Division in the Ranks: More Coed Hygiene

By Fran Pike

Coeducational hygiene classes, instituted here in February, will be discontinued after this semester due to "teacher scheduling difficulties," according to Prof. Hyman Krakower (man, Health Education). Professor Krakower alluded to "reasons" as well, but declined to list them because they "not for public consumption."

He had wanted to see how classes would work out in session," he continued. Coed classes have been in existence here since the evening and summer sessions for thirty years.

Students were constantly asking why the hygiene classes were segregated, and this term the move to mixed sections has been made. However, due to teaching difficulties, the system was proven too complicated, so we're going back to separate classes for males and females," Professor Krakower explained.

Coed classes are being run on a term, with 27 of the usual sexual type.

The schedule of classes, discussed at registration, coed sections were pointed out in order to give students freedom of choice. A student explained his selection of a coed section: "We're living in modern times. Why should we be different from any other subject?"

Professor Krakower said he saw no difference between the coed and separated classes — at least there shouldn't be any. "Health is health," he said.

He did admit, however, that two classes were cut out of the curriculum for the coed sections—one on venereal diseases and the other on self-examination for breast cancer.

Gerald Ehrlich (Health Education), one of the coed hygiene classes.

SC Presses Cafeteria Inquiry; Gallagher Assures Renovation

Conditions Laid to Students

By Vic Grossfeld

Apparently forestalling a Student Council move to boycott the cafeteria, President Gallagher promised Monday a "complete re-decoration of the South Campus cafeteria over the summer months."

The plan was announced after a closed conference between Dr. Gallagher and five student leaders, including Student Government President Bob Saginaw, and Council members Ted Sonde '61 and Bernard Becker '61.

The renovation of the cafeteria had already been planned for a future date. But Dr. Gallagher asserted that it would be completed by the end of the summer.

"We will spend whatever is needed," he added. "I'll get the money if I have to go outside for it."

The President said that two new floors of terrazzo will be laid in the cafeteria. Color schemes and other renovation plans are being studied by Prof. Albert d'Andrea (Chmn. Art), the College's Director of the Planning and Design Committee.

"These projects apply only to the South Campus cafeteria," Dr. Gallagher emphasized. "As of the Council Asks Financial Books

By Bob Jacobson

Student Council Tuesday night voiced dissatisfaction with the cooperation it has received from College officials during the past week in its investigation of the cafeterias and the snack bar.

Stating that it had been "unable to obtain essential information" related to its investigation, Council took the following actions:

- It requested that the administration make available to it the financial records for the past two years "of the North and South Campus cafeterias and the North and South Campus faculty dining rooms."

- It demanded that the snack bar return to its daily 8:30 to 10 schedule of last term as of next Monday.

- It agreed to "establish a temporary committee to investigate methods of action to be taken [by Council] if the above demands are not met."

The resolutions and the debate which preceded their passage amounted to a tactful rejection of President Gallagher's announcement Monday that physical improvements in the South Campus cafeteria will be made during the summer.

In another development, Student Government President Bob Saginaw, announced that a temporary agreement on the snack bar schedule had been reached with Dean James S. Peace (Student Life) and his assistant, Mr. Edmond Sarfaty.

Saginaw told Council that the snack bar, now operating on a new 10:30 to 9 basis, will be open from 9:30 to 9:30, beginning Monday.

PRESIDENT GALLAGHER

present we have nothing planned for the North Campus cafeteria."

Blaming the students' "indifference and thoughtlessness" for the present conditions in the cafeteria, Dr. Gallagher said, "I don't know of any place where table manners are as bad as they are here."

Dr. Gallagher called for students to take a more "affirmative" view of the cafeteria situation. He urged that a student who finds something wrong with his food take his complaint "quietly" to a server or cafeteria official at the steam table, "where it will be acted upon as quickly as possible." He indicated that the student

Prof. Davis Seen As Possible US Ambassador to Denmark

Dr. John A. Davis, a political science instructor here for ten years, is being considered for appointment as United States Ambassador to Denmark, according to a story which appeared in the Amsterdam News last week.

Gallagher Expects City U. Bill to Pass

President Gallagher said this week he expects the Zaretski-Brook bill to pass when it reaches the State Assembly on Monday, as expected.

The bill to create a city university, which won unanimous approval in the Senate last week, provides for a continuation of the free undergraduate education principle.

In a new college aid program announced Monday, however, Governor Rockefeller called for the Board of Higher Education to be granted "full discretion on whether to charge tuition at the four municipal colleges." The plan, when first proposed by the State University Board of Trustees last month, drew fire then from Dr. Gustave G. Rosenberg, BHE Chairman, because, he said, it would "open the door" to possible tuition charges in the future should the make-up of the BHE change.

President Gallagher said yesterday he would withhold comment on the Rockefeller plan until it was drawn up as a bill later this week.

