Tokyo Earthquake Recorded By Collge's Geo. Department; Disturbance Noted Here First

The College's seismograph station scooped similar local installations last night when it recorded a major Asiatic earthquake. The quake occurred in the Tokyo area of Japan and was the second such phenomenon to occur here in the last twenty-four hours. Eugene Naparst '56, a student assistant, checked the photo recording paper of the seismograph which records upheavals in the earth's crust, at 7 last night.

Major Disturbance

Naparst took the recording off the machine, and when he developed the film recognized the record of a major disturbance. He immediately called Prof. Daniel T. O'Connell (Geology) the director of the Babor seismograph. Prof. O'Connell verified Naparst's findings and after extensive scientific calculations determined that the quake had occurred approximately 1:28 this afternoon Eastern Standard Time, in the vicinity of Tokyo. The professor then notified the Campus and the Associated Press. Report of the earthquake were just coming off the AP wire from Tokyo when Prof. O'Connell called.

Moved to Shepard

A gift of Prof. Joseph Babor (Chemistry), the earthquake recorder was recently moved to the basement in Shepard Hall. It was

Interfaith Festival Scheduled During Brotherhood Week

An interfaith festival will highlight the list of activities scheduled for Brotherhood Week, beginning March 8.

The Brotherhood Week Committee decided at their first meeting of the term, last night, that their main purpose will be twofold: to define and clarify the term "brotherhood," and to discover what action can be taken by students at the College as an approach to it.

Invited to perform in the festival were Hillel, The Christian Association, The Newman Club, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Pan-Hellenic Society, the Iberoamericano, The Ukrainian Club, and the French Club.

A film titled "High Wall," dealing with racial problems, will be shown on Friday, March 9. The committee will also try to substitute another such film, "Lost Boundaries," in place of the regular Monday afternoon feature shown at the College.

A forum discussion will top Tuesday's events, and the week's activities will be climaxed Wednesday with a debate on current racial situated in the old Finley Hall since 1948. The destruction of Finley Hall caused the move last summer.

The seismograph operates twenty-four hours a day and furnishes daily earthquake reports to the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey. It is operated by Prof. O'Connell and his staff of three assistants who check it daily.

The Tokyo disturbance was the first major earthquake recorded by the Babor seismograph since its shift to the Shepard Hall location.

Vector

Articles on ultrasonics, analog computers and vertical take-off will be featured in the current issue of Vector which goes on sale this week.

A new feature in this issue will be an engineering personality contest with a cash prize of 25 dollars.

Traditional features such as industrial highlights and more "Stolen Stuff" will also appear in the issue.

Brophy to Consider Center Gov't. Changes

The Finley Center Board of Directors, holding its final meeting last night, voted to recommend to Dean Daniel F. Brophy (Student Life) several amendments in the operational plan of the Center proposed by Dean Brophy in January.

Dean Brophy drew up the plan after responsibility for the operation of the Center had been placed in the hands of the Department of Student Activities by the General Faculty.

Called at the request of William Stern, Evening Session Student Government president and member of the Board, the meeting was held for the purpose of airing suggested changes in the plan which radically revised the governmental operation of the previously almost completely student run Center.

Single Body

The recommendations, which developed out of amendments proposed by Stern, would in effect return the organization of the student managing groups to the setup which was in operation prior to Dean Brophy's proposal.

Under the plan proposed by the Dean, the Student Managers Agency would be a single body composed of both Day and Evening Session members, elected by their respective Student Governments, but responsible to the Center Director.

Responsible to SG

Should Dean Brophy choose to accept the Board's amendments, the managers group would once again be separated into Day and Evening Session bodies. The members of these groups, elected by the SG's, would be responsible to those bodies.

Dean James S. Peace and Mr. Stamos Zades, members of the Department of Student Activities. Under the plan which will go into effect this semester, the complete operation of the Finley Student Center will be the responsibility of the DSA.

YPA and MDC to Remove Names from Roster Today

The Young Progressives of America and the Marxist Discussion Club will jointly request today that their membership lists be removed from the College's club membership roster.

