the Russian visitors. The delay came about as a result of conflicting views over the proposed itinerary. Mr. Nagle will resume negotiations with the Embassy this week.

Visas Refused

Student Council last Wednesday passed a resolution to extend an invitation to the Russian editors to visit the College, and informed the Institute of its decision. Colten advised, however, that "the Institute must receive permission from the school administrations first before the touring delegation will be allowed to visit the schools concerned."

The Russian editors from college and youth newspapers originally applied for visas last summer but were refused by the State Department. It was felt that most of the schools were closed during the summer and the Russian editors would not fulfill the purpose of its tour.

Arrive in April

Another application was made and entrance visas were granted on March 8.

The Russian editors will arrive at the end of April or the beginning of May and will remain for three weeks. Two students from the Russian Institute at Columbia will accompany the delegation as guides and interpreters.

Thieves Rob Two In Fifteen Minutes

The College's wave of robberies continued last week as two students were robbed within the space of fifteen minutes, one in front of Music and Art High School, and the other in the Hygiene Building.

Last Tuesday, after Esther Feldblum '57, had her pocketbook snatched away by two thirteen year old boys in front of the High School, the youths removed a wallet containing fifteen dollars and threw the bag to the ground.

Charles Dubinsky '59, found that his gym locker had been ransacked. Missing were an undisclosed amount of money, text books, a watch and a cigarette lighter.

Student Five Beats Faculty As De-Emphasis Hits Peak

Sports de-emphasis at the College reached its peak last Saturday night in the Main Gym, when a squad of hustling students outlasted a game faculty five, 44-32 in a contest vaguely resembling a basketball game.

The game was the central feature of the College's first Student-Faculty Night and was attended by a crowd of over 180 students, who made enough noise for two thousand. The contest was refereed by Pres. Buell G. Gallagher, who sported a blue outfit and handlebar mustache.

Holman Honored

Prof. Nat Holman (Hygiene) was presented with a plaque by the classes of '57 and '58 for his "service to the College as basketball coach and hygiene instructor."

However, changes of treachery were thrown at Raymond the bagelman, who coached the student team, by faculty mentor Bill Brown '57.

Bagels Bolster Squad

"He fed my boys an inferior brand bagel at halftime," stated Brown, "while he doped his squad up with a super-homogenized bagel."

Raymond readily admitted the changes. "I also had some special 'heavy bagels' I was going to use if the faculty got close. It would have really weighed them down."

The game was close throughout the first half, and even saw the teachers lead at one point by five. However, the student squad, full of homogenized energy, romped in the second half.

Hillel

The Hillel Hebrew Language Circle, organized this semester, invites all students with a slight knowledge of the Hebrew language to come to its Wednesday meetings, at 12 in Hillel House's library.

Speaking only in the Hebrew language, the circle's ten members have discussed: "Justice and the Gaza Affair" and "The State of Israel vs. Rachel Bar Giora," so far this term. In the near future the group plans to listen to and discuss: "Israel Music," and Hebrew literature and art.

Senior Class Farewell Ball Set for June 12 at Astor

The Senior Class will hold its Farewell Ball at the Hotel Astor Sunday evening, June 12, Norma Haber '55, co-chairman of the affair, has announced.

"We have moved the dance up one week from the date we had scheduled tentatively, because many engineers have finals the week of June 6," she explained.

The Numeral Lites entertainment and dance will be held the evening after final exams, Wednesday, June 8, in the quadrangle.

Tickets for these two affairs will be for the Senior Show, which will be presented May 6 and 7, and the rental fee for caps and gown for graduation are all included in the Commencement package.

"The deadline for reserving the package is April 29," according to Ronnie Hirsch '55, treasurer.

Hirsch also announced that the Senior Class Council has arranged for seniors to be able to obtain reduced price tickets for Dramsoc's production of "Montserrat" this weekend. The tickets are available in 120 Main.

Debating Team Discusses U.S.-Red China Relations

The question of extending US diplomatic relations to Red China is the topic of the College Debating Society this term. The Debate Schedule for this term is as follows:

- Thursday 24 Baruch School
- Friday March 25 Rochester University
- Saturday March 26 Hofstra College
- Tuesday, March 29 Columbia University
- Wednesday, March 30 Catholic University
- Thursday, March 31 Columbia University
- Saturday, May 4 First Annual CCNY Debate Tournament

Organizations to Have Reps On SU Board of Managers

Representatives of the College's clubs and organizations will constitute one third of the membership of the Board of Managers of the Student Union.