Although Dr. Davis hasn't received any word from the White House yet, on the possibility, he is considered a strong contender for the post, the newspaper reported.

It was learned that Dr. Davis had been "favorably discussed" when President Kennedy met on February 14 with the Danish Prime Minister.

If he receives the appointment, he will be the first American Negro to serve as ambassador to a non-Negro country.

The Danish newspaper, Fredriksborg Amts Avis, stated its acceptance of Dr. Davis in an editorial:

"Should the possibility of Professor Davis' appointment have been brought out as a trial balloon, we can only say, send him to Denmark," it commented.

The professor and his wife had vacationed in Denmark last summer.

Dr. Davis has had a varied background in government. He was appointed by former New York Governor Averill Harriman as a commissioner on the State Commission Against Discrimination, a post he still holds, and was active in the Roosevelt administration. Currently, he is president of the American Society on African Culture.

E. V. Debs Club Pickets UN

Eight members of the College's Eugene V. Debs Club joined 400 pro-Cuban and Lumumba demonstrators in picketing the United Nations Saturday. They circled the garden path opposite the UN building.

The Debs Club opposed what it termed "U. S. imperialistic policy" toward Cuba and the Congo. "We think Lumumba was the best leader the Congolese ever had," Fred Mazelis '61, the club's Vice President said.

Council Tables HUAC Motion

Student Council last night debated for one hour and then tabled the motion to support the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Proposed by Jack Mazelis '62, chairman of the Student Government Civil Liberties Committee, the motion resolved that Council take such measures as those proposed in Congress by Rep. James Eastland Jr. to abolish HUAC.

The center of Tuesday's debate on the motion was the reference to demonstrations last year by San Francisco students at a HUAC hearing.

The motion had at first been objected to by Herbert Finley '63, on the grounds that it was unconstitutional. Berkman '62 claimed that the issue did not affect students as students, but was beyond the scope of the college's jurisdiction.

The motion to table the issue was proposed by Bruce Markens '62, who indicated that Council members should better acquaint themselves with the HUAC controversy.

Member predicted that Council next week will support the motion. While opinions lay varied on minor portions of the resolution, sentiment appeared to favor abolishment of the committee.

Coed Classes

Instructors, objected to the omission of these two films. "It's about time students were shown what V.D. is like—especially now, when its on the increase," he said.

Referring to the film on cancer, Dr. Ehrlich commented: "What could be more objective than helping males understand one way of detecting cancer in their potential wives?"

"To me, the only normal, wholesome way of teaching this subject is on a coed basis. This is the way our society exists—on male-female relationships.

"I enjoy my class. There are no topics that cannot be discussed openly and freely. And if any issue causes embarrassment, we must try to discover the source of the embarrassment.

"Perhaps it's an indictment of our whole social system," he suggested.

He said he expected to show films on drug addiction, mental health, and alcoholism to his class.

"We've got a nicely-integrated group with good rapport," he said. "The class is conducted realistically, with integrity, honesty and decency."

Dr. Ehrlich remarked that he hoped the coed hygiene class would be a "forerunner of coed pre-marriage and marriage courses," at the College.

When he learned the coed experiment was to be discontinued, Dr. Ehrlich called it a "great mistake, a serious error."

A student who had intended to register for one of the coed courses next term voiced her disapproval of their discontinuation: "I was looking forward to taking that course," she said. "They go one step forward, and then back-track."

Chessmen Lose

The College's chess team lost to Columbia University, 13-2, in a Metropolitan Intercollegiate Chess League meet last Friday. The team has a 2-1 record this year.

James Gore '63 and captain Howard Cohen '63 won first and second board, respectively, for the College.

Cohen will perform today at 12:30 in a simultaneous exhibition in 212 Finley. All students are invited to participate.

News in Brief

Conference Posed Tuesday

The chairman of the All-College Conference Committee, Bruce Markens '61, expressed confidence yesterday that the one-day conference will be held here in May.

The questionnaires will be distributed in classrooms on Tuesday at 11 instead of today, as originally planned. Students will be asked to indicate whether they would be interested in attending such a conference, and which topics they would like to discuss.

Additional forms will be placed at key locations throughout the College, and may be filled out by students and returned to the SG office, 151 Finley.

Results of the questionnaire will be presented on Friday to President Gallagher, who will then decide whether the response is sufficient to warrant the conference.

Professor to Appear on TV

Prof. Cecile Froelich (Electrical Engineering) will represent the College next Tuesday night on the

WABC-TV program "Expedition New York."

The program, which will be presented at 7, will attempt to analyze higher education problems in New York.

Some of the background films for the program were taken at the College last Friday.

In addition to various scenes around the College, the photographers also took shots of Prof. Froelich in the classroom.

