Mrs. Roosevelt, Yugoslav To Appear Here Today

Dr. Vladimir Dedijer, the former official biographer of President Tito who fell out of favor with the Yugoslav government after his defense of author Milovan Djilas, will speak in Aronow Auditorium at 12:15 today.

Dr. Dedijer's address, "On the Responsibility for World War I: New Historical Evidence on an Old Controversy," will be prefaced with an introduction by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Ten policemen and several plainclothesmen also will be on hand to provide protection for Mrs. Roosevelt because of recent bomb threats against her. Dean James A. Peace (Student Life) obtained the guard from the Thirtieth Precinct in response to a request from Prof. Samuel Hendel (Chairman, Government). The program is sponsored by the Government Department, and the History and Government and Law Societies.

At 1, the police will follow Mrs. Roosevelt to Steiglitz Hall where she will narrate a documentary film, "Barow Clinic," made by students in the Film Institute.

Before December, 1954, Dr. Ded-

Survey Set By Library

Beginning next term, the library will make a formal study to determine the demand for books in its reserve section.

The study was requested last week by the Student Government Library Committee.

Prof. Jerome Wilcox, head librarian, said yesterday that the library formerly had ascertained the probable demand each semester by "waiting for the faculty to come to us."

Profs to be Polled

"This was not satisfactory," Professor Wilcox said. Next term, forms will be sent to instructors asking what titles are needed for how many sections.

The librarian said he will try to attain a ratio of one copy for every ten students when a large number of students require the book. "If the number is small and the course requires a large concentration on the book, the ratio will be something like one for every three or five students," he said.

8,000 Books in Reserve

"In the past there were complaints that many books in the reserve section were never used," Professor Wilcox said. "So we tightened up too much and now we have to think about loosening up."

The professor said there were approximately 8,000 books in the reserve section. He emphasized that there would be no set ratio of copies to students and the ratio would "constantly have to be re-examined."

SAFETY FIRST: Mrs. Roosevelt will be guarded by police during her visit here.

ijer was a member of the Communist League's Central Committee and the Yugoslav parliament, and a professor of history at Belgrade University.

He lost all his positions and received a six-month suspended sentence after he was tried for spreading "hostile propaganda."

The charges stemmed from his defense of Djilas, author of "The New Class." The author was ousted from the Central Committee after he told foreign newsmen he

Council Endorses New Picket; Previous Two Lines Criticized

Student Council last night endorsed Saturday picketing of Woolworth's Department Store for the third straight week. However, for the first time several members of Council voted against the measure.

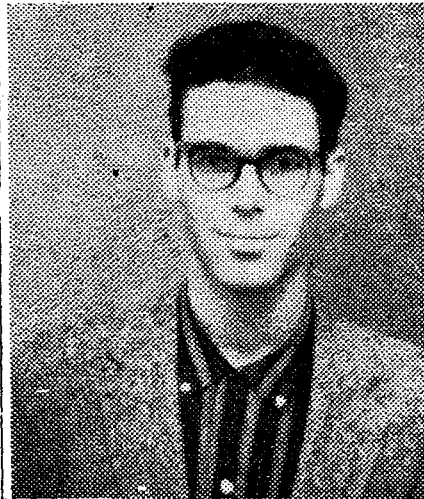

The endorsement was approved by acclamation the previous two weeks, but last night the vote was 13-4-6. At the meeting last night, the picketing came in for its sharpest criticism.

Florence Dorenbusch '63 said that the pickets last week were poorly dressed and had insulted people. "They looked like ragged little beatniks," she said. "Some of the pickets screamed out to shoppers insults like 'We hope you choke on your food!'"

Miss Dorenbusch maintained that some of the pickets "looked too small to tell the difference between right and wrong."

Bert Weinstein '62 said that he was "sorry Miss Dorenbusch came down because she thought it was a social event. I was just glad that people showed up. It didn't concern me what they looked like and there's nothing wrong with slacks." Jack Mazelis '62 said that he had "heard no abusive remarks."

Sid Bloom '62 said many of the picketers were not really concerned with the issue of civil rights. "The big thing nowadays is to appear pro-Negro . . . to be a joiner . . . many people who were picketing were merely giving lip service to civil rights," he said. He also criticized the conduct of the picketers. "The picket lines down South were more orderly in contrast to the line up here," he said.

