Beavers Defeat Newark of Rutgers, 57-53

Halt Bombers' Second Half Comeback

By Arthur Woodard

With a wildly exciting finish highlighting the action, the College's basketball team opened its season with a 57-53 victory over a tougher-than-expected Newark of Rutgers squad Saturday night at Wingate Gym.

The encounter, the College's annual Stein Fund contest to raise money for injured Beaver athletes, was reminiscent of last year's fund game with Columbia in which the Beavers came from behind in the final three minutes to go ahead, only to lose in double overtime.

This time, though, it was the opposition who came from behind—from as much as thirteen points back—to tie the score at 51-41 with 3:04 left in the fray.

Beaver fans began to breathe easier 17 seconds later when Sam Greene, who was high scorer for the cagers with twelve points, hit on a jump shot from the corner. And when Alan Zuckerman canned two free throws with only 34 seconds left to up the count to 55-51, it looked as if the game was over.

In those final 34 seconds, though five personal and two technical fouls were called, nine foul shots were attempted and two converted, a field goal was made, a fist fight erupted which emptied both benches and—oh yes, the Beavers held their lead and won the game.

The contest gave no indication of what was to come as it began innocently with a two-pointer by Greene at the 18:35 mark of the first half breaking the scoring ice.

About a minute later the count rose to 4-0 as Bob Kissmann, who snared 17 rebounds for the Beavers, flipped in the rebound of a shot by Zuckerman.

The score was soon knotted at 6-6 however, as the Bombers tallied three times in the next 2½ minutes while holding the Beavers to a lone goal by Greene. But within a minute the Lavender took over the lead by four points and the New Jersey quintet never got any closer than that in the first half.

Particularly noteworthy in this Lavender surge was the shooting of

Harvey Asks College to Limit Enrollment to Present Level

By Henry Gilgoff

Prof. J. Bailey Harvey (Speech), chairman of the Faculty Committee on Enrollment, proposed yesterday that the College restrict its student population to the present level until adequate facilities can be made available for increased enrollments.

He said that he will urge the enrollment committee to consider the proposal when it meets today to draft a report on enrollment for the Thursday meeting of the Faculty Council.

Admitting that his proposal was "extreme", Professor Harvey also criticized the Board of Higher Education's Master Plan, which calls for a rise of 4000 in the College's student body by 1970. "Everytime we get more students, more teachers are throwing up their hands" over the overcrowded conditions here," Professor Harvey said.

This term enrollment at the College increased by 600 students. To meet the quota set by the Master Plan, the College, according to Registrar Robert L. Taylor, would have to admit 300 to 600 additional students next September.

Professor Harvey emphasized that "no new facilities are even

SG Members Seek to Cut Campus Funds

By Frank Van Riper

Several Student Government officials indicated last week that they were considering cutting The Campus' Spring term allocation by two hundred dollars because, they charge the paper "abrogated its responsibility" in its coverage of SG's recent anti-tuition campaign.

Such action, which would require the approval of Student Council, will have to be presented in the form of a motion at tomorrow's council meeting during debate on fee allocations. While some SG executives said they would

Council Sponsors Rallies On Berkeley Controversy

By Jane Salodof

In a special session, Student Council last night voted overwhelmingly to sponsor rallies "to demonstrate student sympathy with the Free Speech Movement" at the University of California's Berkeley campus.

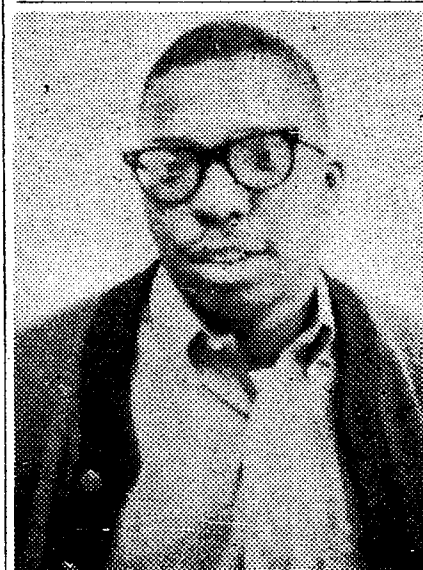

Council's move, prompted by stiffened restrictions on political activity at the California college, took the form of a four-part action.

