Student Faces Court; Issued Illegal Leaflets

By Louise Gross

A student, reported to have been handing out leaflets of the unchartered "CCNY Labor Youth League," is being referred to the Student Court by Dean James S. Peace (Student Life), for the unauthorized use of the College's name.

Eric Brown '57 was reportedly handing out the leaflets Wednesday on 141st Street and Convent Avenue.

According to a regulation of the Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, "The use of the name of the College off the campus by any individual or group is prohibited, unless specifically authorized by SFCSA."

Although the leaflets denote the group is unchartered, Peace said, "they imply there is an LYL at the College."

Peace found guilty by the three-member Student Court, which is advised by Student Council, Brown could be suspended from extra-curricular activities.

At his press conference last week, Pres. Buell G. Gallagher described the LYL's use of the College's name as an example of irresponsible effort to de-

He said that it was a convention of the truth."

The Labor Youth League, a national organization, is currently appealing its designation by the Subversive Activities Control Board as a "Communist organization."

Students for Americanism and Caduceus Society are also referred to the Student Court for violation of a ruling.

Election Cards

Election Cards must be filed no later than Tuesday, March 15, in the Registrar's office, 115 Main. Cards may be obtained in the office.

Students who fail to submit their election cards will be required to register after their class.

Brooklyn College Publication Charges OP with 'Libelling'

The Brooklyn College publication, The Kingsman, has charged Observation Post with "libelling Brooklyn College students, faculty members, and administrators in general and BC's Executive Council, Senate, and Kingsman in particular."

In an editorial titled "Opposition" in last Friday's edition, the Kingsman stated, "OP has shown a shocking disregard for the most basic principles of honest reporting in its coverage of the Debate Council-Speech Department controversy."

Promethean Calls For Short Stories, Poems

Promethean, the College's literary magazine, is accepting manuscripts for its next publication, to appear in late April.

Original short stories, poems, essays, critical reviews, and art work will be considered by the editorial board for publication. The deadline for all material is April 1. Manuscripts may be submitted to the Promethean office, P13 Army Hall, or left in Box 90 122 Main.

The editorial referred to OP's coverage of the dispute between the Brooklyn College debating team and its faculty advisor. The faculty advisor was charged with abusing the team's rights through censorship and refusal to allow it to arrange its own debates.

An OP editorial two days later called the two Brooklyn College student governing bodies "Administration stooges," and maintained that the Kingsman has been afraid to disagree with the BC administration for fear of "meeting the same fate as its predecessor [Vanguard]."

The statement claimed that the Observation Post reporter assigned to cover the story was advised to hold back comment until "the entire picture was brought to light" and "was warned that an OP stand at the present time" (Continued on Page Two)

Pres. Responsible For Firings Says Hygiene Charge

By Ed Kosner

Pres. Buell G. Gallagher was charged yesterday with "impugning" the Hygiene Department as a result of his comments on the origin of the decision to release three members of the College's coaching staff and curtail the activities of a fourth.

Conveyed Statements

Prof. Hyman Krakower

The charge was made in a statement released by the Public Relations Committee of the Hygiene Department. The release went on to assert that the coaches were released "as a direct result of the president's edict increasing the teaching load of members of the Hygiene Department."

President's Comment

It further stated that: "The merest suggestion [by the president] that we should not voice our opinions is an encroachment upon our freedom of expression."

President Gallagher, commenting on the Hygiene release, declared: "The impact of the new formula of hours evaluation on the Hygiene Department is due to no intention on my part but rather to policy lawmaking of tenured decided wholly in the department itself."

Denies "Restriction"

"The impact of the reduction of staff," continued the president, "fell on those members of the staff who had no tenure. It is not wholly fair to blame me for departmental policy."

President Gallagher denied that he had made any suggestion which could be interpreted as restricting the freedom of expression. (Continued on Page Four)

BC Student's Letters Result In Suspension

By Sheldon Scherr

Brooklyn College authorities last Thursday suspended the student leader of an off-campus organization.

