Pres. Hopeful On Increase In State Aid

President Gallagher said yesterday he was "quite hopeful" that the municipal colleges would receive additional state aid this year.

Three state aid bills have been introduced to the state legislature so far. Two would give the municipal colleges one-third of the operating costs for four years of undergraduate work. The other would grant one-third for two years.

The colleges now receive from the state one-sixth of their operating costs for two years.

Seymour Weisman, executive secretary of the College's Alumni Association, said that "if pressures on down-state Republicans continue," the legislature would pass the Mitchell-Brook bill, which asks one-third the costs for four years.

Lobbyists for state aid are expected to concentrate on the Mitchell-Brooks bill because Senator Mitchell is a Republican. The other bill that would grant the same amount was introduced by a Democrat, Assemblyman John T. Satriale. Both the Senate and the Assembly have Republican majorities.

In general, officials pressing for the aid seem more optimistic this year than they were last year. Last summer, a state aid bill was passed at the end of the legislature's session, after municipal college officials had virtually given up hope.

According to President Gallagher, the campaign for the aid is being carried on "through the usual channels of direct communication." The Board of Higher Education has prepared a list of members of the legislature who are alumni of the city colleges. The

Mrs. Roosevelt Speaks Today

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will speak today at 12:30 in Aronow Auditorium on "Reform, 1960, and the Role of the College Student."

Mrs. Roosevelt was invited here by the College's Young Democratic Club in an attempt to stir interest in the reform movement within the Democratic Party. She is an active member of the New York Committee for Democratic Voters, an insurgent group trying to wrest party control from Michael Prendergast and Carmine DeSapio.

party leaders. Gus Bennet '60, president of the YDC, said his group was supporting the insurgents.

"DeSapio represents a symbol of an undemocratic organization," Bennet said. Working with Mrs. Roosevelt on the committee are Averill Harriman, Herbert Lehman and Thomas K. Finletter.

Bennet said that part of Mrs. Roosevelt's speech will concern "what interested college students can do in the reform movement."

A second prominent speaker—Dr. Henry Steele Commager—will deliver the second lecture in his three-part series on "The Nature of American Nationalism" today at 5 in the Aronow Auditorium.

Pitkowsky, Kahn Seek To Impeach Bernheim

A motion last night at Student Council to investigate the College's newspapers touched off a bitter controversy that climaxed with the demand for the impeachment of Student Government President David Bernheim '60.

Six Council members, led by Vice-President Jerome Pitkowsky '61 and former SG President Barry Kahn '60, walked out of the meeting. Pitkowsky and Kahn said later they were going to ask the Student Faculty Committee on Student Activities on March 17 for Bernheim's impeachment. They will charge that Bernheim is "incompetent."

Kahn said he "walked out of the meeting because every legal means to have a motion defeated was ruled illegal by the chairman (Bernheim) in contradiction of the by-laws. He did this because he knew that the majority of Council would back him."

Kahn said he would resign his post on Council.

Bernheim claimed that the six left in order to render Council ineffective because the body would no longer have a quorum.

Bernheim charged that "the people who walked out have used a shabby parliamentary maneuver to destroy Student Government." "These people are all of the DFU, OP, and Pro-Jake Rosen clique that shouts about democracy, then uses anti-democratic practices to gain its ends," he charged.

(Bernheim was referring to the Democratic Forum and Union, a political party; Observation Post, a day-session newspaper; and Jacob-Rosen '60, who recently took the Fifth Amendment before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.)

Bernheim charged "these people" with "using communistic and fascist methods." Kahn later assailed Bernheim for "starting a campaign of name-calling."

The controversy began when a motion was introduced to create a committee to investigate the student newspapers.

Ira Reiss '61 said the investigation was necessary to look into complaints from various organizations that the newspapers have not provided them with adequate publicity.

The argument soon became heated. Several members maintained that Council would violate the freedom of the press by launching an investigation.

Before and after the six members walked out, Bernheim had difficulty maintaining order. He was constantly shouting for order over a group that had become loud and unruly.