Jay Freeman '60 said the lack of real interest of many of the students would eventually make the picketing worthless. Freeman said that "attendance at last week's picket was less than at the first week." He said he feared attendance "would go down further until the number of picketers would be reduced to just a few diehards."

Ed Beiser '62 was completely opposed to the picketing on the grounds that "it hasn't been shown to me why we have the right to single out Woolworths for an economic boycott."

Woolworth has been picketed in sympathy with southern students who are protesting segregation at lunch counters.

Commager Talk

Henry Steele Commager will deliver the final lecture in his three part series on "The Nature of American Nationalism" today at 5 in the Finley Center Grand Ballroom.

New String Section

THE BETTER TO HEAR: Strings strung above orchestra are expected to improve acoustics in Aronow Auditorium.

The College's orchestra will open its spring concert series tonight under a network of pink, yellow and blue wool.

Prof. Fritz Jahoda (Music) stood on a ladder for several hours last Friday afternoon stringing the yarn midway between the floor and the ceiling of the Aronow Auditorium stage. He hopes the wool will improve the auditorium's acoustics.

"Sounds get trapped near the high ceiling so that the audience hears tinkles instead of tones," Professor Jahoda said. "The wool should prevent this," he added, "but I don't know what effect the pretty colors will have."

At the concert, which begins at 8:30, the orchestra will play two movements from violin sonatas by Mozart, "Scaramouche," a piece for saxophone and orchestra by Milhaud, and Dvorak's "New World Symphony." Tickets are on sale in 152 Finley for 75 cents.

Alumni Back Use of Fund By Gallagher

The Alumni Association emphatically disavowed support Tuesday for an alumnus' charges against President Gallagher last week.

The executive secretary of the association, Dr. Seymour Weisman, issued a statement to "make it clear that the statements of Dr. Henry Landman [the alumnus] do not represent our views."

Dr. Landman asserted last week that the President wanted to establish a graduate school here because of his "ambition to make City College the largest school in the country, if not in the world. He's interested in himself, not the students," he said.

Scored City College Fund

The alumnus criticized the City College Fund for allocating $40,000 to study the possibility of expanding the graduate program at the College. The study was proposed by President Gallagher.

Dr. Weisman said the Alumni Association Board of Directors favored making the graduate program study. He also said a recent poll of alumni "revealed an overwhelming alumni interest and need for an enlarged graduate school program."

Dr. Landman also charged that there had been a "decline in scholastic standards" here, and that instructors have been pressured by department chairmen to "upgrade" marks.

Academic Standards Praised

A subcommittee of the Alumni Association met at Dr. Landman's request last month and found "no basis for criticism" of academic standards here, Dr. Weisman stated. He said there was "some sentiment expressed" that the entrance requirements might be too high.

"This is the first letter of criticism of the President since I've been in office [four years]," Dr. Weisman said. "No president of City College since John H. Finley

State Aid Proponents Oppose Merger Plan, Weisman Says

Merger of the municipal colleges into the state university system will receive no support from proponents of state aid, the executive secretary of the Alumni Association said Tuesday.

"Those who support state aid are doing so on the condition that there be no merger," Dr. Seymour Weisman said. "If merger was involved, there would be no support of any state aid."

"I have had personal assurances from the leadership of the Board of Higher Education that they will not participate in this deal," Dr. Weisman said.

The BHE has not made a statement of its position on the proposal. A spokesman for the Board would not comment yesterday on the question.

Dr. Weisman said the alumni opposed merger because "the source of control moves further away. The College doesn't want to have to submit its budget to the state," he added.

Dr. Weisman said he thought the merger had little chance of being approved. He pointed out that no bill had been introduced containing the proposal.

Tickets, priced at $5 a couple, are on sale for House Plan's Carnival Ball in 319 Finley. The Ball will be held Saturday night in the Hotel Roosevelt with comedian Arnold Stang scheduled to appear.

He said alumni devotion to the President was caused by Dr. Gallagher's "liberal leadership in the community," his work in expanding the College's physical facilities, and his willingness to "consult alumni on issues of mutual concern."