According to a proposed plan for the operation of the student center, a Club Advisory Board Agency will be instituted on which all chartered clubs and organizations at the College will be represented.

Six Nominees

The Advisory agency will select six nominees for the Board of Managers, which is responsible for the day to day operation of the center.

The Board of Managers will consist of nine members, six chosen by Student Council independently, and three selected by SC from the six Advisory Board nominees.

Plans Studied

The proposed operational structure is presently being studied by the SC Government Structure Committee and is expected to be authorized by that group.

While the operational plans for the Student Union are almost completely worked out, actual club facilities remain indefinite.

Facilities Requested

Dr. Alton Lewis (director, Student Union), declared recently that if all the facilities requested by the clubs were incorporated in one center, it would have been twice the size of the Manhattanville Student Union Building.

The House Committee of the SU Board of Managers plans shortly to circulate questionnaires to organizations on campus in order to get a more accurate idea of their space and equipment requirements, in relation to the space available in the Student Union.

SU Visitors

Although the Student Union building is not off-limits for the students, those entering the building do so at their own risk.

Until a certificate of occupancy is issued by the City, the College is not responsible for any accidents occurring in the building.

Editors View Move To SU

The editors of the various College publications anticipate moving to Student Union with mixed feelings.

Edwn S. Traufman '55, editor-in-chief of The Campus, said that "the move is a good one."

"Observation Post's coverage may differ because of an increase in activities in Student Union," said Selwyn Raab '56, editor-in-chief of the publication.

Tech News' editor-in-chief, William Herman '55, did not feel the removal of his publication's office to the South Campus would be to the best interests of the School of Technology.

"The nucleus of tech activities," he said, "will remain on the North Campus. To separate us from our school would mean inadequate coverage and distribution, and would entail administrative difficulties."

Faculty

Mr. David Newton (Director, House Plan), feels that the new Student Union building will be physically conducive to attracting members of the faculty and will encourage more informal student-faculty participation.

Mr. Newton thinks that the informal relations of students with faculty are an educative experience whose value is as important as that of the classroom. "We have always encouraged faculty participation and we'll continue to do so in the new building," he said.

Student Leaders Far Apart On the SG's Role in Union

Student leaders' opinions of the role of the Student Government in the Student Union are wide apart and varying, according to an informal poll conducted by The Campus.

Student Council President Barney McCaffrey '55, looked upon the Student Union as "a physical facilities center, to be used by the existing clubs and activities, and the new and expanded activities that will naturally result from the improved activities."

"The Student Government shall continue to act as the governing body of all student organizations, such as coordinator of club initiated social programs. It therefore will naturally assume control of the day to day management of the union in close cooperation with clubs and organizations," concluded McCaffrey.

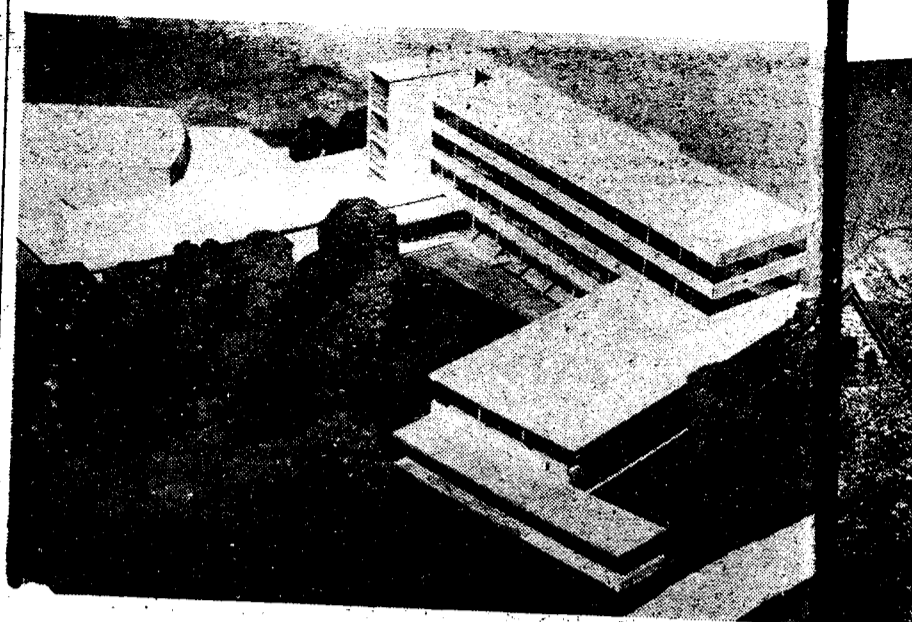

Former Student Union Agency Director John Sherwood '56 disagreed with McCaffrey. "The Student Union is a separate entity from the Student Government, as each has different fields

The Student Union

The Student Union, building in scale model, as visualized by architects in 1948. Due to high construction costs the plans for the new building were abandoned.

