BHE 1956 Budget Request Allots College Eight Million; Public Hearings Next Week

By Nat Benezra

Public hearings on the Board of Higher Education's twenty-two million dollar capital budget request for 1956 will be held next week. The City Planning Commission has tentatively granted seventeen and one-half million dollars to the BHE.

Appropriations for the Morris Raphael Cohen Library, totaling 3,365,000 dollars, have already been approved by the Board of Estimate. This figure covers construction, furnishing and equipment costs.

Budget Breakdown

The remainder of the College's 7,734,000 dollar request includes: 649,175 dollars for the rehabilitation of buildings and additional facilities and equipment for both centers, and a 652,633 dollar renewal of the balance due on the 1955 Manhattanville request.

In addition 252,000 dollars have to be allocated for planning of the new Technology Building, 540,000 dollars for the Baruch Center conversion from DC to AC, including planning, engineering, inspection and construction, and 1,275,153 dollars to the reconstruction of the College's boiler plant, heating and electrical systems. This is a renewal of the 1955 budget request.

Proposal Withdrawn

A budget proposal of two million dollars by the College for the new Police Academy will probably be withdrawn in light of the Board of Estimate's recent rejection of the Baruch Center expansion in order to have the Academy.

One million dollars has been requested by the BHE for a new administration building at 68 Street.

Dr. Joseph B. Cavallaro, BHE Chairman, said that the board was entitled to a central building from which to administer a system of four municipal colleges with the enrollment of 70,000 students.

College Health Insurance Plan Advocated By Student Council

By Ed Kosner

A program of health insurance for students at the College was advocated by Student Council last night. The program will go into effect next semester or during the Fall 1956 term.

Lists

The deadline for all clubs on campus to register and submit their membership lists is October 21. The Department of Student Life announced yesterday.

All clubs must register and submit their membership lists or risk forfeiting all their rights and privileges on campus.

Council voted to accept a report of the School Affairs committee, which began work on the possibility of establishing a College health plan last year, but recommended further investigation into several specific aspects of the question.

Blue Cross Consulted

The School Affairs committee headed by Stu Schaar '58, met with two representatives of Blue Cross last May, who informed them that 60 per cent of the students enrolled at the Main Center would have to participate in the proposed health plan.

Individual rates for the Blue Cross plan would be about nine dollars per quarter and students would be covered for both hospital and surgical benefits up to 275 dollars for doctor visits to the hospital and 500 dollars for surgical care.

Voluntary Program

The Blue Cross representatives recommended that SG operate a voluntary health insurance program similar to the driver education program, whereby SG would dispense the necessary forms to students interested in the plan.

The Committee also consulted the National Student Association for further suggestions during its investigation.

NSA Recommendation

NSA recommended the Continental Casualty Company of Chicago which offered the College an accident insurance policy similar to those now being used at Hofstra, St. Johns, Hunter College and the College of New Rochelle.

The Continental plan pays all medical expenses sustained by the insured student as a result of an accident during the policy term.

Further Consultation

SG instructed the committee to contact other insurance companies and faculty members at the College for further information.

In addition it was recommended that student officials at other schools where similar programs are in effect, be consulted.

Carnival

Tickets for the Carnival Queen Dance, which will be held Nov. 10 in the Carnival Room of the Hotel Capitol, go on sale Oct. 16 in 335 Finley at three dollars a couple.

Five finalists will be chosen at the dance to vie for the crown of Campus Queen. The Queen will be selected at Carnival on Dec. 10.

Faculty members will be asked to submit photographs of their daughters between the ages of 5 to 9. The cutest child, as voted by the judges, will reign as Miss Campus Queen, 1970.

State Officials Approve Site For SI Community College

By Abe Habenstreit

City and State officials have approved a site for the new Staten Island Community College, according to Dr. Joseph B. Cavallaro, chairman of the Board of Higher Education.

The college will be located at South Bay Street, St. George, with the opening scheduled for September, 1956.

Dr. Cavallaro added that Trustees of the State University of New York also proposed the building of a Community College in the Bronx.

Also contained in the Cavallaro statement was a plan for the establishment of an Aeronautical Academy in Queens.

Main Purpose

The main purpose of a community college, as explained by Prof. Bertram Epstein (Education), is "to provide a post high school education for those who desire to continue their education, but not necessarily on the college level."

"There are many semi-professional jobs which require additional, specialized work, such as the cafeteria and hotel managing industries and certain types of engineering assistants," continued

Professor Epstein, "in which junior college knowledge is useful, if not necessary."

"There are generally two phases of a community college, Professor Epstein explained, "to give a preparatory liberal arts education to those who wish to continue their studies, and a terminal program for those who desire only a junior college education.

"There is not much need for the first kind in New York City since we have the four municipal colleges, but the second phase is definitely needed here," he concluded.

Ed. Majors Must File Cards for Written Test

The next examination for those who have not passed the qualifying examination in written English, will be given next Thursday from 12 to 2. Applications are now being accepted in 311 Shepard.