Are these gold bars worth two more years of study?*

As a college sophomore, you're nearing the mid-point. Halfway through college—halfway through Army ROTC. Now you face a major decision: Are the gold bars of a Second Lieutenant worth two additional years of study in advanced ROTC?

That question is yours to answer now—before you register for your junior year. As you explore the facts, carefully weigh the traditional responsibilities and rewards of serving as an Army officer . . .

1. Traditional responsibilities. To meet the command responsibilities of an Army officer, you apply the leadership principles absorbed during advanced ROTC training. And your executive potential grows as you gather leadership experience. That's why employers often prefer men who served as commissioned officers. These men already have proven their capacity to shoulder executive responsibility.

2. Traditional rewards. In every organization, greater responsibilities mean greater rewards. Thus the traditional responsibilities and prestige of an Army officer are matched by material advantages. For example, if you plan to marry soon after graduation—an officer's salary can be a distinct advantage. A married 2nd Lieutenant earns a minimum of $355.68 per month—plus substantial fringe benefits.

Need more information? Check with the Professor of Military Science and Tactics at your college or university. He'll be glad to discuss your decision with you.

*Last year, 14,436 sophomores answered "yes" to this question—and entered advanced Army ROTC.

News for House Planners

Committees of HPA

Report #2, Community Service

DURING the past two semesters House Plan has been sponsoring a project of volunteer services at Knickerbocker Hospital, opposite Mott Hall. Student volunteers participated in direct contact programs with patients. They assisted the hospital staff in making the patient's confinement more pleasant and bearable.

Specifically, volunteers in the adult wards read to, and speak with, patients; bring a bit of cheer to an otherwise monotonous hospital routine. Similarly, those with a knack with children, direct play activities in the pediatrics ward. Much of this work is done in fracture wards, where patients do little or no moving about.

If this purposeful program appeals to you or to the members of your house, pick up an application from the SC bulletin board in 336 Finley or see Dave Schick, the Chairman of the committee.

—Special report from Dave Schick, CSC
DON'T FORGET THAT:

1—THIS COMING SATURDAY EVENING THAT ARNOLD STANG, THE TELEVISION STAR, WILL BE PRESENT AT THE CARNIVAL QUEEN BALL IN THE GRAND BALLROOM OF THE HOTEL ROOSEVELT AT 9 P.M. (A few of the better tables were put aside for late comers, but keep it under your hat: they're reserved for YOU.)

2—The Wingate '62 team is the team to beat no matter what the sport; this house has just been chosen the ALL-AROUND INTRAMURAL CHAMPION OF THE YEAR. Last week Wingate '62 romped over its opponent in a rather dull basketball fiasco, 49-1.

3—We are extending invitations to people interested in writing, typing, or art work on the newest full-sized paper on campus.

Expansion Voted, 34-14

Staff Accepting Advertisements

FEBRUARY 29th marks the date on which the Council of the House Plan Association voted in favor of an expanded form of Contact. This past Monday, March 14th, the Business Manager, Mel Rosch, began accepting advertisements for the forthcoming issue in newsprinted form to appear on Monday morning, May 2nd.

The approval, which was determined in a tabulated manner through the utilization of the attendance sheet, was climaxed by a unanimous approval by the Managing Board and our advisor, Mr. Gold. The approval was accompanied by an increase in annual House Plan dues from $2 to $3 in order to cover the initial costs of a full-sized issue to appear in alternate weeks beginning next semester. The move was made to increase (and maintain) a large circulation for our news, to increase the number of successful events sponsored by our organization, such as our forthcoming Carnival Queen Ball to be held at the Hotel Roosevelt this coming Saturday evening, March 19th, as well as to introduce individuality to our organization.

The advertisements, which our staff is accepting until April 4th, may include a variety of notes. The Wingate Dynasty issued the following order: "Congratulations to our Editor and his staff on the birth of our paper, The Wingate Dynasty." The cost for an advertisement (and these include announcements of marriages, pinings, charmings, and so on) is $1.50 per column inch. Please act quickly because we must operate on a first-come-first-served basis since we have a limited amount of space and more than seventy houses and six dynasties to accommodate. To arrange for your ad, contact either our Business Manager, Mel Rosch, at LO 7-0700, our Secretary, Roberta Sefonek, LU 8-5794, or Joel Stern at TA 3-3595.

