Five to Speak Here
At SG Sponsored Hyde Park Day

By Ken Faego

A pacifist, a communist and three socialists will air their views on the South Campus lawn in the College's annual Student-Government sponsored Hyde Park Day program to-day from 12 to 2.

The soap box centurey will be pacifist Bayard Rustin, executive secretary of the War Resisters' League; communist Joseph Clark, foreign editor of the Daily Worker, and Eric Hass, Mina Tannenbaum and Michael Harrington, representing three different socialist organizations.

Served Term in Prison

Mr. Rustin, who served three years in prison during World War II, was convicted in 1955 of a violation of the Civil Defense Act for failing to participate in an air raid drill. His case is presently on appeal.

In general, Mr. Rustin's permission to speak on campus (as long as he does not discuss his own case), Pooli, G. Gallagher avoided a 1955 ruling which barred persons under indictment, or whose cases are on appeal, from speaking at the College.

A member of the Daily Worker staff since 1946, Mr. Clark served for a time as that newspaper's United Nations correspondent. During the years 1950-53, he was its correspondent from Moscow. He served in the infantry during World War II, and was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry.

Sponsored Here Last Fall

Mr. Hass, who spoke at the College last autumn, was the presidential candidate for the Socialist Labor Party in the 1956 elections. A member of the Socialist Workers Party, Mr. Hass has been the party's candidate for Vice-President in the last two elections.

A graduate of the University of the South, he is a member of the Socialist Students League. He has written articles for the "Partisan Review," "Inquiry: A Book Review" and "Commonweal."

Hyde Park Day is a part of the College's Academic Freedom Week. A special AF Weekly journal, containing articles by several faculty members and students will be distributed at the program.

"Honolulu Holiday," the Class of 49's major social event this season, has been cancelled. The affair was to be held Saturday in the Finley Center Grand Ballroom.

Money will be refunded to seniors from 2 to 3 and on Tuesday, April 25, from 1-3 to 3 in 236 Finley.

According to Lou Cotter, freshman class president, the executive council of the class called off the event yesterday since it was learned that only twenty tickets had been sold. Had the affair been run as scheduled, it would have resulted in an estimated loss of 280 dollars.

Cotter attributed the failure to a general lack of interest in social activities on the part of students. "This is why," he stated, "they prefer neighborhood functions to major events taking place at the College."

He also asserted that the Sophomore Class "Night in Trinidad" was a major cause of the "Honolulu" disaster. Although Trinidad was a financial success, students didn't enjoy it because of the overcooking and lack of adequate dance floor space," he said. Consequently...

Pollner Hits SC as ‘Immature’
Wisser ‘57 declared, “I fully re­alize that there is a problem here, and Mr. Pollner and I are making an effort to run a campaign of research and to ensure that we will have a successful election.”

Wisser expressed the hope that representation on Council would be changed from a class-wide to a school-wide system. “This would be the last step that we have to run for Council next year.”

Wisser is scheduled to speak to the class tonight at 8:30 in the Placer­ment Office, and promises that he will not be a candidate for the position of President of the College. “I will, however, be campaigning for a position on the Board of Trustees.”

At the end of his talk, Wis­ner thanked the audience for their support, and expressed his thanks to the outgoing Council for their help in the campaign.

What’s it like to be a systems analyst at IBM?”

Two years ago, college senior Thomas Wheeler asked himself this question. Today, a Systems Analyst in IBM’s Data Using Division, Tom reviews his experience and gives some pointers on what you can expect if you are entering the field.

Why Tom chose IBM
How do you like Tom, who was interviewed by at least twenty companies while in college, select his future employer? “In my mind,” Tom said, “the choice was easy. IBM offered the best opportunities. I knew IBM sales were about doubling every five years—and when I considered the tremendous growth potential of the electronic computer field—I had nothing to worry me out of play.

Besides, I was impressed by the caliber of IBM’s personnel. They had a broader outlook and an approach fined by Tom as “converting the flow of instructions and information into the most efficient operation for an IBMs magneto-drum computer. Belwod,” Tom points out, “is the Inventory Control Center for all

At the central panel of IBM’s 660 business which I can best describe as professional.