The Managing Board:

BRUCE SOLOMON '62
Editor-in-Chief

Editorial Policy is Determined by a Majority Vote of the Managing Board

Conflict of Interest

The College's chapter of the NAACP has announced its intention of seeking constitutional changes designed to prevent groups of students from coming "in droves at election time to elect each other into office."

The club's move actually points out a dilemma that has plagued many of the College's political action groups since the Thirties. This is the problem, whether real or imagined, of keeping a small, organized minority, whose actual aims are not necessarily those of the organization, from gaining control of the group.

It's a problem which seldom bobs to the surface of College life, partly because it has not been a nice thing to talk about, and partly because many members of clubs whose leadership may be largely self-seeking, would prefer to fight in their own way, or are content to go along with it. The last time the problem managed to reach the College headlines before last fall, was in the Spring of 1959, when a newly-formed political party split in two because members were discontent with the political make-up of those whom they felt were taking control.

Since last September, however, the issue has been met in public not once but several times. In the first case, that of the Observation Post controversy, the question was raised by President Gallagher who publicly voiced dissatisfaction with that paper's editorial makeup by terming its leadership "Marxist-oriented." Later, in a speech in the Grand Ballroom, the President called for "non-Communist liberals to come out from under their self-imposed silence — to differ with their fellow students who are Marxist-oriented just as vigorously as these latter have spoken and will continue to speak." The President has, in fact, consistently voiced his disapproval of those who, he feels, follow religiously a particular dogma, while using the guise of liberalism, and claiming intellectual immunity behind the College's iron gates.

Whether the issue arose again this term as a direct result of the President's words, or whether it came about spontaneously is debatable. At any rate, a political party is in the act of being formed, with one of its expressed aims being elimination of the impression outsiders have of the College as "a Communist school." And how the NAACP is moving to constitutionally prevent "Marxist-oriented" students from taking over, a charge for which it has been much maligned in the past. The group's President, Robert Hill '61, says the club will welcome anyone, regardless of personal ideology, who is willing to work to further the aims of the group. The constitutional changes the club is seeking leave no question of the group's intention, however.

This is not intended as criticism of the group, for certainly the proposed constitutional changes are a step to insure that the club's committees will be controlled only by students who have earned the right to control them; their own service to the group an expression of their interest in it. It is a straightforward approach, to a ticklish situation, and the club's success, assuming the changes are passed by Student Government, bears watching for the degree it can help other clubs, plagued with the problem of too few students dictating their fortunes.

But certainly, we hope that, as Hill suggests, the NAACP, or any other group on campus, will not restrict its membership on the basis of personal ideology, as long as no conflict with the group's expressed aim can be found. Certainly, such a conflict does not exist in the case of a professed Marxist and the NAACP. And as long as clubs are staffed by students who themselves identify with the club's purposes and take a serious interest in them, the clubs will be led by students supported by actual majorities of the membership, an ideal and healthy situation on any college campus.

Not so Simple

President Gallagher's offer to redecorate the South Campus cafeteria during the summer is probably the most simple and serene method of handling the situation. Unfortunately, an analysis of the situation leads us to believe that Dr. Gallagher was merely throwing Student Council a bone in the hope that it would look like filet mignon.

Although the cafeteria badly needs redecoration, the lack of a gracious atmosphere is certainly not its major fault. A new decor would not prevent Burns Guards from uprooting studious students and would not inspire the chefs to habitually prepare culinary masterpieces.

In addition, the redecoration of the cafeteria, has, by Dr. Gallagher's own admission, long been planned, and would have been carried out regardless of Council's boycott threats. We feel that President Gallagher's intention in making the plan public at this particular time—just as Council is preparing to boycott the cafeteria—is an attempt to subvert Council's efforts in this direction. Kudos to Council for not being misled.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CLARIFICATIONS—I

To the Editor:

I wish to clarify a few misleading and erroneous impressions and statements attributed to me in the story entitled "Reactivated NAACP to be Anti-Marxist" appearing in the February 12 issue of the Campus.

First, the story was correct in quoting me as saying the NAACP chapter in recent semesters has been ineffective due to the infiltration of "Marxist-oriented" students.

But I made it clear to the reporter that Fred Mazelis '62, although he believes in a socialistic ideology, never caused any trouble within our group. As a program committee chairman, I received the utmost cooperation from Fred in all our endeavors. Consequently, I told the reporter that if Fred were interested in joining our organization this semester I would be happy to receive him because he never once tried to persuade any of the members or officers of our group to believe as he does. He faithfully obeyed all the rules and regulations of the NAACP.

Secondly, our program for the current semester will not be, as the headline implies, "Anti-Marxist," for we are primarily interested in advancing the cooperation between white and Negro students here on campus. On the other hand, we shall constantly be vigilant, (and not naive), and will try to prevent any students, no matter what their beliefs, from disrupting this group or from trying to gain control of it for purposes which are not in accordance with the NAACP's objectives or approaches. But as long as bona-fide CCNY students conduct themselves in the manner prescribed by the National NAACP, we will accept them as members.