The Student Faculty Committee on Student Activities' sub-committee on membership lists will meet today at one and Friday at two quest that their cards be destroyed will automatically be entered in the students' personal file kept by the Department of Student Activities.

The members of the sub-committee are Prof. Stuart C. Easton (History), Mr. Stamos Zades (Student Life), Ralph Dannheiser '58 and Louise Shacknow '57. Any student who is unable to appear in person may contact any member of the sub-committee by letter and ask that his card be destroyed.

Professor Easton felt the safeguards would work; "But we would undoubtedly be much better off without any compulsory lists at all," he added.

Sima Friedman '57, President of YPA, revealed that the members of that organization would all demand that their cards be confiscated. "We cannot escape the threat that the cards may be used against us in the future," she explained. Eric Brown '57, a spokesman for the Marxist Discussion Club, indicated that MDC was planning to follow the same policy.

Howard Schumann '58, chairman of the Political Action Committee predicted that "the number of students who come to have their cards destroyed will demonstrate the fear of membership lists on the part of students at the College.

Frat 'Olympics' To Top March IFC Program

The Inter-fraternity Council program for this semester will swing into high gear at the beginning of March with the "Fraternity Olympics."

Officially, however, the IFC program started during the intersession period on Feb. 3 when All-Fraternity Night was held. At that time freshmen were introduced to fraternity life at the College.

The "Olympics" will consist of a month of intra-mural athletic competition among the fraternities on campus. They will participate in swimming, touch-tackle football, handball and track and field. A trophy will be awarded to the winners of the competition and a cup will be presented to the outstanding athlete.

Marking the end of the olympics will be an inter-fraternity sing-down and beer party to be held at one of the fraternity houses.

The Council will publish, for the first time, a guide to fraternity life on the campus. This publication is scheduled to appear around the end of April. In addition, "The Greek Letter," the official voice of IFC, will be published twice this semester.

Tentatively scheduled for April 21 is the IFC Ball where a fraternity queen will be chosen. The fraternity victorious in the IFC olympics will receive the winner's trophy at this time. The place at which the ball will be held has not yet been decided.

Prof. Stuart Easton (History), a member of the membership lists sub-committee, has confidence in the safeguards now provided.

in 153 Finley to hear requests from members of political and religious clubs at the College that their names be removed from the permanent roster.

Under new regulations passed by SFCSA on Jan. 12, membership lists of students who do not re-

Give Them a Chance

At the end of last semester, the Finley Center Board of Directors was presented by the Administration with a plan for the complete realignment of the structure under which the Student Center will operate. At that time, William Stern, Evening Session president and a member of the Board of Directors asked Dean Brophy to temporarily delay putting the new plan in effect until the Board could examine it and make suggestions for its revision. The Dean agreed, and as a result the Board of Directors met for the last time, yesterday evening, to present him with its suggestions.

One of the most important points over which the Board differs with the plan formulated by the Administration is the creation of a single Managers Agency for both Day and Evening Session students. The Board agreed almost unanimously that the two should remain separate as they have been in the past. It is nearly impossible for students from the two sessions to agree upon an hour when none have classes. In addition, there are many areas where, because of basic differences in the nature of Day and Evening Session, the two groups of students find themselves holding diametrically opposite stands. Under the Administration plan, Day Session, with a greater representation on the Managers Agency, could simply overrule Evening Session on every point of disagreement. The objection against separate agencies, that they would prevent unified action between the two sessions, can be met by the setting up of a liaison board to consult regularly with both groups.

Another key area over which the Board of Directors clashes with the Administration is that of responsibility. Under the structure which was approved by the General Faculty, any student agency set up to manage the Center would be directly responsible to the Center's director, Dean Peace. The Board of Directors feels that such a group should rather be responsible to the body which selected it; in this case the Day and Evening Session Student Governments.

Bob Mayo, an Evening Session representative to the Board, proposed a list of responsibilities to be assumed by the managers groups including such items as preparation of the Center budget, allocation of rooms, and some control in the hiring and firing of employees.