Damning Praise

Something is seriously wrong when it seems natural to praise the Inter-fraternity Council for its rejection of a fraternity which had a discriminatory clause in its constitution. A College regulation forbids the chartering of groups that discriminate on the basis of race, creed or religion; the IFC was only carrying out its duties.

Nevertheless, there was a feeling of almost surprise at the IFC decision, and the surprise may not be unfounded. For instance, the fraternity in question, Phi Kappa Theta, had been a chartered campus group and a member of IFC for thirty years before it applied for a renewal of membership. It is hard to believe that the group suddenly decided to admit only students who believed in Catholic dogma. It can never be proved, but it is quite probable that the fraternity tacitly discriminated on the basis of religion for a time before the IFC decision.

This incident, coupled with President Gallagher's recent remarks on student attitude he had observed toward racial integration, show that while racial and religious prejudice is not a way of life at the College, it certainly exists. We can only hope that student and faculty awareness of the problem, and strict adherence to College regulations, will soon eliminate racial and religious discrimination, tacit or overt, in any part of the College.

Book Study

Students who use the reserve books in the library will benefit from a new library policy. Next term, the library will ask instructors what books are required in their courses and approximately how many students will need them.

It is surprising that the library did not initiate this procedure before. Supplying reserve books on the basis of informal requests from the professors who remember to contact the library is an extremely inadequate method of serving students.

Students can give partial thanks to the Student Government Library Committee for the change in procedure. The committee asked Prof. Jerome Wilcox, head librarian, to make the survey. If the SG Cafeteria Committee does as well in its endeavors to find a way to improve conditions in the cafeteria, Student Government may succeed in offsetting the loss in prestige it has suffered since the beginning of the term.

Captive Audience

Ten uniformed policemen and a number of plainclothesmen will be at the College today during the 12-2 break. They are here to protect Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who recently received two bomb threats.

Mrs. Roosevelt is here to introduce a speech by Dr. Vladimir Dedijer, the former official biographer of President Tito who subsequently fell out of favor with the Yugoslavian government. Dr. Dedijer currently is on a lecture tour of the United States.

The Government and History departments and the History Society should be commended for bringing Dr. Dedijer to the College. Judging from past turnouts given to visiting speakers, however, it is hoped that the police do not outnumber the students in the audience.

Electricians Find Haven On 8th Floor of Shepard

By Fran Pike

On the eighth floor in the northeast tower of Shepard Hall, directly below the waving American flag, eight men occupy a home away from home.

The College's electricians set up shop here twenty-five years ago, and while working, enjoy almost all the comforts of home.

The room is divided into two parts by a barrier with one opening. The first compartment is cluttered with motors, machines, tools and ceiling-high stacks of coils.

It contains the master motor for Shepard's ventilating system and a huge red water tank which is used in case of fire.

Just inside the opening in the barrier is "home."

Within this second compartment are a sink, hotplate, a refrigerator, a phone and a television set.

"The refrigerator keeps the milk cold for our morning coffee, and prevents our sandwiches from spoiling before lunch," said chief electrician John Cendali, who was drinking coffee from a mug at the time.

The men use the television for only one week in the year—during the world series.

The electricians are not inconvenienced by the eighth floor location of the shops. "We have a private door to the elevator up here," Mr. Cendali said. "And if the elevator ever breaks down, we know how to fix it. That's part of our job."

Red, an electrician with freckles and a friendly smile, said he liked the location because "we have the best view in the College."

Rip Ceiling Open To Close Up Pipe

Workmen ripped a hole in the ceiling of Lewisohn Lounge in Finley Center yesterday to plug up a water leak.

The lounge is located on the first floor of the building, directly underneath the snack bar. On Monday, water from the snack bar pipes began seeping through the ceiling of the lounge. A pail was placed under the spot to catch the drips of water until workmen were available to open the ceiling.

According to Gerald Murtagh, Assistant Superintendent of the Department of Buildings and Grounds, "the same thing happened last year."

Dedijer

avored a two-party system under Communism.

Dr. Dedijer has emphasized that he is not opposed to Communism and he does not agree with Djilas' opinions. He said he was defending the writer's right to dissent.