Charges Called Distortions

Thirdly, I would not like to cast an unintended, unfortunate impression about SANE as possibly being or having been a hot-bed of "Marxist-oriented" students. For I simply stated that I knew that a few of such students were members of that group in the past. But if they are still members, I do not know.

I had hoped that the Campus story would emphasize our objective for the present semester as it did in the latter part of the story in a little more detail. For this term we will have a very progressive and active organization which will be dedicated to bringing the "degree of integration at the college up to what it should be" with the help of all students who pledge to abide by the NAACP's rules and regulations.

Robert B. Hill '61,
President of NAACP
February 17.

CLARIFICATIONS—II

To the Editor:

This letter is in reference to charges which were leveled against me in last Friday's issue of The Campus. These charges alleged that I had attempted to "infiltrate" the (College's chapter of the) NAACP, and that I had created "apathy" and "atrophy." Although further conversation with Robert Hill, President of the NAACP, has revealed that many of the charges were unintended and inaccurately quoted, they must all be dealt with.

First of all, I make no secret of the fact that I am a Marxist; either in or out of the NAACP. I am a socialist because I believe that full integration, as well as economic security and world peace, can be gained and guaranteed only in a socialist society.

Do these views disqualify me from active membership in the NAACP? Certainly not! I have always been an active member of the NAACP. I intend to join it again this semester, because I believe in fighting for integration; I believe in the aims of the NAACP, and I support all partial progress toward integration.

I have the right, as an NAACP member, to disagree with the leadership of the NAACP. The NAACP moves too slowly. It attempts to compromise the fight for civil rights with the status quo, with private property interests and with diplomatic interests of the State Dept. The NAACP leadership is too conservative: That's why it didn't lead the Southern sit-ins or the Northern sympathy picket lines last year—it supported these actions after they were started by others, and then only half-heartedly.

SANE Impression Corrected

What is meant by charges of "infiltration," causing "apathy" and "atrophy"? The charge of infiltration is a distortion; it is a meaningless charge. I might just as well accuse President Gallagher of infiltrating the NAACP with liberalism. The civil rights movement is not inherently liberal, conservative, or radical. I have just as much of a right to present my point of view within the NAACP as anyone else. As to apathy and atrophy, these charges should be leveled against those NAACP members who last year refused to support the picketing of Woolworths, who never joined a picket line. Who has done more for civil rights: those who red-bait and witchhunt in the NAACP, or those students, including myself and others, who helped organize the picketlines at Woolworth's last year.

CCNY students have been through this all before. It brings to mind the disgraceful conduct of the President of City College last fall. Whatever the disagreement among those who are fighting for civil rights, they must recognize that red-baiting only helps [Sen. James O.] Eastland and all the other enemies of civil rights.

NAACP members right should concern themselves the jail-no-bail movement in the South. They should mobilize support for the coming struggle for equal rights is taking place in Fayetteville, Tennessee; in Atlanta; at Rock Hill, South Carolina; they should also concern themselves with the African revolution and its impact on the civil movement in the U.S. They repudiate divisive witchhunts whenever it begins to occur.

MDC: DIGNITY FOR

To the Editor:

In an article appearing in issue of February 17, you stated that the President of the NAACP chapter of the NAACP, Robert Hill, stated that in the past, "Marxist-oriented students sought to seek control of the organization. Among the organizations mentioned as groups which these students came to the Marxist Discussion Club of the MDC consider this statement that was not based on facts.

Our club is deeply interested in the struggles of the Negro in America for their rights. We pride ourselves in the work which we participate in to further the cause of dignity for all peoples. In the past we have worked with groups on the City College campus for we feel that this is a struggle which cannot be undertaken by one club alone, but we have in our entire existence attempted to dominate or overrun any group with which we have worked.

We are sorry to see that statements have appeared in the college newspaper, for we feel they serve but one purpose of dividing the student body against one another on such an important issue as civil rights. We wish the NAACP the best of luck in carrying out its program. The Executive Board of the Marxist Discussion Club.

Cafeteria Renovation

would get prompter results than by writing a letter to the student newspapers, or pushing for action by Student Council.

Prof. William R. Gondin (Speech), Chairman of the Student-Faculty Cafeteria Committee, agreed with Dr. Gallagher, saying that there must be "a greater readiness to cooperate and more pitching in" on the part of students here.

"Kibitzers are a dime a dozen. But action, we just can't get action," Prof. Gondin added. He also accused the SG Cafeteria Investigating Committee of merely seeking "Thursday's headlines," and of not being willing to "stick with the problem."

As for the Student-Faculty Committee, Gondin asked rhetorically, "Who are the students on the Committee? I've never even seen them, let alone met with them." The SFCC has not met since last spring.