The most vocal opposition to these requests was voiced by one of the Board's alumni members, Edward Goldberger '38. Mr. Goldberger claimed that Mayo was only bringing to the fore a conflict with the Administration that had been fought so many times in the past. The students, Mr. Goldberger insisted, were attempting to take over responsibilities that they have shown they are not yet ready to handle.

So far as the conflict is concerned, we feel that it is a healthy sign when students, faculty and administration can talk their differences over around a table and attempt to settle them to the satisfaction of all concerned. Were this not possible, Mr. Goldberger would really have something about which to worry. As for his charge that the students are not yet ready for responsibility, we feel that their handling of a great deal of the work in the move to Manhattanville showed both maturity and capability on a level with many of the faculty personnel involved. In any case, they cannot display the responsibility which Mr. Goldberger denies they have unless they are given a chance to assume it. We hope Dean Brophy, that you will give them that chance.

AGAINST FEE FOR DANCES

To the Editor:

In regard to your editorial on the Friday night dances ("A Doubtful Saving," Feb. 9):

Student Council evidently is considering an idea whereby a charge of 50 cents is to be initiated for the dances. This is allegedly to free money for use in "The student activities that badly need it." Let me point out that the Friday night dances must be categorized as a student activity.

The dances, with the new ballroom in operation, are now better than ever. Why now, of all times, should a premium be placed on them?

If the students pay directly, they'll want their money's worth: this will detract from the spirit and enjoyment of the dance.

Getting back to where the money goes, the article fails to name the activities for which it is to be diverted.

A student activities fee of less than ten dollars was able to handle the cost in the past. Why can't a full ten dollar fee cover it now?

Arnold L. Greenberg '58

A SAFETY PROPOSAL

To the Editor:

Your article (Feb. 9) concerning the court action in the case of taxi-driver Allonzo Sullivan states that a resolution has been passed by Student Council to launch a campaign "for a greater safety program around the school."

I would like to remind you that the city has already inaugurated such a campaign. They call it "traffic lights." Realizing that our students are in a state of constant rush, if they'll only observe that old cliché, "Stop, look and listen," we won't have any more such useless, unnecessary tragedies.

Frank Behrens, '57

AND BEANS TOO?

To the Editor:

A shameful oversight has been made!

It is disgraceful that visitors to our campus can observe the fact that although many of our buildings have been named after the College's illustrious graduates, Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, one of our most famous graduates, has been overlooked.

I staunchly support the opinion that the new snack bar be named the Frankfurter Bar.

Move to South Campus Fails to Move Students

After fifty years of vain attempts, the College has finally spent its first semester at Manhattanville. "So who needs it?"

This was the answer given by half the students questioned in a recent Campus survey which tried to determine the effect the opening of Manhattanville had on the student body. The other half answered, "We do."

The result of the survey, in which fifty students were questioned, also brought out the fact that the most popular activity among the student body was eating in the cafeteria.

Feelings about the move ranged from vigorous support to bitter opposition to marked indifference.

The majority of the students seemed to approve of the new campus, but most felt that at present the Student Center is not worth the extra three dollar fee. However, the general opinion was that in the future, when the Center would be operating in full capacity, the students would be getting their money's worth.

Heading the list of opponents of the switch to Manhattanville was Elaine Hirschowitz '59, who commented, "I think it stinks!"

"I am being squelched," said Bob Peters '57, an engineering student.

Bent but unsquelched was liberal arts major Rich Kubakoff '57 who said, "At one time I had a girl who was a tech major. We're separated now."

For absolute and complete indifference, no one could top Rafaela Aguilera '57, who didn't even know that the three dollar fee she was paying, was for the Student Center.

High praise was extended to the plush lounges in Finley Center, although even they did not escape some measure of criticism.

As far as the cafeteria was concerned, many students felt that was the only spot in Manhattanville worthy of taking up the free time because it offered a opportunity for varied activities. Among these were poker playing, guitar strumming, singing and practice in the art of picking up members of the opposite sex.

