2 Set Drives As SG Opens Election Race

Blume, Weisberg Seek Top Spot

With Student Government elections still a month away, two presidential aspirants announced their candidacies this week.

Council member Alan Blume '64 is running at the head of the Independent Reform Party.

Richie Weisberg '63, former SG Secretary, the other presidential candidate, is running as an independent.

Blume's running mates are Bob Rosenberg '64, who is seeking the Vice-Presidency, Bob Levine '64 and Richie Schweidel '63, the hopefuls for Treasurer and Secretary.

Council member Steve Rebach '63 is running with Weisberg for Vice-President.

Weisberg stated that he "had not yet been able" to organize a slate, and added that he wasn't sure whether he eventually would.

SG observers felt that Weisberg, who has been identified in the past with a conservative position on Council, would probably run as an independent for ideological reasons.

Blume's Independent Reform Party has issued a 25-point program. According to Blume, the major feature of the platform is a proposed year-round anti-tuition campaign, including a lobbying trip to Albany.

Weisberg and Rebach have not yet announced their platform.

Both candidates agree on a strict interpretation of the SG constitution's "students-as students" clause which would limit SG's activity to purely on-campus matters. The clause, a source of controversy in past terms, states that Student Council shall concern itself only with the activities of "students-as-students."

HISPANISTS TO PICKET COLLEGE ON MONDAY

Action Was Set for Today; Changed Tuesday Night

By Ralph Blumenthal

Today's proposed picket of the College protesting alleged anti-Spanish discriminatory practices has been postponed until Monday, The Campus learned yesterday.

The picket, sponsored by the Committee for the Creation of a Department of Hispanic Studies at City College, was to have been held today from 12 to 2 along the entire length of the College, from 133 to 139 Street.

At a meeting held late Tuesday night at the Aspira agency—one of the groups represented on the Committee—it was decided to postpone the picket until Monday at 5. Another meeting is scheduled for Saturday to arrange outstanding details.

According to a spokesman for the Committee the date and hour were changed to allow other organizations time to plan participation and to enable participants to engage in the picketing after working hours.

It was also pointed out that Monday is the 470th anniversary of the discovery of Puerto Rico.

According to the spokesman, the Committee is now composed of eleven representatives of Puerto Rican organizations and federations of organizations in the city and two individual members. Among the representatives are:

- John Carro, Assistant to the mayor and president of the Puerto Rican Bar Association.
- Gilberto Gerena Valentin, president of the Congress of Puerto Rican Municipalities.
- Josefina Nieves, president of the Puerto Rican Association on Community Affairs.

Fraternity Holds Unusual Smoker; Attracts Firemen

By Isabel Feldman

An innovation in smokers was experienced yesterday by Alpha Mu Epsilon fraternity, to the tune of sirens from nearby Fire Engine Company 80.

At 10 in the morning, some fumes filtered into the house at 138th Street and Amsterdam Avenue and induced some brothers to request an investigation by the Fire Department.

"We only asked for a few men to take a look around the place," explained house-master Jack Wood. Soon, one fire engine and one hook and ladder pulled up outside and ten firemen filed through the room with axes and hoses.

According to a fireman, the cause of the smoke was traced to some overhead soot on the flue of a heater in the boiler room, which was generating sparks.

And as the ten firemen strode out of the house fifteen minutes later, two or three fraternity brothers quietly dealt out another hand of cards.

Ban on Cigarette Advertising Has Not Hurt 'Main Events'

By Nimrod Daley

The Evening Session newspaper, Main Events, which in its October 29 issue instituted a self-imposed ban on cigarette advertising, is financially sound, according to its Editor-in-Chief, Stanley Whitehead.

In an attempt to offset loss of advertising revenue, Main Events has contacted the National Advertising Service, the agency which distributes cigarette ads to college publications, to find out what reaction the Agency would have to the ban.

According to Mr. Robert Aiken, the paper's faculty advisor, Main Events was assured by NAS that no penalty would be imposed. A spokesman for the paper hinted that NAS will probably increase its non-cigarette advertising. NAS sent a telegram to the paper last Tuesday asking for a business appointment.

If the paper doesn't find other advertising replacements, it "will have to tighten its belt and receive more student fee allocations" to stay out of the red this term, Mr. Aiken said.

The decision to drop the cigarette ads, according to Whitehead, was prompted by recent reports linking smoking to lung cancer.