The former professor applied for passport unsuccessfully after his conviction. His request was not granted until last fall. He lectured at Oxford University before coming to the United States to continue a tour of speaking engagements.

"From one window we can see the new Tech building under construction, and that one," he said, pointing to another window, "overlooks St. Nicholas park and we can see clear across to Yankee Stadium."

The men are usually weary by the end of their working day. The chief electrician listed a few of their "routine" tasks:

- To set the clocks to the correct time.

- To restore electric lighting when power is cut off.

- To rescue professors and students from an elevator that is stuck between landings.

Mr. Cendali, who has been chief electrician for five years, said he was working toward a twenty-five-year retirement plan. "I'll probably stay here for the remaining twenty years," he commented, washing out his coffee mug.

THE SEARCH FOR BRIDIE SIGAFOOS

It was a dullish evening at the Theta house. The pledges were down in the catacombs; the actives were sacked out upstairs, not doing much of anything. Mary Ellen Krumbald was sticking pins in an effigy of the housemother; Evelyn Zinsmaster was welding a manhole cover to her charm bracelet; Algiea McKeesport was writing a letter to Fabian in blood. Like I say, it was a dullish evening.

Suddenly Dolores Vladnay stood up and stamped her foot. "Chaps," she said to her sorors, "this is too yawn-making! Let's do something gay and mad and gasp-making. Anybody got an idea?"

"No," said the sorors, shaking their little sausage curls.

"Think, chaps, think!" said Dolores and passed Marlboro cigarettes to everybody, for if there ever was a smoke to start you thinking, it is mild and flavorful Marlboro! Things come clear when you puff that good, clean smoke through that fine filter—knots untie, dilemmas dissolve, problems evaporate, cobwebs vanish, fog disperses, and the benevolent sun pours radiance on a new and dewy world. Oh, happy world! Oh, Marlboro! Oh, soft pack! Oh, flip-top box! Oh, get some already!

Now Geraldine Quidnunc, her drooping brain cells revived by a good Marlboro, leapt up and cried, "Oh, I have a perfect gasser of an idea! Let's hypnotize somebody!"

"Oh, capital!" cried the sorors. "Oh, tingle-making!"

At this point, in walked a young pledge named Alice Blue-gown. "Excuse me, mistresses," said she, tugging her forelock. "I have finished making your beds, doing your homework, and ironing your pleats. Will there be anything else?"

"Yes," snapped Dolores Vladnay. "When I count to three, you will be hypnotized."

"Yes, excellency," said Alice, bobbing a courtsey.

"One, two, three," said Dolores.

Alice promptly went into a trance.

"Go back," said Dolores, "back into your childhood. Go back to your fifth birthday, back to your birth, to before your birth, to your last incarnation... Now, who are you?"

"My name is Bridey Sigafos," said Alice. "The year is 1818, and I am in County Cork."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"How old are you?" asked Dolores.

"I am seven," said Alice.

"Where is your mother?" asked Dolores.

"I don't know," said Alice. "She got sold at the fair last year."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Tell us about yourself," said Dolores.

"I am five feet tall," said Alice. "I have brown eyes, and I weigh 3200 pounds."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Isn't that rather heavy for a girl?" said Dolores.

"Who's a girl?" said Alice. "I'm a black and white guernsey."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Moo!" said Bridey Sigafos.

Swimmers Compete In Easterns Tom'w

Swimming coach Jack Rider expects his team to end the season in fine style this weekend in the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Championships. Qualifying rounds will be held tomorrow at New York University's pool.

Co-captains Mike Bayuk and diver Nick West, Carl Ross and Dan Goldin "stand a good chance of finishing first or second in their events," the coach said.

Bayuk, last season's Eastern champion in both the 100- and 200-yard breast stroke, will swim the 200-yard breaststroke and butterfly tomorrow. West, undefeated in two years of dual-meet competition, finished second in the low-board dive and third in the high dive last year.

Both men lost their Metropolitan titles two weeks ago at NYU.

Lavender freestylers — Ross, Ralph Cohen, Mike Bologovsky and Nemitoff—should qualify tomorrow in the 440-yard relay, according to Rider. Goldin, who was second man in the Met 200-yard breast stroke race, will enter that event tomorrow.

and sophomore Vince Hanzich (hammer throw and javelin) will try to improve the Beavers' strength. Coach deGirolamo considers Hanzich "a definite threat to the College's hammer throw record."