The surprising fact was that very few students objected to the long walk between campuses, the majority feeling that it was "invigorating." However, most people admitted that they were not sufficiently invigorated to be able to make the walk in the allotted time and were usually from two to fifteen minutes late for classes.

"But even that doesn't matter," said Stu Schaar '58, "compared to the fact that the daily walk has sharply improved the leg muscles of the coeds."

Brophy

amendments, Al Eisenkraft '57, former House Plan president proposed that the managers group be an autonomous body elected by the students.
A set of five other amendments concerning the functioning of the managers group, submitted by Bob Mayo, Evening Session representative, provoked a storm of controversy.

Mayo's amendments provided for preparation of the Center's operating budget for submission to Board of Advisors by the managers groups in cooperation with Division of Student Activities.
In addition, the managers groups would also review all Center purchases exceeding 100 dollars and sign meeting and party rooms subject to joint approval by DSA.
Another of Mayo's amendments concerned the role of the managers groups in the hiring of Center employees.

Mr. Edward Goldberger '38, Alumni Association representative to the Board, took exception to spirit of Mayo's proposals. Mr. Goldberger felt that Mayo's suggestions were "just another way of saying that the students want to run the whole show."

"If you want to get the most out of the Center," declared Goldberger, "the way to do it is not to grab as much responsibility as you can and then see if you can handle it, but rather to learn and then accept responsibility gradually."

The Board of Directors voted to accept all of Mayo's amendments except the one concerning room assignments.

Brophy will take all suggestions raised at the meeting under consideration and will make an announcement on the final decision on the proposal at a meeting next week.

Student Government added two more names to its rapidly growing list of resignations last night.

Ken Weissman '57, chairman of the Facilities Agency, and Student Council representative Al Koncrus '56, submitted their resignations to the Student Government Executive Committee.

They joined Joel Resnick '56, newly appointed director of the Managers Agency, who resigned his position on Monday after replacing Joe DeMaio '56, another resignee. The Executive Committee will hold a special meeting today to appoint Resnick's successor.

Mike Horowitz '59, a member of Exec, was chosen last night by that body as a liaison to the Student Athletic Association. The Committee also agreed to appoint two new faculty advisors to Student Government. Bill Brown '57, SG vice-president, revealed that one of the new faculty advisors would probably come from the School of Education.

Comedy Workshop Production To Feature Skits and Satires

Liberace, or a reasonable facsimile, will be the smiling hero of a western skit, "The Kid Returns," tomorrow at 12 in Townsend Harris Auditorium.

The Comedy Workshop is pre-sending the first in a series of shows featuring skits, monologues, songs, satires and pantomime. Larry Cohen '57, organizer of the Workshop, will be the featured comedian and will also be the voice of Liberace.

In addition to the western skit, the show will depict life at the College. Friday night dances, the first day at school and the ever-popular gym class will have prominent places in the production.

Under the influence of "Bwana, Jungle Girl" and "White Pongo" the members of the Workshop will present a take-off of a horror movie.

A satire on a mountain climbing movie will be given for the benefit of those students who spend their week-ends dreaming of the snow capped peaks of Mount Everest. For television fans there will be a take off on an Alfred Hitchcock type program.

Admission to tomorrow's program is free.

Working as a team, these Sylvania scientists pool their individual contributions to create new products. For example:

IN CHEMISTRY: Development of phosphors, semi-conductors, kinetics of gaseous reactions, ultra-pure materials;

IN PHYSICS: Physical optics, electroluminescence, mass spectroscopy, electron emission phenomena;

IN METALLURGY: Powder metallurgy and the investigation of pure metals and semi-conductors.

From research such as this have come Sylvania's stacked ceramic tube, the pill-sized germanium transistor, traveling wave tubes, panelescent lighting, atomic reactor fuel elements, advanced weapons systems, and others.

Many Sylvania developments are still unreleased. The public hears of them tomorrow... the Sylvania team developed them yesterday.