BC Dean of Students Herbert H. Stroup announced that Arthur Steier, a lower junior, had been suspended for violating Section 155 of the by-laws of the Board of Higher Education.

The section states that each student enrolled in any college under the control of the BHE shall conform to the requirements of "good manners and good morals, and shall obey the laws of the city, state and nation."

Distributed "Common Sense"

The suspension was made on the basis of a series of letters to Brooklyn College President Harry N. Gideonse, according to Dean Stroup, in which Steier charged several teachers and officers of the school with "crimes," "vile indecencies," "blatant injustices," "sham and disgrace" and "punitive intimidation."

Steier, who is the leader of a group of students which publish and distribute a document called "Common Sense," maintained the letters were private and had never been released to the public. He announced he was writing an apology to President Gideonse for the language used though not for the "letters' purpose."

Political Work to Continue

"It was made clear to me that if I apologized I would be reinstated," said Steier. "However" (Continued on Page Two)

13 Notables Invited For Freedom Week

Invitations will be extended to thirteen speakers including Edward R. Murrow, Elmer Davis, Senator Herbert Lehman and Norman Thomas, to present the keynote addresses opening Academic Freedom week.

The list of proposed speakers was compiled by the Academic Freedom Week Committee last week. "The basis for choice," said Howard Feldman '56, Chairman of the Publicity Committee, "was the background of the speakers in relation to academic freedom and the stand that each has taken regarding the current threats to academic freedom."

Academic Freedom Week, April 21 through April 28, is under the direction of the Human Rights Division of Student Council.

The other speakers to be contacted include: Prof. Henry Steele Commager, Columbia University; Prof. H. H. Wilson, Political Science teacher at Princeton; James Wechsler, Editor of the New York Post; Mayor Robert Wagner; Pres. Nathan Pusey, Harvard University; Robert Hutchins, Executive of the Ford Foundation; Carey McWilliams, Editor of the Nation, and Governor Averell Harriman.

The Clark Gable and Ava Gardner of the contest were Allen Kraut '55 and Barbara Lackowitz '58, Mercury's representatives. They received $3.25 worth of votes, bad enough for a fifth-place showing. $32.12 was collected by APO in the contest. The proceeds will go to the Student Union Fund.

major upset was scored at College on Friday, when renegade Jim Wilson '57 and renegade Marlene Schweitzer '58, sponsored by the Cricket Club of the Class of '58, were named best of the ugly in Alpha Phi Omega's Gruesome Twosome contest.

Contest experts had picked the pair as the most seriously beastly joint Campus contest. Sheldon Scheer '57 and Lette Compante '57 as 9-5 favorites to out-repulsify all other entries. They came in a dismal third, collecting only 418 votes.

The winners amassed $14.72. "The resemblance to King Kong is remarkable," said the students who have decided. "I'd have been found to be the ugliest of all. This talk about ugliness is nonsense. Why, Sheldon Scheer has been called handsome by the people I know."

Scheer was shedding crocodile tears when contacted. His resemblance to a crocodile is remarkable. "I can't understand how we placed fourth," he said. "I should have come in second last." he went on, "instead of good-looking House Plan Al Eisenkraft '57 and Bertha Farber '57." Third place went to the mildly attractive Barney McCaffrey

Hillel Chorus Meets at 1, HP Features Antioch Visit, Mystery Ride

Students interested in choral singing may attend a meeting of the Hillel Choral Group today at 1 in the Music room at Hillel House.

Leon Hyman, a professional conductor and violinist, has been engaged to lead the group. Mr. Hyman holds a master's degree in orchestral conducting from Harvard and served the faculty of The Juilliard School of Music from 1949 to 1953.

The group is now working on Fred Waring choral arrangements and Israeli choral songs. A performance will be given at the Metropolitan Hillel Arts Festival on March 27.

On Thursday at 12:15, Hillel will present the annual recital of the Purim story, after which refreshments will be served. The Purim story symbolizes the wiping out of oppression and bigotry from the community.