Rudick and Buechler are the outstanding broad jumpers on the squad and newcomer Alex Englese is the only pole-vaulter. Besides.

The trackmen yesterday elected Delgado and Saland co-captains for this season.

Nine Eyeing First Division

With first base now open, the coach will bring in speedy right-fielder, Bill Catterson, who formerly played the infield. He is expected to adjust to the new position without much trouble. His weak throwing arm also prompted Dr. LaPlace to make the change.

The left side of the infield is set, with George Lopac at short-stop and Bob Esnard at third. Neither of these two veterans played full time last year, however.

Lopac broke his wrist early in the season and was out for most of the games. Esnard was a utility outfielder last season. If either of the two shows weakness at his new spot, sophomores Frank Costa and Dave Gantman will be tried.

Starting behind the plate for the third straight year will be Bill Nicholas. The co-captain has been called by his coach "the best catcher in the Met area."

Last year's starting hurlers, Luby Mlynar and Jerry Zutler, have been graduated. Replacing them are Al Reibesehl, Al Jacobs, and sophs Murray Steinfink, Richy

Silver and Bob Stothard. Dr. LaPlace feels that the mound staff has more depth than last year's, and "this looks like a stronger hitting team."

The infield is the big question. "I have no idea how they will work out defensively," the coach said. "But the whole team has a very fine attitude."

"They have good spirit and are out there to win," he said. Though Dr. LaPlace may be thinking of finishing in the first division, it is doubtful that this can be done with a weak infield.

The Beavers compete in NCAA District II, which includes over 200 teams from many of the middle-atlantic states. In past years, the Met Conference Champion has usually been invited to the district playoffs.

One notable exception occurred in 1953, when the Beavers won the title. But an NCAA convention during the winter changed the ruling and gave the conference winner an automatic bid, instead of leaving it up to the discretion of the NCAA.

When 'Chief' is Optimistic . . .

"Anytime you lose a good goalie like Elias you've got to have a problem," Miller declared.

The only other starter from last year's team has been graduated. That was leading scorer and honorable mention all-American Willie Rodriguez. But this loss "doesn't worry the Chief as much as it might because "the overall improvement of Jerry Kolaitis, Al Goldman and Joe Deone will make up for Rodriguez's loss."

On defense, the only stand-out so far is co-captain Ira Gottlieb. Competing for the other two positions will be Steve Wettner, Richie Auster, Howard Johnson, Joel Ax, Sol Adams and Dave Borah.

The Beavers open the season on April 2 against Pennsylvania, in what co-captain Charlie Yates terms "a mild grudge game."

"Last year we lost to them, 8-6, in Philadelphia on a muddy field which was smaller than the one we're used to. Let's just say that this year we're out to rip them," he said.

The Beavers' toughest opponents probably will be Drexel, Stevens Tech and Adelphi, according to Miller. But the coach insists that "if any team is going to beat us, it will have to play a darn good game of lacrosse."

The one thing about the team which impresses Miller the most is its "fighting spirit and love of the game."

"I'm lucky," he said. "At half-time I don't have to go into the locker room and give the boys a pep talk. I have to tell the boys to calm down and to coordinate their attack."

Foolproof Formula Simplifies Chemistry

Dear Dr. Frood: I am having a difficult time in chemistry. We are studying the chemical properties of acids, and I have become utterly confused. Can you help me understand acids?

J. Bunsen Burner

Dear Bunsen: Take two parts of hydrochloric acid and three parts nitric acid. Pour into saucer. Stir mixture with finger. Note how much shorter the finger becomes. That is due to the chemical action of the acid.

Dear Dr. Frood: I was amazed at the recent survey which proved that the poorest students were students with cars. Would you comment, please?

Dean

Dear Dean: I was amazed, too. In my day only the rich students had cars.

Dear Dr. Frood: On the level, do you smoke Luckies?

Doubting Tom

Dear Tom: On the level, I do smoke Luckies. I also smoke Luckies on inclines. And once enjoyed one while scaling the vertical face of Mt. Everest.