The paper's action has brought it several favorable letters from students and faculty at the College. In a letter in Monday's issue of Main Events, Professor J. A. Elias (Philosophy), wrote: "Your bold and pioneering decision to abandon cigarette advertising . . . cannot be praised too highly . . ."

In the same issue, Murray Riss, Editor-in-Chief of Microsm '63, wrote: "I applaud you . . . for the initiative and dash of courage you displayed . . ."

Former FBI Agent Set to Speak Here

Both extremes of the political spectrum will be explored by the College's clubs today.

In one program, Mr. Jack Levine, a former FBI agent, will speak on "Observations of a Liberal in the F.B.I.," in the Finley Ballroom at 12:30.

His talk is co-sponsored by the WBAI Club, the Government and Law Society, and the Society for Criticism and Discussion. It is billed as "a critical appraisal of the F.B.I., its director, J. Edgar Hoover, and its infiltration of the Communist Party."

Mr. Levine, a lawyer who served in the F.B.I. for eleven months, wrote in the October 20 issue of The Nation that "as membership [in the Communist Party] continues to decline and the percentage of informants increases, the day will soon come when F.B.I. informants, who are rising rapidly to the top, will capture complete

SAB Sets Review Of Its Role, Goals

In apparent reaction to criticism of its past actions, the Student Activities Board has decided to "re-evaluate" its purpose, according to Board Chairman Herb Berkowitz '63.

A general policy statement outlining the group's goals and aim is expected to be issued at next Monday's meeting.

The SAB's use of room allocation and publicity powers has drawn criticism from some groups.

At a meeting called by the House Plan Managing Board last Friday to discuss general grievances against the SAB, Steve Bloom '63, HPA president, stated that the SAB "lacked a stated purpose" and has "not fulfilled its role as a coordinating body."

The SAB twice ruled to take 121 Finley away from House Plan as a meeting room. Last Wednesday Student Council over-ruled the latest action which would have turned 121 over to SAB use.

Berkowitz attributed the confusion over SAB's role to the individual federations who, he said, "lack interest in what the SAB is doing and who are not as tolerant as they might be."

pation last May after his appointment to the state agency.

According to Mr. Carro, the purpose of the picket is to show President Gallagher "that the community is behind this group [the Committee]."

The president's rejection of charges that the Romance Languages Department has discriminated against Hispanic literature and teachers was given in a 42-page report issued last month.

In view of the extensive report, Mr. Carro said that the Committee should prepare an equally extensive statement in answer. "We should go right down the line like he did," he said.

"I did not advocate a picket," he added. "The report must be answered immediately."

Informed last week of the Committee's plans to picket, President Gallagher commented, "What is regrettable is that the picketing would be done on the basis of misinformation."

The 26th police precinct in the neighborhood of the College was not informed of the change of date for the picketing as of yesterday afternoon. However, Police Captain Carl Ravens said that no special permission is necessary to picket as long as the demonstration is not violent and does not block entrance and exit to the College.

Department Urged

The Independent Student Committee for the Creation of a Department of Hispanic Studies at the College yesterday reiterated its request of President Gallagher that a separate Spanish Department be set up here.

The group is currently circulating petitions to gain student support for the campaign.

The Committee will not participate in next Monday's picket. It considers itself independent of the outside group of Puerto-Rican community leaders.

$83 "Scanning Machine" Used in $69,000 Grant

By Ellen Gidden

Prof. Robert M. Lea (Physics) pointed proudly to the complicated-looking apparatus and said:

"This was built in the Physics Lab here and cost $83 and parts. Or maybe it was $87 and parts. Anyway, a commercially made one would cost about $1200."

The "Scanning Machine"—as it is called—is being used by Dr. Lea and his associates to continue the research project financed by the National Science Foundation. The $69,900 the College has been awarded is an addition to money that was awarded two years ago.

The aim of the project is to gather knowledge about little known nuclear forces. The role of the machine, according to Prof. Alvin H. Bachman (Physics)—who is also working on the project—is as follows:

"Negatively charged particles called anti-protons and positively charged hydrogen nuclei collide and disappear in a process called annihilation. The energy liberated by this collision is transformed into new particles called mesons. The distribution of energy among these mesons gives information about this type of nuclear reaction.

"The scanning machine is basically a big slide projector which enables all this activity to be observed from two views. Then a measuring machine gauges the coordinates of each track. All this data is then fed into an IBM computer which reconstructs the traces of the particles."