Dr. Gondin felt that the cafeteria's problems have been entirely misrepresented and misunderstood. "Actually, the cafeteria finished in the black last year and even managed to recoup some of its previous deficits," he said.

This profit was made on "the cafeteria's highly unecological setup. It has been served a reading room, a recreation and a study hall as well as a cafeteria," Prof. Gondin said. "None of these extra services begrudged. However, during peak hours we are forced to stand, for the sake of one who is reading?"

Prof. Gondin called the cost of the food a problem which take time to solve. He emphasized that it "is a common problem and the cafeteria can only as efficiently as the student take a chance to."

Pres. Honored

President Gallagher made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France at a special reception in the French Embassy's Cultural Division, Fifth Avenue, last Friday. Edouard Morot-Sir, French Cultural Counselor and Representative of French University in the United States, presented Dr. Gallagher with the decoration.

MAN IN THE NEWS

of. Ivo Duchacek Fought Communists, Bulls

of. Ivo Duchacek modestly claims he was elected temporary chairman of the Political Science department last year because he "was not enough to avoid it."

One who wanted to assume the responsibilities of heading the department in the absence of Prof. Hel Hendel, who has been on leave since the beginning of the year, in order to write a book in Russia.

feel more comfortable teaching an administering," said Prof. Duchacek, who misses the contact with the students enjoyed under a full-time teaching position.

One of 'Three Best' feeling is mutual on the department's part, for last spring they had him one of the three "best teachers" in a poll conducted by the Sigma Kappa fraternity.

Marvin Gettleman, an instructor in the department, called Professor "one of the few geniuses on the College campus" likened him to Thomas Jefferson, who also had little taste for administration and the duties of a Presidency.

Professor Duchacek feels that his personal experiences in domestic and international politics help him in teaching his courses, though he admits that sometimes the Political Science 41 course in the Department of Politics is referred to as "Duchacek 41."

Served as Czech Diplomat during the Second World War, he served in the diplomatic corps of the exiled Czech Government in London. In 1945 he returned to Czechoslovakia and served as an officer to the United States Army.

During the war, Professor Duchacek ran for a seat in the Czech parliament as a member of the Czech Democratic Party, "the clearly non-socialist party." He bid for the Pilsen district seat, the professor opposed the Communist party, Rudolf Slansky, because of a system of proportional representation, in which men were elected.

According to Professor Duchacek, Slansky was executed in 1952 in the last Anti-Semitic Trial in Czechoslovakia.

Editor of Horizons, the Christian Democratic weekly, Professor Duchacek constantly criticized the Communist party until Valerian Zolotarev, the Russian ambassador in New York, who is today the United Nations delegate, called for suppression of the publication.

There were great attacks on me in the Communist press," the professor recalls. "I was accused of organizing an anti-popular coup."

"In 1948 I ran again—out of the country. There was nothing really heroic about my escape. I just had to."

He had discovered that his photograph had been removed from his office file and that it probably had been circulated by the police to prevent his escape. A day before the new Parliament convened and his parliamentary immunity ended, he disguised himself as a bricklayer and attempted to cross the border into Bavaria.

Three hundred yards from the border he was stopped by a police squad. Although his forged passport was not discovered, he was told to turn back. Fearing to return to Prague, he hid in the forest where he became lost. In despair, he decided to surrender. However, he found shelter through an old woman, and in the morning was able to meet friends who guided him to Bavaria where he telephoned an American "outfit." Then to Paris, London and New York.

In an escape from the "hard reality of world politics," Professor Duchacek has written two fairy tales. He admits that his tale of the boy who, in Central Park finds two magic feathers with the power of making him invisible, is a form of wishful thinking and compensation for a harsh world.

In addition he has written his own text book on international cooperation, incorporating both source and text material which is now being used at the College. Because of the time spent writing his book, he temporarily has had to abandon fairy tales.

Confronted with a difficult problem, the professor may be heard to mutter, "Here come the bulls." He has used the expression ever since the summer of 1932, which he spent in Spain fighting bulls.

He was staying at the camp of a Czech student organization in Spain when a matador visited the camp and asked whether anyone wanted to learn bullfighting. "Three fools out of a hundred volunteered," he said, "and I was one of them."

"I can still remember the feel of the warm breath of my first bull," he remembered. "The neck of the monstrous animal was black, with a little white fur sticking out. But I didn't dare to chicken out; my girlfriend was in the audience."

He is aware of his Slavic accent but self-consciously believes it to be more pronounced than it really is. He recalls having once said, "One condition of internal peace is supra-sectional loyalty." A puzzled student then asked what he meant by "super-sexual loyalty."

day, on a two-week experimental basis.

Saginaw reported that the Dean had agreed Tuesday to try the new schedule, but had added that its continuation beyond the two-week period depended on whether employees shifts could be arranged accordingly.

Council's resolution on the snack bar hours, however, in effect rejected the Dean's concession.