Bernheim charged that the six who walked out "are trying to destroy" SG. "They fear that an investigation might reveal certain facts which might bring out the inadequacies of the extremist paper that protects them." He said he was referring to OP.

After the walkout, Bernard Wittlieb '60 called for a quorum count. But Bernheim overruled him because Bernheim felt that the majority of Council was behind him.

The move incensed Wittlieb and he asserted that "this is the basest subterfuge ever perpetrated on Student Council. The chairman is either a liar, bad at arithmetic or a pig-headed fool. He is abusing the power of the chair... I think you cannot become God in the chair."

Beside Kahn and Pitkowsky, the students who walked out were Irwin Pronin '62, SG Treasurer, Jack Mazelis '62, Ann Ginsberg '63, and Tim Brown '63.

STARTING LINEUP: Judy ("Lola") Zelin and three "Washington Senators" rehearse for production of "Damn Yankees."

By Fran Pike

The Musical Comedy Society will be playing the devil's own game tomorrow and Saturday nights.

"Damn Yankees," the Richard Ross-Jerry Adler musical about a baseball miracle, will be presented at the Taft High School auditorium, 172 Street and Sheridan Ave., in the Bronx.

A small part of the show, however, was heard on the Finley Center's third floor Tuesday night when three of the play's "Washington Senators" circled the halls singing "Heart." Their warm-up was cut short when they discovered that the rest of the team was practicing at Taft.

During one scene of that Tuesday rehearsal, the performers scampered from back stage, seated themselves in choice seats and witnessed an attempted seduction.

Lola, the devil's helpmate and chief seductress, was hard at work—seducing. It was Lola's first time in costume and the cast was anxious to see how it would look.

Red-haired Judy Zelin '60, the weekend Lola, said the abbreviated costume and her routine didn't cause her embarrassment or discomfort on stage. She added, however, that the part "is not at all like the last one I performed—Peter Pan."

Tickets for both performances may be purchased opposite 152 Finley or at the door. The prices are $1.10 and $1.25 for tomorrow and $1.25 and $1.50 for Saturday night.

ELEVATOR MONITOR Sal Favia makes sure that students without passes seldom ride.

Sal Favia '61 gets paid a dollar an hour to ride up and down in the Finley Center elevator and keep students without passes from accompanying him.

Favia is one of three students hired by the Center to prevent unauthorized persons from using the elevator. Dean James S. Peace (Student Life) said they were hired "because students had scratched inappropriate writings on the walls and the elevator had to be repainted twice."

He sits on a stool in the padded elevator car. When the car is not in use, Favia takes it up to the fourth floor. "The basement is too drafty," he said.

Following is the schedule when there is no elevator monitor on duty:

- Every day from 1:30 to 5.
- Monday and Wednesday nights after 8.
- Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday nights after 7.

Election Cards

State Aid

The state aid bills that probably will be considered by the state legislature next week are the concern of every student at the College. If the municipal colleges receive more aid from the state, it will be possible to increase guidance service here and perhaps to decrease overcrowding in classes.

The Board of Higher Education and the Alumni Association are conducting an excellent campaign to obtain state aid. But their statements will carry more weight if they are backed up with student support. We urge students here to write their representatives in the state legislature asking them to support the state aid bills. It is one of the few opportunities students have to help provide needed improvements at the College.

We Beg To Agree

We will agree with Observation Post that we disagree with Prof. John Thirlwall, whose letter appeared in OP yesterday. In fact, if we had not read OP yesterday, Professor Thirlwall's letter would have appeared in THE CAMPUS today. The professor sent the same letter to THE CAMPUS, marked "for publication," but we refuse to duplicate OP completely.

As for the question of merging the two newspapers, if students want a paper on an average of four times a week, they will have to pay the same amount whether two papers each come out twice or one comes out four times.

And as far as the difference between the two papers is concerned, there is more than one criterion. In addition to editorial opinion, there is the question of journalistic standards and judgment of news value.

We try to be different. And we think we succeed most of the time.