Joining with five student organizations, Council first endorsed a rally set for tomorrow at 1 in the Finley Hall Grand Ballroom.

It also endorsed another rally to be held the same day at 3 in front of Columbia University's Loew Library.

Speakers at the College's rally will be Prof. Rose Zimbaro (English), Prof. John Thirwall (English), Student Government President John Zippert '66 and Evening Session Student Government President Michael Kinsler.

A resolution was also adopted condemning "the systematic attempt of officials at the University of California to minimize the tra-

Fewer Hours For Teachers Called for Here

By Mary Vespa

Prof. Joseph Copeland (Biology), the College's representative to the Legislative Council, called last Thursday for a three to six-hour reduction in teacher's schedules at the College.

Speaking at the biennial staff meeting of the College's branch of the Legislative Conference, the agency negotiating faculty policy for the City University's faculties, Professor Copeland said that the College should reduce its average 15-hour teaching load to the 9 and 12-hour loads prevalent at other institutions.

Dr. Copeland said that such a reduction would allow professors to prepare more adequately for their classes and to devote more time to research projects.

He strongly urged the administration to disregard accepted "formulas" and to depend on "logic" and "intelligent studies of the College's problems" to alleviate the problem of burdensome teaching schedules.

Petition to Support A Football Team Approved by 1500

A referendum calling for the formation of a College football team has received the support required to be placed on the ballot in next week's Student Government election.

The petition proposing the referendum, which asks for a 50 cent increase in the Bursar's Fee to support a varsity team, has received over 1500 signatures. Signatures of 10 per cent (approximately 900 students) of the undergraduate day session student body are required to place a referendum on the ballot.

Student Council will consider tomorrow endorsement of the referendum. Their action would not, however, affect the referendum's

Stop the Press

The move by several members of Student Government to reduce The Campus' allocation because they feel this newspaper did not provide adequate coverage of the anti-tuition campaign is the most flagrant example of censorship in our memory. It is a clear infringement on the press, whose freedom here has always been considered inviolate.

The Campus and Observation Post were not established "to serve Student Government," as one SG executive has unfortunately observed. The two newspapers were formed to serve the students. Their functions should be to provide students with information which can serve them in their role as citizens of the College, to offer a source of enjoyable and occasionally amusing reading, and to comment on developments here. It is not their function to serve as Student Government's publicity arm.

How these functions are to be carried out is a question which has many answers. However, it is not within Student Government's scope to dictate these answers. It is Student Government's responsibility to finance the operation of the newspapers but its constitution emphatically prohibits it from determining editorial policy. And a decision on the position a story deserves and on what constitutes a newsworthy story is as much editorial policy as the decision which determines the opinions expressed in this column. If Student Government can, by holding a financial sword of Damocles over the newspapers, dictate what shall appear in an issue, it is acting the role of the censor as certainly as if it were to openly prohibit the newspaper from printing stories.

It appears that several members of Student Government are searching for a scapegoat for the regrettably small turnout of students at each of the district campaigns. To lay the blame on the newspapers for not shaking students here out of their apathy is unjustifiable, however. Students, Student Government should reexamine its own role and possibly discover ways to ameliorate the situation in future campaigns.

Yet, the issue of free tuition is really irrelevant. A more important question than who was to blame for a weak anti-tuition campaign is now at stake. It is the question of a newspaper which cannot function responsibly if, it fears financial sanctions everytime it undertakes a controversial move. It is the question of a newspaper which cannot serve as a voice of either dissent or approbation if it will be silenced at each instance by threats of monetary restrictions. It is the question of a free press.

If the Shoe Fits

Professor J. Bailey Harvey's proposal to keep the College's student population constant may be "extreme," but it is nevertheless necessary.

President Gallagher has already told the Alumni Association that the College is working 137 per cent above capacity. Logic would dictate that the President should have stopped increasing enrollment 37 percentage points ago; instead he is striving apparently fruitlessly to meet the College's commitment to the Master Plan to increase the student body by 4000 within the next five years.