The development of a Student Union at the College has been a long and checkered one.

As far back as 1911 Student Council recommended the creation of a Student Union, but it took more than twenty years before anything tangible was done about it.

Until 1934, the alcoves in the cafeteria served as the social center of the College, one alcove being set aside for each class.

"There were only about 1000 students here then," commented Dean Morton Gottschall (Liberal Arts), "and this area was adequate for their needs. But, in the 1920's, student enrollment increased to a point where the cafeteria could no longer serve the students' social needs."

In order to meet the growing enrollment, House Plan, financed by voluntary contributions from alumni and students, was established.

It soon became apparent, however, that House Plan's limited facilities could not possibly serve the whole student body.

In 1946, the City College Cen-terennial Fund, the first ever drive to raise money for the College, was initiated by Alumni Association. Its goal of 1,500,000 dollars, of which 1,000,000 was to go towards construction of a Student Union, was furled.

Failure to acquire a site which to build the proposed center temporarily halted the fundraising drive in 1948. A site was finally acquired in 1952 when, largely through efforts of alumni, the city granted the grounds of Manhattanville College to the College. Of course, the problem reverted to that of financing the construction of the building.

Accordingly, Pres. Buell and Gallagher established the College Fund, which was actually a continuation of the Centennial Fund, but on a more modest permanent basis.

Before long it became evident that it would take years—possibly till the 1960's—to amass more than three million dollars needed to construct a new building.

Coincidentally, at the time

SU Board of Directors Deciding What Powers It Shall Exercise

The Student Union Board of Directors is in the unique position of having to decide just what powers it will have. The sixteen-member board has been directed by President Gallagher to draw up plans for SU government, program, budget and facilities. Once the center is open the Board will function as the supreme SU body.

The Board of Directors is composed of eight students, four faculty members and four alumni representatives.

The Board has formed four subcommittees to present recommendations on the operations of the Student Union.

The Government report recommended continuation of the Board as a body that would decide on general policy and approve the annual budget. It also recommended separate day and evening session student managing boards to handle the day-to-day operation of the center. These groups will work in cooperation with Dr. Alton Lewis (Director, Student Center).

The Board of Directors has recommended the method of selection of the Board. The four alumni representatives are to be appointed by the president of the Alumni Association. The faculty members are to be selected by the General Faculty. Four student representatives elected from the Main Center, Day Session will include three elected by the

Mr. Newton has been married 14 years and now resides in Manhattan. He has one child and another is on the way. He takes particular pride in describing his twelve-year-old son as being the "mayor of P.S. 132."

HP Directors Come and Go But Newton to Stay in Union

When Mr. Dave Newton (Student Life) took charge of House Plan in 1949, a student quipped "directors come and go but House Plan remains." Now House Plan's future is in doubt, but Mr. Newton will remain as Associate Director of the Student Center.

He came to the College from New York University, where he was director of the Jewish Cultural Foundation. He also received his M.A. at NYU for his studies on "student relations in higher education."

Attended 3 Colleges

Mr. Newton has been a student at many colleges in New York. Before receiving his BA cum laude at NYU, he took courses at Brooklyn College, the Baruch Center, and the New York School of Social Work at Columbia University.

After a varied occupational career, Mr. Newton entered the service in 1944. To his surprise, he was assigned to the Horse Calvary at Fort Riley, Kansas.

He soon became a member of "Merrill's Mauraders," the only combat outfit in the China-Burma-India theater. While

Renovation

NYU Center First of Kind In Met Area

The only student-center in the metropolitan area today is housed on New York University's uptown campus, at 182 Street and University Avenue.

A one and a half million dollar gift by NYU alumnus Frank Jay Gould in 1952, provided the necessary capital for the construction of the student center which bears his name.

"I am going to help develop New York University because it looks like no one else is going to," was the noted financier's explanation for the generous gift.