Tuesday's actions followed the postponement for two weeks of consideration of the motion which was tabled at the previous meeting, which called for a student "non-patronizing campaign" against the cafeterias.

However, the sponsors of Tuesday's resolutions, Bernard Becker '61 and Ted Sonde '61, while applauding the President's "long-range" promises, called for more immediate action on improvements of cafeteria service, and the quality and quantity of its food.

An amendment to Tuesday's motions on the cafeteria stated: "Our criticism of the cafeteria management is in no way to imply criticism of the cafeteria employees."

Proposed by Jack Mazelis '62, the amendment, which was passed by a 9-5-1 vote, was designed to correct reported false impressions held by the employees that Council was "after their jobs," as Sonde put it.

"A GUIDE FOR THE DATELESS"

With the cost of dating rising higher and higher it is no wonder that so many of us men are turning to discus throwing. Naturally, we would prefer nuzzling warm coeds to flinging cold discs, but who's got that kind of money? Prices being what they are, the average man today has a simple choice: dating or eating.

Unless the average man happens to be Finster Sigafoos. Finster came to college with the normal ambition of any average man: he wanted to find the prettiest coed on campus and make her his. He looked long and carefully, and at last he found her—a tall job named Kretchma Inskip, with hair like beaten gold.

He asked her for a date. She accepted. He appeared at her sorority house that night, smiling, eager, and carrying a bouquet of modestly priced flowers.

"Now then," said Kretchma, tossing the sleazy flora to a pledge, "where are we going tonight?"

Finster was a man short on cash, but long on ideas. He had prepared an attractive plan for this evening. "How would you like to go out to the Ag campus and see the milking machine?" he asked.

"Ick," she replied.

"Well, what would you like to do?" he asked.

"Come," said she, "to a funny little place I know just outside of town."

And away they went.

The place was Millionaires Roost, a simple country inn made of solid ivory. It was filled with beautiful ladies in backless gowns, handsome men in dickeys. Original Rembrandts adorned the walls. Marlboro trays adorned the cigarette girls. Chained to each table was a gypsy violinist.

Finster and Kretchma were seated. "I," said Kretchma to the waiter, "will start with shrimps remoulade. Then I will have lobster and capon in maderia sauce with asparagus spears. For dessert I will have melon stuffed with money."

"And you, Sir?" said the waiter to Finster.

"Just bring me a pack of Marlboros," replied Finster, "for if ever a man needed to settle back and enjoy the mild beneficence of choice tobacco and easy-drawing filtration, it is the shattered hulk you see before you now."

So, smoking the best of all possible cigarettes, Finster watched Kretchma ingest her meal and calculated that every time her fetching young Adam's apple rose and fell, he was out another 97¢. Then he took her home.

It was while saying goodnight that Finster got his brilliant idea. "Listen!" he cried excitedly. "I just had a wonderful notion. Next time we go out, let's go Dutch treat!"

By way of reply, Kretchma slashed him across the face with her housemother and stormed into the house.

"Well, the heck with her," said Finster to himself. "She is just a gold digger and I am well rid of her. I am sure there are many girls just as beautiful as Kretchma who will understand the justice of my position. For after all, girls get as much money from home as men, so what could be more fair than sharing expenses on a date?"

With good heart and high hopes, Finster began a search for a girl who would appreciate the equity of Dutch treat, and you will be pleased to hear that he soon found one—Mary Alice Hematoma, a lovely three-legged girl with sideburns.

We're no experts on Dutch treat, but here's an American treat we recommend with enthusiasm—Marlboro's popular new partner for non-filter smokers—the Philip Morris Commander.

Cagers

not close enough, to pull ahead. The second period continued along the same pattern, however, as Rider pulled out to a 9-point advantage with only seven minutes gone.

Then the Beavers seemed to wake up from a deep sleep. Bender scored on a lay-up and a hook, Irwin Cohen followed with three successive foul shots and Greenberg tied the score at 46-all with a 20-foot jump shot.

The tie-breaker came with 11:31 left when Cohen sank another free throw and Greenberg made it 49-46 with another long jump shot. A scoring duel followed between Bender and Rider's Mike Brown.

One of the few Rough Riders to keep his shooting touch, Brown tallied on a free throw and a drive to tie the score. But Bender spurred the Beavers ahead with six straight points.

The cagers' lead looked safe enough until Brown retaliated with three field goals. A foul shot followed by teammate Frank Kopp and the Rough Riders were back in the saddle, 56-55.

But once again, co-captain Bender came to the Beavers' rescue—this time with two field goals. Neither Brown nor anyone else could save the game for Rider now, as the Beavers outscored the New Jerseyites, eleven points to three, in the last four minutes of play.

The victory boosted the College to fourth place in the Tri-State League. The Beavers have a 4-4 record and the Rough Riders follow, in fifth place, with a 3-3 mark.