Many people argue that Professor Harvey's proposal is ignoble. Indeed there can be no joy in closing the doors of the College to the increasing number of high school graduates applying for a free education. However, the present policy of admitting students to a school that has no room for them does not seem especially noble either.

President Gallagher's enrollment policy is termed "Operation Shoehorn." According to the President, this College is a shoe and a shoehorn is needed to squeeze us into its classes. Under such a policy there is a serious threat that our educational standards will deteriorate, and the respect awarded the College's diploma by employers and graduate schools will be lost.

Professor Harvey's proposal to prevent educational chaos deserves serious and immediate consideration by his committee, the Faculty Council, and the administration.

Football

inclusion on the ballot. Members of the Beaver Football Club, which initiated the referendum, hope passage of the referendum by a large margin would put pressure to bear on the administration to allow formation of a team. President Gallagher's approval is ultimately needed for establishment of a Beaver team.

The Beaver Football Club is forbidden from playing other school teams by a Board of Higher Education by-law which requires a club to receive official recognition as a team before participating in contact sports. Consequently, the club is seeking such recognition.

'Campus'

favor the move to cut The Campus' funds, none would admit that he intended to introduce such a motion on Wednesday.

SG Vice President Joel Cooper '66, who said yesterday that he would "have to sit down and put everything in proportion," before deciding his position on a proposed motion was extremely critical of The Campus' tuition coverage at the beginning of the term.

"What The Campus had done was pretty rotten," declared Cooper, who said he "felt bitter" whenever stories concerning the tuition drive were not run as the paper's lead story. He said he considered second lead and "certainly" third lead "a slap in the face."

Cooper conceded, however, that since he was "very involved with free tuition," the issue "might have become magnified in my own eyes." He explained that he is therefore still deliberating over his vote.

SG Secretary Mark Landis '67 declared that "it has become obvious to me that The Campus has failed to serve Student Government as it should have." He said he would support the fee reduction proposal, but, like his colleagues, would not say whether he would introduce it.

December 8.

This is your roving reporter bringing you on-the-spot coverage of the daily trivia at the College.

First, let us go behind the closed doors of the weekly Student Council meeting. Ah, yes, we're just in time to hear a brilliant rebuttal by Carl Weitzman on a motion "Resolved: That Student Council should support a rally by Hillel condemning Raymond the Bagelman because he is Italian. "I demand that this motion be ruled out of order since it does not come within the boundaries of the students as students clause; and after all, Raymond is making an honest living, and furthermore—you don't have to be Jewish to sell bagels."

We leave this heated debate to eavesdrop on the harried editors of Observation Post who are presently deciding upon the lead story for their next issue.

"It's going to be a tough decision. The Public Relations release on President Gallagher's reversal last term on the Economics department's use of the Ballroom certainly deserves top priority. Besides it doesn't even need editing.

"However, I think this story of the student riots at Slippery Rock State Teachers College in Pennsylvania will be more interesting to the students."

Since we'll be able to see the results of this board meeting in OP's next issue next month, let's go around the corner and stop by the Young Republicans Club.

"All right, everybody, pretend there is a staircase, and by the first step, there's a table. You there, pretend to be a vase and Jack will knock you over. Okay, let's begin, with the comedy scene in the second act, and everybody pretend to laugh."

Oops, that was the Repertoire Society rehearsing "Auntie Mame." Oh yes, here's the Young Republicans.

"I still think Goldwater should have carried at least 11 out of the 13 states."

We go now to President Gallagher's press conference.

"Dr. Gallagher, would you care to comment on the fact that the enrollment crises at the College will necessitate the use of your office as a lecture hall?"

"Well, I wouldn't care to discuss that at this time."

"Then could you tell us the planned completion dates of the Humanities Building?"

"Yes, we plan to complete the construction by the beginning of next term. We are at present in the middle of a series of meetings with the City Planning Commission to obtain funds for planning the building."

We'll return later, but now let's journey down south to the Fee Commission meeting. We are just in time to hear SG Treasurer Marty Kauffman explain to the Finley Center Planning Board why they will not be able to get next term's allocation.