Some of the new features on the NYU campus are a theater equipped for motion picture presentation, a cafeteria which may be used as a ballroom, a self-service bookstore, and various game rooms.

HP Heads Show Unanimity On Keeping Present Setup

As indicated by the recent House Plan Council Declaration, a feeling of almost complete unanimity on the retention of the present HP setup in the Student Union exists among HP leaders.

"If we could be guaranteed that when the Student Center opens in September, House Plan could be integrated in a planned Student Center program I would wholeheartedly agree that there would be no need for a HP setup as now constituted," said HP President Al Eisenkraft '57.

"However, I think that at the present time there is little likelihood of this happening; therefore," Eisenkraft continued, "I strongly feel that there is a real need to carry over the House Plan Organization and program as part of the Student Center."

The organization's treasurer Larry Shulman '57 felt that all organizations and programs should remain intact as they function in the new center since "the Student Union is a new baby on our campus and I think it ought to learn to walk before it starts running."

Shulman also expressed a desire for a "reappraisal at the end of one year's operation based on student opinion."

Charlie Waldauer '57, director of the Student Union Agency saw House Plan functioning in the SU as "a group of social clubs in the same manner that the Cricket Club and the Ukrainian Society would function in the Union."

"They should use the facilities of the Union in coordination with a scheduled setup by the Managing Board or any subsidiary group named by the Board to handle facility scheduling," he concluded.

The board will consist of nine students, all elected by the Student Council. Of the nine, three will be selected from a group of six nominations submitted by the club coordinating group at the College. The Board will elect its own chairman, according to Dean James S. Peace (Student Life), chairman of the Board of Directors.

A similar group will be elected by the Evening Session Student Council

The job of the Board of Managers will depend a great deal upon the type of program to be offered at the Center. If the program of extra-curricular activities currently being conducted at the College is transferred to the Student Union, the Board of Managers will only have to act as a coordinating group.

However if the Center offers a much bigger job, it will probably have several subcommittees

Music
The Music Department will be the only academic department to be housed in the Student Union building. Ten rooms on the second floor will be occupied by the department's offices, classrooms, and library. They will be adjacent to the Music Listening Room, open to all students.

Board of Managers to Handle Day-to-Day Operation of SU

Dean James Peace

Current plans for the structure of Student Union government call for a student Board of Managers to handle the day-to-day operations of the center, in cooperation with Dr. Alton Lewis (Director, Student Center).

Plans for a student Board of Managers, to take over the everyday running of the building, have been drawn up by the Board of Directors.

Many important areas remain to be ironed out. But, unless unforeseen complications arise, the Student Union building will be open for business in six months.

About the hottest controversy relating to the forthcoming Student Union is that over the type of program it will offer. The final decision on this issue will have effects upon the Student Union structure, budget, and fee.

Reduced to simplest terms there are two views on this issue: One sees the Student Union as a giant organization offering many types of planned activities for the student; the other sees the Student Union only as a building where the amount and type of activities would be decided by the clubs and the individual students.

Student Union as an organization would probably require more money for its operation. More professional personnel would have to be hired to aid in planning and conducting the activities. Many student committees would have to be formed to aid the Board of Managers in carrying out the SU program.

Students supporting this type of SU program feel that it would offer greater benefits to the individual. They also feel that the hiring of professional personnel would lead to activities that are better and more profitable for the student.

A similar type of program is currently offered by the House Plan organization at the College. The House Plan has urged the continuance of this type of pro-

Lewis at College Since 1932; Attended Classes in Evening

Dr. Alton Lewis

Dr. Alton Lewis (Student Life), Director of the new Student Center, has been at the College since 1932, when he took the first of the many evening session courses that earned him a B.S. degree in 1942.

While attending the College, he held a wide variety of jobs. He worked in banking and in a broker's office, as well as managing a Woolworth chain store.

Entering the navy in 1942 as an apprentice seaman he served two years in the Atlantic and Mediterranean, and over a year in the North Pacific. When Dr. Lewis left the service after four years, he had earned the rank of Lieutenant and was the commanding officer of a destroyer.

After the war, he earned his Masters and Ph.D. at Columbia. During this time he held various positions at the College until he became a member of the Department of Student Life seven years ago.

Dr. Lewis commutes daily from Montvale, New Jersey, a town that he says "nobody's ever heard of." He has three children, Jane, 6; Jim, 4, and Nancy, 2.