“My future? It looks good—very good. I’ve already received two generous raises in less than two years, and at the rate IBM is growing, the ibm computer field is expanding, my future is both assured and rewarding.”

IBM hopes this message will help to give you some idea of what it’s like to be a Systems Analyst in the Data Processing Division. There are equal opportunities for E.E.’s, E.E.’s, M.E.’s, physicists, mathematicians, Liberal Arts majors, and Business Administration grad­uates in IBM’s many divisions. If you are looking for a job with one of the best large companies in the world, set your sights on IBM. Call your Placement Director and we’ll supply our brochure and tell you when IBM will next interview on your campus. Meanwhile, our Manager of College Relations, H. E. Harrington, is happy to answer your questions. Just write him at IBM, Room 1308, 150 Madison Ave., New

G & S Society to Repeat 'Iolanthe' Production

By Bernie Lekowitz

The College's Gilbert and Sullivan Society will present a melange of vengeful fairies when it offers its recent production of 'Iolanthe.'

The performance will be given Friday and Saturday evenings, April 26 and 27 at the Joan of Arc Junior High School auditorium, 93 St. and Seventh Avenue.

Although this is the second presentation of Iolanthe in the G&S Society's three-year history, Danny Finkelstein '57, director of the current production, explained that the added experience of the players and the "grand style" of this opera has prompted the repeat performance.

Fairies Wreck Havee

The action deals primarily with the hayseed servant boy of the Lord of Lords by a group of fairies who decide that parliament has been dissipated by Strephon, the half-fairy, half mortal son of Iolanthe.

The fairies take revenge by not merely securing a position in parliament for Strephon, but also influencing both houses, to pass any bill he introduces, including a proposal for a merit system for selecting members.

All ends happily, however, as the mortals are voluntarily transformed into fairies leaving the House of Lords to be replenished according to intelligence, rather than birth.

Two of the most popular musical numbers created by the team of Gilbert and Sullivan are "March of the Fairies" and "Heathen Chinee." Ralph Fried '57 is the stern fairy queen who eventually succumbs to love. Melicent Berman '58 is the only female member of the College's Debating Society. And she finds her position a pleasant one. "The fellows say it's nice to have a girl around the house," she smiled. The first and only other female member of the society transferred last year.

Organization Secretary

The jovial, earnest, secretary of the organization, finds her male counterparts a chivalrous lot. "Elections for next term were held last week and no one would run against me for vice-president. They really are very polite," she said.

Melicent has participated in several events, including the Invitational Tournament at the College two weeks ago, and the tournament at Yeshiva University in March.

Only Coed Member Of Debate Team

It's a woman's prerogative to have the last word and when one coed at the College exercises her feminine privilege she gets no complaints.

Melicent Berman '58 is the only female member of the College's Debating Society. And she finds her position a pleasant one. "The fellows say it's nice to have a girl around the house," she smiled. The first and only other female member of the society transferred last year.

Room Space A Difficulty

According to the director, one of the most serious difficulties was the inability of the group to obtain definite room space to arrange a date for the production which would not conflict with other College activities.

Despite all the obstacles ticket sell will go on sale today in the Fine Center Ticket Booth at one dollar for Friday's performance and $1.25 for Saturday's show.

Religious Activities Varied

Five Clubs at the College Cater To Students of All Denominations

By Barbara Rich

The five religious organizations at City College have been variegated during the past year and a half. A study of these organizations in regard to student services and facilities will indicate the values each offers to students of all denominations. The many opportunities which these clubs provide help to make the religious experience of City College students a rewarding one.

As manager of the City College Book Store, I would like to request that the editorial manager make correcting a false statement made in your April 3 issue under "Letters To The Editor." I am specifically referring to the last paragraph of an article "Student Testing." The statement is: "This represents the first survey of its kind ever attempted in this institution." The statement is incorrect.

May I refer you to the City College Book Store? Not only do we have a testing service, but we also have survey books for professional and non-professional use.