"I see no reason for any refreshments at the Student-Faculty Tea."

Now back to President Gallagher's Press Conference. It is just finishing.

"Thank you, Dr. Gallagher."

"Thank you, Joe."

"Thank you, Dr. Gallagher."

"Thank you, Mr. Levine."

"Thank you, . . . ."

We just have time for a quick peek into the office of Campus where the editors and reporters are hard at work on this issue night. "Let's play categories."

College and Columbia Editors Meet Here to Plan Cuba Trip

Editors of the student newspapers at the College and Columbia College met here Friday to map plans for a trip to Cuba in January.

The editors, who are seeking to travel to Cuba to attend an international conference of student editors, agreed to ask the state department to lift its ban on travel to the island. In a letter they plan to send to the department they will argue that, since the department has lifted the ban for professional newspaper reporters, it should also extend this privilege to student newspaper editors.

A letter to student editors across the country, inviting them on the trip and asking their support for the venture, will also be sent.

To finance the expenses of the trip, the group discussed the possibility of raising money through fund drives at all the colleges supporting the trip.

ing, it did not prevent the student team from beating its opponents 109 to 107.

The four students, Campus editor-in-chief Joe Berger '66, Community Affairs Vice-President Mike Ticktin '66, Bob Tutelman '65 and Student Government President John Zippert '66, successfully managed to answer questions in topics ranging from geography to sports.

Besides Professor Taffet, the opposing team was composed of Professors Arthur Nelson (Art), Bernard Sohmer (Math), and Dean Sherburne Barber.

Apparently Professor Taffet had an answer for everything that wasn't asked in the quiz. When Professor Lowe dryly commented about his behavior "I knew I'd have trouble with him," Professor Taffet retorted "So did my mother."

For the last question in the quiz, Professor Taffet had to make an extemporaneous speech entitled "Why I Hate Teaching." He glared at the 75 students in the audience as he said, "I hate teaching. I hate to get up for a 9 o'clock class to see your miserable faces, with no ties, unkempt, and girls with trousers mixing me up."

scheduled for completion until 1968."

Registrar Taylor, however, opposed Professor Harvey's proposal, noting that implementation of the plan might result in a reduction in the number of entering freshmen. He pointed out that more transfer students would probably apply to the College in the next two years and "by an act of the Board of Higher Education, we are committed to admit all students graduating from the community colleges."

"Thus we must open and close the valve on the poor high school students," Registrar Taylor explained.

ditional role of a university as a center for the conflict of ideas."

Council voted to send copies of the resolution to California Governor Pat Brown, Dr. Clark Kerr, president of the University, members of Berkeley's Free Speech Movement.

In the last section of the four-part bill, Council moved to help circulate, along with several other College groups, a petition "for students' rights" to be presented to Governor Brown and President Kerr.

The petition calls for "restoration of the right of political advocacy" at Berkeley, the dropping of all disciplinary action taken against students who participated in Free Speech Movement sit-ins, and general amnesty for 814 students who were later arrested for such action.

Councilman Carl Weitzman '65 termed SG President Zippert's "tactics" in calling the special meeting "dishonest" and said he would help draft a letter to students and faculty at Berkeley "apologizing" for interfering with their affairs.

Second Half Surge

The Beavers began the second half as if they were going to crack the game wide open. Greene, who shot 5-6 from the field, hit with a jumper from the corner and, after two Bomber tallies, followed with another basket from almost the same location.

Levine, the second smallest man on the court, then sneaked under the basket to put in a rebound, and when Camisa, who notched eleven points, followed with a turnaround layup, seconds later, the count rose to 40-27 in the Lavender's favor.

The Bombers scored the next six points to begin their comeback which eventually knotted the score at 51 and brought about the frantic finish.

Tomorrow night the cagers will

Montclair St. Pins Defeat On Matmen

By Alan Rothstein

The College's wrestling team went down to defeat at the hands of powerful Montclair State Teachers College Saturday in the Beaver's opening meet. The final score was 26-5, but this does not give a true account of the matmen.