En toto, eight people are working in conjunction with Dr. Lea on the project. Two of these are faculty members—Dr. Philip Baumel and Dr. Bachman—both of the Physics Department. The other six are students, only one of whom has completed his graduate work.

Dr. Lea said that $25,000 of the grant will probably go toward the purchase of a Measuring Machine—a mechanism which is "of utmost importance" to the research. The machine they have been using so far is located at Brookhaven Laboratories on Long Island.

Asked about the origin of the topic, Dr. Lea said it was chosen "rather by experience." He had used the topic for his doctoral thesis he explained.

"Up to now it's been very gratifying," he reports. "We've been able to meet the challenges presented by the topic."

Five O'clock Shadow

Monday the College will be picketed by members of the Committee for the Creation of a Department of Hispanic Studies at City College. The Committee's action is a demonstration of protest opposing alleged discrimination against teachers of Hispanic origin at the College.

The picket is ill-advised and irrelevant, and its organizers, as far as can be determined, are ill-informed about the issue.

The picket is ill-advised because it constitutes a hasty, emotional outburst on an issue of serious complexity. The issue of so-called discrimination has already exploded into the Spanish language press, and bids fair to become a headlined issue in the entire metropolitan press. The only accomplishment of the picket will be to worsen the relations of the College and the Committee, and to make an objective consideration of the issue impossible.

The picket is irrelevant because it does not constitute a reply to President Gallagher's 42-page refutation of the bias charges. Reports indicate the committee is preparing a statement in answer to Dr. Gallagher's release. They would be well-advised to complete and release their statement before embarking on so drastic a measure as a picket.

The picket organizers are ill-informed because they seem to be unacquainted with Dr. Gallagher's report and his refutation of many of their charges. The question of French textbooks being purchased in a disproportionate ratio to Spanish texts was convincingly disposed of in the president's report. Yet this same battered argument keeps cropping up in stories in El Diario, attributed to Committee members.

Today's picket cannot avoid stirring up further ill feelings between the College administration and the Committee. The air will be further clouded with confusing charges and counter-charges. It is regrettable that the committee has deemed it necessary to picket in order to express its views. A much more constructive action would have been the re-opening of talks between the committee and Dr. Gallagher on the issue of discrimination. Calm, considered discussion is the only possible effective approach to this increasingly volatile issue.

The Machine Age

For most fans of politics, the election season ended with the victory of Nelson Rockefeller and the defeat of Richard Nixon. Here at the College, however, the middle of November is only the beginning of what promises to be a free-wheeling race for the Student Government Presidency.

Some may say that preparing for an SG election five weeks in advance is rushing things. But those who have had more experience in student politics know it is never too early to wheel out, polish, and oil their political machines.

Two presidential hopefuls have thrown their hats into the ring, and more aspirants are expected to announce their intentions. daily. The SG office is rife with rumor and speculation, as slates are made and unmade in the space of the 10-minute break between classes. The game of politics at the College will increase in complexity and "wild and whirling" words until the last student vote is counted.

It is gratifying to see any student or group of students challenge the traditional concept of the apathetic student body. In view of the abysmal turnout in the recent special election, it is incumbent upon the candidates to present the issues and maintain a campaign which will stimulate interest and enthusiasm among the traditional non-voters in the student body.

At any rate, the coming weeks can be expected to witness a thickening alphabet soup of politics as CAP, DSU and others join the IRP and the independents in the battle for the brass ring of student politics.

By Ralph Blumenthal

Digging up a news story is like putting on a corset: if the ends don't make contact you're in trouble.

Nowhere has this proved truer than in seeking information on the present "discrimination" controversy and nowhere has there been more obstructing material between the ends than in this situation.

But history will record that the battle of the bulge was resolved in favor of the news-gathering media and the developments of the controversy have found their outlet—one way or another—to the interested students, faculty and administrators.

What could be more frustrating to a college newspaper editor than hearing that his school will be picketed by an outside group for the first time in 115 years and not being able to gather any additional information? What is more aggravating than the awareness that the event may—or may not—take place the day his newspaper appears in print.

Thus he first tries to contact the authorities involved. That failing, he seeks information from those in contact with the authorities. The search still fruitless, he variously appeals to secret sources—authoritative, informed or "close" (which usually signifies anyone who has heard rumors).

In the situation under discussion, the quest went something like this:

"Hello? Is this The Authority? I see. When can he be reached? I see. Thank you.

