New Pink 'Campus' Publishes Following Five Paper Merger

By Creamed Korn

A new daily student newspaper, The Campus, created by a merger of five undergraduate publications, begins publishing with today's issue. The merger was enacted as a result of Student Government's recent economy drive to eliminate duplication and waste among the student organizations. "It's bad enough we have one Moscow directed, left leaning, comsymp, slanted newspaper, without having five," said Student Councilman and YAF Field Marshall Stephen Von Schlashing '69.

Unearth Plots Of Pink Bodies In Jasper Raid

By U.S. Bonds

A source embarrassingly close to the College's Administration revealed to The Campus yesterday that for the last two years the Central Intelligence Agency has used Jasper Oval as a "burial ground for troublesome pinkos and student operatives who had been found out."

According to the source, who requested anonymity because of his fear that he might become "number 57," agents from the CIA, posing as members of the Department of Buildings and Grounds, regularly "planted" 56 once well-known student activists as well as agents whose work, among other things, had been exposed.

Decision

Among the activists who are said to now reside 'neath the oval are the Roads brothers, Ricky, Rocky and Dusty. The brothers made news last term when they locked themselves in the bell tower of Shepard Hall, vowing to stay there until the College "let the students decide on matters affecting them."

The students decided then to let the brothers remain in the tower.

A shocked and disheartened President Growler expressed his surprise at yesterday's revelation.

The new publication — the undergraduate newspaper informed by the student body of 1907 — will publish on pink paper because: (a) it's cheaper, (b) it more graphically represents the new paper's editorial policy and (c) it refutes President Boola Ghoula-gar's charges of yellow journalism.

The formal merging of the five papers, which took place yesterday, was highlighted by a giant staff inter-marriage ceremony on south campus lawn.

The new publication, from its office in the Shepard Bell tower, will be introducing several new features, drawing from the best items of the five previous newspapers.

GUAMBO II Will Give You LSD and Glue

The views expressed in the following story are not those of Steve Dobkin.

By Steve Dobkin

Student Council met last night.

In other action, SC voted to hold a second GUAMBO—the Great Underground Art and Masked Ball (the "O" does stand for something.)

Shirl Apple '36-24-40, the hippy vice president, explained that GUAMBO II will be (for fellow hippies) better than a trip in Ken Kesey's Psychedelic Bus, or (for non-hippies) will be wilder than Fun City.

She explained that Rary Shag will be in charge of concessions. Acid, hash, glue, psychedelic comic books, and sitars autographed by Ravi Sauerkraut will be sold.

Authentic Films

After the invocation by Saint Timothy, for a $500 fee, "we'll have authentic underground films by the masters of the art," Apple said.

Included in the program of movies are Hi! I'm Judy Adams by Harold Robbins; The Committee of 17 Becomes the Committee of 24 and How, by King Leo; and Mary's Poppin', by Coleman Printer.

Allen Ginsberg, famous beat poet and hero of the turned on generation, has promised to come.

Kooks and Kookettes

The debate is upon us. No fooling, putting our cards right down on the table, the debate has come.

Look at us, just look at us! Pink! Campusinos and OPeople together, in the same bell tower! Disgusting!

Those lying, cheating, filthy, long-haired, leftist swine from OP just ain't our type. 'Cause let us face it shall we, the reason why we opposed this merger in the past is that we hate their guts; we mean really hate them. Hot hate boy!

We hate them from every ripple on Kenny's body to every oily hair in Noes' mustache.

And for other far more personal reasons we hate them even worse.

But those dummies in Student Government have decided to join us together, and we're stuck, and we mean stuck. What to do? Well, for one thing, we just can't get out of journalism-biz 'cause that would mean surrendering to the leftishness they represent.

No, our honor is on the line here, and we mean on the line.

So we must fight and fight we shall. We'll give it to 'em right in the kishkas, boy. Smek, smek, smek.

Already our drive at counter-subversion has begun. For instance, we have almost convinced Kenny Kessler that if he shaves, cuts his hair, and pulls that pillow out from under his sweater, he will look exactly like Eric. Steve and Neil have just finished working over Miriam with a rubber hose in the corner. We've started a campaign to have Noe shave a little more off the sides of his hair lip, Mike Knight is already on our side. His wedding to Tamara takes place Saturday evening—that's Tamara Knight, yuk! yuk! And one of our most important counter-measures will be to slowly dilute the pink dye so that before you know it we'll be lily white again.

Maybe Tech News and Greek Letter can help us out a little but though their hearts are in the right place they ain't got much skill in this kind of subtle subversion.

In the meantime, we at least have one consolation: Gallagher can't call us yellow journalists anymore. No yellow peril we. No sir!

Maybe pink peril. . . .

To the Editor:

On January 6 we sent you a notice of our organizational meeting. On January 15 we sent you a notice of our elections. You did not announce either of these meetings. On February 2 we had a sit-in in front of the embassy of Occupied Palestine. You did not publicize it. On February 25 we burned a number of offensive books on the south campus lawn and on March 3 we burned Prof. Nit Sissy in the south campus cafeteria. You ignored these events. On March 18 our meeting was addressed by one of the pioneers of our movement who traveled all the way from Spandau, Germany for the occasion. It was Mr. Hess' first major speech in almost 25 years, but your paper made no mention of the event.