Zuckerman Named to Head Hillel Directors' Association

Rabbi Arthur J. Zuckerman, (Director, Hillel), has been elected president of the National Association of Hillel Directors.

The aim of the Association is to advance the Hillel movement and promote the welfare of individual groups through their directors.

Study Being Made

At present a study is being made of the development in the field of religion in higher education. Rabbi Zuckerman is trying to introduce the study of religion at those universities and colleges which do not already have such courses.

The Association holds annual and semi-annual conferences in which prominent individuals are invited to participate and discuss current trends on campuses. Last year Pres. Buell G. Gallagher spoke on the World University Service.

Conference In NY

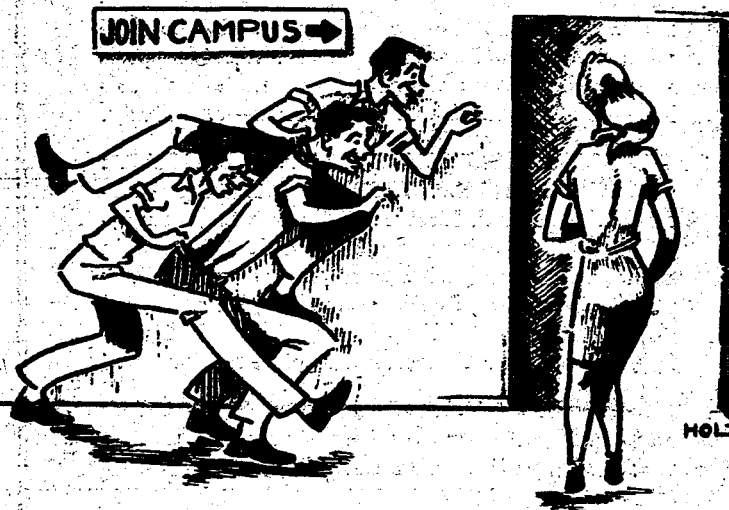

This year the Association will hold a conference in New York, to be presided over by Rabbi Zuckerman, during the mid-winter vacation.

Directors of Hillel groups from

Rabbi Arthur Zuckerman

over two hundred universities are expected to attend.

Letters

To the Editor:
The Senior Hayride, planned for Saturday, Sept. 24, was called off much to the chagrin of the two thirds of the students who had planned to go. It rained continuously all morning. The participants were told they would be notified by 4 if the hayride was cancelled.

At 12 I called on Dave Pfeffer (Senior Class President) to ask him what his plans were. According to the radio reports, it would be clear after 3. If he didn't notify us we were to assume the hayride was on. He mumbled something to the effect that he had made all the arrangements and barring a hurricane the buses would leave at 8.

The rains resumed at 6. I felt sure that no young man would subject his date to the prospect of wet grounds with intermittent showers. I was informed that forty-eight people went on the hayride. I myself held ticket number 80, which meant that 48 out of 160 people went—the 160 being the minimum number of people who were scheduled to go. Upon arriving at Staten Island, the bus was sent back, repeating last year's procedure where the students were stranded on Staten Island. Last year and this year they weren't told that there would not be any returning buses.

Next year I expect there will be another "Hayride," but in due respect to the Juniors who would like to go, caveat emptor (let the buyer beware).

The Senior Council and Mr. Pfeffer owe an apology to the Seniors who bought tickets in anticipation of an enjoyable evening and were rewarded with this disgraceful, shabby treatment.

Merc Reveals 'Inside' Facts of New Campus

By Barbara Ziegler

Well known for its "originality and devastating wit," Mercury, the College's humor magazine, will put out what it considers the most original issue yet — a Manhattanville issue. It will go on sale during the week of October 17 for the "modest price of two bits."

This will be no ordinary, run-of-the-mill sort of thing, for Merc Men have reportedly labored long and hard to come up with the "inside facts" about the new campus.

Included in the fall issue will be a few friendly tips on how to travel from one campus to another, plus a giant size map of Manhattanville as seen from a Merc Man's point of view.

As a public service to students, Mercury will also present a sample copy of a final exam and a guide to student activities such as the Dept. of Student Life would never dare publish.

Since the Mercury staff has practically exhausted its "creative genius" in putting out the latest issue, new talent is needed and Mercury is willing to pay for it.

There will be a ten dollar prize offered to the writer of the best humorous story in a contest sponsored by the magazine.

All those interested in writing or art work are invited to come to 331 Finley Center to add their names to the distinguished list of Merc Men.

According to the Merc staff "A quarter is a small price to pay for the privilege of enjoying such brilliant, artistic literature."

Senior Prom Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the Senior prom are now being sold in 151 Finley. It will be held Saturday night, December 17, at the St. Moritz hotel. The cost is eleven dollars per couple.

Joey Adams will be the featured entertainer, announced Dave Pfeffer, senior class president. A ten-piece orchestra will supply the music. Included in the cost is a full course meal.

Also on the Senior social calendar, according to Pfeffer, is a camping trip and a mystery bus ride, both scheduled for November.