"Hello? I understand you have been in contact with The Authority. You just spoke to him? But I was just told he was not available. What did he say to you? You can't say? Yes, I'll try him again later. Thank you.

"Hello? Is he available yet? I see. Maybe you can help me. I just heard that my college will be picketed by . . . I see. Yes, I'll try later.

"Hello? Listen, he won't talk to me. Yes, I tried again. Couldn't you tell me anything? Of course, I understand. You are not to be quoted. I understand, of course. Tomorrow? He did say that? Really? I'll call him right back. No, I won't use your name.

"Hello? This is me again. I just heard that the picket is tomorrow. I can't tell you who told me. Yes, I'll hold on. Still holding. Still holding. All right, I'll call again.

"Hello? Secret authoritative source? Listen, I wouldn't bother you unless it was important. I need certain information. What do you know about the picket? The City College picket. I see. But can you find out? I'll call you back.

"Hello? Secret informed source? Do you know anything about a picket tomorrow at City College? It's not tomorrow? But I was told . . . When is it going to be? Next week? But I was told . . . What day? But I was told . . . What time? I see. Thanks.

"Hello? Me again. You said it would be tomorrow. The City College picket. You sure? I just heard it's next week. Yes, I'll check back.

"Hello? Secret close source? I'm really in a hole. I need info on the City College picket. What can you tell me? It was yesterday? But I was told . . . are you sure? But I was told . . . Check again, will you. Thanks. I'll call back.

"Hello? Did The Authority come back yet? Left for the day? But you said . . . Tomorrow? But tomorrow might be too late. For the picket. The City College picket. Listen, just tell me this. Was the picket yesterday? The City College picket. But you must know whether . . . I see. Yes, I'll call tomorrow.

"Hello? Secret close source? You told me that the picket was yesterday. The City College picket. I just heard it will be tomorrow. Yes, that's what I was told. The City College picket. You weren't talking about the City College picket? I see. I see. O.K. O.K. If you hear anything about the City College picket let me know. Thanks.

"Hello? Is The Authority in? I called yesterday and was told to call back. Yes, I'll hold on. In an hour? Yes, I'll call back.

"Hello? This is President Kennedy. I want to speak with The Authority. Thank you. Hello? Authority? When is the picket? Next week? You sure? Good-bye."

State Colleges Ask Scholarship Boosts

At least 12 New York colleges believe the state should increase the maximum Regents scholarship and scholar incentive program payments, according to a New York Times article on a State Education Department report released Monday.

About the same number of colleges want the state to eliminate the minimum payment under the programs if the students have no real financial need, the report said.

The department sent questionnaires to students receiving aid from the state and to colleges they attend. It inquired about the effectiveness of the state's financial aid programs.

Replies from 69 colleges were received. They enroll about two-thirds of all students receiving financial aid.

About 90 per cent of those who replied agreed that the scholarship program was a major aid to students.

GLOOM AT THE TOP

Oh, sure, you've been busy, what with going to classes, doing your homework, catching night crawlers, getting married—but can't you pause for just a moment and give thought to that dear, dedicated, lonely man in the big white house on the hill? I refer, of course, to the Prexy.

(It is interesting to note here that college presidents are always called "Prexy." Similarly, trustees are called "Trixie." Associate professors are called "Axy-Pixy." Bursars are called "Foxy-Woxy." Students are called "Aigae.")

But I digress. We were speaking of the Prexy, a personage at once august and pathetic. Why pathetic? Well sir, consider how Prexy spends his days. He is busy, busy, busy. He talks to deans, he talks to professors, he talks to trustees, he talks to alumni. In fact, he talks to everybody except the one group who could lift his heart and rally his spirits. I mean, of course, the appealinglest, endearingest, winsomest group in the entire college—you, the students.

It is the Prexy's sad fate to be forever a stranger to your laughing, golden selves. He can only gaze wistfully out the window of his big white house on the hill and watch you at your games and sports and yearn with all his tormented heart to bask in your warmth. But how? It would hardly be fitting for Prexy to appear one day at the Union, clad in an old rowing blazer, and cry gaily, "Heigh-ho, chaps! Who's for sculling?"

"Heigh-ho, chaps! Who's for sculling?"

No, friends, Prexy can't get to you. It is up to you to get to him. Call on him at home. Just drop in unannounced. He will naturally be a little shy at first, so you must put him at his ease. Shout, "Howdy-dooty, sir! I have come to bring a little sunshine into your drear and blighted life!" Then yank his necktie out of his vest and scamper goatlike around him until he is laughing merrily along with you.