Dear Dr. Frood: Exactly what is the difference between adult westerns and what I suppose you would call juvenile westerns?

Channel Selector

Dear Channel: It's the horses. The hero on juvenile westerns rides a pure white horse or a palomino. In adult westerns, the hero's horse is brown, sincere, mature-looking.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am going out for the college play and have become interested in the "Method" school of acting. Could you tell me how this differs from ordinary acting?

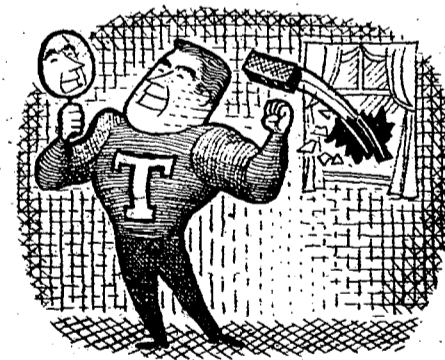

Thespis

Dear Thesp: It is all a matter of how you throw yourself into your part. For instance, when playing "Peter Pan" the ordinary actor flies through the air on guide wires. When the "Method" actor plays the role, wires are unnecessary.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am friendly, outgoing, tolerant, athletic, well to do and a good conversationalist. Why does everybody hate me?

Hurt

Dear Hurt: I don't know why—we just do.

Beaver Nine Looking For Place in the Sun

By Mike Brandt

Soon the College's baseball team will leave its cramped training ground at Goethals Gym and move outdoors to Lewisohn Stadium, where it is hoped the squad will continue to show promise of improvement over last season's record.

And finally there is cause for hope.

Last year, the Beavers escaped the Metropolitan Conference cellar for the first time in four seasons. Winning four out of 16 games overall and three out of 11 in league play, the batsmen placed sixth in a seven team league.

"The conference is recognized as one of the strongest in the country," according to coach John LaPlace. This season it has been expanded to eight teams with the re-entry of Fordham.

One of the leading causes for optimism is co-captain Tim Sullivan, who batted .415 in Met Conference play and .362 over the whole season. Another great year is expected of the little center-fielder, who was chosen as an All-Metropolitan Collegiate Baseball Conference outfielder last year.

The Beavers recently suffered a serious setback when leftfielder Kenny Rosenblum was stricken with rheumatic fever and had to drop out of school. The team's star long-ball hitter batted .286 in Met-Conference play last year and was tied for the club lead in RBI's with 10.

"Kenny was a key man last year," Dr. LaPlace said. "He was a good clutch hitter and the runs he drove in were important ones. He hustled and made excellent plays."

Replacing Rosenblum in left field is Joe Morais, who had the third highest average on the squad two years ago but didn't see action last season.

Completing the picture is Bill Botwinik, who previously divided his time between third base and the outfield. Botwinik has replaced Bill Catterson as the rightfielder because his arm is much stronger than Catterson's. Last year he shared the club's RBI lead with 10.

With the outfield set, Dr. LaPlace has been juggling his line-up in order to get the more experienced men at the remaining positions.

Shortstop Bob Demas, who was the number two hitter on the club last year with a .315 average, third baseman Ronny Weiss, and second baseman John Whelan have all been graduated. This means the coach will have to plug a big hole on the left side of the infield and find a new double play combination.

To fill this gap Dr. LaPlace has switched last year's first baseman, Pete Magnani, to the keystone sack. There is no risk here because Magnani's regular position is second base.

When the 'Chief' Is Optimistic...

By Vic Grossfeld

Since October, a group of blue-clad athletes have been romping around Lewisohn Stadium wielding wooden sticks with nets on the ends.

These athletes make up the College's lacrosse team who, according to their coach, Leon 'Chief' Miller, "are going to have a damn good season."

The Chief, who has become almost a legend here, is beginning his thirteenth season as coach of the College's stickmen. Last year he became ill after the first two games and missed most of the campaign.

Even as early as the beginning of fall practice, there was a lot of feeling among the players that this was going to be THE season. Miller, acting in character, took exception and warned that it was much too early to tell.

Now even he is convinced. "I am usually pessimistic about our chances," the coach said, "but this year I have reason to be optimistic. Eight of our ten starters of last year are returning, and the ones who were good last year will be even better this year."