The Purim Carnival will be held Saturday night at Hillel. In commemoration of the holiday, there will be booths and a floor show, highlighted by a Queen Esther contest. Tickets, costing forty cents, will be sold at the door.

Hillel Evening Session will present folksinger Richard Davy performing at Hillel House on Thursday night, March 10, at 10. He will accompany himself on the guitar to a number of American folk songs.

Jobs

Any student holding a baccalaureate degree by June 1955 and having had fifteen credits in mathematics, six being in statistics, is eligible for a position as statistician, with the Bureau of the Census, in Washington, D.C., at a salary of 3410 dollars per year, the Economics Department announced today.

Those interested should contact Mr. Saul Brenner (Assistant Placement Director) in 108 Harris.

March and April will be busy months at House Plan this semester.

Tonight at 8, HP will play host to fifty Antioch College students currently on work-study programs in New York. The Antiochians will gather to hear David Newton (Director, House Plan), speak on "Human Relations in New York City."

According to Dr. Samuel Baskin, Director of Personal Services at Antioch, students wishing to converse with, or question the Ohio students about their college life, are invited to House Plan at 9:30.

The first big shindig of HP's social semester will be a mystery bus ride on March 19, featuring a complete meal, dancing and a floor show. Diane Sussman '58, major affairs co-chairman, said, "Tickets selling at four dollars per couple may be obtained at the House Plan desk or from student salesmen."

The domains of the devil will be brought up to Drill Hall on April 2. Crackling fires, pitchforks and even the devil himself will appear at the Hell on 141st Street.

Palsy Foundation To Present Awards

Plaques for "service above and beyond the call of duty" will be awarded to the ROTC and the College student body for assisting in the United Cerebral Palsy Telethon last Fall.

Professor John Firestone (Economics), a member of the United Cerebral Palsy Foundation's Board of Directors, will present the plaques to Pres. Buell G. Gallagher on Thursday at 11 in the Great Hall.

One plaque will be given to Dean James S. Peace (Student Life) by the President; the other will be awarded to Col. Carl T. Klock of the Webb Patrol. Colonel Klock will accept the award on behalf of ROTC.

Members of Webb Patrol, Chi Lambda, and other students-assisted the Telethon director in organizing and staffing the project. Some of the students worked on the telephon from 9 at night until noon the following day.

SS Journal

The Journal of Social Studies has announced it is seeking suitable papers on the social sciences for publication in its Spring issue.

All material should be submitted c/o The Journal of Social Studies, Box 242 Main by March 1. Applications for staff membership may also be filed in the Journal's box.

Suspension

I was also told my apology would have to include my political views. I shall apologize for the language used but shall not cease my political work."

The "Common Sense" organization started five months ago with the distribution off the BC limits of the first of six in a series of mimeographed sheets.

"Let Students Decide"

The document blasted the BC student government as "undemocratic in nature, deceptive in practice, and totally inconsistent with the function of the college."

"Our aim was not to cause dis-sension," stated Steier, "but rather to have a campus-wide referendum to let the students decide what kind of government they wanted."

Investigate Possible Referendum

Maurice Hershenson, president of the BC Executive Council, last week told The Campus that special committees were investigating both Common Sense and the possibility of a student body referendum on the form of student government.

An article in the Brooklyn College newspaper, Kingsman, last Friday said that Steier's reinstatement in a future term will depend on an evaluation by the dean of students and an "appropriate faculty committee" of his "conduct and progress" during the remainder of his suspension which will last until the end of this term.

Students Must Show Card At Friday Hop

Only students of the College and their guests will be admitted to the Friday night dances beginning with this week's affair announced Mike Rizzo '57, S. Director of dances.

In the past passes were issued upon request, but under the new ruling, Student Activities card will be required for admission. This Friday night the annual social-square dance will be sponsored by the Senior Class.

A special square dance band has been hired for the event, to be held in the Hygiene gym. A hillbilly-folksinging contest will be held to crown the College Mister or Miss Folk and Hillbilly Singer of 1955.

Those interested in entering must notify Rizzo in 20 Main or before Thursday.

would be so premature as to be worthless.