'SU MEANS ACTIVITIES DROP':

ES Very Worried

Evening Session Student Council members expect a decrease in co-curricular participation from their students with the opening of the SU building, according to Dorothy Miller, Vice-President of the ES body.

Dorothy Miller

"At present it is a long walk to the subway. However, it will be even longer when the building is moved," she explained. "Even using the closer 125th Street stations, there will be the problem of convenience the long run, however, there will be an increase in student participation and interest."

Miss Miller, who is a member of the SU Board of Governors based her opinion on the fact that student organizations having to meet in classrooms would have full use of the newly improved facilities. "Another problem," she continued, "would be the need to increase the number of floodlights for the campus building is not fireproof and will have to leave all twenty entrances open, which people who are not students enter freely and wander."

Alumni Efforts To Initiate SU Began In '44

The dreams and efforts of the Alumni Association to establish "a place where the City College student can hang his hat and feel at home," will achieve realization when the Student Center opens in September.

Eleven years ago, Dr. I. Ogden Woodruff '00 then President of the Alumni Association, challenged the alumni to undertake a major project which would "serve the needs of the College."

In response to this challenge a group of alumni undertook to raise forty-five thousand dollars over a period of three years, to be used to conduct a study of the problems of the College.

The Student Center program began during the College's Centennial year. The active campaign lasted from February 1947, to October 1948. According to Mr. Norton Belth, Director of the City College Fund, the Organization which replaced the Centennial Fund, "About eight hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars plus pledges was collected during this period."

The City College Fund collected eighty thousand dollars last year. At present it has three hundred and fifty thousand dollars in its reserves.

Two hundred thousand dollars has been promised to the Student Center for furniture, fixtures and interior decorators. No further Alumni Association pledge will be made until Pres. Gallagher discloses how much will definitely be needed to run the Student Center.

Program

McCaffrey favors student-run activities as opposed to those run by professional personnel because of the knowledge and the experience gained by the student in participating in and planning these activities. He termed extra-curricular activities "an extension of one's education."

McCaffrey also feels that the current structure of Student Government has adequate provision for organizing and operating a Student Center program.

BOB MOSENKIS' BEAVER BAVARD

Mr. Mike Feuers (Sociology) is one of the few instructors at the College who can claim the distinction of having been arrested for espionage.

The incident took place one summer shortly after the outbreak of the Korean War, on a field seminar in sociology conducted annually by the Department of Sociology and Anthropology. That year, the seminar was held in the entrance of Long Island Sound, and was directed by Mr. Feuers and Mr. Wil Mitchell (Sociology). On this particular day, the instructor was conducting a land use seminar. A farmer noticed three men walking around the house with notebooks in their hands and called the police who promptly brought them in for questioning.

The previous night, the student had attended a lecture on a subject called a 'hidden inter-relationship' and their notebooks contained such instructions as, 'Don't use your name' and 'Be non-complimentary.' This wasn't exactly the innocuous-looking data that the police could have discovered at the seminar, and the two co-directors were also brought guardians of the law permitted the group to go only after they had presented their credentials and explained their actions. About three weeks later a PT boat pulled into the harbor and an FBI investigator accompanied by a Naval Intelligence officer landed, having been summoned by the police.

When they found the students, they were busily perusing an aerial map of the area that was shown them by the local conservation agent. It is now believed that the FBI considered the matter closed only after a final check on each student. Usually, the incident under-estimated much of the groundwork the project had made. Long after the authorities involved were satisfied that no subversive activities were underfoot, many of the residents still viewed the students with suspicion.

on the Jelke trial and the "glorification of a prostitute on the front pages.

"Our movies always have justice triumphing in the last minutes and a half," said Judge Liebowitz. "But for one and a half hours the crime and the gangsters portrayed are glamorized.

"For a girl to run wild or a boy to commit a crime meant ostracism. Neighbors pointed a finger at the youths and made examples of them. We had a cop to patrol the beat and he was a judge, friend and lawyer for the people on his beat," continued Liebowitz.

"Today you need a baseball bat to fight your way through the pimps, prostitutes and scum of the Earth that walk the streets. What can a probation officer do in such an atmosphere?"

"We have substituted worshiping of television and refrigerators for religion," the Judge charged. "The automobile has destroyed neighborhood life.