Meager Gathering at Tryout Disappoints Diamond Coach

Time was when at least 100 candidates would turn out at the first call for the baseball team. Last Thursday coach John LaPlace entertained nine would-be varsity players and two of those nine were ineligible. The two were freshmen.

With only eight returnees from last year's squad, the team has 17 positions to fill on the varsity roster. Dr. LaPlace says that "if some more boys don't show up, the squad will have very little chance of improving on last season's record."

Last season, the first one for LaPlace as coach, the Beavers won eight and dropped nine decisions. St. John's won the Metropolitan League crown and defeated the Lavender soundly, 12-7.

Gone from last year's team are Joe Galletta, pitcher, and Jim Cohen, burley catcher and the team's most consistent hitter. Both of these players were selected to be on the Met League's all-star team. Along with Cohen and Galletta, Mike Kucklinca, the second baseman, and Lou Bernero, the leftfielder, have also traveled the graduation path.

Ed Lubitz and Dom Tenerrelli, both of whom operate in the infield were declared ineligible. Dr. LaPlace was counting on both of them to start for the varsity this coming season.

Coach LaPlace feels the poor showing at the initial meeting can be attributed to a "lack of publicity" and that once everybody in the College is made baseball conscious the team's prospects will brighten.

As far as the coming season is concerned, Dr. LaPlace refused to comment on the Lavender's chances, and when questioned about the other league teams, the coach was just as vague.

"The other teams in the league probably lost as much as we did through graduation but I don't know what they have," the coach concluded.

Tickets for the College-Fordham basketball game at Rose Hill on Thursday, Feb. 16 will be on sale Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 15 and 16, between the hours of 12 and 2 in Stadium Room 1. The tickets sell at one dollar for AA members

Sports In Brief

The College's tennis team will hold its first meeting tomorrow in the Lewisohn Stadium building at 12:30. Coach Harry Karlin would like to see all students attend who are interested in trying out for the team. Old members should also come.

Ronnie Reifler, lacrosse goalie who fractured his collarbone a few weeks ago, will have the cast removed tomorrow. Ronnie estimates that it will take about three weeks for the bone to completely mend and that will leave him about a week to get in condition for the opening of the season.

Al Taylor pinned his fifth straight opponent Saturday for the wrestling team. It might have been six, but Al was forced to miss the Temple match in Philadelphia; reason: final exams.

Bernie Stolls, the wrestling team's regular 157 pounder has a pulled muscle in his neck. Coach Joe Sapora is not sure whether Bernie will start against Kings Point in tomorrow night's match at the Point.

Beaverettes Meet NYU Today Key Injuries Hurt Team's Play

Although hurt by injuries and ineligibility, the women's basketball team will have a good chance when they take on the girls from NYU at 5 this afternoon in the Park Gymnasium.

Coach Laura Ham said that in the Rider game "the forwards were clicking for the first time," and she expects that they will continue to improve. "In the Rider game we were hurt by our foul shooting. We only hit 7 for 29 and that was the difference," Miss Ham concluded.

Missing from the starting line-up will be co-captain Rusty Jones, out with a broken finger, Joyce Jessamy, hobbled by a sprained ankle, and Bernice Campbell who has been declared scholastically ineligible. Miss Ham expects Campbell back in the line-up as soon as some difficulty with the registrar is straightened out.

Off her performance in the Rider game, Muriel Cutler should be one of the standouts for the team. She played both guard and forward and played nicely in the backcourt, a position totally unfamiliar to her. Helen Wong and Sandy Weinberg, the other captain, are the team's high scorers and are expected to carry the scoring load this afternoon.

Lee Irwin, a new forward who first saw action in the Rider game was described by Miss Ham as an "aggressive ballplayer" and one who gets the rebounds and follows her shots nicely.

Baseball

Coach John LaPlace will meet with candidates for the varsity baseball team on Saturday, Feb. 18 in Goethals Gymnasium. Any student interested in trying out for the squad should report to the Amsterdam Ave. entrance to Goethals at 11.

Candidates must bring an athletic eligibility card (obtainable in the AA office) signed by the College's doctor and a pair of sneakers and glove are also required.