Hail and Farewell

With Monday night's basketball loss to New York University, the final curtain came down on the College's first year in the Tri-State League, rivalries with four metropolitan powers, and another losing record for the cagers. We are sorry there could be no happy ending, but we enjoyed watching the team throughout the season.

For coach Dave Polansky, who stepped in for Nat Holman for the fifth time in eight seasons, it was an uphill drive with an inexperienced club. Fans will recall a last-second goal by Hunter's Art Brennan in January as the shot that prevented a five-game Lavender winning streak.

In the latter half of the season, the team was weakened further by the graduation of its backcourt stars, Marty Groveman and Guy Marcot. The squad lost its last eight games, but the hustle and drive shown by the younger players kept the team in contention during many of the contests.

Most of the Beavers are returning next season—we wish them a rousing Allagaroo.

SFFC Announces Allocation of Fees

The Student-Faculty Fee Committee has announced fee allocations to student organizations for this semester.

The allocations are financed by the two-dollar student activity fee that each student pays at registration.

Last term, organizations made allocation requests to a Student Government fee committee. The SG committee made recommendations to SFFC, which has the final word on appropriations. SFFC rarely overrules the Student Government committee's recommendations.

Following is the list of allocations:

LUCKY STRIKE presents

Dear Dr. Frood:

Dr. Frood, Ph.T.T.

OBFUSCATED ENGLISH PROF. FAILS TO FOOL FROOD

(see below)

Dear Dr. Frood: Very soon the major corporations will be scouting the colleges for capable seniors. They'll be offering fabulous salaries, big titles, golden opportunities. Whom should I work for to guarantee myself a secure future and top income?

Capable

Dear Capable: Dad.

Dear Dr. Frood: Recently I saw this slogan for Lucky Strike: "Remember how great cigarettes used to taste? Luckies still do." I wonder if the Lucky Strike people realize there is a most serious obfuscation here. The modifier is awkward. Does "great" modify "taste"? Or does "great" modify "cigarettes"?

English Professor

Dear English: You can answer that one yourself. Simply put a match to a Lucky Strike and puff.

Dear Dr. Frood: For many months I have worked nights in the lab, developing the formula that I am convinced will make possible the perfect crime. It is a deadly poison that works externally, rather than internally. To test my formula, I have placed a large amount of the poison on this letter that you are now holding in your hands. Sorry it had to be you, old man.

Wolfgang

Dear Wolfgang: My secretary received your letter. Now that there is no one to care for them, I'm sending you her 14 cats.

State Aid

BHE has also listed "names and addresses of faculty and alumni of the city colleges living outside New York City who might be of help in state aid."

The state aid bills will be considered as part of the "supplementary budget" for the state. President Gallagher said the bills probably will come before the legislature next week.

On Tuesday, the Assembly passed Governor Rockefeller's regular budget request. Attempts by Democrats to increase aid to the city colleges by $4,000,000 were defeated.

News in Brief

Israeli Fighter to Talk

The former operations commander of the underground in Tel Aviv, Elazar Pedatzur, will speak in the Main Lounge of Hillel House at 12:30 Thursday. Mr. Pedatzur will speak on "The Underground in Palestine — Truth and Fiction."

Tug-Of-War Set

The Class of '62 will sponsor a tug-of-war next Thursday at 12:15 on the South Campus lawn. Students who wish to participate should submit a list of ten team members in the Student Government office, 341 Finley. Members of the winning team will receive silver dollars.

Dear Friendless: Your ties must be a trifle too thin.

Dear Dr. Frood: My sociology Professor says parents should be held responsible for juvenile delinquency. Do you agree?

Soc. Major

Dear Soc: Only if they are very young.

Bayuk, West to Defend Titles In Met Swim Championships

By Vic Grossfeld

Swimming co-captain Mike Bayuk isn't going overboard when he predicts that the Beavers will finish fourth in the Metropolitan Swimming Championships Saturday at New York University's pool. The qualifying rounds begin tomorrow.

And if the team is at its peak, Bayuk suggests, "we might finish even better than fourth."