This kind of censorship should not exist in a democracy (sic), but we can expect little more from a newspaper where the powers in charge take their orders from Palestine, from The Vatican and from Africa.

The Exposer Exposes Again! A Flag Shrouds Fallacious Fat

By Lingual

With a last burst of speed, Burnt Guard Ignatius Pugnacious reached the top of the third floor stairwell in Finley Student Center.

Rounding a corner at top speed, he careened off the opposite wall, sprawling headlong before the telephone booth just inches away. It was empty.

Clark Kenneth '67, the Enticing Exposer, had gotten away again.

Kenneth has revealed his various parts around various parts of Finley for the past two years. He has plagued the girls' bathrooms in particular, often entering those lavatories with the sign "I am blind" stitched across his chest or babbling insanely "I never could learn to read."

In each instance, Kenneth has appeared nude, at least to the waist, and shrouded in a cape that vaguely resembles the American flag. Quite often, he had been sighted carrying a placard reading, "Every hall should have a toilet; every toilet should have a door."

Half Naked

Pugnacious learned of the telephone take-off from an anonymous phone call. Pugnacious said, "I heard this fella say over the phone that some guy was half naked in this booth with a thing wrapped around him. I thought I better come up to, you know, investigate."

Carlos Keensight, campus homosexual in residence, has followed Kenneth's exploits with vigor. On hand for this latest disrobing,

Eric Blitz's Tante and Fetteh to Spend Passover at Miami Beach This Year

APRIL FOOL: Eric Blitz puts head between slices of bread.

The following is a true account of the six-month investigation conducted by two reporters that culminated this week in complete failure.

By Eric Blitz

Friday, October 3. We received an anonymous tip that Tante and Fetteh were going to Miami Beach over the Passover vacation.

Wednesday, November 9. Miriam and I began our stake out in front of the Snack Bar at 10 p.m. It was bitter cold and we were freezing. The Snack Bar was closed. We agreed to meet the next morning.

Thursday, December 14. We knelt behind a door. A truck pulled up and a man got out and began to pick up packages and empty them into the truck. We counted five of them. Miriam said she recognized him. He was the garbage man.

Tuesday, January 4. Our suspicions were confirmed. Tante and Fetteh bought their tickets.

Thursday, March 20. Miriam quit investigation to shop for trousseau.

'CAMPUS' FACES LIBEL SUIT OVER 'YELLOW JOURNALISM'

By George, McBundy!

Bubbles Gutfiend '69, The Campus' Public Relations Director, announced yesterday that she was suing The Campus for $60,000 because of an article which appeared last February.

The article contained a charge by President Blu Culager that The Campus had "descended to a level of yellow journalism which is indefensible" in its coverage of a report by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Bubbles, who had written the story on the Middle States report, said that in printing President Culager's "libelous" statement, The Campus had "descended to a level of yellow journalism which is indefensible."

"This callous disregard of the elementary principles of journalistic decency has been a great source of anguish to me and my parents," she said. "I was so upset that for a while I had difficulty getting my shoes off without taking off my bellbottoms."

"I'd be happy to testify in a court of law that we acted with 'malicious intent' if it will help Bubbles get her pants off," Ahlish Kodak, Editor-in-Chief of The Campus, said.

But, Apple explained, if he cannot manage it, he will send a poet for peace to lead a round of cursing.

Apple countered opposition to the project voiced by Korn Kritter '84, by saying, "Psychedelics is a big business in America, and maybe, with the profits from this venture, I can start work on a concert with real, live musicians."

She emphasized that teeny boppers will be excluded from GUAMBO unless accompanied by a college student.

President Gurgler refused to comment on the possibility of using College facilities for the big trip.

"I'll not talk to anyone from Campus on the telephone," he said before hanging up.

am I always the last to know about these things?"

The son of God was unavailable for comment. However, Student Government President Shelly Suchs offered to substitute. The President told Suchs "not to horn in on my interview."

"June always said the soil from the oval was great for her petunias," the President noted. "I guess now I know why."

A check with the Roads brothers' associates revealed that their disappearance last month went largely unnoticed.

Officials at the Pentagon, the White House and Riverside Memorial Chapel denied today that Jasper Oval is used as a burial ground.

side, remarked, "Try a little further south, like on the lawn."

A hastily called search of the south campus lawn revealed little in the way of stiff leftists. A few nuns' habits were dug up, but these pop up regularly and were considered little cause for alarm.

The soundest indication, though, that Jasper is the site of the dumping is Mrs. Growler's insistence that the soil from that site still be used for her petunias.

The President's lady was cornered early this morning on the oval, brandishing a trowel and a small shovel, and was asked why she preferred the soil there.

With characteristic Growler openness, Mrs. G. observed: "Flake off, newsie—no comment."

With the burden of gory already resting securely in their midst, the women's synchronized swimming team will be attempting even faster times as they start their spring cycle.

"We'll be looking forward to an accelerated synchronized pace this time around," says Coach Auriole Douche (Physical Education), "and to those who say it can't be done, I'd remind them that, with enough discipline, you're never too old to pull off the most impossible feats."