Catholic, Jewish and Protestant Groups Offer Fellowship

Howard Young '55, a former president of Hillel, explained that Hillel is the only means of attachment with Judaism for some students. "In the past few years, Hillel has become much more religious, because students have become more religious in the sense that they are looking for an association with a group," Young said.

The IVCF

The Inter-varsity Christian Fellowship is the youngest religious organization on campus. It was organized two years ago but insufficient membership forced it to disband. Last fall it returned and was granted a temporary charter by the Inter-varsity's national organization.

According to Ralph Garbee '60, president of the Fellowship, the organization is a Protestant group, inter-denominational in character. The purpose of the organization is "to investigate the claims of Jesus Christ and to consider His challenge to today's college and university students."

The first IVCF started in 1876 at Cambridge University in England. Groups were later established in Canada and the United States. Columbia University was the first New York institution of higher learning to have an IVCF on campus.

On Thursdays the club usually invites a clergyman to speak. There is a monthly meeting at Columbia University where speakers from all over the world discuss different aspects of life in the community—science, religion—literature, etc.

Bible study and prayer meetings are also part of the organization's activities. For social activity the group turns to joint swimming meets, and ski trips.

Prof. Gerner A. Olsen (C.E.), faculty advisor of the organization, said, "Many words have been spoken concerning the problems and destiny of man. Often attempts have been made to solve these problems, without any consideration of God and they have failed.

The Newman Club

This year the Newman Club is celebrating its Golden Jubilee at the College. According to its charter, the club is an "organization for the community of Catholic students at the College" which "shall endeavor to foster and further the religious, intellectual and social life of its members."

Last year's president of the club, holds that "the main purpose of the club is to foster a mature intellectual approach."

The first Newman Club was founded at Oxford University in England in 1890 by Cardinal John Henry Newman, a convert from the Anglican Church. He was one of the leaders of the Oxford movement—a 19th century intellectual approach to religion.

Paul J. Harvey '58, began the organization on this campus. At that time only three Newman clubs were in existence in the United States. In 1914, at a meeting at Hunter College, representatives of five Newman clubs in the city considered the formation of a group which was organized in 1915 as the Federation of College Catholic Clubs and was later changed to the Newman Club Federation.

Every Thursday the organization holds discussions on topics of interest. In addition, there are formal lectures which are educational as well as religious. They range anywhere from marriage conferences to discourses on church music.

The group holds a yearly retreat during which non-Catholics are invited—at its Retreat House in Monroe, New York.

A Day of Recollection is another annual event. A Mass, a discussion and a Benediction are held during the year at the Catholic Center at 96 West 34th St., Picnics, dinners and dances make up the bulk of social activity for the group. For three days, beginning May 20, the club will celebrate its 40th anniversary with a student-faculty reception, a buffet dinner and a get-together for the hands of all the students organizations on campus.

Netmen in Repeat Opener; Meet Adelphi Minus Ferrara

By Bob Mayer

The College's tennis team will open its season Saturday, a week later and a lot weaker than had been anticipated. The squad will face Adelphi at 10 on the Fleet Courts without the services of Guy Ferrara, who had been scheduled to play at the number one position.

The new lineup has senior Walter Ritter and Roy Fleischman, who combined for a 7-2 record, has lost only two dozen matches. The Engineers, from Philadelphia, New Hampshire Tech will be opening its season Saturday and will not be in the mid-season form they were when they beat the Lavender last season.

Merritt Neice and Marc Rosenberg, both double sources against New Hampshire will be leading the Beaver attack while co-captains Mike Volpe and Leroy Fagen will be playing key parts in the Lavender midfield and defensive alignments.

The stickmen will not see action over the Easter lay-off and are slated to meet Adelphi Wednesday, April 24 at Lewishon Stadium in their next contest.

Stickmen Seek First Win Of Season Against Drexel

By Vic Ziegel

After dropping a tight 3-4 decision to New Hampshire last week, the College's lacrosse team will be out to garner its first win of the season against Drexel Tech Saturday in Lewishon Stadium.