Then hand him a package and say, "A little gift for you, sir." "For me?" he will say, lowering his lids. "You shouldn't have."

"Yes, I should," you will say, "because this package is a carton of Marlboro Cigarettes, and whenever I think of Marlboro, I think of you."

"Why, hey?" he will say curiously.

"Because Marlboros have taste, and so do you," you will reply.

"Aw, go on," he will say, blushing furiously.

"It's true," you will say. "Moreover, Marlboro has a filter, and so do you."

"In my swimming pool, you mean," he will say.

"Yes," you will say. "Moreover, Marlboro has a soft pack, and so do you."

"My limp leather brief case, you mean," he will say.

"Yes," you will say. "Moreover, the Marlboro box has a flip-top, and so do you."

"But I don't have a flip-top," he will say.

"But you will," you will say. "Just light a Marlboro, and taste that tasty taste, and you will surely flip your top."

Well sir, you will have many a good chuckle about that, you may be sure. Then you will say, "Goodbye, sir, I will return soon again to brighten your lorn and desperate life."

"Please do," he will say. "But next time, if you can possibly manage it, try not to come at four in the morning."

Now a clean-filling, smooth-writing, money-saving Parker cartridge pen...only $3⁹⁵ New PARKER ARROW

© 1962 THE PARKER PEN COMPANY, JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, U.S.A.

You can buy an ordinary cartridge pen for a dollar and even get a couple of cartridges thrown in free. But, then you pay and pay and pay. This pen can save you up to 20¢ every time you buy cartridges. You get five BIG Parker Quink cartridges for only 29¢. But, even if you didn't save a dime, this pen would be worth the extra price. It's a Parker.

And only Parker gives you a solid 14K gold point tipped with plathenium—one of the hardest, smoothest alloys ever developed. It should last you for years no matter how much you use it.

The pen won't leak the way the cheap ones do. It has a built-in safety reservoir, and it must meet most of the tough specifications we set for our $10 pens.

✍️ If you have trouble saying it, say it with a Parker. If you're a little shy and have difficulty saying "I love you" or even "I like you very much"—say it with a Parker.

The new Parker Arrow makes a beautifully expressive gift and looks as if you paid a small fortune for it.

The new Parker Arrow comes in black, dark blue, light blue, light gray, and bright red, with a choice of four instantly replaceable solid 14K gold points. Gift-boxed with five free cartridges.

probably the two weakest teams on the booters' schedule this season so they should be able to break out of their scoring doldrums. Mike Somogyi, Irwin Foxx, Seth Shelton and Mike Pesce are the other Lavender forwards who are just itching to kick the ball into the opponent's goal.

And the Sailors and the Panthers have the two weakest defenses in the league. Maritime has allowed a league leading total of 23 goals, while Adelphi follows with 19 goals.

The Beaver defense, however, is one of the best in the conference. Neville Parker, Tom Sieberg, Noe Arcas and company have been doing an outstanding job protecting goalies—Adolph Putre and Nick Patruno—who have given up 12 goals so far. And they should continue their top-notch play in the final two games.

In addition, fullback Wolfgang Schorer will be back in action after suffering scalp lacerations in the Pratt game.

ky let all fourteen of his players get into the fray in order to give them some pre-season game experience.

And two of the cagers Alex Blatt and Sam Greene turned in excellent performances in the futile cause. They led at only one point in the game—when Greene put in a foul shot in the opening minute to give them a 1-0 lead.

Blatt, the 6-4 center, was the cager's high scorer with 11 points. And Greene, a sophomore, pulled down 8 rebounds while battling the taller Club players.

Blatt had a minor operation at the end of the summer and his quick return to action proved to be a great boon to the Beavers.

The other cagers who saw considerable action was co-captain Don Adat, Ray Camisa, Jerry Greenberg, Johnny Wiles, Steve Sherr and Jay Hershkowitz.

Debaters Take 2d In Amherst Meet

The College's novice Debating team placed second in an intercollegiate meet at Amherst College last weekend, debating the topic: Resolved: The non-Communist Nations Should Establish an Economic Community."

The team's 8-2 record in the tournament placed it ahead of Dartmouth, Princeton, Cornell and Holyoke, but behind Harvard, the winner.

The affirmative team was composed of Warren Liebsman '66 and Gene Rosenberg '63. Representing the negative side were Danny Katman '65 and Joel Cooper '65.