The first senior class meeting of the term will be held next Thursday from 12 to 2 in the Townsend Harris auditorium. The two main topics scheduled for discussion are alumni-senior vocational guidance and expansion of the social program.

Home-grown Jewelry Maker Sells His Wares in Cafeteria

By Doris Ringler

Attired in chinos and an old suede jacket, with a small brown alligator case under his arm, Fred Fenster '56 roams the cafeteria looking for customers.

When Fred spots a likely prospect, he opens the case and displays his merchandise—an assortment of odd jewelry. There are sterling silver earrings, sparkling pendants, assorted rings and pins, and cuff links decorated with semi-precious stones, corals, beads, ebony and rosewood. All are Fred's original creations in modern and abstract designs.

Set up Small Shop

Inspired by a metal craft course he had taken at the College, Fred set up a small shop in the cellar of an apartment house. There, with the aid of home-made tools, advice from friends, and much experimentation, he makes his own jewelry.

"Designing is the all-important factor in making modern jewelry," said Fred. "However, most people can be creative and are capable of doing this type of work with a minimum of equipment."

When Fred sees someone possessed of an odd piece of jewelry, he often stops to talk with the person and inquires about the creator of the artifact. "If I see a person in the street wearing modern jewelry," he said, "I stare at the jewelry and sometimes I follow the person to get a better look. This can be very embarrassing at times, especially with girls."

creativity in this field by teaching it to others. Since this is his long-range plan for the future, he intends to continue selling his jeweled ornaments.

Booters Vie With Kings Point Cross Country Team To Open Season Sat. In Island Contest, Saturday

By Larry Levin

After notching their first Met League victory over Pratt last Saturday, the College's Soccer team will encounter an improved Kings Point squad out on the Island this weekend. The Mariners have played one game this season and battled Queens to a 1-1 tie. According to Kings Point Coach Tony Daniels, the team has "improved tremendously and looks pretty good."

"Though losing three key men from last year's squad," Daniels commented, "we have replaced them with some talented first year men. One of them is a South American, George Villalva, who will start at center forward."

Young Offense

The Kings Point offense which didn't assert itself to any great displays against Queens, is a young unit and as Daniels puts it, "is just learning."

'Beavers' Real Strong'

As for his squad's chances against the College, mentor Daniels is preparing for a tough struggle. "They're real strong, but we'll give them a good game."

In The Sportlite

Johnny Koutsantanou

Last year Johnny Koutsantanou put thirteen goals through the posts to set a College record and to lead the Beavers to the Metropolitan Soccer League championship. This year he's all set to do it again.

Born in Cyprus, Johnny moved to England and played soccer in that country until he arrived in the States seven years ago. John arrived at the College in 1951 after graduating from Bryant High School and went on to gain honorable mention on the All-American squad of that same year.

Off to a fast start in last week's League game with Pratt, "Koutsy" scored three times to lead the team and bring his all time record total to 27. This is John's fourth year of competition.

A man of varied talents, the accounting major has also taught dancing at the Dale Studios and every now and then he can be found helping out a would-be mambo king. The mambo may be a long way from soccer, but in John's case the two seem to go together.

Coach Harry Karlin

In driving for their third consecutive Met League title, the big problem for the Beavers is overconfidence. Many of the boys are looking to the Army game on Oct. 14, in anticipation of a revengeful victory of last year's lone defeat. Let's hope they know there's a game Saturday.

Frosh Tryouts

Coach Dave Polansky has announced that any frosh interested in trying out for the freshman basketball team should report to the Athletic Office in Lewisohn Stadium as soon as possible to obtain an eligibility card.

Practice will start November 1, at 4, in the Goethals gym.

Only three days of practice remain for the College's Cross Country team before they compete in their first meet of the campaign.

The Beaver harriers are entered in a Quadrangular meet Saturday in Van Cortlandt Park at 1. The other participants are Hunter, Brooklyn and Queens.

Queens Strong

Coach Harry deGirolamo expects the most trouble from Queens, but doesn't underestimate the other entries. As for the College's chances, deGirolamo is hesitant to make any predictions about the outcome of the meet.

However, co-captain Bill Kowalski sustained a pulled muscle in his leg and it is hoped he will be ready for Saturday's competition. Another hopeful, Herb Verter, will miss the meet entirely as he injured his ankle in a time trial held last week.

On the basis of the trials, deGirolamo is quite pleased with the showing of two newcomers, Bryan Quinn and Len Hinafin. The mentor is happy with his boys but adds, "there is room for improvement all the way down the line."

Hard Work

In an effort to make a good showing the team has worked hard. As deGirolamo states, "The boys have accomplished a lot in the short time allotted for practice, but I hope they can keep on improving."

Expected to compete in the Quadrangular meet are the co-captains Kowalski (if ready) and Rick Hurford, Gene Sherman, Gene Forsyth (who has recovered from a pulled thigh muscle), Sal Sorbera, and the two first year men, Quinn and Hinafin.

The outcome of the season depends on the limitation of injuries and if the harriers can limit them, Beaver cross country fans can look forward to a successful year.