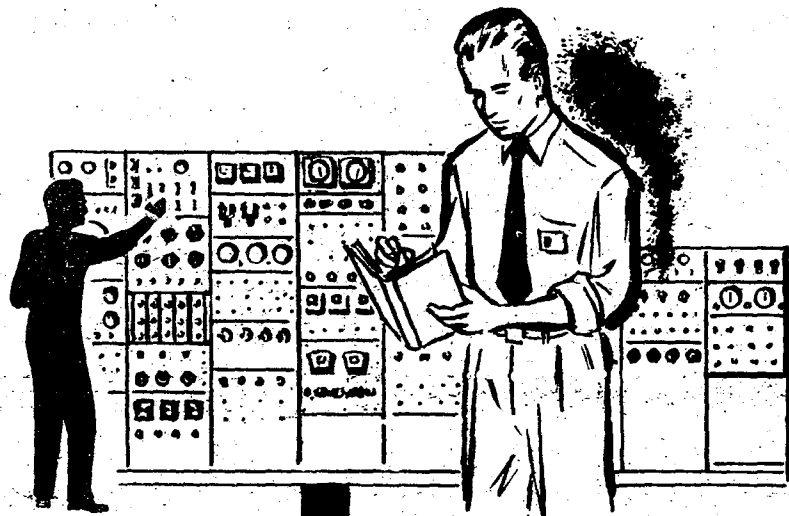

"We've got to learn how to live with each other," he commented. "You are the salvation," he told the audience. "Much thought and action should be taken right here in this institution. It's up to you to raise your kids properly, and give them the home life they deserve." The second in a series of four lectures financed by the Sidney Hillman Foundation.

Stickmen Getting Set For Buckeye Opener

By Marty Greenberg

Starting his 25th season as lacrosse coach at the College, Leon (Chief) Miller has high hopes for his squad. "I feel that we should improve over our last season's mark of 3-6," he said. "We have a good squad and the boys are really hustling."

At present the lacrosse team is in training for its opening game against Ohio State this Friday in Lewisohn Stadium. The Buckeyes replace Hofstra on the schedule. Coach Miller doesn't mind dropping Hofstra. Last season they handed the Beavers their worst defeat of the season—an 18-2 drubbing.

The Beavers have never faced Ohio State. The Millermen, will enter the contest as slight favorites, since lacrosse is a relatively new sport in the Big Ten. Al Spitaler, ex-Lavender ace who transferred to Ohio State will be one of the stars for the Buckeyes.

Starting Lineup

Coach Miller has announced the probable starting lineup for the Buckeye encounter: In home—John Pirro, Out, home—Stuey Namm, First attack—Milt Perlow, Second attack—Ralph Kelly, Center—Fred Hannaham, Second defense—Stan Speilman, Mike Volpe, or Morris Hocherman, First defense—Willie Epstein, Point—Norm Epstein, Cover point—Fred Allgaier, Goalie—Ronnie Rifler.

With the loss of many of last season's stalwarts, coach Miller is faced with a serious manpower shortage. Commenting on the situation, Miller said "What I'd like to see are more boys turning out for the team. Anybody who enjoys playing football would really enjoy this sport."

Friday night, after the game, the College's alumni and officials are giving the "Chief" a dinner at the Hotel Shelbourne.

Shorr to Undergo Operation on Knee

Merv Shorr, the highest point-getter in the College's basketball history, will enter Beth Israel Hospital, 17th St. and First Ave., on April 6 for surgery on a torn cartilage in his left knee. The exact date for the operation has not been set, but it will take place some time during the Easter vacation.

The injury, which hampered Merv's play during the season, was acquired in the Queens game, when the 6-3 forward fell on the knee, and had to be removed from the game. Since then, Shorr has had to wear a guard around the knee.

The operation will be performed by Dr. A. S. Rothberg, one of the Stein Fund physicians. It is expected that part of the cost for the surgery will be defrayed by the Stein Fund, while the remainder of the cost will be paid by Shorr.

The graduating business major has put new records galore into the Beaver record book in the three and a half years that he has played for the Lavender:

Sport Notes

Lavender track coach Harold Anson Bruce was seventy years of age yesterday. The veteran mentor is in his tenth year at the College. Before coming here, Bruce had long been internationally recognized as one of the top men in his field. He coached the American long distance runners in the 1932 Olympics.

Former Lavender fencing star Hal Goldsmith won the individual foil championship in the Pan-American games this past weekend. In 1952, Goldsmith paced the Beaver foil team to first place in the Eastern Intercollegiate Championships to garner the "Little Iron man" trophy.

Jimmy Johnsen and Ben Traesen have been elected co-captains of next year's swimming team.