"OP ignored it [the warning] and by doing so has placed itself in a dangerous position," Kingsman commented. The paper demanded to know why no space was given to the opinions of the chairman of the Speech Department, the debating team's faculty advisor, and the dean of students in the OP story.

"Once more we must commend OP," continued the BC paper. Referring to the editorial, stated OP "must have set some sort of record for the amount of bad taste squeezed into a limited space." A challenge was made for 'Observation Post' "to try back up its reprehensible statement with journalistic facts which differ somewhat from OP's facts."

Colored Shoulder Cords Value to Military Groups

By Allen Kraut

As the third in a 'Campus' series on organizations at the College. Contrary to what freshmen are sometimes told about field heroics, the brightly colored shoulder cords worn by members of the ROTC at the College represent membership in some military society.

These cords, known as fourragères, come in many two-colored combinations, each peculiar to a particular society. The societies are varied and appeal to a wide variety of tastes.

One of the youngest is the Webb Patrol, organized in 1948 and named after the second president of the College, General Andrew S. Webb. It was organized, originally, solely as a cadet group, and members of the society still devote their energies to causes such as the Moral Palsy Telethon and the C Blood Drive.

Members of Webb Patrol sport brown and gold colored fourragères. Their motto is "Fellowship, Efficiency, Service." Each member of the group must give a minimum of 15 hours' service per

PRs Here Longest

The oldest and perhaps the most known military society at the College is the Pershing Rifles. Members of the group wear white-and-blue-colored fourragères. The purpose of the society, founded at the College in 1926, is to promote excellence in military ability. Their services are given at Commencement exercises, where they act as sentry guards.

The PR's have both precision and trick drill teams.

Military Engineers

A group whose membership is made up of cadets who are more technically oriented is the Society of American Military Engineers. Organized shortly after World War II, its members wear blue and white fourragères. SAME sponsors both field trips and speakers.

Advanced Course ROTC cadets who join Scabbard and Blade, a military fraternity, if their grades are high enough. The fraternity members wear a blue and red fourragère.

Deadline for Clubs Seeking Allocations Set by Student Faculty Fee Committee

All clubs seeking fee allocations must file applications not later than Friday, March 18, according to Mr. Philip Brunstetter (Student Life), chairman of the Student-Faculty Fee Committee.

The three necessary forms may be obtained from the Student Government office, 20 Main, and must be signed by club officers and faculty advisors. After the completed form is returned, the club treasurer is required to make an appointment for an interview with the SG Fee Committee.

At the first meeting of the semester last Thursday, the SFFC appropriated funds to several organizations at the College.

The committee also tabled consideration of an allocation to the Biological Review. Mr. Brunstetter commented that "sixty percent of the material in the magazine should be student-written, but the last Review contained only one article by a student."

He requested that appeals from any committee decisions should be given to him, in writing, before the next meeting of the SFFC. The meeting will be held March 17 at 12:15 in 21 Main and is open to all students.

Swimmers Met Champs Again

Kingsmen Beat Five, 68-65 To End Nineteen Yr. Jinx; Shorr's Career Total: 992

By Ronald Salzberg

At approximately 10:20 on the evening of Saturday, March 5th, a 19 year regime came to an end. No heads rolled and no cannons sounded but things couldn't have been worse for the loyal Lavender rooters, who braved the rains to travel into the heart of Flatbush, as they watched the Beavers go down to a 68-65 defeat at the hands of Brooklyn College.

The sullen Beaver five walked slowly off the floor amid the frenzied cheering of Brooklyn fans who had witnessed a feat which no Brooklyn team had been able to accomplish ever since the series began in 1934.

Sets 2 Records

This form reversal completely overshadowed an outstanding final game performance by Merv Shorr in which he set 2 major scoring marks. Still bothered by an injured right foot, the 6-4 forward, scored 25 points to give him a three and one-half year total of 992 points, thus making him the greatest point-getter in the history of the College.

The former record of 977 was held by Irwin Dambrot, who established his in four seasons of play.