At least that's the way it looks according to Miller's accurate rating system. He rates each player every two weeks on a percentage basis.

"This way I can tell at a glance how good a player is and how rapidly he is improving," Miller explained.

In the latest ratings, center Fred Schwettman, an honorable mention all-American last year, leads the team with 90%.

"Strangely enough Fred is the biggest worry I have this year," the coach commented. "He dislocated his shoulder a few weeks ago and I don't know if he'll be ready for our first game."

Miller's ratings also show that the midfield division will be the team's strong point. Flanking Schwettman will be co-captain Charlie Yates, an 85 percenter, and Henno Attik with a rating of 80%.

The goaltending position appears to be the stickmen's weakness. With last year's goalie Dave Elias gone, Arnie Schwab and Al Darby are vying for the position.

Trackmen Have Depth, Desire — and Delgado

By Mike Lester

There's hardly a glimmer of last year's Beaver track stars anymore, but coach Harry deGirolamo hopes to make up in number what the squad lacks in ability.

"We don't have the talent of last year's team, but we have more depth on the present squad," the coach explained.

Stan Dawkins, voted the College's outstanding athlete last year, distance man Ralph Taylor, and sprinters Ike Clark and George Best are gone from the team. Because of a lack of trackmen last season, Dawkins and Best had to enter as many as eight events in dual meets, as the Beavers won all of them.

Star miler Josue Delgado, shot-putter Charley Liquori, and sprinter Paul Pivawer are the only returning lettermen. Most of the squad consists of sophomores.

Delgado will lead the trackmen in their meets this year, but in a new capacity. Last season's undefeated miler and two-miler will move down to the half-mile and "will fill in wherever he is needed," according to deGirolamo.

The versatile athlete even may be used in the 100-yard dash or the broad jump.

"I can use him in any event," the coach said, "because he has a combination of a sprinter's speed and a distance man's endurance."

Ira Rudick and Bill Roberts will be the team's top entries in the

COACH HARRY DeGIROLAMO

100- and 220-yard dashes. The middle distance runners will be led by Delgado, Joel Saland and Dennis Clark. Mel Siegel and John Rohde will share the mile and two-mile events.

The team's top high jumper and hurdler will be Len Gurin, a transfer student from Brooklyn. The other hurdlers will be Harvey Cohen and John Buechler.

The field team has been weak for the past five seasons and this year's squad will be no exception. Led by Liquori in the shot-put, newcomer John Minadakis (discus)

Tennis Team: Where Is It?

By Jerry Posman

The tennis season is only three weeks away and coach Harry Karlin would like to get his team together for just one practice session before it starts.

This is a fond hope and aspiration, but even the skeptical coach admits that he might get in one practice because it usually doesn't snow in the spring.

But bad weather is only the beginning of the team's troubles. One of the top players has a dislocated shoulder, a co-captain faces ineligibility and another co-captain is suffering from asthma. This is the squad Karlin expected to be his best ever.

The Beaver's ace player, Hal Deutschman, is the man with the injured shoulder. "I had depended on him a great deal," the coach said, "and now that he can't play, we will have a much tougher time."

The co-captains who are in danger of not starting are Sy Silver and Mark Buckstein. Silver's eligibility will be decided upon by the Dean of Engineering within a few days, and Buckstein will receive a medical examination to determine if he can play.

Anyhow, Karlin will have to depend on four men who did not compete for the varsity last year. They are Ronnie Ettus, Stan Freundlich, Jeff Zupan and Jack Borowsky. Ettus, number-two man two years ago, has returned after a season of inactivity. Zupan, Freundlich and Borowsky are as yet untested.

This year the Beavers will be competing in the Metropolitan Tennis Conference, for the first time. Karlin helped found the league, of which he is now Vice-President, in 1953. The conference requires that a squad meet seven met opponents to be eligible for the team playoffs in May. Nine met teams are included on the Beaver's schedule.

Pratt and Brooklyn College,

COACH HARRY KARLIN

both of which defeated the College last year, and Brooklyn Poly should be the netmen's toughest competition.

"We lost two good players to graduation, Jay Hammel and Mike Stone," Karlin said, "but barring ineligibility and poor health, we can form a well balanced team that could go to the top of the conference."