Frosh Lose to Rider, 69-67

The freshman basketball team ran into an effective full court press with 45 seconds remaining and lost to the Rider frosh, 69-67.

The Beavers held a 40-33 half-time advantage but saw it dwindle to one point, 67-66, after which Rider hit on a jump-shot and free throw to give the Rough Rider frosh the lead for the first time in the game.

Richie Feinstein was the cagers' high man with 19 points, while Riders' Doug Endres hit for the game high with 22.

A Solution to the Knicks' Problem

Dear Mr. Braun,
After observing your "team's" deplorable showing during these last four months, we feel bold enough to challenge you and your aggregation of athletes to a basketball game at the CCNY home court. We are doing this on behalf of the brothers of Tau Delta Phi fraternity.
Our main reason for presenting you with this offer lies in the hope of starting you off on a winning streak. Of course, we fully understand the chance you are taking, but we assure you that our brothers are not quite up to your team's level as far as ability is concerned. So, if you wish to pursue this matter further, we suggest that you pay us a visit at the coming TAU DELTA PHI Smoker at 168 West 23 Street (corner 7th Avenue) on Friday night, Feb. 24. Hoping to see you then . . .

Sincerely,

Carriers Open Indoor Season; Capture Third in CTC Relays

The College's track team opened its season on the right Saturday when it placed in the Collegiate Track Conference Relay Carnival at Kings College.

"It was our first meet of the season and I was extremely satisfied with our performance," said Coach Francisco Castro.

The Beavers finished behind Blair State Teachers College and Kings Point in the field of the games.

The team finished only two points behind the fourth place team. Much of the credit for our success goes to the Distance Medley Mile Relay teams," Castro

The Distance Medley team finished second to Kings Point with a time of 11:15.9 for the two-and-a-half-mile course. Richard opened in the 880-yard leg led by Bill Casey in the 440. Delgado ran the three-mile mile with Paul Lamprinos in the mile.

Delgado, who has been the team's leading trackman for the two years advanced the team to sixth place in the relay to Lamprinos held second as he turned in an especially fine time of 4:47.3.

Delgado was also instrumental in the mile-relay event as the team took another second. He turned in the Beavers' best time of 52.2 seconds in the mile leg behind Ira Rudick, and Joel Saland.

In the two-mile relay the track team finished fourth to Queens by a margin of only one-tenth of a second. The last relay was the mile and even though the Beavers finished fifth they could not keep up to par with their earlier successes.

The track team's field section given its first tryout yesterday in the Municipal College Championships at Queens. The events are limited to shot-put, represented by Vince Hanzich, Charles Liquori, and high jumper Ernest Nolan, John Miller and Ira Rudick.

The team finished Third in Relay at Kings College's freshman team.

COACH F. CASTRO commended his trackmen, led by Josue Delgado, on their first meet.

Beavers Down Rider, 68-59; Parriers Defeat Harva Bender High Scorer with 25 On Victory in Last Bo

The College's basketball team proved once again, on Saturday night, that any attempt to prophesy any of its games soon becomes a lesson in futility.

The Beavers defeated Tri-State League rival, Rider College, 68-59, only three days after they had lost to Hunter, 56-50, for one of their most humiliating defeats of the season.

"I can't understand it," said Coach Dave Polansky. "We went from the ridiculous to the sublime in our two games."

"Against Hunter, I was pulling my hair out watching the team play. It seemed if they were day-dreaming," he explained. "But against Rider, they really fought and they achieved the results to prove it."

The player most responsible for the Beavers' reversal of form was Shelly Bender, the 6-5 center. Bender was ineffective against the Hawks' 6-8 center Charlie Rosen on Wednesday, but came roaring back against the Rough Riders with 25 points and sixteen rebounds.

While Bender was inconsistent in the two contests, 5-10 back-court reserve Jerry Greenberg turned in his best performances of the season.

Greenberg, a sophomore, did not start for the Beavers against Rider but led the second-half surge in which the cagers came back from a 29-26 halftime deficit. He tallied 14 points, 12 of which came in the second period.

In the first-half Rider jumped off to a small, but dominating lead that the Beavers could narrow only to three points by intermission. It looked like a repeat performance of the Hunter game, with the College getting close, but

Swimmers Lose to NYU; Ross, Goldin Set Records

By Art Bloom

The College's swimming team set two records in a losing cause yesterday, as it suffered a 62-33 defeat at the hands of New York University.

Co-captains Carl Ross and Danny Goldin gave the Beaver rooters something to cheer about when they sped home with record-shattering times for the 200-yard individual medley and breaststroke events.

Ross lopped 4.8 seconds off the old medley record with his time of 2:22.6. Goldin finished the breaststroke in 2:34.5, making it the second time he has broken his own record this season.

The College's breaststroke record previously was 2:35.8, which Goldin produced in the Eastern Collegiate Championships last year. He cut it down to 2:35 against Columbia three weeks ago.