Twenty teams were present at the Amherst meet. A team is composed of two negative and two affirmative debaters.

The affirmative team also helped the novices to a first place victory at Hamilton College last week.

Beavers To Defend CTC Title; Run in IC4A 'College' Division

Once you've proven your ability by whipping the best competition in your class it always hurts twice as much to be drubbed by competition that's way above your class.

But that's what has been happening to the College's cross-country team for the past few years. At the end of each season they've been winning or finishing high up in the Collegiate Track Conference championships—16 teams of their own caliber—but they've just been going along for the run in the IC4A's championships—31 teams including the top track powers in the country.

However this year there's a big difference. The Harriers will compete in the ninth annual CTC championship at Van Cortlandt Park on Saturday, and they have an excellent chance of taking the crown for the second consecutive year. Starting time is 11.

They will also compete Monday in the 54th annual IC4A's, also to be held in Van Cortlandt. But for the first time in its existence the race will be held in two divisions, university and college, because it has been completely dominated by the larger schools like Villanova and Penn State for the past few years.

Thus the Beavers will be in the second college division, with competition of their own caliber, and they may well be able to finish high in the standings.

In the CTC's, the Beavers will face almost all of the teams that have given them tough races this year on their way to a 7-1 record. Fairleigh Dickinson, second in the CTC's last year and the only team to humble the Beavers this season, heads the field. Also included are Central Connecticut State, Kings Point and LeMoyne—the other top finishers in last year's race.

TOP HARRIER Mike Didyk will lead runners in defense of CTC championship on Saturday.

Jim Keefe of CCS ran away with the individual honors last year with a clocking of 25:58, and the speedy five-miler is also expected to be the first one across the finish line in this year's event. Keefe has expressed a desire to break the course record of 25:32 and with a group of tough competitors pushing him on he may reach his goal on Saturday.

Other top finishers will probably be Bill Sargent of Kings Point, John Williams of FDU, Pete Hickey of Iona, Mike Didyk, Lenny Zane, Paul Lamprinos, Mike Lester and John Bourne will be the leading Beaver runners as usual.

However, the meet will probably be won by the team that gets a monopoly of the sixth through twentieth positions. Last year, the victorious Beavers placed five men in this category. Zane was the first Beaver to finish. His time of 28:36 was good enough for seventh place.

Lester, the number three runner behind Didyk and Zane this year, feels that the Harriers can cop the title again "if everybody runs real well together."

While the Harriers should be able to capture their third CTC crown, it's difficult to figure out how they'll do in the IC4A's — even though the competition is more on their level than in past races. Adelphi, Brooklyn, Iona and Kings Point are the only Beaver rivals to join them in the college division.

Paul Lamprinos was the Beavers' first man to finish, coming in 115th with a time of 29:35—three minutes behind the winner, Steve Machooka of Cornell last year.

Booters To End 'Long Season' Against Fort Schuyler, Adelphi

By Harvey Wandler

What is probably the "longest season" in soccer history will end for the College's team this long weekend when it meets New York Maritime and Adelphi.

The two Met league encounters, against the Sailors at Fort Schuyler on Saturday and against Adelphi at Lewisohn Stadium on Monday will be the Beavers' final chance to get back in the win column in 1962.

The Adelphi game is a make-up of one that was rained out on November 3.

Although the Beavers aren't in contention for the Met title—their last victory was over Hunter on October 13—the games are important.

Coach Harry Karlin's men are currently in seventh place in the league sandwiched between Maritime and Adelphi with a 1-3-2 record, and if they should lose either of the games they would fall to eighth. Hunter is automatically last because it has forfeited all of its games. But the Beavers have never finished so low in the league.

Not only will the booters be trying to get back in the win column, but they will also be trying to score more than first time this season.

Jim Martino, who tallied the only goal against Pratt on Monday, is the leading Beaver scorer. He has two goals.

But Adelphi and Maritime are

Athletic Club Team Routs Beaver Five

The College's basketball team received some post-graduate lessons in the art of the round ball sport last night in a scrimmage with the New York Athletic Club—a team composed of former College players.

After approximately two and a half hours of play the cagers wound up on the short end of the score, 129-61.

However, that isn't a fair measure of comparison for the two teams. For one the NYAC is one of the top amateur clubs in the country. Doug Rudnick, formerly of Manhattan, led them last night with 71 points.

In addition, Coach Dave Polan-