Merv broke the record early in the second half as he was fouled and went on to cash both free throws, the first one giving him the new mark.

The 442 points which he piled up in 18 games this season for a 24.6 per game average was easily the highest season's average ever compiled by a Lavender cager. The previous high of 17.7 was established by Jerry Domershick 2 seasons back.

Shorr was named to the all-Met second team by a panel of local basketball writers over the weekend.

Any ovation that the husky senior might have received after the game must have been completely lost in the din that followed the final buzzer.

Brunstein Nets 26

Beaver rooters remained silent as they saw the Kingsmen paced by Barry Brunstein, with 26 points and George Sussmen with 16, open up a ten point margin late in the second half.

However, the Beavers were far from the "roll-over and play dead" stage, as Ralph Shefflan with seven straight points, and an aroused Shorr sweeping the boards, tied the score at 53-53.

But the Kingsmen were dead dead set on changing an outcome which had followed the same pattern for 19 straight times. Baskets by Brunstein and Herb Solomon, and foul shots by Sussman enabled them to open a 67-62 lead.

All-Time Scorer

Shorr, his desire to end his career on a winning note clearly etched on his face, came back with a three point play which cut the lead to 67-65. A walking violation a few seconds later nullified another basket by Shorr, and when, with 30 seconds remaining, the Beavers lost the ball again, even the most die-hard Lavender fan was ready to give up hope.

In the opening game the Brooklyn freshman made it an all-Flatbush night by defeating the Beaver frosh, 56-49.

Hygiene

"I made no such suggestion," emphasized the president. "I expressed to Dr. Hyman Krakower (Chairman, Hygiene) my earnest hope that nothing of any kind would be done or implied which could be interpreted as a restriction, or attempted restriction, on the right and freedom of expression of Hygiene Department members to speak their minds freely," he added.

"Regrets Publicity"

"In view of the fact that the case is presently being adjudicated in Albany, I do, however, regret public discussion on it at this time," concluded the president.

Dr. Krakower declared that he had conveyed the president's sentiments on the matter to the four-man Hygiene Public Relations Committee.

"I spoke personally to Professor Ferguson and Doctors Ostrow and La Place," reported Dr. Krakower, "I assumed that they had relayed the president's statements to the fourth member of the Committee, Professor Ierardi, before the release was drawn up."

Gain Title Second Straight Year Capture First in 6 of 10 Events

By Pat Sheehan

The College's swimmers captured their second straight Metropolitan Collegiate Conference Championship last Saturday night at N.Y.U.'s Quigley Memorial pool. Led by Howie Schloemer, Bob Kellogg, and Tony Sousa the mermen won six of ten varsity events totaling 79 points. This bore out Coach Jack Rider's prediction of an 80 point victory.

Kings point placed second with 61, followed by N.Y.U., winner in '51, '52, and '53, 46 points. Brooklyn, Hunter, Brooklyn Poly, Fordham, and Manhattan trailed in that order.

Friday's qualifying heats saw Schloemer, the greatest point scorer in Lavender swimming history, break his own Conference record in the 220-yard free-style event with a 2:17.8 clocking while his teammates qualified for every event except the 50-yard free-style and the 1 meter dive.

In the finals, the 22 year-old senior was the only double winner of the night as he maintained his supremacy in the 220 and 440 free-style. He also anchored the Beaver relay team to a 3:49.5 victory in the 440 free-style relay. Schloemer won his fourth straight 220 yard crown by yards in 2:18.5. He captured the 440 with even greater ease, by a length of the pool ahead when he claimed the championship the third straight year.

Kellogg, holder of the College breaststroke record, won the event in 2:37.5 which was above his best time of 2:34.4. Winning, he retained the championship won by the now graduated Vic Fulladosa last year.

In the 300 yard medley relay Kellogg put on a tremendous spurt during the second leg to make up a 2 yard deficit and enable Jim Johnson to touch home a split second before the Mills of Kings Point.

Sousa, the team co-captain with Schloemer, took the 150 yard individual medley. He had failed in three previous attempts at the title.