The Engineers, from Philadelphia, have primarily the same squad that trimmed the Beavers 6-1 last season. The team, which compiled a 7-2 record, has lost only two dozen matches.

Drexel coach Herman Epstein has a well integrated squad. Skimming on speed and a concentrated attack, the Engineers are not a team to be taken lightly.

Frank Arnold, Richard Davis, Ed Moore and Bill Thayer all attackmen are the victims mainstay. Goaltie Charlie Vincent, beginning his second year in the nets and co-captain Gerald Del Vechio, a defender are other standouts on the Drexel squad.

Beaver coach Leon "Chic" Miller foresees a tough game for his boys. They lost last year and they've got the same team back. I hope the fine showing we made against New Hampshire can be repeated be-cause we'll have to be at our best to win.

The Lavender has one strong point in its favor. Game experience, an important asset in lacrosse, will be going for the Beavers. Drexel Tech will be opening its season Saturday and will not be in the mid-season form they were when they beat the Lavender last season.

Merritt Neice and Marc Rosenberg, both double sources against New Hampshire will be leading the Beaver attack while co-captains Mike Volpe and Leroy Fagen will be playing key parts in the Lavender midfield and defensive alignments.

The stickmen will not see action over the Easter lay-off and are slated to meet Adelphi Wednesday, April 24 at Lewishon Stadium in their next contest.

Wagner Tops Beavers; Six-run Inning Decides

By Bernie LeKowitz

Griffins Hill C, 1, April 16 — All that rained here today was base hits as the College’s baseball team lost its opener to Wagner, 13-10.

The cold weather was the biggest obstacle for the Lavender lefty, Al Di Bernardo. By the time the bouncy right-hander had gotten out of the first inning he was touched for six runs.

Di Bernardo regained his form, retiring nine consecutive batters in the next three frames. In the third and fourth innings he struck out the side, but ran out of steam in the fifth as Wagner put up two errors, two walks, a wild pitch, a hit batter and a solitary single together for five runs.

The Beavers scored enough runs to win the second game any day, but in its biggest inning—the fifth—when their scored runs are few, the hosts countered with five hits.

The big blow for the Beavers was a triple shortstop Bob Demas times at bat. He also scored three runs. Di Bernardo aed his own error as he went for two on scoring twice.

Although a total of 25 runs and 39 hits were scored in the contest, 21 strikeouts were also registered. Di Bernardo whiffed nine men as he wanted the route. The Wagner pitcher, Bob Taylor and Bill DiLello racked up 12 strikeouts.

"I expected the team to be stale because of the postponements, but so far the most part the Fielding and hitting were sharp. If this is our indication we should have a much better season than last year," he said.

The remaining three games, the Beavers travel to Princeton to oppose the Tigers in a game originally scheduled for last Saturday. Coach La Place will pitch right-hander Stefan Weiss.

‘Nine’ to Play Tight Schedule During Easter

The only break the College’s baseball team will get in the up-coming Easter vacation period will be during the seventh inning stretch. The Beavers meet six opponents in the nine days between Saturday and next Monday, April 22.

Four of these games, Manhattan, New York University, St. John’s and Hofstra are Metropolitan Conference contests. The remaining contests are against Fordham and Army, Monday and Wednesday respectively.

The four league meetings should be a strong indication of the Lavender strength this season. The Beavers compiled a three and nine league record last year.

Although NYU led the conference last season, the Redmen are expected to give the Beavers the hardest time in the coming week. St. John’s has a veteran squad returning and pulled a powerful punch at the plate.

Outfielder Mike Recigliano with a .322 batting average and catcher Joe Wilson with a .333 percentage lead the slugging Redmen. Last year St. John’s claimed the conference laurels in two runnings, 15-1 and 13-1.

The defending champs, the Violites completed a ten and two league mark. Losing three of their top pitchers, however, should prove too much to keep NYU from keeping the conference title another year.

Make up your mind, Lavender slugger returning, will be another top contender for the league honors. Hines Pierson, Jim Eilow and John Murray with batting averages of .376, .355, and .288 respectively give the Jaspers a solid nucleus for their batting.