As they came out for this meet, the matmen were at a disadvantage due to their inexperience. Only two of the eight starters, Ron Taylor and Jack Stein, had had any previous varsity experience.

Mistakes Costly

In the opening match, 123 lb. Olie Avendano, representing the Beavers, grappled with Carl Bateman, an experienced wrestler who had defeated Taylor last year. Avendano did a fine job, but Bateman capitalized on Olie's mistakes for a pin in the closing minutes of the match.

Captain Taylor got the Beavers their first three points with a 4-2 decision in the 130-lb. event. A double leg takedown provided the winning two-point margin.

In the 137-lb. match, Shapor Mohtoshami, an exchange student from Iran, who has been on the team for only one week, fought to a draw with Montclair's Ray Buczek for the College's last two points.

Bob Klaw, the Beavers' 147-pounder, fought well but was outpointed by Jim White, who advanced to the Met finals last season before losing to Mark Miller, last year's Lavender captain.

Lavender Collapse

After staying relatively close to Montclair's score for the first four matches, the Beavers lost their next four tussles as Vincent Fucelli and Mike Schick were pinned, and Ken Aaron and Jack Stein lost decisions.

In Stein's match against Rich Keenan, the score was tied at 1-1 with 17 seconds to go when Keenan scored 2 points on a takedown and won, 3-1.

On the whole, the inexperienced Beavers showed they were game and determined even if inexperienced. As has been the case in past years, this team figures to improve as the season goes on.

Swordsmen Sharp In Romp at Yale

By Steve Leiterstein

With three triple winners and an equal number of double victors, the College's fencing team successfully opened its season last Saturday by trouncing Yale, 20-7, at New Haven.

The final score failed to reveal the complete dominance the Beavers showed throughout the match. The parriers clinched their victory by winning 14 of the first 17 bouts.

According to coach Edward Lucia, the parriers, although fencing in a strange environment, meted out the worst beating an Ivy league team has ever suffered at the hands of a Beaver fencing team.

As an example of the Lavender's strength, consider the fact that the Beavers' sabre and epee teams won 15 of 18 matches.

The sabre team nearly won undefeated. Frank Appice won three bouts while Aaron Marcus and Joe Giovanniello collected two wins each.

The only two losses the sabremen suffered came during the third round when Tom Keller, fencing in his first varsity match, lost 5-3 and Edward Lucia Jr., also in varsity competition for the first time, narrowly missed a victory, losing 5-4.

The epee team, which except for a first round setback might have gone undefeated, was even better. Richie Weininger won all three of his bouts and Al Darion both of his.

Stan Lefkowitz, after losing his first bout to Yale's John Saylor, came back to take his second and third matches and sophomore Bob Chernick was successful in his varsity debut, winning 5-2.

The Beavers' foil squad, which copped five of nine bouts, showed a weakness in depth. Captain George Weiner, who, according to Lucia, "fenced splendidly," had no

Streak Snapped

Although the College's rifle team gunned its way to a season high of 1429 points at Annapolis last Friday, the nimrods' five meet winning streak was snapped.

Highly-ranked Navy shot a resounding 1448 to hand the nimrods their first loss this season. Six Midshipmen registered more than 288 points.

Three Beavers — Bernie Abramson, Bob Didner and Jim Volinsky — scored 287 points. Bruce Gitlin and Fred Bondzeit tallied 285 and 283, respectively.

trouble winning his three bouts and Steve Bernard, a sophomore, began his varsity career with two wins in three bouts.

However, Frank Russo, another sophomore, lost twice and Joe Menschik, an epeeist, succumbed in his only bout, by a 5-2 margin.

Lucia employed indirect strategy after gaining a 8-2 edge in the first round. By harrassment and temptation during the bouts, the Beavers induced Yale to make errors in judgement, resulting in an 8-1 second round Beaver triumph. In the third round, although many substitutions were made to give the newcomers some varsity experience, the Lavender fencers won five of the nine bouts.

Afterwards, Lucia indicated that the sabre team seems set to make a strong bid to retain the trophy it won in last year's IFA competition. However, the epee team, in Lucia's words, "is hot on their heels" and may also be heading for team honors.