Lavender diver Nick West, undefeated in two seasons of dual-meet competition, and Bayuk will defend the Met titles they won last year. Bayuk edged the College's Danny Goldin in the 200-yard breast stroke last season.

Kings Point's George Mason is expected to be West's greatest challenge in the dive. Val Balarasky, who finished second to Goldin in the breast stroke against NYU last month, will also compete for the Beavers.

If the mermen hope to place better than fourth on Saturday, they will have to do so against the three top teams in the met area, an American breast-stroke record holder and a freestyler who figures to win all his events.

NYU, victorious over the Beavers this year by a 60-34 score, has won the championship for the last five years. The powerful Long Island University and Kings Point squads will also seek top honors. The Mariners defeated the College early last month.

LIU's Fred Munsch holds the national record in the 100-meter breast stroke at 1:14.7 minutes. And Fordham University's Drury Gallagher, who easily won all three events he entered against the Lavender in a dual-meet this season, is a threat in freestyle races.

The College's freestylers—Carl Ross, Ralph Cohen, Mike Bologovsky and Mike Nemitoff—will compete in Saturday's 440-yard relay. Ross will also enter the 100-yard individual contest.

MIKE BAYUK

In addition to swimming the breast stroke, Bayuk will enter the 200-yard butterfly and the 200-yard individual medley.

The Beavers closed their dual-meet schedule with a 59-35 win over Lafayette. Their final record is 5-4.

Rifle Meet

The College's rifle team, undefeated in league competition, will seek its fifteenth victory today when it meets C. W. Post College in the Lewisohn Stadium range at 6.

Fencers End Dual-meet Slate Against Bklyn. Here Saturday

The College's fencers close their best dual-meet season in recent years Saturday facing Brooklyn at the Wingate gym.

The Beavers, now 5-3, should have little trouble with Brooklyn. They are still smarting from last weekend's humiliating 22-5 loss to NYU. Last year the College defeated the Kingsmen, 23-4.

The fencers will face the Kingsmen without foilsmen Abe Studnick, who supplied the only bright spot in the NYU debacle by upsetting Olympian Gene Glazer.

Studnick also will miss the Intercollegiate Fencing Association championships next week because of an impending operation.

Saturday's meet against Brooklyn is considered to be just a tune-up for the IFA's for the College. Coach Ed Lucia and captain Reggie Spooner predict an easy victory. Spooner, in fact, expects the final score to be similar to last year's.

"I spoke to some of the boys on our team and we're out to get them," Reggie said.

Three Trackmen to Compete In IC4A Meet at Garden Sat.

By Michael Lester

A trio of Beaver trackmen will seek individual honors in the IC4A track and field championships Saturday night at Madison Square Garden.

Josue Delgado, Mel Siegel and Ira Rudick will participate in afternoon trial runs to qualify for the finals.

Delgado, whose 50.4-second anchor leg paced the Beavers to a relay victory in the Knights of Columbus meet last weekend, is entered in the 600-yard run.

The Lavender's top distance man, Delgado has never before competed for the 600. It is expected he will face such strong runners as Yale's Jim Stack, and Kye Courtney and Ron Colino of Manhattan in the finals.

Siegel hopes to qualify for the mile run. He finished with the equivalent of a 4:42-mile in a handicap heat earlier this season.

Rudick will try for the 60-yard dash, an event which will have quarter-final, semi-final and final runs in the evening.

The Beavers are also preparing for individual events in the Collegiate Track Conference championships, their last indoor meet of the season, to be held next Friday.

Wrestlers to Vie In Met Tourney

The College's matmen will compete in the Metropolitan Wrestling Championships at Kings Point Saturday without knowing too much about their opposition but hoping for the best.

"Kings Point is probably the strongest team in the meet," coach Joe Sapora said, "but I don't know enough about the other teams to rate them."

Sapora feels that Beavers Dave Borah (147) and captain Myron Wollin (123) have a pretty good chance to win and gives Bernie Haynes (157) "an outside chance to win."

Freshmen interested in joining the College's frosh track team are requested to report to coach Harry deGirolamo in Lewisohn Stadium any weekday, except Friday, at 4.