Aside from the victories in the breaststroke and the medley, the Beavers took only one other first place, in the 440-yard freestyle. They also captured three second places.

When Ross stepped onto the starting block for the individual medley, the Beavers were trailing by a 23-1 margin. They had lost the first event, the 400-yard medley relay, by five yards and could do no better than a third place in the 220-yard freestyle.

With two laps to go in the medley, Ross appeared to be a sure second place finisher. He had fallen behind the Violets' Dick Meyer in the backstroke and butterfly portions of the event and was just beginning to close the gap after fifty yards of the breaststroke.

But with a burst of speed in the finishing freestyle stroke, he churned past Meyer to win by more than five yards.

CARL ROSS broke the record for the College's individual medley by 4.8 seconds yesterday.

By the time Goldin stepped onto the starting block for the 200-yard breaststroke, the Beavers were hopelessly behind, 51-28.

But the Violets' Joe Bernal wasn't letting up. He stayed neck-and-neck with Goldin until the final lap, when Goldin pulled away to win by several feet.

The Beavers' only other victory was posted by their little distance specialist, Barry Shay. He breezed through the 440-yard freestyle in 5:29.5, the fastest time of his career. Teammate Marty Slagowitz took second place.

In the diving event, Beavers Norm Kaplan and Stan Filip finished second and third respectively, behind NYU's lone diver, Tom Gustafson.

Wrestlers Register Five Pins In 28-10 Victory Over FDU

Rutherford, N.J., February 22—The College's wrestling team finally arrived at its objective today—to end its losing streak — when it defeated Fairleigh Dickinson University, 28-10.

The matmen, after losing five in a row, proved in top form as they lost only two of their eight bouts and registered five victories by pins.

"I was especially pleased with the performances of Dave Borah and Phil Rodman though the team as a whole did well," Beaver coach Joe Sapora said.

Borah who has lost only one bout in the 147 lb. division was moved down a class to 137 and responded by pinning FDU's Bob Jasson in 2:22. Rodman came in to fill Borah's shoes at 147 and decisioned Bill Cullin, 12-4.

Also scoring for the wrestlers were: Jerry Kaplan (123) over Dom Mastrangelo in 1:16; Barry Goldlust (130) defeated Rodger Wolff at 4:19; Paul Amonick (167) pinned Phil Groybow in 6:53; and Al Leydecker (175) registered his victory with 23 seconds left in the nine minute bout.

The wrestlers were deprived of a successful brother combination when Charlie Rodman (157) was pinned by Bob Gras. The only other loss came in the heavyweight division where Jerry Robinson was defeated.

Matmen Lose to Drexel

Three solid victories in the middleweight classes weren't enough to save the College's wrestling team from a 17-13 defeat by Drexel University, Saturday, on the winners home mats.

Once again the matmen lacked sufficient strength in the heavyweight divisions, and even victories by Dave Borah (147 lbs.), Charlie Rodman (157), and Paul Amonick (167) could not turn the tide, as the Beavers lost their fifth in a row.

Co-captain Borah turned in his usual impressive performance, pinning Drexel's Vic Falcone in 2:15. Rodman who has shown great improvement in his last two matches also registered a pin over Barry Gattuso in 4:04.

Paul Amonick posted the third Beaver victory when he defeated Hugh Dewey, 3-0.

The College's fencing team turned in its finest and rewarding performance of the season as it defeated Harvard University, 14-13, yesterday at Cambridge, Mass.

The match was decided in the last epee bout between the Beavers' Dick Blanquet and Harvard's best epeeist, Alan Gardner. Blanquet won the bout, 5-1, and the hotly contested match went to the parriers, as they won the last three contests after being behind, 13-11.

This was not a new situation for Blanquet who had been in the same spot in a match against the Crimson two years ago. That time, however Blanquet was put in by coach Ed Lucia because he needed the experience, and subsequently lost the bout on the last touch. This time he was in control all the way and the victory was sweet revenge for the three-year veteran.

"Besides Blanquet, the match provided many other heroes including Val Lomakin, Vito Manino

COACH ED LUCIA called team "a bunch of heroes," their 14-13 victory at Har and Gerry Mouldovan," said.

Blanquet could never have a hero unless his epee team Val Lomakin had also become a hero. Lomakin took the strip with a score, 13-12, in favor of Harvard and proceeded to win his second bout, 5-1, to set the stage for his performance was the foil to Manino, Mouldovan and Abe Manino who is now riding a crest of a ten-bout winning won a triple victory. Mouldovan also registered a triple win first of the season, while nick won two of his three tests to give the foilsmen margin.

This overwhelming strength in foil made up for fencers' 7-2 loss in saber and loss in epee.

Harvard's Jay Tusey was a multiple winner in saber while more saberman Leon Agat registered the only Beaver victories. In epee, Blanquet and Lomakin won four of the bouts.
